In order to make my friends and the public generally a Christmas present, and also to sell out my present stock of goods to make room for more that are coming, I have concluded to sell my dry goods, clothing, &c., at from ten to twenty-five per cent lower than we have been selling in this market. If you will come and find out our prices you will see that this is not all gas; neither will we sell you a piece of print for three cents less that it is worth and sell you a piece of satinette for all-wool cassimere at fifty per cent more than it is worth, to make up the loss on the calico. I will give you the prices of a few of the leading articles so that you can see that I am doing what I agree to do:

Green tea, from $1.50 to $2.00.
Japan tea, from $1.20 to $1.60.
Cochico and Merimac prints, at 20c per yard.
Brown sheeting from 18 to 25c per yard.
Best Ginghams, 30c.
Good wool yarn, $1.50 per pound.
Ready made clothing at prices as low as they can possibly be made.

I want all the wheat in the country, for which I will pay the highest price in green backs. Deliver your wheat at L. G. M. Fletcher's warehouse, and come to me and get your money.

One word more. Outstanding accounts on my books must be settled.

BUCKSKIN GLOVES.—Our readers will please remember that Randall & Smith are manufacturing their own Buckskin Gloves and mittens, and if you want a GENUINE pair call at their Clothing Emporium.

INVIGORATE THE RESPONSIBLE ORGAN.—The stomach is the responsible organ of the system. If the digestion is imperfect, every member, every gland, every muscle, every nerve and fibre is more or less out of order. All the fluids are depraved. The brain is clouded. The spirits are depressed. All dyspeptics know this to be the truth. It is not, however, half the truth. Columns would be required to enumerate the pains and penalties of dyspepsia, nor could any pen do them justice. Tens of thousands feel them; no man can describe them.

Can they be prevented? Can they be relieved? Can they be banished at once and forever? Unquestionably they can. No dyspeptic has ever taken HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS in vain. Believe no one who says the complaint is incurable.—This great vegetable stomach will eradicate it—is eradicating it in thousands of cases over which medical practitioners have shaken their heads ominously, saying, "Nothing can be done."

The faculty has its fallacies. One of them is that Indigestion is the most difficult of all the ordinary ailments of mankind to combat and subdue. This is a mistake. Nothing can be easier than to conquer it if the true specific be administered. This vegetable combination which has become famous throughout the civilized world as HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is an antidote to the disease which has never been known to fail, and fortunately it is everywhere procurable. If you wish to fool with the dyspepsia, try the pharmacopoeia prescriptions. If you want to root it out and prevent its recurrence, take the Bitters daily. There is no discount on the testimony in its favor. If there is a man or woman who has ever tried it for Indigestion without being benefited, the fact has not transpired. Universal, uncontradicted praise avouches its wonderful tonic virtues.

Married.

On the 23d ult. by the Rev. R. Irwin, Mr. Grover C. Burt to Miss Phebe Laflin, all of Mankato.

Also, on Jan. 1st, by the Rev. David Tice, Mr. Alanson N. Fuller, of Fairmount, to Miss Caroline E. Gordon, of Center Creek, Martin county.

OBITUARY.

DIED: In Rapidan, on the 23 ult., Mrs. E. J., wife of Wm. L. Stevens, aged 31 years, 8 months and 18 days, of billious fever and other complications, after a distressing illness of over four weeks.

Mrs. Stevens with her husband were among the first of this town, and the future was bright with the prospect of a pleasant home as a reward for the toils and privations incident to a pioneer life. But alas, how changed! Death has come. Amid the darkness of the present hour, we love to think of her as an intelligent and worthy neighbor, a beloved companion and mother, and a sincere christian. The Savior was true to his promise to be with his people, and enabled her to say to her friends: "I would like to get well but if the Lord wills otherwise I am not afraid to die. I feel I can trust my Savior."

"Rest, christian rest, thy toils or o'er;
Angels shall guard thy sleeping dust,
And guide thee to the shining shore,
To die no more—in Jesus blest."

YOUNG GRIMES.

BY B. P. SHILLABER.

Old Grimes is dead—that good old man,
We ne'er shall see him more;
But he has left a son who bears
The name that old Grimes bore.

He wears a coat of newest cut,
His hat is new and gay;
He cannot bear to view distress,
So from it turns away.

His pants are gaiters—fitting snug;
O'er patent leather shoes;
His hair is by a barber curled—
He smokes cigars and chews.

A chain of massive gold is borne
Above his flashy vest;
His clothes are better every day
Than were old Grimes's best.

In Fashion's court he constant walks,
Where he delight doth shed;
His hands are white and very soft,
And softer is his head.

He's six feet tall—no post more straight—
His teeth are pearly white;
In habits he is sometimes loose,
And sometimes very tight.

His manners are of sweetest grace,
His voice of softest tone;
His diamond pin's the very one
That old Grimes used to own.

His mostachio adorns his face,
His neck a scarf of blue;
He sometimes goes to church for change,
And sleeps in Grimes's pew.

He sports the fastest "cab" in town,
Is always quick to bet;
He never knows who's President,
But thinks "Old Abe's" in yet.

He has drank wines of every kind,
And liquors cold and hot;
Young Grimes, in short, is just that sort
Of man old Grimes was not.

NORTHERN TEACHERS.—The special reporter of the New York Times writing from Georgia, says:

"A very pleasant diversion in travelling through the South is to visit the 'Yankee school marms,' which abound plentifully. If you see a tall one, with a fresh ruddy complexion, solid, square built form, and one or two curls hanging down from her light brown hair, with a moderate sized water-fall, you may bet your existence she is from the State of Maine. Little, nattie girls, with looped up skirts, and fashionable outfits generally, are from Massa husetts. With rare exceptions they are all from New England, and they are the bitterest, most uncompromising Radicals imaginable. The people of the South cannot appreciate the fact that really refined and intelligent young ladies can be educated to the belief that in leaving comfortable homes, dear friends, and pleasant surroundings to teach the young African how to shoot they are doing a Christian duty, and are prompted by the same spirit which sends hundreds of Christians abroad as missionaries to the heathen. The white natives, too, have an idea (in their great ignorance) that these teachers are really instructing their scholars how to shoot in earnest, or, in plainer words, that they are Abolition emissaries, sent here to incite insurrection, and arouse the freedmen to deeds of bloodshed and wholesale massacre. For these and other obvious reasons, the 'Yankee school marms' are shut out from society of any description except that which they furnish for themselves.

Dispatches by the Cable deny the existence of any difficulties between Russia and Austria. Their relations, in all respects, are most friendly. Belgium and Holland are at variance concerning the Scheldt. By steamer, we learn that the English Government officials are frequently "sold" by stories that Stephens has landed at different points on the coast. All of the suspected Irish regiments are transported to England and the colonies.

There is said to be a very large Northern element in Savannah. Boston men are especially numerous. They are treated well, and are rapidly taking the lead in merchandise, planting and lumbering. This last interest will become a very important source of wealth to Georgia. Her immense forests are comparatively intact.

The Freedmen's Savings and Trust Company, of Norfolk, has been reaping quite a harvest in the way of deposits made by the soldiers of the colored regiments which have been paid off and mustered out in that vicinity. The Seventh United States colored regiment deposited $33,000 in that institution, and the Thirty-sixth regiment $30,900.

Private advices state that Maximilian will not accept the proposition to retain power in Mexico. He will only stay long enough to make a show of passing the Government over to other hands, and leave the country under formal stipulations. Ten thousand French troops have left that country, and fifteen thousand remain to embark during the winter and spring.

There is good authority for saying that fear of sickness in Mexican seaport towns alone induced Napoleon to postpone the shipment of troops until the winter months. It is also denied that there was ever any agreement with this Government that the troops should be removed at a specified time.

A trivial incident occurred at Lexington, Virginia, a few days ago. One of Gen. Lee's pupils shot and killed a respectable black man of that town. On his examination he stated that the negro had "insulted him." This statement was corroborated by spectators of the occurrence. The learned Dogberry who heard the case, made the following points in his decision: That the laws of Virginia have always recognized the difference between the white man and the black; that a white man may protect himself from negro insults; that, though the deed was clearly proved, it was the result of the insult, and he should discharge the defendant from custody.

OMAHA, Dec. 26.—Particulars of a Fort Phil. Kearney massacre state that a detachment of 84 men and 4 officers were attacked by 3,000 Indians. After a contest of great ferocity and determination they were killed to a man. Indian loss heavy. The officers killed are, Brevet Lieutenant Colonel A. J. Fetterman, commanding, Capt. J. W. Brown and Lieutenant Sammond, all of the 18th United States Infantry. Reinforcements have gone forward to insure the safety of the military posts along the line.

In the Legislature of Alabama, last week, an amendment was offered by Mr. Brooks, of Lowndes, conferring suffrage upon every male person twenty-one years of age, who owns two hundred dollars worth of property, who can write legibly, and read the State and United States Constitution, and who shall have resided in the State one year, and six months in the county, preceding the election in which he offers his vote. Provided that no person who now has the right of franchise shall be deprived of it by the operation of the amendment. The proposition was laid on the table by a vote of sixty-nine to eighteen.

General Thomas and staff will go to Nashville to receive his medal, in obedience to the request of the Tennessee Legislature. General Jeff. C. Davis and staff will be present at the presentation ceremonies.

CONSUMPTION CURABLE BY DR. SCHENCK'S MEDICINES.

TO CURE CONSUMPTION, the system must be prepared so that the lungs will heal. To accomplish this, the liver and stomach must first be cleansed and an appetite created for good wholesome food, which, by these medicines will be digested properly, and good healthy blood made; thus building up the constitution. SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS cleanse the stomach of all bilious or mucous accumulations; and, by using the Sea Weed Tonic in connection, the appetite is restored.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP is nutricious as well as medicinal, and, by using the three remedies, all impurities are expelled from the system, and good, wholesome blood made, which will repel all disease. If patients will take these medicines according to directions, Consumption very frequently in its last stage yields readily to their action. Take the pills frequently, to cleanse the liver and stomach. It does not follow that because the bowels are not costive they are not required, for sometimes in diarrhoea they are necessary. The stomach must be kept healthy, and an appetite created to allow the Pulmonic Syrup to act on the respiratory organs properly and allay any irritation. Then all that is required to perform a permanent cure is, to prevent taking cold. Exercise about the rooms as much as possible, eat all the richest food—fat meat, game, and, in fact, anything the appetite craves; but be particular and masticate well. (2nd w. ea. mo. 1 yr.

which they need not pay until it is known what is drawn and its value.

THE AMERICAN JEWELERS' ASSOCIATION calls your attention to the fact of its being the largest and most popular Jewelry Association in the United States The business is and always has been conducted in the most candid and honorable manner. Our rapidly increasing trade is a sure guarantee of the appreciation of our patrons for this method of obtaining rich, elegant and costly goods. The sudden stagnation of trade in Europe, owing to the late German War and recent disastrous financial crisis in England, has caused the failure of a large number of Jewelry Houses in London and Paris, obliging them to sell their goods at a great sacrifice, in some instances less than one third the cost of manufacturing. We have lately purchased very largely of these Bankrupt Goods, at such extreme low prices, that we can afford to send away Finer Goods, and give better chances to draw the most valuable prizes than any other establishment doing a similar business. OUR AIM IS TO PLEASE, and we respectfully solicit your patronage, as we are confident of giving the utmost satisfaction. During the past year we have forwarded a number of the most valuable prizes to all parts of the country. Those who patronize us will receive the full value of their money, as no article on our list is worth less than One Dollar, retail, and there are no blanks. Parties dealing with us may depend on having prompt returns, and the articles drawn will be immediately sent to any address by return mail or express.

FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE CO.
100 WASHINGTON ST., CHICAGO.
Wm. H. SHARP & CO.,
GENERAL AGENTS.

THE FLORENCE is the only machine extant having a reversible feed, which enables the operator to sew either to the right or left at pleasure, and the only machine that makes a perfectly elastic seam, alike on each side of the fabric.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE not only makes the lock-stitch, but three others, which for certain kinds of work are much superior, especially where elasticity is required and is the only machine that fastens the ends of each seam securely, and does it in one-fourth the time it can be done by hand.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE, does not draw fine, thin goods down through the slot or hole in the work-plate nor drop a stitch in turning a corner, and is the only machine having a changeless tension, and no slack threads both of which draw together simultaneously.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE is noiseless, and can be used when quiet is necessary as well as in the sick-chamber as in the workroom. They oil no dresses, the machinery being all on the top of the table. It will sew over the heaviest seams, or from one to more thicknesses of goods, without skipping stitches, breaking threads or requiring change in tension.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE will do easily all family and tailoring work on one and the same machine. They are strong and finely finished,—their motions are all positive, there are no springs to get out of order.—while for strength, durability & beauty of design it will bear, and we invite, comparison, with any or all machines.

AMERICAN ORGANS.

(From "Godey's Ladies' Book," February, 1866.)

REED ORGANS, &c.

THE following remarks and suggestions relative to this immensely popular instrument will doubtless interest and profit very many of our readers; we commend the article to their careful perusal:—

A hundred and one makers of Organs, Cottage, Parlor-Cabinet, American, School Organs etc. etc., are each claiming to make the best instrument in the world. Being comparatively a new instrument, as at present constructed, we are convinced the public are much less capable of judging of its merits, or demerits, than of most other instruments, If there is really an essential difference in them, if there are some worthless ones, the public should have some criterion for judging of them, some facts which will enlighten them. We cheerfully concede the space for this article, knowing that there is hardly a family, or church, or school in all the land, but is more or less interested in this topic. We are also aware of its being a great misfortune, a real calamity, to any of them to purchase an inferior or worthless Organ, ruinous to good playing, and often a source of much annoyance and vexation. We know this article to emanate from a candid and intelligent source, and thus we give it to our readers.

The question is often asked, what are "reed organs?" We answer, they are, in most cases nothing in the world but the old melodeon in disguise. Many of the so called Organs have the same bellows, the same reeds, and the same general internal arrangement. With the bellows turned on edge to gain room, they have simply put on a more pretentious exterior and a more high sounding name But an organ to be in reality an organ, must have a wind chest or reservoir for air separate from the bellows, into which wind chest the reeds open, and the tone has room to expand and perfect itself into the full round tone, similar to the flute or pipe organ, even, smooth firm and mellow; and this tone from reeds cannot be obtained in any other way known. Nothing so annoys a true organist as to have the volume of sound swelling and jerking spasmodically with every variation of force on the bellows or air-passages, instead of a wind- or sound-box. And yet some makers even go so far as to claim this spasmodic or automatic jerking of the bellows on the reeds as an excellence, just as though they did not know that it must soon throw the reeds out of tune, and injure the bellows; and as though it were not an easier matter to obtain a much better and more easily managed swell by other methods. The truth is, any organ, so called, or melodeon which has the wind acting directly upon the reeds, is nothing more or less than a huge accordeon, dress it up as you may. And when organists and true musicians become aware of the fact that they can obtain those that are organs in fact as well as in name they will buy no more of the objectionable ones. Then again the swell should always be separate and distinct from the bellows, so as not to be acted on by the hand, or soft blowing, but convenient, so that the player can use it with the knee, separate from the hands or feet, and thus always under easy control, to be used ad libitum.

The large divided bellows, or double bellows, is also a very important improvement —By this means not only can the wind be supplied more evenly, but with far greater ease to the performer, from the fact that either bellows alone will be sufficient for the lighter melodies, thus permitting the player to change about and rest the feet at will; then, if the bellows is of a requisite large size, and having the wind chest or reservoir, all will be well.—As to the reeds, they must be scientifically tuned and voiced, or all the other good qualities in the world cannot produce a good toned instrument. The inquiry now very naturally arises, where can the organ be procured combining all these essential and desirable qualities? There is only one possessing these points and that is the AMERICAN ORGAN, made by S D. & H. W. SMITH, of Boston, SIBERIA OTT, Wholesale Agent, 581 Broadway, New York. These organs have a wind chest extending the whole length of the instrument, and so constructed as to act at the same time as a reverberating sound box or board, and having the same important relation and part to perform that the sounding-board has to the piano This feature the makers have patented, and to it are owing in a great measure the entirely unequaled fullness and richness of tone so highly prized by all who have used these organs. They also have the largest and best divided bellows in use, which is another important feature. No part of their work is slighted no expense or pains spared to make the American Organs perfect musically, as well as mechanically, and, judging from the immense sale of them at present, they bid fair to long maintain the proud position they have won by superior merit alone. We would most heartily advise all interested to call upon or address MR SIBERIA OTT, the Wholesale Agent, at No. 581 Broadway, New York, and can assure them he will, in the most gentlemanly and truthful manner, impart to them all the information they may desire relative to this truly delightful instrument.

DUPLEX ELLIPTIC

(OR DOUBLE SPRING)

SKIRT.

The Wonderful Flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any Lady, wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced particularly in all crowded assemblies, Operas, Carriages, Railroad Cars, Church Pews, Arm Chairs, for Promenade and House Dress, as the Skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a silk or muslin dress, an invaluable quality in crinoline, not found in any Single Spring skirt.

A Lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort, and great convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Steel Spring Skirt for a single day, will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For Children, Misses and Young Ladies, they are superior to all others.

They will not bend or break like the Single spring, but will preserve their perfect and delicate shape when three or four ordinary skirts will have been thrown aside as useless. The Hoops are covered with double and twisted thread, and the bottom rods are not only double springs but twice (or double) covered; preventing them from wearing out when dragging down stoops, stairs, &c.

The Duplex Elliptic is a great favorite with all ladies and is universally recommended by the Fashion Magazines as the standard skirt of the fashionable world.

To enjoy the following inestimable advantages in Crinoline, viz.: Superior Quality, Perfect Manufacture, Stylish shape and Finish, Flexibility, Durability, Comfort and Economy, enquire for J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic, or Double Spring Skirt, and be sure you get the genuine article.

CAUTION.—To guard against IMPOSITION be particular to NOTICE that skirts offered as "DUPLEX" have the red ink stamp, viz., "J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic Steel Springs," upon the waist-band—none others are genuine. Also Notice that every Hoop will admit a pin being passed through the centre, thus revealing the two (or double) springs braided together therein, which is the secret of their Flexibility and strength, and a combination not to be found in any other Skirt.

FOR SALE in all Stores where First Class skirts are sold throughout the United States and elsewhere. Manufactured by the Sole Owners of the patent.

THE DYING YEAR.

BY GIL PIERCE.

The sky is dark and overcast,
The closing hours are come at last;
Old Time, with grim, malignant leer,
Is waiting with his funeral bier;
Good bye, Old Year!

You look so hearty-like and stout,
It's hard to see you "mustered out,"
My eyes feel mist-ified and queer,
And, I can't help it, there's a tear
For you, Old Year.

You've traveled on through wildest weather,
And bound two Continents together;
You're not a moment in arrear;
Your skirts are clean, your record's clear;
Farewell! Old Year!

You've been a beacon on my track,
And driven threat'ning shadows back;
You've soothed a sorrow, dried a tear,
And scattered many a blessing here,
Dear, dying Year.

Hark! there's a hollow, measured knock,
As twelve dies quivering from the clock;
The verdict's passed; the sentence read;
Remorseless Time has called and said,—
"The Year is dead!"

Preaching Versus Practice in Mankato.

"Oh consistency thou art a jewel!"

I wish to call the attention of the readers of the UNION to the fact that there are a great many self-righteous individuals who ar continually belaboring those persons whose business necessarily demands their attention an hour or two each Sabbath. Will some person, well versed in theology, explain the difference or distinction in the degree of sin arising from the sale of a few pounds of beef, or the demand and collection of his quarterly dues, on the holy Lord's day, of a Rev. D. D.

I say what consistency is there in a minister announcing from a sacred desk the fact that his quarterly pay is due him; that the treasury is drained, and that he would be relieved from embarrassment were these matters properly arranged; yet at the same time denouncing as Sabbath breakers all such persons who consider it no sin to perform necessary labor or walk for exercise or pleasure on the Lord's day. I claim that the minister who demands his pay on Sunday, at the close of the sermon is guilty of performing a business transaction as truely as the man who sells a few pounds of beef before the sermon commences. The Rev. gentleman in order to carry out to the letter his theory, should have called a meeting of the trustees of his church, and had this little business affair arranged on some other day, and not lead the minds of his congregation from holy thoughts and pure christian aspirations, down into the arena of worldly matters. He should not trammel the pure spirit of reverence of his flock by recalling their thoughts to the "root of all evil" —filthy lucre. Let them for one day at least, rest from the persecuting cares of business, and the groveling remembrance of money. Let them breath freely, and not fear to be reminded that they are owing somebody, and that somebody would feel a great deal better if they would "fork over the tin." In other words, let our christian teachers, "practice what they preach," and say not as one has has already said:

> "My friends I earnestly beseech
> That you practice what you preach."

Let them be sincere, and honest. Let them be consistent and worthy, and not demand of others what they do not practice themselves, that they may insure respect, and lead us to believe them in earnest, and not struggling like many of us for the almighty dollar.

But many of them do not themselves believe what they so earnestly desire the world at large to accept as true. Hypocrites do exist even among this class of individuals, as the following acknowledgement will prove. I add an extract from the address of the Illinois State Union Prayer Meeting, held at Springfield during the 3d week in November, 1866, addressed to the christian public:

"Why do we labor so little, and pray so little for the conversion of the world? It is because we have so little faith. We profess to believe the bible. Do we really believe it? Is there any such thing as inoperative faith? Oh if we truly believed the demands of God; if we realized the death and resurection, and intercession of Christ; if we felt in our hearts that God has commissioned every Disciple, Layman, and Clergyman alike to proclaim the gospel to every creature, could we live as we do? Alas no. Lord we believe, help thou our unbelief. Lord increase our faith.

More anon,

OBSERVER.

A Daring Adventure.

It was late in the summer of 1864. The veteran and heroic army of Sherman had commenced in May that wonderful series of battles and marches which lasted while the rebellion continued, and which were the fatal and finishing blows by which the rebellion was crushed. By degrees, and after marking every mountain pass and almost every mile with blood, the rebel army had been pushed back and dislodged from one position after another, till now they had settled suddenly around the doomed city of Atlanta. The cautious and able Johnston was displaced in favor of the madcap and brainless fighter, Hood, who, in the language of the insurgent chief, "was determined to strike one manly blow for Atlanta." While the antagonists lay thus at bay, and Sherman was perfecting the details of that splendid manoeuvre by which the stronghold became ours, a youthful soldier in the Union army, by the name of Ira B. Tuttle, with four of his men, performed a feat of military daring, which equals the daring exploits of Morgan, or any of the famous raiders of the war. The small village of Villa Rica lies about twenty-seven miles south by west of Atlanta, and about ten miles south of Dallas; near it is another little village, not inappropriately called Dark Corner.

In this village of Villa Rica, the rebel General had established a principal magazine of supplies. As the greater part of his force lay between that point and the enemy, he regarded the point as entirely safe, and had left no guard on the spot, but only a Lieutenant-Colonel, a Captain, and three issuing Sergeants, to deliver the subsistence stores to the army wagons as they came for them. Rebel camps were, in fact, all around the point, in front and in rear, not more than a mile distant. Tuttle and his four men, in their scouting adventures, had penetrated very near the place, and resolved upon making a bold dash upon it, thus running an immense risk; while, on the other hand, they might inflict on the enemy a great loss, and make good their escape. Putting spurs to their horses, they rode directly up to the large building where fifty thousand bushels of corn and a large amount of bacon were stored. The officers and enlisted men at the magazine were taken wholly by surprise, not even having side arms. Tuttle made them mount their horses, while he and his men fired the buildings, and five wagons loaded with bacon for the army. As soon as the flames were well started, he ordered his five prisoners to ride on in front, while he with his four men rode behind, with hands on their pistol hilts.

As they rode away with their prisoners, the smoke of the burning storehouses had been seen at the rebel camp a mile distant, and men were seen rushing to save them, if possible. But it was too late. The material was highly combustible, the weather hot and dry, and water distant. While the astonished rebels were running towards the fire, in a vain hope of "saving their bacon," Tuttle and his brave companions, who had the fear of Andersonville before their eyes, put spurs to their horses, and drove their five prisoners before them into the Union camp.—Frank Moore's Anecdotes and Incidents of the War.

A Romance of the Louvre.

A Paris correspondent of the Philadelphia Sunday Dispatch sends the following account of a romance sufficiently colored with improbability to illustrate the adage that "truth is stranger than fiction." He writes:

I have now to give you a little love history, which has caused some talk in the artistic world. It was in the Louvre that the little drama began; it ended before the mayor and the pastor—the two functionaries who usually officiate in French marriages.

Some of my readers, perhaps, are ignorant that during the week the immense galleries of the Louvre are crowded with copyists, whose canvases and whose faces are, perhaps, not the least interesting feature of the great building. The earnest workers form around the great paintings a circle of honor, which sometimes prevents the view of the visitor; and often one finds, among the female portion of them, faces and figures quite as charming as the pictures they are copying. It is, however, one of the sterner sex among the artists assembled who is the hero of my story.

He has a profile the most distinguished in the Louvre. Imagine a figure tall, strong and lythe, hair long and black, and eyes lit by the fire of a full heart. But an artist "without a sou" in Paris, is one who strikes a rock with his fist. My hero was poor, and that is the way he was a victim of misery; yet he endured it with a dignity what won respect.

One fine afternoon some months ago, an elderly English lady accompanied by a beautiful girl about eighteen—the susceptible age!—stopped before the "Broken Picture of Grenze" which our artist was copying. The young lady, having admired and examined the work, spoke a few words to her aunt, who immediately offered to purchase it. You will be sure it required no strong persuasion to prevail upon the young man to sell it. Its sale actually saved him from starvation. A portion of the money was paid then; the remainder was to be given on the delivery of the picture at the hotel of the English ladies.

The sale having been completed, the young man came to tell me, in glowing terms of his good fortune; but I easily perceived that he was more impressed by the blue eyes of the niece, than the pounds sterling of the aunt.

The next evening I dined with him on vin ordinarie and a "garlicky" roast mutton at Phillippe's, when he proved the verity of the old proverb, that a good fortune never arrived alone, by relating that he had not only received the commission to paint the portraits of the two ladies, but that the price was, to him, enormous.

I saw no more of him for a month.

Another evening he rushed into my apartment pale and trembling, and, without giving me time to question, related his adventure, which seemed to him to have ruined his hopes. Artistic natures are more sensitive than others to strong emotions.

He had been employed the first fifteen days, in painting the portrait of the niece, who evinced an intelligence and cultivation as rare as her beauty, and had conversed unrestrainedly on a thousand topics. Our artist, quite love stricken, tried many times to give a turn to the conversation that would enable him to declare his sentiments, but he was always checked by a cold and restrained air. Next came the portrait of the aunt. She, unlike her niece, turned the discourse, many times, to matters of love and marriage. But the painter avoided the road, and became in his turn reserved. At last this lady of forty-five offered the young man her hand, her heart, and her fortune of half a million. My friend declined the gracious offer with sufficient politeness, and, taking his hat he left the house.

Poor fellow! I consoled him, and endeavored to advise. At all events he should return to finish the portrait already commenced as soon as possible.

On the following day he again repaired to the hotel, and what was his surprise to be received by the beautiful niece!

"You have a noble heart!" said the interesting young lady, extending her hand.

Our friend was too much stupified to find an answer. This was increased by the entry of the aunt, with a countenance wreathed with smiles.

"Embrace your affianced," said the charming lady, pointing to her niece.

The poor painter was too much confused, that it was the young lady who placed her lips to his brow.

"But you, madame?" he stammered.

"I merely wished to prove to you," replied the aunt, laughing, "My niece loved you, as I saw you loved her, and I wished to know whether you were worthy to become the husband of my heiress."

We had a final meeting at the "Mason Doree," and laughed at the sour wine and garlic of young Phillipe. I have only to add, that my young friend has departed for Italy, with his charming wife and amiable aunt.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1.

Advices from Harrisburg leave little doubt that Thaddeus Stevens will be elected United States Senator.

It is also believed that Roscoe Conklin will succeed Ira Harris of New York, as United States Senator.

Col. Carrington who was in command of the post at Fort Phil. Kearney, at the recent massacre of nearly a hundred soldiers, has been relieved, and will probably be ordered under arrest for trial on charges of carelessness in the performance of his duty. It seems that the detachment was cut off from all chances of retreat to the fort and overpowered. It is claimed that Col. Carrington could have prevented this.

Mr. Ashley, Chairman of the House Committee on Territories, has prepared a bill to be reported on the reassembling of Congress, having in view the reorganization of the Southern States, not, however, remanding them to a territorial condition, but recognizing the present arrangements until conventions can be called to remodel the respective State governments.

The French Minister has received official information from France that the Emperor had ordered ten large transports to leave Brest immediately for Mexico, for the purpose of bringing home the French troops. Ten others were to follow as soon as the first squadron was under way.

The Commissioner of the General Land Office has just received the bond of Wm. D. Thornburgh, the newly appointed Surveyor General of Nevada, whose office is at Virginia City. The surveying machinery for this great mineral bearing State will soon be in full operation.

Owing to the immense number of fraudulent claims presented in the Quartermaster General's office, Gen. Meigs will recommend to Congress the passing of an act providing for three Commissioners for each of the States, who shall hold their sessions in the several States, and there require the claimants to appear in person and identify themselves, as well as establish their claims by oral testimony.

Gen. Steedman, who has been here a few days, will leave for New York to-morrow morning.

A TERRIBLE TRAGEDY,

A few mornings since, at Louisville, Ky., John W. Perkins, for many years a prominent official in the church, but lately convicted of stealing from his employer and sent to the penitentiary, but who was pardoned out, cut the throat of his wife and then his own. He left a letter to his daughter acknowledging his crime and expressing his willingness to sacrifice his life to atone for it. In the letter he implicated his wife as inciting him to steal, which is a madman's fancy. He says in the letter: This Christmas is my last day with you. This morning when I waked up I asked your mother for a Christmas gift. She said she had none. I said a kiss would do, which she stoutly refused. This mortified my feelings, for I asked it from my heart.

Before the Coroner's jury, the daughter, Rosa Perkins, testified:

"I and my little brother slept in the room with my father and mother. About 2 o'clock I was awakened by father talking to mother. He was standing by the bed side with a razor in his hand. He seized mother and cut her throat. As he made the stroke mother screamed: 'Oh! dear Rosa!' Father started toward me. I caught my brother in my arms and ran toward the door. Father told me to look in the trunk and get a record which would explain all. Then setting upon the edge of the bed, with his left hand he held up his chin, and with his razor in the right hand cut his own throat and fell upon the bed by the side of mother, who was dead."

Perkins will probably recover.

The News.

The mysterious departure of the United States steamer Gettysburg, on Christmas eve, having on board Admiral Porter, Ered. W. Seward and others, occasion much comment in Washington.

The amount of wheat received at Milwaukee during the past year, including the grain reduced to flour, foots up fifteen millions of bushels.

The St. Paul Press publishes a statement showing that forty-five million feet of logs and fifty-two million feet of lumber were run out of the St. Croix River last year. The quantity estimated to be cut this winter is ninety millions. Lumbering in the woods is backward for lack of snow.

A Washington dispatch states that the Attorney General is hard at work upon the report in answer to an inquiry from the House of Representatives as to the number of pardons issued by the President. The dispatch asserts that the number of pardons issued to prominent rebels will be found to be small, and that the recommendations for the pardons granted will be found to comprise in almost every case many of the leading members of the present Congress.

At the Fenian trials in Canada, one prisoner, Michael Crowley, was convicted and sentenced to be hanged on the 15th of February next. Another prisoner was convicted of the crime of receiving stolen goods, and sentenced to three months' imprisonment.

Senator Wilson having stated that two thousand freedmen had been murdered in Texas during the past year, was accused by the rebels of misrepresenting the facts. We grieve to say that the charge has been sustained—Senator elect Roberts, of that State, putting down the number murdered at twenty-seven hundred, instead of two thousand. The Massachusetts Senator must keep better posted. The Texans are sensitive about being misrepresented.

DEFECTIVE PAG

The Mankato Union.

W. B. GRISWOLD, - Editor and Pro'r.

LEGISLATURE.

The State Legislature convened at noon on Tuesday last. Geo. P. Wilson was elected Secretary of the Senate. J. Q. Farmer, of Fillmore, was chosen speaker of the House, and Col. Jennison Chief Clerk. Our fellow townsman Mark D. Flower was elected assistant clerk. The message, up to going to press, had not been received.

Important Arrest.

Sheriff Walbridge and D. Tyner of this city hearing of the arrest of a suspicious character at Albert Lea, left here Sunday morning for that place, arriving in the evening.—For want of evidence the prisoner had been released, and left for Austin. The sheriff after supper drove until 2 o'clock in the morning, arriving at Austin, in Mower County, and finding the man at the hotel. He was arrested and brought to Mankato Tuesday night and lodged in jail. He is proven, and even admits himself to be, the identical soldier who stabbed the murdered men, and went to the hotel boasting of his exploits.—He left New Ulm, passing through Lincoln, Ceresco, Shelby, and at Blue Earth City bought a suit of citizens clothes. He offered a man $12 to take him to Albert Lee on the night of his arrival, which fact caused suspicion that led to his arrest at the latter place. If he don't pay the penalty of his crimes, then there it no virtue in law.

ADVERTISING.

Barnum once took on a fit of economy, and in order to cut down expenses withdrew or shortened some of his advertisements. The consequence was an immediate decline in business. Changing his tactics, and renewing his advertisements, his receipts swelled as rapidly as they had before declined—which taught him that however dull the times, it was false economy to dispense with printer's ink; and he determined he would never again make so stupid a blunder in the way of retrenchment. We trust the experience of Barnum will not be lost upon our business men. Advertising is a subject upon which the great showman is eminently qualified to give an opinion.

New Ulm Post on the Tragedy.

The New Ulm Post of the 4th inst. has two articles upon the late tragedy at that town, one of which is printed in English, and the other in German. The articles come out squarely as apologies and justifications of the conduct of Spenner's 200 New Ulm friends who, Mr. Baasen says, avenged the spilling of his blood, by taking two hand cuffed prisoners from the jail, stabbing, beating, dragging, and hanging them, and then chopping off their limbs and shoving their bodies under the ice. The Post in substance makes the following points: "Christmas Day was turned into mourning by the death of a peaceful and quiet citizen, John Spenner, by two brutal and reckless murderers. That Liscom and Campbell acted like demons let loose from hell. That they tried to frighten our citizens by acting the Indian by dancing war and scalp dances. The people became indignant at their imitations, as the term "Indian" was not favorable with them. The scare for our people became the cause of their own ruin. By their own fault they were taken for Indians. The people of New Ulm have borne many insults, from persons from other places, but 'these Dutchmen' feel themselves as good as Americans, and if people think that we have patience to bear with the murder of one of our beloved citizens and feel disappointed that we have not, we regret it but can't help it." It also complains that the Mankato UNION counsels the destruction of defenceless women and children by sweeping New Ulm from the face of the earth.

We might be surprised that the editor of the Post should resort to such specious reasoning and improbable statements, to bolster up a cause, already lost by an overwhelming verdict of the entire press of the State, had we not previously entertained and intimated the opinion that there was something quite rotten in the little Amsterdam of our State, whose moral tone is piped through the bugle of the New Ulm Post. We had thought of annexing a saving clause to our late broad assertion that New Ulm was "a rotten spot on this Western heritage," in the hope of finding at least ten righteous men, who would save it from that infamy and disgrace, to which a christian or even a half civilized nation, upon the evidence in the case, would consign it. If the Post is a true reflection of the feeling of the best citizens of New Ulm, our conviction that it should be swept from the face of the earth is strengthened, and the cleansing process should commence at the apologist of this heinous outrage. We do not counsel physical violence, but it should be done by the force of moral public opinion, which should permit it to fall of its own weight of diabolical sin and infidelity.

That the Post should say that these men at the saloon, and during their stay at New Ulm, tried to scare them into the belief that they were half breeds, shows the extremity to which they are driven for a justification of their enormities. Their people profess both to fear and to be unfavorable to Indians. They were not afraid to entertain Liscom and Campbell at their hotel, or to buy their furs, nor to sell them some clothing. Neither did the saloon keeper refuse their money for liquor, or fear to place at their disposal his decanters whenever they were called for; nor did the by standers in the saloon fear to drink at their expense, with the usual tip of the tumbler, and a "Here's Ho! and Good Luck!" They did not fear to sit by and listen to the war dance conducted by Liscom and Campbell and that other half-breed, John Spenner, who assisted them by beating the tin pan. They had no fear of these Indians until it was announced that Spenner was dead. According to Shillock, only about 15 persons knew that they were hung, or even that they were in town. How fearfully alarmed the people were, wern't they? They ought to have carried out Shillock's plan of 1862, which was to "shoot off the d—d villains for cowardice." Why did'nt they send a courier to Mankato for help, and then crawl into their cellars until assistance arrived? Afraid forsooth! Away with such lying cavil! Half-breeds! To parry off public censure by such twaddle indicates a degree of self stultification, stupidity and deception unparalleled in the annals of newspaper publication. The Post attempts to show that persons have abused what he pleased to term the "Damned Dutch," and that the New Ulm people claim to be American citizens. The Post is unfair in making a national issue of this matter, and it well knows that the most respectable journals of the State would make no distinction between an American citizen, native or foreign born. The German paper of St. Paul the Staats Zeitung, in its issue of the 5th inst. has the following:

"These abuses, before and after the execution of the victims, are deeds of cowardice as well as barbarism, unworthy of our German nation, unworthy of our age, unworthy of the party of freedom, of which most of the New Ulm people belong."

The Volks Blatt is more virulent in its denunciation of the outrage than most of the English papers. You will draw no sympathy from the well disposed Germans of this State. The mistake of the Post in attempting to justify crime, has its parallel only in the misdeeds of those whom he would shield from public censure. Its assertion that these men, Campbell and Liscom were "demons let loose from hell" is like Satan reproving sin. Comparing their deeds with those subsequently enacted by the citizens of New Ulm, and we may conclude that "hell" was not very far off, and that these boys had simply adopted the adage that "while in Rome they should do as Romans do."

ARRESTS AT NEW ULM

Arrests of some 15 persons have been made at New Ulm who were participants in the massacre. So says the New Ulm Post. We are informed, however, that no one was arrested, but that this number of New Ulm citizens went before a justice, waived an examination, and gave bail for their appearance at court. Probably these volunteers are innocent, and therefore willing to give bail and thus throw the authorities off the right scent. Their plan undoubtedly is to prevent the trial from being taken to another county by special legislation. Their maneuvers should be closely watched, and their motives thoroughly understood.

The negro suffrage bill of the District of Columbia was vetoed on the 8th inst. by the President, and passed over his head by both Houses the same day.

Letter of Thanks.

MR. EDITOR: I must crave the use of your columns, to acknowledge an act of kindness, too well deserving of imitation to be passed unnoticed. On last New Year's Day I was invited in a very urgent manner, by one of your fellow citizens, Mr. J. D. Jones, to visit your city with my lady, and to spend the day at his house, as I supposed, to enjoy the hospitalities of the season. Of course I cheerfully complied. Dinner, (a sumptuous meal) being over, I was again urgently requested to attend a meeting at the Welsh Church. This time I began to suspect something. Being, however, of a yielding disposition, I yielded to my friends wishes the second time, and in company with him and several others I repaired to the church where I found assembled the most prominent Welsh residents of your city, ladies as well as gentlemen. I looked for some time for the services to commence: but I had not to wait long, 'ere Mr. G. Williams, according to previous arrangement, stepped aside, and from a concealed corner of the house, produced a bundle of something, and then in a neat, well-appointed address, presented me with the contents of said bundle, which, to my utter surprise, proved to be a complete suit of new clothes: coat, vest, pants and hat, all of the best, costliest materials, and a perfect fit. What could I say? I was almost struck dumb with astonishment at such an exhibition of liberality towards a stranger on his arrival in your State. Of course I endeavored to give vent to my feelings in words, which, however, I could not sufficiently command, for very embarrassment, to express what I felt. My remarks were followed by several addresses on the part of individuals present, explanatory of the "surprise"—the New Year's gift of the "Welsh of Mankato" to my humble self, as expressive of their kindest regards and most cordial good wishes towards the object of their liberality.

In return, I take this way to thankfully acknowledge this great unexpected kindness towards a minister of the Gospel while yet a stranger in your midst. May heaven grant to each and all of the noble donors a "happy New Year" and many of them; disposing and enabling them every year to abound in such deeds, that they may realize more and more "that it is more blessed to give than to receive." And may He whom I humbly endeavor to serve in the Gospel of His son, abundantly reward them in the resurrection of the just. "Inasmuch as ye did this unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye did it unto me."

J. M. PRYCE.

For the Union.

"Wipe Out the Place."

I have for the last week heard expressions like the following: "Wipe out the place," "Burn it down." I don't suppose that those who were the principals and abettors in the New Ulm murder will be detected and brought to trial. So many of the citizens of the place are in sympathy with the perpetrators of the horrible tragedy that it can hardly be expected that justice IN TIME even will be done; in ETERNITY it will. As to the popular cry, "wipe it out," it would no doubt be wrong. After a dilligent and persistent effort to find the guilty, and execute the law, we must leave it with Him who knows all things, and will one day set all things right.

Go back to barbarism or partially civilized ages, and it would do to approach the town with fire, and if the authorities of the town would not give up the guilty, reduce it to ashes, but now under enlightened law, the officer must execute, not the populace. I have often found it difficult to place around me enough of the surroundings of the O. T. Scriptures, to justify all the wholesale destruction of nations and families; but in our age of refinement and high moral and religious culture, a town to be found that will burn the Savior of mankind in effigy, and (as I have been told) hold mock eucharist, and now, bruise, beat, stab, mutilate, hang and drown, (as it would seem) passers-by, or tarriers for the night, and thus call out, from old and young, saint and sinner, "wipe out the place," it helps me to go back two or three thousand years and pass sentence of "just" upon some of the decrees of Heaven.

STATE ITEMS.

INSANE PATIENTS.—Last week the insane patients lately confined in the Iowa Hospital, were brought to this place in charge of Dr. Miller, of Chatfield, and Sheriff King of Winona. With this addition, the temporary Hospital at the Ewing House, numbers thirty patients on its books, and a few weeks more will be sufficient to demonstrate the necessity for an early completion of the permanent institution. We understand that there is already a larger number of this unfortunate class in the State than can be adequately accommodated at the temporary hospital.—S. Peter Tribune, Jan. 2d.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—A man named Wm. Adams was run over by the cars at Owatonna, on the 1st inst., and killed. The train was under way, coming east, when he attempted to get on, and being encumbered with a valise and heavy wrappings, he missed his footing and fell beneath the cars. The wheels passed over his chest, and also over his legs, near his body. He died in a very short time. At the time of his death he was traveling for a New York house. His body was taken in charge by his friends. Mr. Adams was one of the pionerr settlers of Mantorville, and we believe at one time treasurer of Dodge county. He was subsequently a resident of Red Wing, where he was engaged in the forwarding and commission business. For several years past he has been traveling for a New York House. His family are now residing in Conneautville, Pa.—Winona Rep. Jan 2d.

THE PINERIES.—From Mr. O. E. Garrison, who returned last week after having completed a surveying contract on the Upper Mississippi, we learn that the lumbermen are all hard at work, and are getting along very satisfactorily. There has been more snow there than here, so that logging can be successfully carried on.—St. Cloud Journal.

FIRE AT STILLWATER.—At two o'clock on the morning of the 26th ult., a fire broke out in the building occupied by Mr. Casper Weinschenk, on Main street, and the flames were not stayed until twelve buildings were destroyed. A large amount of stock in the different stores was consumed. Some families escaped with only the garments in which they were sleeping. The loss is estimated at $25,000; little or no insurance.—St. Cloud Journal.

NATIONAL BANKS.—Mr. Hooper in Congress intends to press his bank bill immediately, and will oppose any increase of National banking capital. A strong effort will however be made by Western and North-western members to increase the amount on the ground that Massachusetts has more invested in National banks than the whole North-west, they being debarred from getting more.

Exports of specie from the port of New York during the past year amounted to $62,520,700.

The Treasury Department will commence the disbursement on Wednesday of ten millions in gold as interest on the public debt.

The Fenian trials in Canada will be resumed on the 10th inst. There are thirty-five prisoners yet to be tried.

The Supreme Court decision in the Indiana conspiracy case is officially promulgated. The decision holds that the writ of habeas corpus ought to issue and that Milligan is entitled to be discharged. That the trial by military commission is contrary to law, as the State was not in rebellion, and not being in the military service, and amenable only to civil law.

SYMPTOMS.

The symptoms of Catarrh are at first very slight. Persons find they have a cold, that they have frequent attacks, and are more sensitive to the changes of the temperature. In this condition the nose may be dry, or a slight discharge thin and acrid, afterwards thick and adhesive, may ensue.

As the disease becomes chronic, the discharges are increased in quantity and changed in quality; they are now thick and heavy, and hawked or coughed off. The secretions are offensive, causing a bad breath; the voice thick and nasal; the eyes are weak; the sense of smell is lessened or destroyed; deafness frequently takes place.

Another common and important symptom of Catarrh is, that the person is obliged to clear his throat in the morning of a thick or slimy mucous, which has fallen from the head during the night. When this takes place, the person may be sure that his disease is on its way to the lungs, and should lose no time in arresting it.

The above are but a few of the many Catarrhal symptoms. Write to our Laboratory for our pamphlet describing fully all symptoms; it will be sent FREE to any address. Also directions where to procure the medicine.

Piano.—We can sell a piano new from the factory, at etter rates than can be had elsewhere. Inquire at this office.

Job Press.—We have for sale a small DRUGGIST JOB PRESS, which does good work, and will be sold low.

Baptist Church.—J. G. Craven, Pastor—Services at 10½ A. M. and 7 P. M. Prayer meeting, Wednesday at 7 P. M.

The District Court convenes next Monday.

Number one wheat is bringing $1.50 per bushel and No. 2 $1.40.

Snow has fallen sufficient for fair sleighing.

—A very desirable house and lot for sale. See the advertisement of B. Tuttle in another column.

Attorney Gen. at New Ulm.—Col. Colville, the Attorney General of the State, arrived here on Saturday last, and on Sunday proceeded to New Ulm. His object is to investigate the late riot, and decide what process should be adopted to bring the offenders to justice.

Winnebago Lands.—We have received a letter from Hon. Wm. Windom, stating that he will consult the Land Commissioner at Washington, and advise him to offer for sale immediately, the remaining lands of the Winnebago reservation. We shall probably hear the result in a few days.

Sale of Real Estate.—Mr. W. K. Greenwood sold, on Friday last, his improved farm, consisting of 193.69 acres to Adam Beaver, of Wisconsin, for $3,450. This farm is located near Butterfield's mill, partly in Vernon and partly in Garden City. The farm is in a high state of cultivation and is considered cheap.

The Blue Earth County Agricultural Society met on Saturday, the 5th inst., at Garden City. After the appointment of Hon. Lewis Porter and J. A. Ried as delegates to the State Agricultural Society, the meeting adjourned until the 26th inst., at Garden City. when a full attendance is expected.

Lecture.—There will be a lecture delivered by the Rev. J. M. Pryse, of South Bend, for the benefit of the Welsh Church of this city, at Higgins' Hall on the evening of the 22d of this month. Subject, "Western Civilization. or Western tendency of Civilization." There will be also several songs sung by the "Mankato Cambrian Quartette." Admission fee, 50 cts. Children 25. A good attendance is expected.

Butter Making.—We have received a sample of butter from Mr. G. M. Bradley, who lives about 5 miles below town on the St. Peter road. It was a portion of 21 pounds made from two cows during the week. These cows are now averaging about 21 pounds of butter per week, and only one of them is a new milch cow. The other came in last April. Mr. Bradley thinks if the milk was separated it would be found that the late cow is now yielding fifteen pounds of butter per week. If there are any cows doing a better business, they ought to be reported.

Coroner's Inquest.—The inquest upon the bodies of Campbell and Liscom still continues and will probably remain in session the remainder of the week. The coroner sent a subpoena to New Ulm for the Sheriff and Jailor to appear and give evidence, which was disobeyed. A writ of arrest was then issued, and Deputy Martin brought them in on Tuesday. They are being examined together with other witnesses from the same place. For fear of thwarting the ends of justice it is thought best not to publish the evidence adduced.

Bounties.—I take this method of informing those who have claims for bounty under the equalization act of Congress, that their claims should be made out and forwarded without further delay. I have already collected $100 for one of my clients. To those whose discharges are in my hands, I will say that there is no unnecessary delay. I ask of those who have not placed their claims into the hands of an agent, to call on me. I am turning off other business to give my attention to the collection of claims.

DAVID WILCOX.
Claim Agent.

City Plat.—The proprietor of each addition to Mankato has a plat to explain its location, but it is disconnected with other portions of town and therefore gives no intelligible view of its relation to other additions. To remedy this difficulty, Mr. C. A. Chapman is drawing a plat giving the exact topography of the entire town site. The additions are all grouped together and formed into a grand Plat of Mankato. These plats are very useful to real estate dealers, land holders, and lawyers, and they should call upon Mr. Chapman and leave their orders. It is needless to add that these plats are drawn in Mr. Chapman's usual tasty, correct and finished style.

Religious.—The Baptist Church of Garden City has decided to erect, the coming season, a concrete church edifice, 34 by 55 ft., with one roof covered with plastic slate. Rev. J. M. Thurston has entered upon his duties as pastor of the above church.

The Baptist Church of Winnebago City entered their new house of worship on the 30th of Dec. This is a fine structure 28 by 40 ft., with a beautiful tower.

The Baptist Church of Sterling have decided to build a chapel the ensuing season in size and style like the Baptist Church of this town.

Rev. Moses Heath, formerly of Belle Plaine, has become Associate Principal with Prof. Drury, of the Hastings College.

Grain Buyers.—We received last week a call from J. A. McHenry Esq., of Minneapolis. He is a member of the firm of Frazee, Murphy & Co., who established last year an extensive flouring mill at a cost of $40,000. Their building is five stories high and contains five run of stone, and with a hundred horse power engine, has the capacity of grinding nearly 1,500 bushels in 24 hours. There seemed to be a disposition to elbow off our Minneapolis neighbor who came up to get wheat to supply this mill. We hope our grain buyers will not blind their eyes to the fact that our own interests are better subserved by sustaining friendly relations with the business men of that city than by favoring foreign speculators. Railroad communication between Mankato and the manufacturing city of the State approaches us, and the reciprocal favors which may arise between the two places should not be lost. We like to see Minneapolis men up this way. Let them buy our wheat and manufacture it into flour. The entire state is benefited by the factories of Minneapolis, and therefore let us encourage their enterprises. P. F. Miluor is buying wheat for this firm, and will pay the market price. As a candidate for a portion of the wheat, give him a fair chance.

Funeral of Liscom and Campbell.—Last Sabbath on the 6th day of January 1867, the remains of George Liscom and Alexander Campbell were given to their mother Earth at the hands of a Christian people. The funeral took place at the Methodist church, and was attended by five or six hundred persons, many not being able to get into the building. Mr. Tice delivered a very appropriate discourse, and the bodies were followed to the grave by thirty carriages and sleighs, forming the largest possession we ever witnessed in Mankato. Mr. Campbell was a single man aged 27 years and 10 months. Mr. Liscom was married last May to Miss Malissa Wirt of this city. His age was about 25 years. His widow naturally of a frail constitution is quite prostrated by this affliction.

Meeting of County Board.—The regular session of the Board of County Commissioners met last Tuesday, Jan. 1st. Saml. Grannis Andrew Hanna, and George Andrews were present. It was moved and carried that the Board elect a Chairman. Andrew Hanna, receiving the number of votes was declared elected, and the Board adjourned to Wednesday morning. Board met pursuant to adjournment, same members present. It was voted that the county printing be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder, and that bids be received till Jan. 3d at 2 o'clock P. M. The town of Lyra was attached to Commissioner District No. 4. Town 109, Range 26 was attached to McPherson for election purposes. Beauford town was attached to the 1st Commissioner District. The Grand Jurors for the ensuing year were drawn. Adjourned.

The Board met at 2 o'clock P. M. pursuant to adjournment and David D. Evans, commissioner elect from the 3d district took his seat. Thursday, Jan. 3d.—Board met pursuant to adjournment, all present. Petition for organization of Township 108, Range 29, laid over, there being no evidence that a majority of the legal voters signed it. Special school tax on the personal property of Peter Spreichter for 1864, being $12.35, was abated because he did not live in the District when assessed. Petition for School Dist. signed by Isaac Antry and others, layed over for information. Petition for School Dist. signed by Amasa Smith and others, rejected. The County Attorney was instructed to collect the bill of fees from Martin county in the case of the State vs. Charles W. Hill. Salary of County Auditor was fixed at $1,200 per annum commencing March 1st 1867. The County Attorney's salary was fixed at $600, commencing Jan. 1st, 1867. Adjourned to 1½ o'clock P. M. Board met at 1½ o'clock, all present and the court certificates were audited.

Twenty-nine hundred and fourteen dollars and sixty-nine cents of cancelled county orders were destroyed. Petition for school district signed by Willis Briggs and others, laid over for information. Friday, Jan. 4th—Board met, all present. The following resolution was offered by Commissioner Kinney and adopted by an unanimous vote:

Whereas, The interests of Blue Earth county absolutely require the speedy erection of a safe and suitable jail; Therefore Resolved, By the Board of County Commissioners that Andrew Hanna and C. A. Chapman be appointed a committee to draft and forward to the Legislature a petition requesting it to pass an act authorizing the County Commissioners to issue bonds to the amount of $10,000 bearing interest at the rate of 12 per cent per annum, to be paid semiannually, one half to be paid in one year, and one half in two years. Report of committee on roads and bridges accepted and discharged. Andrew Hanna and D. D. Evans were appointed a committee to examine a proposed change of road from South Bend to Rush Lake. Andrew Hanna was appointed to inquire into the condition of John Derby's family, and furnish necessary relief. He was also authorized to spend $100 of Road and Bridge fund or so much as is necessary for building a foot bridge over the Blue Earth river at Le Hillier; also to procure a room for the office of the Clerk of Court and Sheriff. BILLS REJECTED.

Dr. J. C. Jones, attending poor,	28 00
Z. Paddock, office rent,	40 00

Chas. A. Heinze & wife, for attending Teresa Koch, referred to County Attorney. Adjourned.

The county printing was awarded partly to the Union and partly to the Record office on the lowest bidder plan. The delinquent tax list will be published in the Union, and the forfeited list in the Record. Listing notices, tax notice, court calendars, county orders, tax receipts, District Court subpœnas, and a few other smaller jobs are printed at the Union office. The Record prints the annual statement; also a few pieces of job work.

Warren & Van Brunt Suit.—It will be remembered that Thomas Warren brought suit at the last January term of the District Court against the heirs of Geo. M. Van Brunt and all persons claiming under them for the recovery of 40 acres of land, upon which is located the Van Brunt addition to Mankato. The court decided that the legal title was properly awarded to the heirs subject to the equity of Thomas Warren to that portion of it which, according to agreement between the parties before the Government survey, would fall within his line. This line between them not running parallel with the Government lines, threw about eight acres into Warren's division. The Land Office however awarded them their land according to Government survey, and Mr. Warren claiming also prior settlement, brought suit, and the result in the supreme court is that he has no equity in the lands and that the suit as to all the defendants, living upon the forty should be dismissed. This perfects the Van Brunt title to the entire estate and those who were owning under the heirs with notice of Mr. Warren's claim are relieved from further anxiety on account of litigation. The following is a syllabus of the decision:

Thomas D. Warren appt. vs. Flora E. Van Brunt et. al. respondent, and

Thomas D. Warren, respondent vs. Flora E. Van Brunt et. al. appt. Judgment reversed and the suit to be dismissed as to all the defendants. Prior to and at the date of the passage of an act of Congress entitled, "An act to extend the right of preemption, over unsurveyed lands in Minnesota, and for other purposes" approved Aug. 4, 1864. Warren and Van Brunt with their families were residing upon the quarter section now in contest, in the Territory of Minnesota. Shortly after, Warren erected a dwelling house upon an adjoining forty, moved into it and continued to reside there until his preemption entry was made. Van Brunt and his family continued to reside upon the contested forty until his death, and the family continued to reside there after his death, until the preemption entry by his widow, who was his administratrix. The land department of the General Government, upon a contest, awarded the disputed forty to the administratrix. There being no fraud or surprise. Held that the forty was properly awarded to the administratrix, and that she took it subject to no equity in favor of Warren.

FROM MADELIA.

By our own Reporter.

New Bridge.—A bridge on the Haas truss plan, across the Watonwan above the village, has just been completed and is a very fine specimen of architecture. The bridge is eighty feet long, the main part being about seventeen feet above the ordinary water mark. In the main part of the bridge there are eight thousand feet of sawed timber and one hundred and fifty iron bolts sixteen inches long. It was built at the expense of the town of Madelia, by A. J. Nichalson and V. G. Mott, contractors and builders, for the very low figure of $630. Great credit is due Mr. Joseph Flanders, chairman of the board of Town Supervisors for the able and efficient manner in which this bridge was built.

Proceedings of Co. Com.—The County Commissioners elect met at the office of the County Auditor on the 1st day of Jan. 1867, and after being qualified, organized by electing B. O. Kempfer, Chairman. Present, B. O. Kempfer and T. C. Levig; absent, J. K. Webster. Thirty-five dollars were allowed the family of Dr. Baird, they being fit subjects of charity. It was ordered that a license to sell spirituous liquors in less quantities than five gallons, be granted upon payment of twenty-five dollars. A petition signed by J. B. K. McCurdy and others, praying that sections 31, 32, and 33, Town 107, Range 30, and sections 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9, Town 106, Range 30, be organized into a school district, to be known as Madelia School District No. 4, was presented and prayer of petitioners granted.

A petition signed by Lewis White, and twenty-four others, was presented, praying that Town 105, Range 30, be organized into a new town. The prayer of the petitioners was granted, and the town named York. Not many months ago, there was not a single resident in this town, now there is quite a large settlement, enough to organize a new town: all the growth of less than one year. At this rapid rate of settlement it will not be many years until Watonwan will be a populous county.

Co. Agricultural Society.—The Watonwan County Agricultural Society held its annual meeting for the election of officers, &c., Monday evening the 7th inst. The following named officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, S. P. Drigers; Vice President, John Travis; Treasurer, A. J. Nichalson; Recording Secretary, B. O. Kempfer; Corresponding Secretary, R. W. Montgomery; Executive Committee, W. W. Murphy, H. Montgomery, Jeuse Torsen, J. L. Stark, and F. Wintersirand; Delegates to the State Agricultural Society, Bowne G. Yates and J. I. Furber. The following resolutions were introduced and adopted:

Resolved, That the Watonwan County Agricultural Society looks upon the present stock law as unjust and injurious to the stock and agricultural interests of the county.

Resolved, That the society believes that a law requiring the owners of all domestic animals to take care of and be responsible for all damages done by said animals, without regard to the sufficiency of fence, to be just and equitable, and that the society asks that the legislature enact such a law.

Resolved, That the delegates of this society be and are hereby instructed to lay these resolutions before the State Agricultural Society.

The Society adjourned to meet again on the first Wednesday in February. The members of this society meet every month to discuss questions having a bearing upon agricultural interests. We understand that they are making arrangements for holding a fair the coming season. We wish them success.

☞The philosopher and poet statesman, Addison, in his Spectator, the first and most amusing of periodicals, in his papers on Country and City Life, affords the most genial recommendations to preserve the health and purity of the body; his just and benevolent teaching with respect to health may be sough and read with the best effect, by persons of all habits and age; the general good effect of gentle medicines, artistically compounded. DEFE TIVE PAG

ONLY WAITING.

A very aged man in an almshouse was asked "What he was doing now?" He replied, "Only waiting."

Only waiting till the shadows
Are a little longer grown;
Only waiting till the glimmer
Of the day's last beam has flown;
Till the night of earth has faded
From the heart once full of day;
Till the stars of Heaven are breaking
Through the twilight soft and gray.

Only waiting till the reapers
Have the last sheaf gathered home,
For the summer time has faded
And the autumn winds have come.
Quickly, reapers, gather quickly
The last ripe hours of my heart,
For the bloom of life has withered,
And I hasten to depart.

Only waiting till the angels
Open wide the mystic gate
At whose feet I long have lingered,
Weary, poor and desolate.
Even now I hear their footsteps,
And their voices far away;
If they call me, I am willing,
Only waiting to obey.

Only waiting till the shadows
Are a little longer grown
Only waiting till the glimmer
Of the day's last beam has flown;
Then, from out the gathering darkness
Holy, deathless stars shall rise,
By whose light my soul shall gladly
Tread its pathway to the skies.

HUMOROUS.

Early spring—a baby-jumper.

Thirteen objections were once given by a young lady for declining a match—the first twelve being the suitors twelve children, and the thirteenth the suitor himself.

If two men, not being relatives, should each marry the daughter of the other, in what relationship will the offspring of said two marriages stand to each other?

"Mother, where is the man going to sleep?" asked a girl of fifteen, of her mother, who had just promised a traveler a night's rest in their out-of-the way-hut. "I'll have to put him in with you, and Jack, and Kate, and Sue, and Bet, I suppose," was the reply, "and if it is too crowded, one of you must turn in with me and dad, and Dick, and Tommy, and the twins."

"Bridget," said a mistress to her servant, "where's the gridiron?" "An sure, ma'am, I's jist after giving it to my sister's own cousin, Bridget O'Flahearty; the thing's so full of holes, it's no good at all."

A very modest young lady, who was a passenger on board a packet ship, it is said, sprang out of her berth and jumped overboard on hearing the captain, during a storm, order the mate to haul down the sheets.

We do not believe in spiritualism or magic (except slight-of-hand &c.,) but what are we to say to such a fact as this?—"The other day a varacious witness actually saw a young man turn into a public house!" Transformation extraordinary! Further evidences will be forthcoming shortly.

The Galesburg Free Press says: Greenwood advertised in this city thirty performers in his troupe. They performed once in two days. Present each night, thirty spectators. Complimentary and dead-heads, ten; leaving twenty paying spectators—twenty five cents apiece. Total, five dollars! Eight and one-third cents a day to each performer!

A letter was mailed recently at the Cleveland postoffice, bearing the following superscription:

"To Thomas Young, a genial 'cuss,'
By brevet rank a Brigadier,
Who in our late domestic 'muss,"
Was never known to turn his rear
To rebel foes,
This letter goes—
At Cincinnati."

A Washington correspondent tells this characteristic story concerning the Count Gurowski: The Count was once in a heated argument with an ex-rebel, Judge L——, when he suddenly said: "Judge L——, "I admire you!" "Why," returned the Judge, "I cannot see how you can admire me, after calling me such hard names!" "Indeed," roared the Count, "I admire everything zat is perfeck, and you are one pefeck scoundrel."

The Mobile Times says the cold weather has given an impetus to the skaters North, and had the contrary effect on the "skeeters" South.

Artemus Ward says that, as a Son of Temperance, he believes in temperance hotels, though as a general thing they sell poorer liquor than the other sort.

"I wonder," said a Scotch maiden, "what my brother John sees in the lasses, that he likes them sae weel; for my part, I wad nae gie the company o' one lad for twenty lasses."

A little five year old, referring to his sister's perfumery, said: "There ain't no penny in that, is there?" "No, my dear." "Then what makes you call it a s (cent) bag?"

A Dutchman at Decatur married a second wife a week after the death of No. 1. The Sabbath following, the bride asked her lord to take her riding, and was "cut up" with the following response: "You tink I ride out mit anoder woman so soon after the death of mine frau? No, no."

Greenback Counterfeits.

Two counterfeits of greenback currency have deen detected in several cities. We give a description of the bills that the public may be on their guard:

20s, imitation—read on top, Act of March 3, 1863. The female in the center, with left hand resting on a sword, has the left hand turned to the left, and the eyes looking in the same direction. In the genuine the head is turned the same, but the eyes are looking front. The foot in the counterfeit is distinctly seen, and counts four toes; in the genuine it is not visible. On the reverse side, in the words United States of America, the shading runs all through the letters; in the genuine the letters are shaded on the edge only, showing white between.

5s. of the issue of March 10, 1862. The words United States, when compared with those of a genuine bill, have a scratchy appearance. In general appearance, paper and printing, they are well calculated to deceive.

THE MANNER OF WEARING SHAWLS.—The ladies have adopted what is called the Arabian style of wearing their shawls. A portion of the article is drawn into a pouch between the shoulders, like the contrivance whereby a squaw was habituated to carry her juvenile offspring. It looks as if it were thrown on with a pitchfork. To conform to the same taste displayed in wearing the shawl, the gentlemen should gather the skirts of their coats and fasten them with a bodkin to the waists of their pants. But the ladies know that their sway is despotic—that the most ridiculous absurdity in costume they can assume will not diminish their power—and they seem to adopt these odities to exemplify the fact.

The Congressional excurtionists had a very cordial reception at New Orleans, as also at Magnolia and Jackson, Miss. At the latter places the citizens turned out in great numbers to meet them. They left New Orleans on the 1st of January for Washington.

SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC.

This medicine, Invented by Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, is intended to dissolve the food and make it into chyme, the first process of digestion. By cleansing the stomach with Schenck's Mandrake Pills, the Tonic soon restores the appetite, and food that could not be eaten before using it will be easily digested.

Consumption cannot be cured by Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup unless the stomach and liver is made healthy and the appetite restored, hence the Tonic and Pills are required in nearly every case of consumption. A half dozen bottles of the SEAWEED TONIC and three or four boxes of the MANDRAKE PILLS will cure any ordinary case of dyspepsia.

Dr. SCHENCK makes professional visits in New York, Boston, and at his principal Office in Philadelphia every week. See daily papers of each place, or his pamphlet on consumption for his days for visitation.

Please observe, when purchasing, that the two likenesses of the Doctor, one when in the last stage of Consumption, and the other as he now is, in perfect health, are on the Government stamp.

Sold by all Druggists and Dealers, price $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 the half-dozen. All letters for advice should be addressed to Dr. SCHENCK'S Principal Office, No. 15 North 6th Street, Philadelphia Pa.

which they need not pay until it is known what is drawn and its value.

THE AMERICAN JEWELERS' ASSOCIATION calls your attention to the fact of its being the largest and most popular Jewelry Association in the United States The business is and always has been conducted in the most candid and honorable manner. Our rapidly increasing trade is a sure guarantee of the appreciation of our patrons for this method of obtaining rich, elegant and costly goods. The sudden stagnation of trade in Europe, owing to the late German War and recent disastrous financial crisis in England, has caused the failure of a large number of Jewelry Houses in London and Paris, obliging them to sell their goods at a great sacrifice, in some instances less than one third the cost of manufacturing. We have lately purchased very largely of these Bankrupt Goods, at such extreme low prices, that we can afford to send away Finer Goods, and give better chances to draw the most valuable prizes than any other establishment doing a similar business. OUR AIM IS TO PLEASE, and we respectfully solicit your patronage, as we are confident of giving the utmost satisfaction. During the past year we have forwarded a number of the most valuable prizes to all parts of the country. Those who patronize us will receive the full value of their money, as no article on our list is worth less than One Dollar, retail, and there are no blanks. Parties dealing with us may depend on having prompt returns, and the articles drawn will be immediately sent to any address by return mail or express.

The following parties have recently drawn valuable prizes from the American Jewelers' Association, and have kindly allowed the use of their names:

FLORENCE
SEWING MACHINE CO.
100 WASHINGTON ST., CHICAGO.
Wm. H. SHARP & CO.,
GENERAL AGENTS.

THE FLORENCE is the only machine extant having a reversible feed, which enables the operator to sew either to the right or left at pleasure, and the only machine that makes a perfectly elastic seam, alike on each side of the fabric.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE not only makes the lock-stitch, but three others, which for certain kinds of work are much superior, especially where elasticity is required and is the only machine that fastens the ends of each seam securely, and does it in one-fourth the time it can be done by hand.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE, does not draw fine, thin goods down through the slot or hole in the work-plate nor drop a stitch in turning a corner, and is the only machine having a changeless tension, and no slack threads both of which draw together simultaneously.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE is noiseless, and can be used when quiet is necessary as well in the sick-chamber as in the workroom. They oil no dresses, the machinery being all on the top of the table. It will sew over the heaviest seams, or from one to more thicknesses of goods, without skipping stitches, breaking threads or requiring change in tension.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE will do easily all family and tailoring work on one and the same machine. They are strong and finely finished,—their motions are all positive, there are no springs to get out of order,—while for strength, durability & beauty of design it will bear, and we invite, comparison, with any or all machines.

AMERICAN ORGANS.

(From "Godey's Ladies' Book," February, 1866.)

REED ORGANS, &c.

THE following remarks and suggestions relative to this immensely popular instrument will doubtless interest and profit very many of our readers; we commend the article to their careful perusal:—

A hundred and one makers of Organs, Cottage, Parlor-Cabinet, American, School Organs etc. etc., are each claiming to make the best instrument in the world. Being comparatively a new instrument, as at present constructed, we are convinced the public are much less capable of judging of its merits, or demerits, than of most other instruments, If there is really an essential difference in them, if there are some worthless ones, the public should have some criterion for judging of them, some facts which will enlighten them. We cheerfully concede the space for this article, knowing that there is hardly a family, or church, or school in all the land, but is more or less interested in this topic. We are also aware of its being a great misfortune, a real calamity, to any of them to purchase an inferior or worthless Organ, ruinous to good playing, and often a source of much annoyance and vexation. We know this article to emanate from a candid and intelligent source, and thus we give it to our readers.

The question is often asked, what are "reed organs?" We answer, they are, in most cases nothing in the world but the old melodeon in disguise, Many of the so-called Organs have the same bellows, the same reeds, and the same general internal arrangement. With the bellows turned on edge to gain room, they have simply put on a more pretentious exterior and a more high sounding name But an organ to be in reality an organ, must have a wind chest or reservoir for air separate from the bellows, into which wind chest the reeds open, and the tone has room to expand and perfect itself into the full round tone, similar to the flute or pipe organ, even, smooth firm and mellow; and this tone from reeds cannot be obtained in any other way known. Nothing so annoys a true organist as to have the volume of sound swelling and jerking spasmodically with every variation of force on the bellows or air-passages, instead of a wind-or sound box. And yet some makers even go so far as to claim this spasmodic or automatic jerking of the bellows on the reeds as an excellence, just as though they did not know that it must soon throw the reeds out of tune, and injure the bellows; and as though it were not an easier matter to obtain a much better and more easily managed swell by other methods. The truth is, any organ, so called, or melodeon which has the wind acting directly upon the reeds, is nothing more or less than a huge accordeon, dress it up as you may. And when organists and true musicians become aware of the fact that they can obtain those that are organs in fact as well as in name they will buy no more of the objectionbel ones. Then again the swell should always be separate and distinct from the bellows, so as not to be acted on by the hand, or soft blowing, but convenient, so that the player can use it with the knee, separate from the hands or feet, and thus always under easy control, to be used ad libitum.

The large divided bellows, or double bellows, is also a very important improvement.—By this means not only can the wind be supplied more evenly, but with far greater ease to the performer, from the fact that either bellows alone will be sufficient for the lighter melodies, thus permitting the player to change about and rest the feet at will; then, if the bellows is of a requisite large size, and having the wind-chest or reservoir, all will be well.—As to the reeds, they must be scientifically tuned and voiced, or all the other good qualities in the world cannot produce a good toned instrument. The inquiry now very naturall arises, where can the organ be procured combining all these essential and desirable qualities? There is only one possessing these points and that is the AMERICAN ORGAN, made by S. D. & H. W. SMITH, of Boston, SIBERIA OTT, Wholesale Agent, 581 Broadway, New York. These organs have a wind-chest extending the whole length o. the instrument, and so constructed as to act at the same time as a reverberating sound-box or board, and having the same important relation and part to perform that the sounding-board has to the piano. This feature the makers have patented, and to it are owing in a great measure the entirely unequaled fullness and richness of tone so highly prized by all who have used these organs. They also have the largest and best divided bellows in use, which is another important feature. No part of their work is slighted no expense or pains spared to make the American Organs perfect musically, as well as mechanically, and, judging from the immense sale of them at present, they bid fair to long maintain the proud position they have won by superior merit alone. We would most heartily advise all interested to call upon or address MR. SIBERIA OTT, the Wholesale Agent, at No. 581 Broadway, New York, and can assure them he will, in the most gentlemanly and truthful manner, impart to them all the information they may desire relative to this truly delightful instrument.

J. W. Bradley's Celebrated Patent DUPLEX ELLIPTIC
(OR DOUBLE SPRING)
SKIRT.

The Wonderful Flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any Lady, wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced particularly in all crowded assemblies, Operas, Carriages, Railroad Cars, Church Pews, Arm Chairs, for Promenade and House Dress, as the Skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a silk or muslin dress, an invaluable quality in crinoline, not found in any Single Spring Skirt.

A Lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort, and great convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Steel Spring Skirt for a single day, will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For Children, Misses and Young Ladies, they are superior to all others.

They will not bend or break like the Single Spring, but will preserve their perfect and delicate shape when three or four ordinary skirts will have been throw aside as useless. The Hoops are covered with double and twisted thread, and the bottom rods are not only double springs but twice (or double) covered; preventing them from wearing out when dragging down stoops, stairs, &c.

The Duplex Elliptic is a great favorite with all ladies and is universally recommended by the Fashion Magazines as the standard skirt of the fashionable world.

To enjoy the following inestimable advantages in Crinoline, viz.: Superior Quality, Perfect Manufacture, Stylish shape and Finish, Flexibility, Durability, Comfort and Economy, enquire for J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic, or Double Spring Skirt, and be sure you get the genuine article.

CAUTION.—To guard against IMPOSITION be particular to NOTICE that skirts offered as "DUPLEX" have the red ink stamp, viz., "J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic Steel Springs," upon the waistband—none others are genuine. Also Notice that every Hoop will admit a pin being passed through the centre, thus revealing the two (or double) springs braided together therein, which is the secret of their flexibility and strength, and a combination not to be found in any other Skirt.

FOR SALE in all Stores where First Class skirts are sold throughout the United States and elsewhere. Manufactured by the Sole Owners of the patent.

THE OLD BOOK-KEEPER.

BY GEORGE COOPER.

It was an ancient book-keeper,
And he was tall and slim;
Though his face was mild he rarely smiled,
His clothes were dark and prim;
And everything about his desk
He keeps exceeding trim.

He always hung his hat and coat
Upon the self-same hooks,
And laid his rulers, pens and ink
In their respective nooks;
And all the exercise he had
Was footing up his books.

Each day upon the self-same hour,
He took his lofty seat,
And bent his body and his mind
His labors to complete;
And blots were neither on his fame
Nor on his ledger sheet.

The music of his pen was heard
From morn till even tide;
Up columns vast his eyes were cast,
Then down again with pride;
Quite pleased was he, though he saw his work
Increased and multiplied.

The cash that o'er his fingers came
Each day was something grand;
And yet no scheme to bear it off
By him was ever planned;
Although you saw with half an eye
That he wrote a "sloping" hand.

He had no wife, he made no friends,
His joys and cares were few;
And his dearest hope, from day to day,
Was to keep his balance true;
A good world this, if every man
The latter thing would do.

He never sighed when little ills
His way of life would cross;
And o'er the errors of his youth
He showed no vain remorse;
But he set down all that came along
To profit or to loss.

One day the creditor of all
Dropped in for his account;
He found the old man at his post,
Though low ran nature's fount;
The books were closed, and he was borne
Up to his last account.

Correction.

ED. UNION: In your issue of Jan. 11th appears an article headed "Preaching Versus Practice." In the extract quoted from the address of the Illinois Union Prayer Meeting to the Christian Public, occurs an error which please correct by inserting the quotation in full:

Why do we labor so little and pray so little for the conversion of the world? It is because we have so little faith. We profess to believe the Bible. Do we really believe it? Is there any such thing as inoperative faith? Oh, if we truly believed the demands of God; if we realized the death and resurrection and intercession of Christ; if we felt in our hearts that unbelievers would be damned, and that God has commissioned every Disciple, Laymen and Clergymen alike to proclaim the gospel to every creature, could we live as we do? Alas, no. Lord we believe, help thou our unbelief. Lord increase our faith.

OBSERVER.

Whipping and Selling American Citizens.

Our readers will have observed a late order of Gen. Sickles, forbidding the public whipping of men in his military department. Gov. Worth, of North Carolina, went to Washington to protest against this action of General Sickles, and he states in his message that the State was "astounded" at the prohibition "to execute the laws which have existed with us and our ancestors for many hundred years." The President, after hearing Governor Worth, promptly annulled the order of Gen. Sickles, and thereby directed that the public flogging of men should be resumed in a part of the country in which there is no valid authority but that of the United States.

Now that we may all understand exactly what it is that General Sickles forbade and the President permits, we refer them not only to the picture of Mr. Nast elsewhere in this paper, but to the private testimony which we receive from a gentleman lately connected with a court martial sitting in Raleigh, North Carolina. He states that every day during about a month, while the State court was recently sitting at Raleigh, there was a crowd of nearly five hundred people outside the court house witnessing the public whipping of colored men as fast as they were convicted and sentenced to be whipped by the Court; and to see the victims of the same court sold at auction for a term of years—three years being the usual term. He says that the people were very exultant when the President's order came prohibiting the soldiers from interfering with this treatment of the colored people. He knew one case in which three hundred lashes were laid on.

The same gentleman states that this sentence of whipping operates in North Carolina as a civil disqualification, so that none of these victims, according to the local law, could ever vote, even if the suffrage were extended to colored men. They are disqualified in advance.

Thus the freedmen are still pursued and sacrificed by the ancient laws of Slavery, and thus the rage of baffled rebellion expends itself upon the most helpless and unfortunate of the population. Yet all these tragedies should constantly remind us that the late dominant class in the Southern States are poisoned to the very marrow by the system of Slavery; and that no duty of this nation is now so solemn and paramount as to take care that the late slaves shall not be tortured. No plea of State law or local law; no fear of national intervention or centralization or consolidation should prevent the people of the United States from protecting those who are hated and persecuted because of their fidelity to the Government. If for a single year the white people of the late rebel States should be made to suffer what the colored people there have endured for generations the world would cry out with shame and horror. The President of the Georgia Senate, in some recent insolent remarks upon the question of reorganization, haughtily said that even the worm may turn. Let him ponder his words. Let him, and all for whom he speaks, understand clearly that such words in the mouths of those who, after the most unspeakable crime, are offered the most unprecedented clemency, are amusing; but in the mouths of those who are guilty of the most intolerable meanness and tyranny toward others such words are indescribably contemptible.

General Sickles may be very sure that his wise and humane order has not lost him any friends among the loyal people of this country. And the President may be equally sure that he has not gained any by his conduct in the matter.—Harper's Weekly Jan. 12th.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.

PASSAGE OF THE COLORADO AND NEBRASKA BILLS.

The Senate has finally concluded action upon the Colorado and Nebraska Bills, both of which were passed this evening by a good majority, though not by a two-thirds vote. The test question was made upon the Nebraska Bill. Numerous amendments were proposed and rejected. The Edmund's amendment was at first lost by a vote, but at a subsequent stage of the proceedings, it was carried by two majority, as follows:

YEAS—Messrs. Anthony, Cattell, Chandler, Conness, Cragin, Cresswell, Edmunds, Fessenden, Fogg, Fowler, Lane, Morrill, Poland, Ramsey, Ross, Sherman, Stewart, Sumner, Van Winkle and Wade—20.

NAYS—Messrs. Buckalew, Cowan, Dixon, Doolittle, Foster, Grimes, Hendricks, Howard, Howe, Johnson, Morgan, Nesmith, Norton, Patterson, Riddle, Saulsbury, Willy and Williams—18.

This amendment is in these words: "This act shall take effect with the fundamental and perpetual condition that within said State of Nebraska there shall be no abridgment or denial of the exercise of the elective franchise, or of any other right to any person by reason of race or color, excepting Indians, not taxed." The bill, after the adoption of this amendment, was passed by the following vote:

VOTE ON THE NEBRASKA BILL.

YEAS—Anthony, Cattell, Chandler, Cragin, Conness, Cresswell, Edmunds, Fogg, Fowler, Henderson, Howard, Kirkwood, Lane, Morrill, Poland, Ramsey, Ross, Sherman Stewart, Sumner, Van Winkle, Wade, Willey and Williams—24.

NAYS—Buckalew, Cowan, Dixon, Doolittle, Foster, Grimes, Hendricks, Howe, Johnson, Morgan, Nesmith, Norton, Patterson, Riddle and Saulsbury—15.

THE COLORADO BILL

was at once taken up and passed, with the same amendment, by a vote of 24 to 12. Both bills were sent to the House this evening, and efforts will be made to put them through to-morrow. The number of absentees in the Senate was large to-day, and the friends of the bills believe that when the members are all present they can carry the necessary two-thirds vote, but this is by no means certain.

Artemus Ward's Threshing Machine.

My wife's a exceedingly practycal woman. I luv her muchly, however, and humor her little ways. It's a reckless falshood that she henpecks me, and the young man in our neighborhood who said to me as I was distending my diafram with a gentle cocktail at the village tavern—who said to me in these very langwidge, "Go home old man, onless you want another tea-pot throwd at you by B. J," probly regrets heving sed so. I said, "Betsy Jane is my wife's front name, gentle youth, and I permits no person to alood to her as B. J., outside the family circle, of which I am it principally myself. Your other observations I scorn and disgust, and I must polish you off." He was a able-bodied young man, and removin' his coat, he inquired if I wanted to be ground to powder? I said if there was a powder grindist handy, nothing would ford me greater pleasure, when he struck me a painful blow into my right eye, causing me to make a rapid retreat into the fireplace.

I hadn't no idea that the enemy was so well organized. But I ralied and went for him in a rather vigris style for my time of life. His parents lived near by, and I will simply state that fifteen minutes had only elapsed after the first hit, when he was carried home on a shutter. His mamma met the sollum procession at the door, and after keerfully looking her offspring over, she said: "My son, I see how it is distinctually. You've been foolin' around a threshing machine. You went in at the place where they put the grain into the thinganyjig, and let the hosses tread on you, didn't you my son?" The pen of no livin' orthor could describe that disfortunate young man's sitawation more clearer. But I was sorry for him, and I went and nussed him till he got well. His reg'lar original father had been sent to the war. I told him I'd be a father to him myself. He smilt a sickly smile, and said I'd already been wuss than two fathers to him.

The Sequel.

Our readers have all heard the story of soaping the clergyman's tin horn at a camp meeting, so that when he went to call his flock together, he blew the soap over his brother clergymen, and how he exclaimed:

"Brethren, I have served the Lord thirty years, and in that time I have not uttered a profane word, but I'll be d—d if I can't whip the man that soaped that horn!"

Our readers, we say, have all heard this, but have, perhaps, never heard the sequel, as given us by a gentleman present.

Some two days after, a tall, swarthy, villainous-looking desperado strolled upon the ground and leaned against a tree, listening to an eloquent exhortation to repent which was being made by the preacher.

After a while he became interested, finally affected, and then taking a position on the anxious seat, commenced groaning in "the very bitterness" of his sorrow, the clergyman walked down and attempted to console him. On consultation—he was too great a sinner he said. "No, he was too wicked—there was no mercy for him."

"Why, what crime have you committed?" asked the preacher: "have you stolen?"

"Oh, worse than that!"

"What, have you by violence robbed female innocence of its virtue?"

"Worse than that. Oh, much worse than that!"

"Murder?" gasped the horrified minister.

"Worse than that!" groaned the sinner.

The excited minister commenced "peeling off" his outer garments.

"Here, Brother Cole," he shouted, "hold my coat. I've found the fellow that soaped my horn!"

Jeff. Davis.

During the morning of the 5th inst. the debate waxed warm in the Senate upon the first bill passed by the House, repealing the clause of the amnesty act which extended the President's pardoning power. Mr. Reverdy Johnson in the course of his remarks, condemned the Government in the bitterest terms for holding Jeff. Davis in confinement, and declared that the fact of his being held as a prisoner of war of itself shielded him from trial for treason. Senator Howe, of Wisconsin, replied in a scathing speech, under which the Senator from Maryland exhibited more uneasiness than he has been known to show for a long time. Senator Howard intimated that Davis was held as an assassin, and that it had been necessary to wait for evidence. He further gave it as his deliberate judgment that instead of ever being tried for treason he would be released unconditionally by the President. The debate called a large crowd to the Senate, and altogether it was the most exciting occasion of the session.

QUEER ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE.—The following account of a determined attempt at suicide is gravely related by the Epoco, of Madrid:

The individual in question being tired of his life, resolved to take such measures as must infallibly insure his death. For that end he started for the seashore provided with a ladder, a rope, a loaded pistol, a bottle of poison, and a box of matches. Having some time before discovered a post standing a little way out in the water he fixed his ladder against it and ascending, fastened one end of the cord to the top and passed a slip-knot around his neck, swallowed the poison, and striking a light set fire to his clothes. Then placing the pistol to his ear, he kicked away the ladder; but in doing so his hand swerved, and as he fired at the same moment, the bullet instead of penetrating the brain, divided the rope, and he fell into the sea, extinguishing his burning garments. The quantity of salt water he had swallowed caused him to throw up the poison he had taken, so he scrambled on shore convinced that his time had not come.

The News.

It has transpired that by directions from England, the sentence of the condemned Fenians is commuted to twenty years imprisonment in the penitentiary. Those in Sweetsburg will be taken to Kingston.

An Arkansas delegation had an interview with the President who was unreserved in his expressions regarding the Constitutional Amendment, which he thought should not be accepted. The Arkansas Commissioners have been informed by leading Republicans that Congress won't make exceptions in their favor, nor depart from any plans to be agreed on in Congress.

Notwithstanding the enormous frauds on the revenue by distillers which have come to light, it is stated at the Internal Revenue Bureau that the receipts of duties from his source are three times as large as last year.

The Committee on Agriculture is about to report concerning the whole management of the Commissioner. The committee has information that every agricultural society in the country, with one exception, has asked President Johnson to remove Commissioner Newton.

Many Republican Congressmen have been discussing the policy of impeaching the President, and express serious doubts as to its propriety. It is understood that Mr. Spaulding, of Ohio, with others, will take strong grounds against the movement.

Senator Ross, of Kansas, introduced a bill to provide for giving the right of pre-emption to settlers on the Cherokee neutral land tract, which was printed and referred to the Committee on Public Lands. This bill has special reference to the lands Secretary Harlan was about to sell last summer, and its object is to secure settlers in their rights to lands already pre-empted. It is of vital importance to at least ten thousand settlers.

Gen. Ord has just made a report upon the condition of things in Arkansas. He sums up matters as follows: "Outrages, assaults and murders, committed on the persons of freedmen and women, are being continually reported from nearly all quarters of the State, and a decided want of disposition to punish offenders apparently exists with the people. There have been reported fifty-two murders of freed persons by white men in this State in the past three or four months, and no reports have been received that the murderers have been imprisoned or punished. In some parts of the State, particularly in the southwest and southeast, freedmen's lives are threatened if they report their wrongs to the agent of the Bureau, and in many instances the parties making reports are missed and never heard of afterward. It is believed that the number of murders reported is not half the number committed during the time mentioned.

WASHINGTON, January 9.—The Judiciary Committee have begun the investigation of Ashley's charges against the President. He was called before the committee, and made his charges formally. The committee impose an injunction of secrecy, and correspondents disobeying will be called to account.

In response to the call of the House, the Attorney General sent in a report of the prominent rebel officers and citizens pardoned since April, 1865, and shows who recommended them to Executive clemency. Among the latter are Generals Grant, Meade, Sheridan, Sickles, and Thomas, Thurlow Weed, H. J. Raymond, Admiral Farragut, Governor Brownlow, Ex-Attorney General Speed, Geo. D. Prentice and many other loyal men. Gen. Grant signed the petitions of Generals Roddy A. P. Stewart, and Ecton.

The proposition of Mr. Washburne, of Illinois, and Mr. Bingham, having been entirely misrepresented as to their statements in caucus, it is proper to state that Mr. Washburne, so far from saying there were no grounds for impeachment, said he would go so far as those who go farthest in that direction: but he insisted that the first steps should be upon a solid foundation, and so all propositions should be referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Mr. Bingham declared his readiness to investigate the matter, and to vote for the impeachment if a case for it was made out, but he thought it too late in the session to begin it, as the retiring of one-third of the present Senators on the 4th of March would virtually dissolve the court trying the case.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

In order that our readers may have the benefit of the Governor's message entire, without crowding our news and local columns, we have caused to be printed a neat "extra," containing the message, which is folded in the issue of this week. It costs us a few extra dollars, but in thus "casting our bread upon the waters," we presume it will be returned to us, if not in money, at least in a proper appreciation of the enterprise, which is quite as valuable to us. The message was read to the Legislature in joint session at noon on the 10th inst., and contains a brief and plain statement of the financial, physical, and educational condition of the State. The current indebtedness of the State is about $250 000, which becomes due next July, and $100,000 which becomes due in November next. Of these amounts, the sinking fund and school fund of the State will takes $190,000, leaving only $160,000 not held by the State. The United States is indebted to the State in the sum of more than $100,000, which will, when paid, cancel the amount of indebtedness, which is held by private individuals, leaving only about $50,000 to be paid the coming year. The school fund will be used to pay it until the sinking fund of 1868 is raised. We shall then owe nothing but our own school fund, and so long as the interest is paid for the benefit of our schools, pay-day can be indefinitely deferred. The outside figure that the State will owe the school fund, will not exceed $125,000. The old five million loan is considered in the message. About one half of this sum was issued in bonds at an early day, for railroad improvements, but as the persons receiving them failed to fulfil their obligations to the State, the railroads were not built and the State received no equivalent for the bonds. The present owners bought them for a song, and the State proposes now to pay what in equity they are worth. The message recommends that the 500,000 acres of land lately discovered to be due the State from the General Government, 300,000 of which are already located, should be devoted to the payment of these bonds, and thus save a direct tax for that purpose. The message commends the passage of the constitutional amendment, which the UNION heartily endorses. He further urges that the Legislature submit to the people the proposition of allowing every body to vote by striking out the word "white" from the constitution. Our plan of amending the constitution would always include a condition to the right of suffrage. We are in favor of universal conditional suffrage of the male population. We are liable to the imputation of being in the rear rank of radicalism, in venturing this opinion, but we never could see the consistency of qualifying the elective franchise by a distinction of sex and age, and term of residence and exemption from crime, and at the same time with holy horror proclaim it an injustice to impose an educational condition, which is a more important element in self government, than any other now imposed. We trust the legislature will not again attempt to tinker with the constitution without first inserting an educational clause. Then let white, black, or brown come to the polls alike. "Green" is the most dangerous complexion with which a republican form of government can contend.

There are other recommendation of the Governor which should be heeded. A department of public instruction, with a competent superintendent is very much needed. An efficient plan of inducing immigration is also necessary. Also the improvement of the Mississippi river, and as the Governor forgot the Minnesota river we will embody it in our own "annual message" and "memorial to Congress." and if consistent with the august will of that body, we trust that our memorial will be considered with respect, although its delegation from this State are all Mississippi fish, and seldom meet the obstructions incident to low water navigation on the Minnesota. The message is well worthy a perusal, to which our readers are specially referred.

Further From New Ulm

Maj. G. K. Cleveland our county attorney made a flying trip to New Ulm on Saturday last, and to him we are indebted for another batch of news from Shillock's innocent and saintly Eden of the West. We were not at all pleased with the letter of our Attorney General of last week, to the Governor, in which he compliments Messrs. Shillock and Baasen for their arduous efforts in assisting to bring the New Ulm tragedians to justice. It also gave us uneasiness that the General seemed so confident that the people of New Ulm were giving an honest expression of feeling, when they declared their willingness to attend to the prosecution of the offenders themselves, that justice without fear or favor should be done. The slow movement of the authorities there was only quickened by the united voice of the State press, and by the demand of Governor Marshall that Shillock should return immediately to his constituents and remove the clogs immediately and faithfully from under the wheels of judicial investigation. It would be singular indeed if public opinion had effected nothing, and it seems now probable that the citizens of New Ulm will yield to the popular voice and give at least a passive acquiescense to the administration of the law. Our attorney seems confident that Mr. Colville is doing all that is possible to bring the parties to justice. Complaints have been sworn out against John Gut, the soldier who was arrested by Sheriff Walbridge, and John Nun, Milchios Roth, Anton Ziecher, Jacob Nix, N. Peffer, John Hose, Alois Werntz, Nicodemus Werntz, Carl Beyer, John Stamm, Frank Geife, Henry Hartman, Mattheas Nuder, George Schneider, Henry Kottman and August Schmidt. A hall in the Grose House is used as a court room, and special constables from the country have been sworn in to guard the prisoners. Further arrests are being made and for each arrest a new officer is sworn in, so that a faithful discharge of duty will secure the presence of the prisoners. Judge Flandreau, we understand, has undertaken the defense. Gen. Colville is obtaining some direct evidence from boys of the place who followed the crowd closely, and were present at the time the outrages were committed. Let the prisoners stand in a row, and the boys will point to the one who had the cordwood in his hand, another who held the rope, another who stabbed the bodies, another who gave command, another who placed the rope on their necks, and others who lifted them to the scaffold, and so on, with such apparent correctness, directness, and familiarity with the facts, that no one can doubt their statements. Efforts were made by a woman at New Ulm to intimidate one of these boys and thus prevent his evidence from being taken. It is also said that the school teacher demanded of his scholars that if any of them knew anything of the tragedy that they should not reveal it on penalty of a flogging. The Attorney General, we are informed, will take measures to protect these boys until they can be used at the trial in the District Court. A provision in our law gives the attorney on behalf of the State, the same right to apply for a change of venue that the defendant has. Mr. Colville will apply for this change, and has every confidence that Judge Austin will remove the trials away from Brown County.

Impeachment.

The Committee on Judiciary are now inquiring into the official conduct of President Johnson, in pursuance of a resolution of the house, which was presented by Mr. Ashley, of Ohio. He arose in his seat on the 7th inst., and made the following declaration, and offered the resolution hereto appended, which was adopted:

I do impeach Andrew Johnson, Vice President and Acting President of the United States, of high criminal misdemeanors. I charge him with the usurpation of power and violation of law, in that he has corruptly abused the appointing and pardoning power; in that he has corruptly disposed of the public property of the United States; in that he has corruptly interfered in the elections, and committed acts and conspired with others to commit acts, which are high crimes and misdemeanors; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Committee on Judiciary be, and they are hereby authorized to inquire into the official conduct of Andrew Johnson, Vice President, in discharging the power and duties of President of the United States, and to report to this House whether, in their opinion, the said Andrew Johnson, while in said office, has been guilty of acts which were designed or calculated to overthrow, subvert, or to corrupt the Government of the United States, or any department or officer thereof, and whether the said Andrew Johnson has been guilty of any act, or has conspired with others to do acts, which, in the contemplation of the committee, are high crimes and misdemeanors, requiring the interposition of the constitutional power of this House, and that said committee have power to send for persons and papers, and to administer the customary oaths to witnesses.

Five Million Loan.

Of the five million loan, noticed in another article, it seems that $2,275,000 in bonds were issued as a loan of the State credit to certain railway companies, as follows:

To the Minnesota and Pacific R. R. Co.	$600,000
" Minneapolis & Cedar Valley Co.	600,000
" Transit Co.	500,000
" Southern Minnesota Co.	575,000
Total,	$2,275,000

There were 227 miles graded when the bonds were issued, but the grading did not cost near the par value of the bonds. The companies failed to complete their work though they received the bonds, and therefore the State has never received an equivalent for them. The commissioners appointed by the last Legislature to seek out the bond holders and ascertain upon what terms they would surrender them, have made their report. The Press of the 15th inst. gives the following summary of their report:

Of the 2,275 seven per cent bonds ($2,275,000) issued, only 1,840 ($1,840,000) were reported to the commission—and these are in the hands of ninety-five holders who are scattered in the States of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, Massachusetts, and a few in other States. Of the remaining 435 bonds no information was obtained.

By far the largest holder is Mr. Selah Chamberlain who has bonds to the amount of $967,000 out of $992,000 received in payment of grading on the Minnesota and Pacific, Southern Minnesota and Minnesota Valley roads. The commissioners considered it remarkable that Mr. Chamberlain alleged that his bonds cost him "more than par" and therefore employed Mr. J. S. Sewall, a highly competent engineer to estimate the cost of the road beds for which the bonds were received. Mr. Sewall after a minute survey of the roads estimates the actual cost of the grading executed by Mr. Chamberlain on the three roads at $341,211—and the commissioners adjudge upon the basis of Mr. Sewall's estimates that Mr. Chamberlain's bonds cost him a fraction over 30 per cent of their par value. The following is Mr. Sewall's estimate of the cost of the grading on which the bonds were issued on each road:

	Miles graded.	Cost per mile.	Total cost.
Minn. & Pacific,	62½	$2,128	$133,026
Minn. Valley,	37½	1,795	67,315
Southern Minn.,	20	7,048	140,860
Total,	120		341,211

It is notable that the majority of the holders allege that their bonds cost them par or more. It is not probable that the Legislature will take any action upon the report at this session.

U. S. Senators.

Hon. Lyman Trumbull has been re-elected to the United States Senate by the Legislature of Illinois. Gov. Morton of Indiana has been elected to the United States Senate by the Legislature of that State, to take the place of Henry S. Lane who peremptorily refused again to be a candidate. Hon. Roscoe Conklin is elected by the Legislature of New York to take the place of Ira Harris, United States Senator from that State.

TAX TITLES.

A law of 1862 was passed for the special purpose of clearing up all the delinquent taxes of 1859, and previous years. The 6th section of the law provided that any person claiming an interest in lands adversely to the purchaser for taxes, should commence a suit within one year after the tax deed was recorded, to enforce or decide his claim. The Supreme Court has decided that such a law is unconstitutional, because it does not merely act upon the remedy as a limitation, but may in some instances cut off an investigation before a cause of action would accrue, and in others it would force a man into a law suit while in the peaceful possession of his own property, the title to which is only clouded by a delinquent tax. If a man's lands are sold for taxes, the purchaser should first commence suit to enforce his tax title and not the man in possession, who from the irregularity of the assessment and sale may justly deem the tax title worthless. This decision does not in itself invalidate tax titles, but simply opens all such cases to an investigation concerning the regularity of the sale. Neither does the law apply to any tax levied or lands sold, or titles obtained subsequent to the year of 1859.

Dan. Norton--Fencing Out.

Hon. Bowne Yates of Madelia on the 14th inst. offered, in the lower branch of the Legislature, resolutions condemnatory of the conduct of Senator Norton in repudiating the party which elected him, and requesting him to resign. In all probability Dan. would make haste to resign, as Doolittle of Wisconsin did, if the resolutions had only passed.—Fortunately for Norton, Dana E. King, a republican, threw himself into the breech and saved the day, and Norton can keep his seat for the present. King wanted him to consider the matter. No true republican could fail to endorse the resolutions so far as an expression of sentiment is concerned, without reflection, but the only reason we can discover why a republican legislature should table the resolutions is because it was useless to cast their pearls before swine. Norton would regard its passage about as the ox did the gnat on his horn, he would'nt feel the weight of it. Like Doolittle, he would presume to understand the situation better than the legislature.

Mr. Yates has also introduced a petition numerously signed by the citizens of Watonwan county, accompanied by reasons therefor, for the passage of a law requiring cattle to be shut up. The necessity of this law is said to be greatly felt by farmers living on the prairies where it is much cheaper to fence in their cattle than it is their fields. We are not able to speak from experience upon this subject, but H. Montgomery, Esq., of Madelia, has given the subject much attention, and from the estimates upon the benefits of either system, made upon reliable data, he strongly advocates the plan of fencing in the cattle.

From the Capitol.

ST. PAUL, January 14, 1867.

MR. ED:—Thinking an item from the Capitol, as observed by your correspondent might interest your readers, I have decided occasionally to address you a brief communication.

After the usual figuring and "wire-pulling" our Legislature has been organized, and is now ready to enter upon its proper duties.

The material composing both houses is said to be better than ever before, and from the high degree of intelligence and legislative experience of most of its members, we may expect wise, just and prudent enactments to result from their deliberations. The revision of the Statutes by the last Legislature, the repealing of numerous old laws, and the failure to enact new ones, have to a certain extent clogged the wheels of the present Legislature and rendered a rather extraordinary proceeding necessary, besides legal questions of grave importance, must naturally and unavoidably arise.

For instance, Article 4, Section 7, of the constitution of the State of Minnesota, prescribes the per diem of members of the Legislature, to be the first session after the constitution was ratified $3,00, but further provides that it may afterwards be regulated by law, which was done by special enactment, and the same pay provided for in the Constitution adopted. Article 4, Section 7, further provides that no increase of compensation shall be prescribed, which shall take effect during the period for which the members of the existing Legislature may have been elected.

This old law having inadvertently been omitted in the revision of our statutes and no new provisions for per diem made, it devolves upon this Legislature to provide for their own pay, and that of their successors. To this end a bill has been introduced into the Senate, making the per diem, four dollars instead of three. It meets much opposition, but will likely become a law. At the first glance it may be considered extravagant, yet, when we reflect that the cost of "bread and butter" is double what it was when the old law took effect, we cannot condemn their action; surely we are desirous of granting them a fair living compensation for their services.

Our ladies to be in the hight of St. Paul fashions, must increase the dimensions of their waterfalls, about ninety per cent, they are decidedly too modest in Blue Earth County. They must appropriate chair cushions, pillows, and any other bulky substance convenient to enlarge the back part of their craniums. Most of them in use here, look as though lancing would be beneficial, and reduce the swelling materially.

"Oh, waterfall, (what a fall) was there my countrymen."

The ladies are, however, partial to clean linen, white socks &c., (as Ben. Pay would say,) and not at all slow in tilting just enough to expose to view the lower part of their pedal extremities, (legs ain't in use now-days.)—False calves—that cuss of hu-man-ity,—that worst of all cheats in female toggery, I am told, is decidely unpopular.

But I must close, having made arrangements to attend church, and always desirous of being there at roll call, I go early. "Be virtuous and you'l be happy."

AUREVOIR.

PROSPECTUS.

OF THE

SAINT PAUL PRESS,

Daily, Tri-Weekly and Weekly.

This paper is universally recognized as the Leading Organ of the Republican Party, AND THE Best, Most Enterprising and Most Widely Circulated Newspaper IN MINNESOTA.

The Republican party of Minnesota constitutes two-thirds of the voting and fully four-fifths of its newspaper-reading population. Of this largely dominant party the ST. PAUL PRESS—the only Republican journal published—is the recognized organ. In this wide field it has no rival and no competitor, in influence or circulation. THE PRESS owes its unparalled success, not only to the single-hearted earnestness and fidelity with which—never flinching in the darkest, never flagging in the brightest days—it has advocated the most progressive principles of the party, but to the manly and fearless independence of its course on all local and public questions in or out of the party politics, and more especially to its unrivaled enterprise as a newspaper.

Hereafter, as heretofore, the PRESS inscribes upon its banner the principles of EQUAL RIGHTS TO ALL.

And while fighting that great battle through—if God will—to the end, it promises hereafter to furnish all who rally to its support even a better and more attractive newspaper than ever before. To this end we have made exclusive arrangements for and are now in exclusive receipt of

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE ST. PAUL PRESS,

From Washington, St. Louis, New York, Chicago and other principal points, in addition to the regular dispatches of the Associated Press.

In the fullness of its State Correspondence: the completeness of its LOCAL AND COMMERCIAL REPORTS; in its STATISTICAL EXHIBITS of the progress of the Trade, Agriculture, Manufactures, &c., of the State, and in every department of LOCAL AND GENERAL INTELLIGENCE, the PRESS is without a rival.

The proprietors of the PRESS are determined to spare no pains or expense to maintain the position of the PRESS as the most popular and influential journal and the most attractive newspaper west of Chicago.

ENLARGED WEEKLY PRESS.

We now present to the readers of the WEEKLY PRESS the most magnificent eight-page Family Journal ever published in the West; enlarged to Fifty-Six Columns—the size of the largest Metropolitan Weeklies—and enabling us, by this large addition to its capacity, to add largely to the variety and interest, as well as to the volume of its contents. Our Weekly will now be a complete repertory of all the Local and General, Telegraphic and Commercial News published in our Daily, as well as all its Original and Selected Literary Matter. To effect this enlargement of our Weekly, we have been obliged to incur an expense of nearly Eight Thousand Dollars, and in return for this effort to make the Weekly the PRIDE OF WESTERN JOURNALISM, we ask the united efforts of all our friends to obtain for us

THROAT AFFECTIONS

Are more frequently than otherwise caused by a thick, slimy mucous, falling from the head, especially during the night, and resulting from Catarrh, and are cured by

Dr. SEELYE'S LIQUID CATARRH REMEDY

SYMPTOMS.

The symptoms of Catarrh are at first very slight. Persons find they have a cold, that they have frequent attacks, and are more sensitive to the changes of the temperature. In this condition the nose may be dry, or a slight discharge thin and acrid, afterwards thick and adhesive, may ensue.

As the disease becomes chronic, the discharges are increased in quantity and changed in quality; they are now thick and heavy, and hawked or coughed off. The secretions are offensive, causing a bad breath; the voice thick and nasal; the eyes are weak; the sense of smell is lessened or destroyed; deafness frequently takes place.

Another common and important symptom of Catarrh is, that the person is obliged to clear his throat in the morning of a thick or slimy mucous, which has fallen from the head during the night. When this takes place, the person may be sure that his disease is on its way to the lungs, and should lose no time in arresting it.

The above are but a few of the many Catarrhal symptoms. Write to our Laboratory for our pamphlet describing fully all symptoms; it will be sent FREE to any address. Also directions where to procure the medicine.

BAPTIST CHURCH.—J. G. Craven, Pastor—Services at 10½ A. M. and 7 P. M. Prayer meeting Wednesday at 7 P. M.

Capt. J. R. Beatty offers stone for sale at his quarry in lower town. See his advertisement elsewhere.

DONATION.—There will be a donation visit for the benefit of Rev. J. M. Pryse, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, of South Bend, at the 1st Presbyterian church of that place on Thursday evening, January 24th 1867. Doors open at six o'clock.

THANKS.—We are under obligations to Hon. J. A. Reed, member of the House from this District, for the annual reports of State prison inspectors, Attorney General, and officers and directors of the State Institution for the deaf, dumb and blind.

PARTY.—Twenty couples of our citizens in the afternoon of Tuesday last, went to Garden City, taking their music with them, and spent the evening at Dilley and Frazer's Hall. In plain parlance they had a first rate dance. They were joined by about the same number of Garden City people, and the supper at the Garden City hotel was excellent.

PERSONAL.—Mr. S. W. Gleason, the new President of the Minnesota Mutual Insurance Company, has removed from Winona to this city and contemplates making it his future home. We understand that Mr. Gleason is quite familiar with the insurance business, and that his connection with this company will add to the efficiency of its present corps of Directors.

FLOUR.—We are requested to say that Quayle & Friend, of Garden City, have transferred the agency of their celebrated flour from White's grocery store to that of P. F. Milnor, who will have the exclusive sale of it. Flour represented to be theirs, and purchased at any other store, is not manufactured by these gentlemen.

NEW AUCTION ROOMS.—Mr. C. A. Sutton, of Minneapolis, desirous of closing out a large stock of dry goods including all styles of cotton and woolen goods, and a nice assortment of ladies' dress goods, has opened an AUCTION ROOM in Higgins' stone building, where he will remain for several weeks, or until the goods are sold. At 2 o'clock, on Tuesday and Friday afternoons he will hold a ladies auction for their special benefit. Call and see his goods.

OUR PRISONER.—John Gut, the soldier arrested lately at Austin by Sheriff Walbridge, has been taken to New Ulm. A constable from Brown county having a writ for his arrest and being requested by Mr. Colville to bring him to New Ulm, Sheriff Walbridge took the precaution to go with the constable and see that the prisoner was safely lodged in the New Ulm jail, under a proper guard. He is now undergoing a preliminary examination with other prisoners at that place.

BOUNTIES.—I take this method of informing those who have claims for bounty under the equalization act of Congress, that their claims should be made out and forwarded without further delay. I have already collected $190 for one of my clients. To those whose discharges are in my hands, I will say that there is no unnecessary delay. I ask of those who have not placed their claims into the hands of an agent, to call on me. I am turning off other business to give my attention to the collection of claims.

DAVID WILCOX.
Claim Agent.

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.—On our fourth page, as our readers have already discovered, is the advertisement of Dr. J. Ball & Co., who are the proprietors of the Ivory Eye Cups which are said to be the best remedy now extant for the cure of all eye diseases. The New York Tribune, Evangelist, Independent, and Harper's Weekly speak in high terms of the curative properties of these eye cups. Read carefully the advertisement, and if a diseased eye is to be cured, by all means write to Dr. J. Ball & Co., 128 Nassau Street, N. Y., for the eye cups with directions for using.

CHICAGO TRIBUNE.—We print elsewhere the Prospectus of the Chicago Tribune. The Tribune is now the acknowledged organ of the Republican party for the Great West. No one should be without its Daily or Weekly issue. It is always in the front ranks of political, social, and human progress. As a newspaper it is not inferior to any cotemporary in the United States. In fact it is a daily panorama of passing events throughout the country, and invaluable to every household.

VINDICATION.—Mr. B. O. Kempner, of [illegible] requested us to publish a communication from some of the citizens of that vicinity, on the plea that his motives in publishing the matter wherein the peddler, Simon Rosenthall, accused Mrs. A. D. Mullen of purloining a pair of pants, were misrepresented in our article of the 28th ult. We had concluded to do so, but upon further consideration, knowing that it would give rise to further newspaper controversy, have thought best simply to give Mr. Kempfer the benefit of a retraction of a part of our article of that issue. We are inclined to believe that Mr. Kempfer was not actuated by motives of malice, nor did we mean to be understood that the pants were taken by him or by his landlord Mr. Farnsworth, but simply that the peddler thought he first missed them while at his place. Whether he was cajoled, or bribed, or slandered another, [illegible] through the courts. The UNION does not wish to assume the province of a jury, to take testimony in the case.

ST. CLOUD VS. MANKATO.—The St. Cloud Journal of last week publishes the business of the Recorder's office of Stearns county for the year 1866. It shows that 779 land titles were recorded, the consideration being $325,175. Of mortgages there were 143, the consideration being $76,246, which gives an average credit in each mortgage of more than $633. As the towns of Mankato and St. Cloud are often spoken of as rival towns, not from their proximity to each other, but on account of a supposition that their natural advantages are about equal, we are disposed to compare the business of the Register's offices in the two counties in which these towns are situated. Col. Smith, Register of Blue Earth county, assisted us in footing the business of the office for 1866. Of land titles there were 1,417, and the consideration, upon a careful estimate, was placed at $708,500. Of mortgages there were 315, and the consideration $78,750. The amount of sales of real estate has more than doubled those of Stearns county, while the amount of money or deferred payments secured by mortgage exceeds that of Stearns county by only $2,500. In other words we have expended twice as much money in lands and run in debt only half as much as Stearns county in making our purchases.

INCREASE OF EXCHANGE BUSINESS.—Nothing shows more clearly the general increase of business in a community than the books of a Bank, in places where they exist. They are the clearing houses through which the Exchanges are made—as first or last the great bulk of the business passes through these institutions.

We have been furnished by Messrs. J. J. Thornton & Co. with a statement of their sales of exchange since they commenced, 14 months ago. Their entire sales of exchange for 14 months were $322,467.70, of which they sold the first ten months, or up to 31st of Aug. last, $168,377.38; last four months, or from Aug. 31st to Dec. 31st, 1866, $154,090.32. During December business of all kinds was very dull; had that month been as good as the previous three months, their sales would at least have equalled the previous ten months, and this notwithstanding Messrs. Shaubut & Lewis have commenced business in that time. This comparative large sale of exchange speaks well for the business men, and that they are maintaining their deserved reputation for promptness.

PUBLIC WELLS.—The city is now digging five or six wells to supply us with water in case of a fire. The work is under the management of Capt Burke. Water is reached at 12 feet and by digging 20 feet the depth of water is 8 feet with a breadth of 7 feet, the diameter of the wells. One is already built at the Empire Hotel, and another is now building on Hickory street, nearly opposite the Mankato House. Another is to be built near Prael & DuBuisson's store, another at Mrs. Hinckley's, another at Bradley's, one near McGraws factory, and one in lower town near Lamm's corner. They are built between First and Second streets so that the hose in case of fire will cover both streets. The estimated cost is about 150 dollars each.

DISTRICT COURT.—The District Court for this county reassembled on Monday last at 2 o'clock P. M. Several jurors were excused and special venire issued to fill their places. The case of S. C. Clark vs. S. C. Welcome, which tests the regularity of the election of town clerk at Garden City last spring was tried by the court. The arguments and decisions have not yet been made. In the case of the State against Henry Knight, one of the men accused of stealing money at the Washington House, a motion was made to arrest judgment. Decision reserved. Herbert Dean his partner in this offense was sentenced to three months confinement in the county jail. In the case of John D. Jones vs. Harley & Nason the jury found a verdict for the plaintiff. Hans. P. Oleson vs. Tore Oleson, a supplemental complaint filed, on account of the death of the plaintiff. This case is for damage against defendant for breaking plaintiff's leg. Ben McGiven vs. Richard Jarman dismissed. The Valley R. R. Co. vs. John Robers for cutting grass on railroad lands was dismissed, it appearing that they had no title to the lands in question. Rufus Thurston vs. James Bewles, suit for the pay for an ox sold, defence that the ox was unsound. John Wiemer was arraigned on an indictment found by the Grand Jury.

AN ESCAPE.—Geo. Jacobs, the late Sheriff of Brown county, and Mr. Sheef the jailor, were brought down last week to testify before the coroner's inquest, held over the bodies of Liscom & Campbell. Mr. Jacobs was examined on Wednesday, and the jailor was to have appeared before the jury the next day. Wednesday evening Jacobs was informed not to leave town, as they wished to call him again also in the morning. Some unknown terror seized him, and with the jailor, he took leg bail for New Ulm the same night, leaving his blankets at his hotel. Going home he froze his feet badly and explained his sudden return by representing that they had barely escaped death at the hands of a Mankato mob. The assertion was ridiculously false, of course. The coroner having sufficient evidence without them did not pursue them.

The Coroner's Inquest.

The inquest over the bodies of Campbell and Liscom was concluded on Friday night last after a session of twelve days. Twenty-nine men, mostly citizens of New Ulm, are implicated, quite a number of whom are now under arrest. The Coroner, Jury, and County Attorney have been patient, thorough, and faithful in conducting the examination, and doubtless their verdict is in accordance with the facts as they will develop upon a public trial. Below we give their verdict in full:

STATE OF MINNESOTA, } ss.
County of Blue Earth, }

Inquisition taken at Mankato, in the county of Blue Earth and State of Minnesota, on the 31st day of December, A. D. 1866, and continuing until the 11th day of January, A. D. 1867, before John Fresholtz, the Coroner of said county upon view of the bodies of George Liscom and of Alexander Campbell there and then lying dead—by the oaths of the Jurors, good and lawful men of said county, whose names are hereunto subscribed, and who, being sworn to inquire on behalf of the State of Minnesota, when, where, how and by what means the said George Liscom and the said Alexander Campbell came to their death, upon their oaths do say: That the said George Liscom and the said Alexander Campbell came to their death at New Ulm, in Brown County, State of Minnesota, on the 25th day of December, A. D. 1866, between the hours of three and five o'clock, in the afternoon of that day by being struck with a hatchet, pounded on their heads with clubs and sticks of cord-wood, kicked by feet, stabbed in the breast with knives and hung by the neck with ropes until dead; that the said hatchet, clubs and sticks of cord-wood, knives and ropes were in the hands of John Gut, John Hose, Jacob Nix, Amone Zieher, John Hanenstein, Henry Hartman, Jacob Roth, Henry Kaatman, Otto Zeller, George Jacobs, —— Brandt, the deputy sheriff, (christian name to these jurors unknown,) George Kennan, —— Theobald, a tinner by trade, (christian name to these jurors unknown) —— Kaulfeldt, (christian name to these jurors unknown) —— Engle, (christian name to these jurors unknown) a black smith by trade, ——Clothier, lawyer by profession, (whose christian name to these jurors is unknown,) T. Elfeldt, Peter Graeffer, —— Brust, (christian name to these jurors unknown,) John Nun, German Freiton, F. R. Grefe, John Toberer, —— Clausen (Christian name to these jurors unknown) then constable, ——Sheef, jailor at New Ulm, (christian name to these jurors unknown.) ——Werntz, a tailor by trade, (christian name to these jurors unknown) —— Weddendorf (christian name to these jurors unknown,) Fred Raifeldt, John Spenner and other persons whose names are to this jury unknown, who with the weapons and instruments aforesaid, did unlawfully, feloniously and with malice aforethought, kill and murder the said George Liscom and the said Alexander Campbell.

And so the Jurors aforesaid say that the said persons so charged as aforesaid, did then and there, feloniously kill and murder, the said George Liscom and the said Alexander Campbell, in manner and form aforesaid, against the peace and dignity of the State of Minnesota.

In witness whereof, as well the said coroner as the Jurors aforesaid have to this inquisition set their hands and seals on this Eleventh day of January, A. D. 1867.

FROM MADELIA.

By our own Reporter.

REAL ESTATE.—Joseph Flanders, agent, sold lot No. 4, in Haveraft's addition to the town of Madelia, to Henry Johnson for the sum of $40. The understanding between the parties is to the effect that Mr. Johnson will erect on the lot a good business building and open a first class boot and shoe store in the spring.

Mr. E. M. Sprague purchased on the 14th inst., of E. D. Miller a sixty acre tract of unimproved land in section 27, town of Madelia, for the sum of $400, being six dollars and sixty-six and two-third cents per acre.

MAIL ROUTE.—A petition is in circulation here for an extension of mail route from Mankato to Sioux City via Madelia, Ashippen and Jackson. We understand that similar petitions are in circulation along the entire route West of this place. This is a step in the right direction and we hope that the movement may prove successful.

By the summer of '68 a daily line of stages will be needed on this route. The legislature should be induced to do all it can in this matter and if possible secure the establishment of a daily line by or previous to that time.

WHAT MAKES A MAN.

A truthful soul, a loving mind,
Full of affection for its kind;
A spirit firm, erect and free;
That never basely bends the knee;
That will not bear a feather's weight
Of slavery's chain for small or great;
That truly speaks from God within;
That never makes a league with sin;
That snaps the fetters despots make,
And loves the truth for its own sake:
That worships God, and him alone,
And bows no more than at his throne;
And trembles at no tyrant's nod;
A soul that fears no one but God.
And thus can smile at curse or ban:
This is the soul that makes a man.

Chicago Tribune.

Daily, Tri-Weekly and weekly Editions,

DEVOTED TO

News, Commerce, Politics, Agriculture, Literature and Science.—The Best Newspaper, the Best Political Paper, the Best Commercial Paper, the Most Valuable Family Paper, the Largest Paper in the Northwest.—It Publishes more Telegraphic News, better Market Reports, more Interesting News, and a Greater Variety of Reliable and Useful Information than any other Paper in America.

The Chicago Tribune now approaching its twenty-first year, is recognized as the leading organ and exponent of the great, patriotic, dominant Republican party of the Northwest. The Tribune is no ephemeral concern of doubtful duration, but a permanently established institution, known and respected throughout the United States. Its circulation exceeds the combined issues of the other Chicago dailies. Its past record and career may be pointed to with pride and pleasure by its conductors. Since the Republican party was organized, the Chicago Tribune has stood by it, through evil as well as good report; never in the rear, but always in the front, beckoning it onward and upward; never faltering or weary, but always hopeful, earnest, fearless. Its blows have fallen incessantly on slavery, oligharcy and treason. During the entire period of the rebellion it blew no uncertain blasts, but sounded the charge and cheered on the defenders of freedom to renewed efforts, assuring them of a glorious triumph for the right as the reward of perseverance and sacrifice.

And now, when the wicked rebellion is crushed, the oligharcy conquered, and slavery abolished, the Chicago Tribune insists that the legitimate fruits of our victory shall not be yielded back to vanquished rebels by an apostate Executive, who has basely and wickedly betrayed the loyal people who intrusted him with Presidential powers. The Tribune opens a new campaign to secure to the Union an enduring peace, and a reconstruction based on the principles of

EQUAL RIGHTS AND EXACT JUSTICE TO ALL MEN:

It therefore advocates Impartial Suffrage, irrespective of color or birthplace. Right wrongs no man, and no man's rights are abridged or endangered by giving to every law abiding citizen all his rights. And no scheme of reconstruction will prove satisfactory or enduring that denies equal civil and political rights and privileges to any class of loyal citizens. No Democrat can oppose impartial suffrage and equal rights without shameful inconsistency and stultification.—And the South can never be truly free, prosperous or happy, until all its citizens are recognized as equal before the law, and equal in making the laws, which they must obey, regardless of color or position.

The Chicago Tribune sincerely believes in the principles of the Declaration of Independence, and is therefore Radical in its aims, impulses and endeavors, and is confident of witnessing, at an early day, the acceptance and adoption of the beneficent doctrines of Republicanism in every section and subdivision of our common country.

The readers of the Tribune will bear testimony that the policies it has opposed have generally been discarded; the measures it has supported have nearly all been adopted, and that its predictions have been singularly verified. The secret of its influence on public affairs is, that it espouses what is right, earnestly, and combats what is wrong, boldly; and the glass with which it sees into the future is implicit faith in the power of Truth and the ultimate triumph of the Right.

A FIRST CLASS NEWSPAPER.

The Chicago Tribune, while fearless in the expression of its opinions, and patriotic in its endeavors, aims at being a FIRST CLASS NEWSPAPER. It brings the news to the people of the Northwest several days sooner than the papers of the seaboard, and surpasses all its cotemporaries in the Northwest in every department of news enterprise.

It discusses every subject of interest to Western men. No banker, farmer, mechanic, drover or manufacturer, can study his own interest and do without it. No farmer should sell a bushel of wheat, corn, oats, or a pound of beef or pork, without reading the Tribune; no merchant should sell his goods without reading the Tribune; no manufacturer his wares; no mechanic the product of his hands, without first consulting its well-filled, accurate and reliable commercial columns.

The Contents of each Edition of the Tribune Embraces.

1st—A complete current history of the progress of events, with general news of the day.

2d—Copious telegraphic despatches, containing the Latest News from all parts, down to the hour of going to press.

3d—Regular correspondence from numerous points in the South and the Capitals of the Western States, Washington, New York, St. Louis, California, Kansas, Canada, Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy, besides occasional letters from many other points where interesting news is transpiring. No other journal in the country employes a larger or more capable corps of correspondents.

Know thy Destiny! Madam E. F. Thornton, the great English Astrologist, Clairvoyant and Psychometrician, who has astonished the scientific classes of the Old World, has now located herself at Hudson, N. Y. Madame Thornton possesses such wonderful powers of second sight, as to enable her to impart knowledge of the greatest importance to the single or married of either sex. While in a state of trance, she delineates the very features of the person you are to marry, and by the aid of an instrument of intense power, known as the Psychomotrope, guarantees to produce a life-like picture of the future husband or wife of the applicant, together with date of marriage, position in life, leading traits of character, &c. This is no humbug as thousands of testimonials can assert. She will send, when desired, a certified certificate, or written guarantee, that the picture is what it purports to be. DR. SCHENCK'S

PULMONIC SYRUP.

This great medicine cured Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, the Proprietor, of Pulmonary Consumption, when it had assumed its most formidable aspect, and when speedy death appeared to be inevitable. His physicians pronounced his case incurable when he commenced the use of this simple but powerful remedy. His health was restored in a very short time, and no return of the disease has been apprehended, for all the symptoms quickly disappeared, and his present weight is more than two hundred pounds.

Since his recovery, he has devoted his attention exclusively to the cure of Consumption and the diseases which are usually complicated with it, and the cures effected by his medicines have been very numerous and truly wonderful. Dr. SCHENCK makes professional visits to several of the larger cities weekly, where he has a large concourse of patients, and it is truly astonishing to see poor consumptives that have to be lifted out of their carriages, and in a few months healthy, robust persons. Dr. SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEAWEED TONIC and MANDRAKE PILLS are generally all required in curing Consumption. Full directions accompany each, so that any one can take them without seeing Dr. SCHENCK, but when it is convenient it is best to see him. He gives advice free, but [illegible] which they need not pay until it is known what is drawn and its value.

Please observe, when purchasing, that the two likenesses of the Doctor—one when in the last stage of Consumption, and the other as he now is, in perfect health [illegible]

THE AMERICAN JEWELERS' ASSOCIATION calls your attention to the fact of its being the largest and most popular Jewelry Association in the United States The business is and always has been conducted in the most candid and honorable manner. Our rapidly increasing trade is a sure guarantee of the appreciation of our patrons for this method of obtaining rich, elegant and costly goods. The sudden stagnation of trade in Europe, owing to the late German War and recent disastrous financial crisis in England, has caused the failure of a large number of Jewelry Houses in London and Paris, obliging them to sell their goods at a great sacrifice, in some instances less than one third the cost of manufacturing. We have lately purchased very largely of these Bankrupt Goods, at such extreme low prices, that we can afford to send away Finer Goods, and give better chances to draw the most valuable prizes than any other establishment doing a similar business. OUR AIM IS TO PLEASE, and we respectfully solicit your patronage, as we are confident of giving the utmost satisfaction. During the past year we have forwarded a number of the most valuable prizes to all parts of the country. Those who patronize us will receive the full value of their money, as no article on our list is worth less than One Dollar, retail, and there are no blanks. Parties dealing with us may depend on having prompt returns, and the articles drawn will be immediately sent to any address by return mail or express.

FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE CO.
100 WASHINGTON ST., CHICAGO.
Wm. H. SHARP & CO.,
GENERAL AGENTS.

THE FLORENCE is the only machine extant having a reversible feed, which enables the operator to sew either to the right or left at pleasure, and the only machine that makes a perfectly elastic seam, alike on each side of the fabric.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE not only makes the lock-stitch, but three others, which for certain kinds of work are much superior, especially where elasticity is required and is the only machine that fastens the ends of each seam securely, and does it in one-fourth the time it can be done by hand.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE, does not draw fine, thin goods down through the slot or hole in the work-plate nor drop a stitch in turning a corner, and is the only machine having a changeless tension, and no slack threads both of which draw together simultaneously.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE is noiseless, and can be used when quiet is necessary as well in the sick-chamber as in the workroom. They oil no dresses, the machinery being all on the top of the table. It will sew over the heaviest seams, or from one to more thicknesses of goods, without skipping stitches, breaking threads or requiring change in tension.

THE FLORENCE

AMERICAN ORGANS.

(From "Godey's Ladies' Book," February, 1866.)

REED ORGANS, &c.

THE following remarks and suggestions relative to this immensely popular instrument will doubtless interest and profit very many of our readers; we commend the article to their careful perusal:—

A hundred and one makers of Organs, Cottage, Parlor-Cabinet, American, School Organs etc. etc., are each claiming to make the best instrument in the world. Being comparatively a new instrument, as at present constructed, we are convinced the public are much less capable of judging of its merits, or demerits, than of most other instruments. If there is really an essential difference in them, if there are some worthless ones, the public should have some criterion for judging of them, some facts which will enlighten them. We cheerfully concede the space for this article, knowing that there is hardly a family, or church, or school in all the land, but is more or less interested in this topic. We are also aware of its being a great misfortune, a real calamity, to any of them to purchase an inferior or worthless Organ, ruinous to good playing, and often a source of much annoyance and vexation. We know this article to emanate from a candid and intelligent source, and thus we give it to our readers.

The question is often asked, what are "reed organs?" We answer, they are, in most cases nothing in the world but the old melodeon in disguise. Many of the so called Organs have the same bellows, the same reeds, and the same general internal arrangement. With the bellows turned on edge to gain room, they have simply put on a more pretentious exterior and a more high sounding name But an organ to be in reality an organ, must have a wind chest or reservoir for air separate from the bellows, into which wind chest the reeds open, and the tone has room to expand and perfect itself into the full round tone, similar to the flute or pipe organ, even, smooth firm and mellow; and this tone from reeds cannot be obtained in any other way known. Nothing so annoys a true organist as to have the volume of sound swelling and jerking spasmodically with every variation of force on the bellows or air-passages, instead of a wind- or sound box. And yet some makers even go so far as to claim this spasmodic or automatic jerking of the bellows on the reeds as an excellence, just as though they did not know that it must soon throw the reeds out of tune, and injure the bellows; and as though it were not an easier matter to obtain a much better and more easily managed swell by other methods. The truth is, any organ, so called, or melodeon which has the wind acting directly upon the reeds, is nothing more or less than a huge accordeon, dress it up as you may. And when organists and true musicians become aware of the fact that they can obtain those that are organs in fact as well as in name they will buy no more of the objectionbel ones. Then again the swell should always be separate and distinct from the bellows, so as not to be acted on by the hand, or soft blowing, but convenient, so that the player can use it with the knee, separate from the hands or feet, and thus always under easy control, to be used ad libitum.

The large divided bellows, or double bellows, is also a very important improvement—By this means not only can the wind be supplied more evenly, but with far greater ease to the performer, from the fact that either bellows alone will be sufficient for the lighter melodies, thus permitting the player to change about and rest the feet at will; then, if the bellows is of a requisite large size, and having the wind-chest or reservoir, all will be well—As to the reeds, they must be scientifically tuned and voiced, or all the other good qualities in the world cannot produce a good toned instrument. The inquiry now very naturall arises, where can the organ be procured combining all these essential and desirable qualities? There is only one possessing these points and that is the AMERICAN ORGAN, made by S. D. & H. W. SMITH, of Boston, SIBERIA OTT, Wholesale Agent, 581 Broadway, New York. These organs have a wind-chest extending the whole length of the instrument, and so constructed as to act at the same time as a reverberating sound box or board, and having the same important relation and part to perform that the sounding-board has to the piano.

This feature the makers have patented, and to it are owing in a great measure the entirely unequaled fullness and richness of tone so highly prized by all who have used these organs. They also have the largest and best divided bellows in use, which is another important feature. No part of their work is slighted no expense or pains spared to make the American Organs perfect musically, as well as mechanically, and, judging from the immense sale of them at present, they bid fair to long maintain the proud position they have won by superior merit alone. We would most heartily advise all interested to call upon or address MR SIBERIA OTT, the Wholesale Agent, at No. 581 Broadway, New York, and can assure them he will, in the most gentlemanly and truthful manner, impart to them all the information they may desire relative to this truly delightful instrument.

DUPLEX ELLIPTIC

(OR DOUBLE SPRING)

SKIRT.

The Wonderful Flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any Lady, wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced particularly in all crowded assemblies, Operas, Carriages, Railroad Cars, Church Pews, Arm Chairs, for Promenade and House Dress, as the Skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a silk or muslin dress, an invaluable quality in crinoline, not found in any Single Spring skirt.

A Lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort, and great convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Steel Spring Skirt for a single day, will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For Children, Misses and Young Ladies, they are superior to all others.

They will not bend or break like the Single Spring, but will preserve their perfect and delicate shape when three or four ordinary skirts will have been thrown aside as useless. The Hoops are covered with double and twisted thread, and the bottom rods are not only double springs but twice (or double) covered; preventing them from wearing out when dragging down stoops, stairs, &c.

The Duplex Elliptic is a great favorite with all ladies and is universally recommended by the Fashion Magazines as the standard skirt of the fashionable world.

To enjoy the following inestimable advantages in Crinoline, viz: Superior Quality, Perfect Manufacture, Stylish shape and Finish, Flexibility, Durability, Comfort and Economy, enquire for J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic, or Double Spring skirt, and be sure you get the genuine article.

CAUTION.—To guard against IMPOSITION be particular to NOTICE that skirts offered as "DUPLEX" have the red ink stamp, viz., "J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic Steel Springs," upon the waist-band—none others are genuine. Also Notice that every Hoop will admit a pin being passed through the centre, thus revealing the two (or double) springs braided together therein, which is the secret of their Flexibility and strength, and a combination not to be found in any other skirt.

FOR SALE in all Stores where First Class skirts are sold throughout the United States and elsewhere. Manufactured by the Sole Owners of the patent.

Mankato, Nov. 22d. no 30m.-6,

From Bayard Taylor's new Poem.

THE TEMPTATION AND THE FALL.

I found a girl before San Marco's shrine.
Kneeling in gilded gloom: her tawny hair
Rippled across voluptuous shoulders bare,
And something in the alter-taper's shine
Sparkled like falling tears. This girl shall be
My sorrowing Magdalen, as guilty-sweet,
I said, as when, pure Christ! she knelt to thee,
And laid her blushing forehead on thy feet!

She sat before me. Like a sunny brook
Poured the unbraided ripples softly round
The balmy dells, but left one snowy mound
Bare in its beauty; then I met her look—
The conquering gaze of those bold eyes, which made,
Ah, God! the unrepenting sin more fair,
Than Magdalen kneeling with her humbled hair,
Or Agatha beneath the quæster's blade!

What if my chaste ambition wavered then?
What if the vail from mine own nature fell
And I obeyed the old Circean spell,
And lived for living, not for painted men?
Youth follows Life, as bees the honey bell
And nightingales the northward march of Spring;
And once a dazzeled moth, must try his wing,
Though but to scorch it in the blaze of Hell!

Why only mimic what I might possess?
The cheated sense that revels in delight
Mocked at my long denial: touch and sight,
The warmth of wine, the sensuous loveliness
Of offered lips and bosoms breaking through
The parted bodice: winds whose faint caress
And wandering hands the dantiest dreams renew:
The sea's absorbing and embracing blue.

Of these are woven our being's outward vail
Of rich sensation, which has power to part
The pure, untroubled soul and drunken heart—
A screen of gossamer, but giants fail,
The bright, enchanted web to rend in twain,
Two spirits dwell in us; one chaste and pale
A still recluse, whose garments know no stain,
Whose patient lips are closed upon her pain:

The other bounding to her cymbal's clang,
A bold Bacchante, parting with the race
Of joy, the triumph and the swift embrace.
And gathering in one cup the grapes that hang
From every vine of Youth; around her head
The royal roses bare their hearts of red;
Music is on her lips and from her face
Fierce freedom shines and wild alluring grace!

Who shall declare that ever side by side
To weave harmonious fate the spirits wrought?
To whom came ever one's diviner pride
And one's full measure of delight unsought?
Who dares the cells of blood enrich, exhaust,
Or trust his fortune unto either guide?—
So interbalanced hangs the equal cost
Of what is ordered and what is taught!

Surprised to Passion, my weakened life
Whirled onward in a warm delirious maze,
At first reluctant, and with pangs of strife
That dashed their bitter o'er my honeyed days,
Until my soul's affrighted nun withdrew
And left me free: for light and other chains
As garlands seemed, as fresh as wine her dew,
And wide her robes to hide the banquet stains!

Whisky the Cause.

ED. UNION—SIR: With your permission, I wish to make a few remarks relative to the late brutal murders at New Ulm.

When the horrifying news first reached here we were fearful that the people of Mankato, exasperated to madness by the barbarous treatment of their townsmen, would have retaliated by resorting to acts of violence on the New Ulm people. Indeed it was reported that a large body of men were arming and organizing for the purpose of burning down the town. If such a course was ever seriously contemplated we are glad that it was abandoned; and vigorous legal means to punish the guilty alone resorted to.

The courage, tact and perseverance of the gentlemen who have taken an active part in recovering the bodies and in bringing the guilty to justice, is deserving of all praise. There is now a fair prospect that lawless brutal men will learn that the liberty our country offers to men of all climes, is not just what some seem to suppose it is—the right to give full vent to their brutal passions regardless of the rights of others.

Nor will those banding together under the influence of sectarian bigotry or national intolerance save them from the just punishment due to their crimes. "Though hand join in hand, the wicked shall not go unpunished." We will not visit them with the reckless vengeance of an excited mob, confounding the innocent with the guilty, but deal even handed justice to all concerned. Still I am willing to join in the cry, "wipe them out," "sweep them from the face of the earth," &c. If these fearful denunciations are only rightly directed, all is well. Bring them to bear against the moving cause of all this crime and I am with you. But thus far I have not seen a word denouncing the origin of all this black catalogue of crime and misery.

To me it seems as clear as the sun at noonday that whisky is at the bottom of it all. Had there been no grog shops in New Ulm there would have been no murders, and the slaughtered men would now have been at home in the bosoms of their families. And just as long as those "breathing holes of hell" are maintained and supported by our otherwise respectable citizens, will our sons from time to time be their victims.

Do any ask me, "What then? Would you have us make a raid on the grog shops and destroy the contents?" No, gentlemen; I counsel no violence to the persons or property of any man, even though he is getting a living by poisoning his neighbor. If you want to stop their selling, just stop your drinking, as I have done for the last thirty years, and you, at least, will be guiltless of your brother's blood.

Can a man be a patriot, much less a christian, who is not earnestly desirous of doing what he can to sweep this greatest of all pests from the face of the earth.

I leave every man to decide that question for himself; believing that his best interests for time and for eternity are involved in the practical reply he makes.

THIRD DAY—SUNDAY.

Afternoon Session concluded.—Mrs. Manchester gave a combination song on "Music," "Home," and "I would not live always," subjects selected at her request by the audience.

ADDRESS OF DEAN CLARK.

After reading a poem entitled "Joy to the World," Dean Clark, entranced, spoke as follows:

Before this vast audience, assembled from heaven and from earth, we stand with awe. For the day is big with the fate of empires and republics—pregnant with the mighty destinies of the nations. The present is an era of startling and glorious developments; an age rife with revolutions and storms. Whirlwinds of passion and commotions in every department of thought and life, are agitating the whole civilized world. A new era is dawning. Great changes are to be outwrought, and mighty destinies enstamped upon the souls of men. Here in this capital, have gathered together your selected men to determine those laws by which your social, educational and political life shall be regulated; and it is fitting that in this place, consecrated by the people of Vermont as their shrine, you, as great souls in the living present, should assemble and question what are the signs of the times, what the duties of the hour, what the mighty responsibilities devolving upon you, as actors in a greater, grander drama than has ever before been presented on the stage of human life. It is befitting that those who love liberty, justice and mercy—who love all that exalts and ennobles universal man—should assemble and enquire how shall be perpetuated those liberties already attained; how obtained those privileges as yet denied. And, friends of truth and of human liberty, it is our glorious privilege and pleasure to meet you in this edifice, consecrated to the worship of all that is exalting and divine. It is our privilege to meet with you, and to hold sweet converse upon those topics near and dear to the human soul. Language is indeed too poor and barren to express the depth of those emotions which well up from our inmost hearts, as we come from the courts of a higher life and mingle in your midst. We once walked the earth as do you to-day; once mingled in its social, religious and political affairs as do you; and it is an unspeakable pleasure to us that we are permitted to mingle still with those who are dear to us and to labor still for the reign of truth and liberty throughout the whole family of man. We come not to dictate to you, nor to dogmatize; but like you to look for the signs of the times, and to draw therefrom practical deductions and specific plans for human well being. Behold in the Orient and in the Occident the mighty portents of to-day—grander, more significant, than have ever been presented in the past. The thunder-tones of the world's liberators have been heard. Yet, though important changes have taken place in every department of society, the stupendous plan of Deity is not yet fulfilled. What, then, is the meaning of this mighty uprising throughout the civilized world? Why has nation risen against nation? Why have revolutions mightier and more radical in their results than any of the past, occurred in this your day and age? Ah! see ye not those resistless powers, which have swayed the destinies of the nations in all the past, gathering together to-day to liberate humanity from all its thraldom? Yes! the sound of their voice has been heard. The mighty men of Athens and of Rome, and of all the generations of the historic past, with their starry banners floating in the mid skies, have assembled; and this mighty congress of the heavenly world decrees that men—every where and forever—shall be free!

Hark to the voice of those angel hosts, proclaiming in tones that shake the nations that the development of the human soul, and the happiness and harmonization of the race, are more important than the perpetuation of existing laws and governments; that man is of more worth than kingdoms, principalities and powers. To develope that manhood which has been stifled by the crushing tyrannies of the ages, is our determined purpose. It was for this that the celestial telegraph between heaven and earth was established; and those who can read aright the signs of the times, know that this purpose will be accomplished! You are wont to boast of the astonishing power you have attained over the elements of the material world. You have chained the lightnings of heaven and arrested the winds, and made them subservient to your will. You have placed your railway tracks like a beautiful network over continents. You, as Americans, may justly pride yourselves on the position which you occupy among the nations. But while exulting over those stupendous developments already reached, you should not omit to recognize those powers "behind the throne," which have been operating in the affairs of men in all ages, should not forget the mighty dead who have been laboring through earthly instrumentalities to bring about these wondrous results. Man has moved forward by an irresistible impulse, imparted to him through the operation of the laws of the spirit; and you who have caught the voice of the evangels sounding through the heavens to-day, have the key to the grand "mysteries" of the past. You can unlock the storehouse of nature and revel in possession of her secrets. You can ascend even unto the highest heaven; or, descending, read in the labyrinths of earth the mighty lessons which the Deity has inscribed with letters of fire in his rock-ribbed gospel. We come to preach to you by signs and wonders, and to demonstrate by incontestible proofs that man is immortal. We have come to assert that the whole family of man have a common fatherhood, and that race, nationality, and all false and external distinctions, do not and cannot rob the soul of its inherent rights. Those nations which are to-day ignoring those eternal truths, must understand that they cannot much longer trample with impunity upon the rights of even the lowest being that walks the earth. The seal of doom is fixed upon your escutcheons, oh ye despotic governments of the earth. Mene, mene, takel upharsin, is inscribed on your banners. Ye shall fall into the vortex of the mighty sea of oblivion, and its waves shall roll over you forever. Republicanism is the birthright of humanity. It embraces the inalienable rights of man. And the angels of God are determined to day that the immortal principles of the American Declaration of Independence shall be established throughout the earth. We speak as with authority. We know that which we testify of. For we have had the means of understanding the programme marked out for the nations in that higher court of which we have spoken. And we assert to-day that every power upon the earth which continues to trample upon the dignity of manhood or womanhood shall go down to destruction!" God's great crucible is to-day engulphing the nations. They are to be purified as by fire.

American friends of human liberty and progress, you may rejoice to-day that as yet you have escaped the inevitable fate which awaits the despotisms of the old world. You should to-day thank heaven that your forefathers were so largely inspiried; that they caught the voice of the heavenly world, and, at the fitting moment, were ready to indite that glorious Declaration of Indepenpence, which has thus far been your safeguard, and which will continue to guarantee your existence as a nation if you remain true to its behests, or, rather, if you remove entirely from your national life and policy, as the development of the time requires, all that is inconsistent with its spirit. You have just past through the throes of a mighty revolution which has burst the bonds which bound the limbs of a race. The resistless powers of heaven interfered for your salvation. Your liberties would have been wrested from you by the red hand of treason, had it not been for those watchful guardians upon the towers of the immortal world; had it not been for the inspirations received from those who, in the earlier days of the republic, by the sacrifice of their lives, consecrated forever your land to human rights and human progress. They have ever watched over the destinies of this people, and you are to-day indebted to them for your national existence.

But what, from another point of view, is the purpose of this great unfolding? Revolutions, other than political, are to occur and are occurring as fruitage of this benificent movement. Ecclesiastical despotism has reigned side by side with political; has cursed and darkened its millions of souls. But its doom is sealed by the same angel hands that have been and are sealing the fate of governmental tyranies. Many who once worshiped the God of Moses—a deity more fiendishly vindictive than the Gods of ancient mythology—have grown wise above what is written, have caught the spirit of the age. "Eternal progress" is sounding its glad note through the reverberating chambers of their souls, and they demand that while political institutions are being changed to meet the growing wants of humanity, religious institutions and systems shall be correspondingly remoulded. Their call is being answered. The prayer of the millions for liberation from the chains of theological thraldom has been heard. The dismal hiatus between the "visible" and "invisible" worlds has been spanned, and to day we are able to give you the baptism of a higher and diviner life. Theologians claim that the channels of inspiration were closed eighteen hundred years ago; that the age of inspiration is passed; that man, when he lays aside the worn-out garment of the physical body, he goes to "that bourne whence no traveler returns." The theology which uses such language is simply writing its doom. Beware! ye "men of God!" Beware! ye self-delegated teachers of the people! Beware! ye that ask the philosopher of the present to accredit the written testimony of past ages, and to ignore, at the same time, the stupendous revelations of to day! Ye are undermining the very foundation upon which the superstructure of your faith rests. We declare to you that the testimony of those that come from the shores of immortal life, and of those who are daily witnessing the demonstrative facts which the angel world is producing, cannot be invalidated. For we appeal to man in every department of his bein . We appeal to that intuitive principle which is to-day so rapidly being developed.

Modern Spiritualism has come in this age of startling wonders and developments to substantiate the position taken by inspired writers eighteen hundred years ago. It has come not to destroy the past, but to demonstrate that infidelity is groundless, that immortality is the birthright of every man, and that it cannot be wrested from him by all the caviling of all the sophists of the ages. Those who ask man, in this age, to believe that which was recorded in the ancient past, should carefully avoid the inconsistency of denying the living facts of to-day; for thus do they place themselves side by side with those who exclaimed, "We have Moses and the prophets; what have we to do with these vile teachers?" thus do they become the real "infidels!" thus does the curse and stigma of infidelity rest upon the sanctuary of "the church." Yes, in every direction man is being liberated. In every department of human life is the spirit of the age being felt. The world moves! And yet shall be sung the glad song by a happy, enlightened and redeemed race: "Glory to God in the highest! peace on earth and good will to man!"

Which Stitch is the Best.

The two leading Sewing Machine stitches are the "Twisted-Loop," or "Wilcox & Gibbs," stitch, made with one thread, and the "Lock-stitch," made with two threads. At the "Great Island Park Trial," where the contest was between machines representing those two stitches—each of them claiming superior merit on account of its peculiar stitch—their respective claims were submitted to the ordeal of thorough practical tests; each machine being "required to use thread from the same spool, make the stitch of the same length, and perform the test work on the same piece of goods, with the lines of sewing side by side. The results were all decisive, and in every test in favor of the Wilcox & Gibbs Machine." And the Judges decided that "The 'Twisted-Loop Stitch, made by the Wilcox & Gibbs is, for general purposes, superior to the 'Lock-Stitch!'"—See "Report of Grand Trial."

A Lion in His Old Age.

When a lion reaches the age of two years he is able to pull down a horse or an ox; and so he continues to grow or increase in strength till he reaches his eighth year, and his teeth, talons, and mind are perfect, and he grows no more. For twenty years after he arrives at maturity his fangs and talons show no signs of decay, but after he becomes feeble, his teeth fail him, and he grows "cabbish." He is no longer a match for the tremendous buffalo; he is overmatched even by the peaceful ox, so he prowls around the cattle kraals, and snatches a lamb or a kid, just as he did when he started out with his parents nearly thirty years before. A woman or child at night shares the same fate. His strength and sight now decline more and more, till the mighty lord grows lean and mangy, and crawls about from place to place, eating any offal he may pick up, and despising not even so small an animal as the field mouse; so he starves or dies, or is fallen upon and slaughtered by a few cowardly hyenas; or, discovered unable to move, beneath a tree, and knocked on the head by some wandering hunter.

Why is a mad bull an animal of a convivial disposition? Because he offers a horn to every one he meets.

Lands--Where to Get Them.

The annual report given by the St. Paul Press of the business of the Government Land Offices in this State shows the extent of sales for the last nineteen years and for the year just ended. In the Winnebago City and St. Peter Districts, which comprise the Minnesota and Blue Earth river valleys and the southern and southwestern parts of the State, the homestead entries have amounted to 187,773 acres, and in the St. Cloud and Taylor's Falls Districts, 167,794 acres have been entered under the same act, giving a settlement of 20,000 acres more for the southern portion of the State than for the northern. There is a central District called Greenleaf, in which 28,872 acres have been taken under the homestead act. To the immigrant, however, the question is not the amount of lands already taken, but the amount still at the disposal of actual settlers who for $14, and the taking, may secure 160 acres of fertile soil. It should be known that speculators are buying up Agricultural College scrip and locating on land throughout the State. The more this class of land sharks locate, the less there is left for actual settlers. In the Winnebago and St. Peter Districts which include that part of the State south, west, and northwest of Mankato, only 32,243 acres have been taken with this scrip, while in the St. Cloud and Taylor's Falls Districts 168,489 acres have been located in the past year. Such has been the influx of speculators in the northern portion of the State that the St. Cloud Journal has declared war against them, and admits that they are taking the best lands and holding them from actual settlement to the great detriment of that portion of the State. Luckily the southwest has not swarmed with this species of locusts, and there are still endless quantities of splendid lands yet in store for the homestead settler. Of this district the Press truthfully says:

The desirable lands of this district are pretty well culled in the southern tier of counties which compose this district, till the emigrant reaches the county of Faribault. Here and in the counties beyond this, Martin Jackson, Watonwan, Nobles and Pipestone, the emigrant will find many desirable locations. Along the course of the Blue Earth and its tributaries plenty of timber may be found, but beyond these are extensive prairies where timber is scarce. The Blue Earth valley is noted for the fertility of its soil and the sylvan beauty of its landscape, in which lakes abound, and these features extend with its wide reaching branches far into the Winnebago City District. The Southern Minnesota railroad, recently endowed with a land grant.—traverses the whole belt of the district, in a line nearly due west from the Mississippi; and the southwestern counties, to which attention has been directed, will before long enjoy the additional advantage of an extension of the Minnesota Valley Railroad to Sioux City, where it will connect with the Union Pacific Railroad.

To the counties above mentioned we may add Brown, Redwood, Cottonwood and Murry, in the latter of which is situated Lake Shetek already noted for the beauty of its waters, banks, and tall thrifty timber which covers its margin. These counties lie almost directly west of Mankato and thousands of acres of as good land as ever white man trod can be had for the taking. The cost of a homestead is $14 for 160 acres of land lying outside the limits of Railroad grants, and which at private sale would cost $1 25 per acre. The same price, $14, is paid for a homestead of 80 acres of land within the limits of Railroad grants, such land being held at $2 50 per acre. Minnesota has an area of 53,760,000 acres of land, and there yet remains in the hands of the Government, unsold and unappropriated, about 30,000,000 acres. We close this brief article showing the inducement to immigrants, by the following summary from the Press:

Here, then, are three grand facts, each of which is an emigration document of itself:

1. That 10,216,723 acres of the public domain of Minnesota has been sold by the United States government to private parties, which would give a farm of 160 acres each to 64,880 families.
2. That 3,000,000 acres of the public domain have been devoted to the support of schools, and 7,500,000 acres to the construction of railroads, and yet that
3. We have 30,000,000 left to parcel out in free homesteads to the industrious poor of all lands. Of course all the railroad and school lands are for sale at moderate prices.

APPOINTING POWER.

The U. S. Senate has passed a bill that all officers of the Government, except clerks in the Departments, whose salaries shall exceed $1,500 per annum shall be appointed by and with the consent of the Senate, and that the term of all such officers appointed since July 1st, 1866, shall expire on the last day of February, 1867. The House will doubtless second the motion and "my policy" will soon be low in the market of office seekers. We are curious to know how they will present their claims under this law. A man must confess "my policy" before the President to receive the appointment, and stultify himself before the Senate to obtain confirmation.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

Mr. Seboski has presented a petition to the Legislature, praying for woman suffrage, for certain reasons therein mentioned, which are published elsewhere. One reason given is, that it is "absurd and unchristian for either sex to claim the exclusive right to rule the other." What proposition is more absurd than that men claim such exclusive right. It is an insult to the gallantry, nobleness, and affection of all true gentlemen, to insinuate that they claim the exclusive right of ruling their wives and others of their sex. And it is still more absurd that the fact of excusing them from the responsibilities of maintaining a Government, either by ballot or bullet, should imply a desire on their part to tyranize over that class of mortals whom we are enjoined to love and protect. The same is true of unmarried persons. The gallant youth voluntarily springs to the protection of the frail lady when danger threatens, and thinks only of her safety. The storms of foreign and civil strife are met by the bold youth, who screans the weaker vessel from harm. If to withstand political and revolutionary tempests, or to assume the front rank in national preservation, which is the only guarantee against anarchy and social disorder, is a position that the women of America claim as a duty to their country, let them by all means have it. If the women desire what they term a right to control and guide the destinies of a Government, they should always suit the action of word, and when they vote for war, let them shoulder the musket, and men will waive their exclusive right to rule the country or the ladies either. New obligations come with every newly acquired right. If they are allowed to vote, they, by the constitution, are allowed to hold office, and when elevated to official position, what will they do with Jimmy, and Teddy and the twins and the baby? We know of no way of answering the emergency than by transmogrifying the husband into a wet nurse by introducing him to a milk bottle and teaching him the familiar rhyme,

"By lo baby buntin' Daddy's gone a huntin'."

while the mother with eye-glasses on her nose, a quill behind her ear, and a branding iron in her hand, takes an inventory of 500 mules, and charges the amount to Uncle Sam's quartermaster.

But the petition says it is unchristian to rule over the weaker sex. Ephesians says "Wives submit yourselves unto your husbands as unto the Lord, for the husband is at the head of the wife," &c. It says also, "Husbands love your wives," and in this last injunction should be found a full and effectual guarantee of the rights of women. There will be no difficulty in satisfying a woman's highest wishes, without admitting her to a ballot or bullet privilege, if that command is faithfully obeyed. There should be the utmost harmony in the marital relation, and if a woman has a disposition to seek for the power which her husband holds, and is jealous of its exercise over her, in all probability she would exercise her right regardless of his wishes, and thus would generate a cause of estrangement and bone of contention. There are few laws that women complain of. A husband may be a tyrant, or a drone, and otherwise totally disqualified for the head of a family, but the right to vote, conferred upon women, would not relieve from such cases, unless by making the divorce laws more loose than they now are, which God forbid. The subject is hardly opened by these few suggestions, so many are the reasons why women as a class would not desire the elective franchise. Space forbids us to pursue it further at present.

Normal School Bill---Correction.

Several of our exchanges have done Mankato an injustice in reporting that we had failed to secure by subscription $5,000 in order to secure the location of a Normal School at this place. No subscription list was ever presented for signers, nor have our leading men refused to subscribe. A general consultation was held and it was determined that the burden could not be shared equally except by taxation. Except with a very few, who never appreciate a public benefit as they do a private purse, our citizens are unanimous in desiring that each shall contribute to the fund in proportion to his assessable property. There is no lack of interest upon this subject, and our citizens are watching with solicitude the action of the legislature upon the bill introduced.

There seems to be a serious mistake, either in the reporters of the St. Paul papers, or in the bill before the Senate. Hon. D. P. Temple from a special committee, is reported to have recommended the passage of a bill "to authorize the village of Mankato to issue bonds for the purpose of building a school house." We are not in need of a school house as we already have as fine a building for school purposes as there is in the State. The bill should be for a law authorizing Mankato to issue bonds, and levy a tax to raise $5,000 to be given to the State in aid of the Second State Normal School in this city. If this is not the nature of the bill under consideration, our delegation will doubtless see that the correction is made.

A batch of twenty-one warriors and chiefs of the Wapeton and Sisseton bands of Sioux arrived in St. Paul from Big Stone Lake last Saturday night. They are under the care of old Jo. Brown and pretend to visit Washington for the purpose of treating for a wagon road over the Indian territory to Montana and to protect the same from hostile Indians.

GRAIN BUYERS.

In our issue of the 11th inst. we noticed the arrival of wheat buyers from Minneapolis who were not very well received by the wheat speculators of this place. The Chronicle of that city, in copying the article, comments thus:

"Elbow off" wheat purchasers from Minneapolis, hey? Let them try it on. Minneapolis millers have as much money as the speculators, and will give more than they can. Farmers will sell to those who pay them the most for their grain. When the dealers of grain in the valley, attempt to elbow off the mills of Minneapolis, they are waking up a set of customers, who will prove a thorn in their sides. The facilities for consuming such large quantities of wheat in Minneapolis will warrant the gentlemanly millers to pay round figures for the grain. It does not cost much more to transport a barrel of flour from Minneapolis to New York, than it does a bushel of wheat from Mankato to New York; and if wheat dealers can "elbow off our Minneapolis friends," they will do that which they never have done before.

This is a free country; competition is opened to all; and our numerous farmer friends up the valley may rest assured that the Minneapolis millers are not sardines, neither will they be frightened out of the markets of their State by speculators from abroad.

The farmers know who their friends are. The water power at Minneapolis which drives so many flouring mills, will ever be a ready and sure market for their grain, and it is to their advantage to sell their wheat to those with whom they will be enabled to deal with for years to come. The million bushels, which will be annually wanted here for the purpose of working into flour must be purchased in the limits of the State, thus always affording a good and sure market to the farmers. The UNION deserves the thanks of our millers for the sensible advice given above.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Mr. Windom introduced a bill amendatory of an act passed May 20, 1862, to secure homesteads to actual settlers on the public domain; which was read a first and second time, and referred to the Committee on Public Lands. Also a bill conferring certain rights on settlers upon the public lands of the United States; which was read a first and second time, and referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

LEGISLATURE.

SENATE.

On the 16th inst., in the Senate a letter was read from John D. Ford, President of the Normal School Board inviting the Legislature to be present at the examination of the Normal School at Winona, on the 23d and 24th inst. The invitation has been accepted.

Senator Porter, of Garden City, introduced a bill for an act authorizing the city of Mankato to issue bonds for the purpose of aiding in the establishment of the Second State Normal School.

Senator Wakefield, introduced a bill for an act to locate and establish the county seat of Jackson County.

Senator Baxter, offered a memorial to Congress for an appropriation for the improvement of the Minnesota River. Referred to Committee on Internal Improvements.

On motion of Senator Perkins, S. F. No. 2, relating to fixing per diem and mileage of officers and members of the Legislature was referred to a special committee of one, with instructions that it be so amended by him as to provide that the compensation of members of the Legislature be five dollars per day during the present session only. Mr. Perkins was appointed as such committee.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT.

The message from the House of Representatives being under consideration.

On motion of Senator Daniels the joint resolution ratifying a proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States was read the first time.

Senator Murry moved that the joint resolution be referred to the Committee on Federal Relation. Lost.

On motion of Senator Pillsbury the rules were suspended and the joint resolution was read a second time.

The resolution was then read the third time and put upon its passage.

The roll being called, there were yeas 16, and nays 5, as follows:

Yeas—Messrs A. Armstrong, J. L. Armstrong, Buck, Bristol, Draper, Daniels, Folsom, Gordon, Lord, Perkins, Porter, Pillsbury, Temple, Whitney, Wakefield, Yale—16.

Nays—Messrs. Butters, Baxter, Evans, Griggs, Murray—5.

And so the joint resolution passed.

THURSDAY, Jan. 17.

Mr. Bristol presented a petition from voters of Goodhue county for the establishment of an independent department of public instruction.

Referred to committee on Education.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

To amend at act entitled an act to amend an act to incorporate the Hastings, Minnesota River, and Red River Railroad Company, approved February 20, 1866, and March 3, 1866.

A resolution that a joint committee be appointed of four members from the Senate and five from the House, to whom the report of the "committee on the equitable adjustment of Minnesota State Railroad bonds," be referred, with instructions to report at some future day by bill or otherwise.

JANUARY 18.

Nothing of importance transpired in the Senate, except the passage of the House Bill fixing the per diem of members at five dollars. Senate adjourned till Monday.

HOUSE.

A petition was offered by Mr. A Andrews, from the commission of Martin county, for authority to levy additional taxes in said county.

Mr. Reed introduced a bill to amend sections 201 and 205, chapter 8, of the general statutes in relation to the duties and pay of county surveyor.

Mr. Perry introduced a bill to amend sections 117, 118 and 122, of chapter 11 of the general statutes of the State of Minnesota, so as to extend the time of paying taxes until the first of June.

It was resolved that the committee on Education be requested to enquire into the expediency of furnishing a copy of Webster's Unabridged Dictionary to every school district in the State, and report by bill or otherwise.

WOMEN SUFFRAGE.

Mr. Seboski presented a petition numerously signed by both sexes, praying for women suffrage in this state, for the following reasons:

1. Woman constitute the "better half" of society; and if the Democratic doctrine of universal suffrage be correct, then it is a great mistake that so large a proportion of the people should have been denied the franchise.
2. Women possesses individuality of person, intellect, moral sense, and social and material interests, and all laws which benefit or injure man, affect her equally with him. It is therefore just and reasonable that she should have a voice in enacting laws which she is forced to obey. It is absurd, as well as unchristian and anti republican, for either sex to claim the exclusive right to rule the other.
3. No one will pretend that thousands of men who cannot read and write are better qualified to vote than the same number of educated women. And if the ballot is the proper means of self protection to persons and property for one sex, it is for the other as well.
4. The exercise of the right of franchise among a free people naturally tends to develop and elevate their character; and the addition of woman's voice and influence at the ballot box, the same as in other circles, would purify and perfect more than anything else our government and national character.

On motion of Mr. Seboski, the resolution was referred to a special committee of five.

The speaker named as such committee Messrs. Seboski, Randall, Wheaton, Felch and Reed.

January 16.

The Constitutional Amendment was adopted by the House of Representatives yesterday by a vote of 45 to 5.

Mr. Shillock offered a petition from citizens of Nicollet, in the county of Nicollett for such legislation as will enable the German language to be taught in the common schools of that town.

Mr. Miner offered a bill to provide for the establishment and organization of a new county to be known as the county of Sauk, to be constituted of portions of the counties of Sterns and Todd.

In the House the morning was occupied with the contested election case of Richardson vs. Hoepner.

The resolution reported by the Judiciary committee that Richardson was entitled to his seat was adopted—yeas 33, nays 9. Mr. Richardson was then sworn in.

January 19.

A bill was introduced to increase the salaries of Judges of the District courts to $2,500 per annum.

The bill to locate the county seat of Jackson county was referred to the committee of towns and counties.

The bill ceding jurisdiction to the United States over such territory in the city of St. Paul as may be selected as a site for a Custom House and post office was referred.

THE NORTON RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. Buck, from a majority of the committee on Federal Relations, to whom was referred the resolutions relative to Hon. Daniel S. Norton, reported by substitute, as follows:

WHEREAS, Senator Norton has wickedly betrayed and renounced fidelity to his former expressed principles—principles upon which reared the glorious fabric of our national government—principles deeply seated in the hearts of his constituents—having deliberately assumed an attitude of hostility and antagonism to the principles of justice and equal rights, uniting in political action with the direct enemies of the Republic, and has wantonly betrayed a constituency that elevated him to the high position of Senator; therefore,

Resolved, (by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring) that Senator Daniel S. Norton be, and he is hereby instructed, to resign his office as Senator from Minnesota, in the Senate of the United States.

Resolved, That the Governor be requested to forward to the presiding officer in each House in Congress, and to each of our Senators and Representatives in Congress, a copy of the foregoing preamble and resolutions.

Mr. Lienau, from a minority of the committee, offered the following as a substitute for the substitute:

WHEREAS, The Hon. Daniel S. Norton, one of our Senators in Congress, has had the manly courage to stand up for his country at the risk of being read out of his party; and,

WHEREAS, He relieved a goodly number of those sucking doves whose genuine moonshine patriotism should save them from the imputation that bread and butter had anything to do with their existence; and,

WHEREAS, He has labored true and faithfully for the interest of this State at all times; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Hon. D. S. Norton deserves, and will receive the praise of all whose views are not blinded with fanaticism, and that we entreat him to pursue his noble course, not listening to the crack of the party whip, and bearing in mind that those who eighteen hundred years ago cried "Crucify him!" "Crucify him!"—Him who came to redeem the world and mankind—represented the "loyal people" of a great nation.

These resolutions were by many of the members considered so vulgar and profane, that quite a debate arose as to whether they should be entertained. The report was finally received and the motion to substitute was lost by ayes 37, nays 3. The majority report was then adopted.

January 21.

Mr. Porter of Blue Earth County gave notice of a bill to authorize the county of Blue Earth to issue bonds for the erection of a jail.

Mr. Temple, from the special committee on the bill to authorize the city of Mankato to issue bonds for the purpose of building a school house, recommended that the bill pass.

The concurrent resolution condemning Senator Norton was received from the House and read. It was refered to a committee on Federal relations.

Mr. Wheaton introduced a bill to amend chapter 86 section 6, relating to the election of county officers, so as to allow a county commissioner to be elected a large.

U. S. Senators Elect.

Hon. Simon Cameron is elected in Pennsylvania to succeed the renegade Cowan.

Hon. Chas. Drake succeeds the present Senator for Missouri, Hon. B. Gratz Brown.

Gov. Martin is the choice of the State of Michigan.

Timothy O. Howe has been re-elected to the U. S. Senate by the Wisconsin Legislature.

Frederick Frelinghausen of New Jersey has been elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Wright. All new senators elect except Patterson of Tennessee are republicans of the radical order.

Chicago Tribune.

Daily, Tri-Weekly and weekly Editions,

DEVOTED TO

News, Commerce, Politics, Agriculture, Literature and Science.—The Best Newspaper, the Best Political Paper, the Best Commercial Paper, the Most Valuable Family Paper, the Largest Paper in the Northwest.—It Publishes more Telegraphic News, better Market Reports, more interesting News, and a Greater Variety of Reliable and Useful Information than any other Paper in America.

The Chicago Tribune now approaching its twenty-first year, is recognized as the leading organ and exponent of the great, patriotic, dominant Republican party of the Northwest. The Tribune is no ephemeral concern of doubtful duration, but a permanently established institution, known and respected throughout the United States. Its circulation exceeds the combined issues of the other Chicago dailies. Its past record and career may be pointed to with pride and pleasure by its conductors. Since the Republican party was organized, the Chicago Tribune has stood by it, through evil as well as good report; never in the rear, but always in the front, beckoning it onward and upward; never faltering or weary, but always hopeful, earnest, fearless. Its blows have fallen incessantly on slavery, oligharcy and treason. During the entire period of the rebellion it blew no uncertain blasts, but sounded the charge and cheered on the defenders of freedom to renewed efforts, assuring them of a glorious triumph for the right as the reward of perseverance and sacrifice.

And now, when the wicked rebellion is crushed, the oligharchy conquered, and slavery abolished, the Chicago Tribune insists that the legitimate fruits of our victory shall not be yielded back to vanquished rebels by an apostate Executive, who has basely and wickedly betrayed the loyal people who intrusted him with Presidential powers. The Tribune opens a new campaign to secure to the Union an enduring peace, and a reconstruction based on the principles of

EQUAL RIGHTS AND EXACT JUSTICE TO ALL MEN!

It therefore advocates Impartial Suffrage, irrespective of color or birthplace. Right wrongs no man, and no man's rights are abridged or endangered by giving to every law abiding citizen all his rights. And no scheme of reconstruction will prove satisfactory or enduring that denies equal civil and political rights and privileges to any class of loyal citizens. No Democrat can oppose impartial suffrage and equal rights without shameful inconsistency and stultification.—And the South can never be truly free, prosperous or happy, until all its citizens are recognized as equal before the law, and equal in making the laws, which they must obey, regardless of color or position.

The Chicago Tribune sincerely believes in the principles of the Declaration of Independence, and is therefore Radical in its aims, impulses and endeavors, and is confident of witnessing, at an early day, the acceptance and adoption of the beneficent doctrines of Republicanism in every section and subdivision of our common country.

The readers of the Tribune will bear testimony that the policies it has opposed have generally been discarded; the measures it has supported have nearly all been adopted, and that its predictions have been singularly verified. The secret of its influence on public affairs is, that it espouses what is right, earnestly, and combats what is wrong, boldly; and the glass with which it sees into the future is implicit faith in the power of Truth and the ultimate triumph of the Right.

A FIRST CLASS NEWSPAPER.

The Chicago Tribune, while fearless in the expression of its opinions, and patriotic in its endeavors, aims at being a FIRST CLASS NEWSPAPER. It brings the news to the people of the Northwest several days sooner than the papers of the seaboard, and surpasses all its cotemporaries in the Northwest in every department of news enterprise.

It discusses every subject of interest to Western men. No banker, farmer, mechanic, drover or manufacturer, can study his own interest and do without it. No farmer should sell a bushel of wheat, corn, oats, or a pound of beef or pork, without reading the Tribune; no merchant should sell his goods without reading the Tribune; no manufacturer his wares; no mechanic the product of his hands, without first consulting its well-filled, accurate and reliable commercial columns.

The Contents of each Edition of the Tribune Embraces,

1st—A complete current history of the progress of events, with general news of the day.
2d—Copious telegraphic despatches, containing the Latest News from all parts, down to the hour of going to press.
3d—Regular correspondence from numerous points in the South and the Capitals of the Western States, Washington, New York, St. Louis, California, Kansas, Canada, Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy, besides occasional letters from many other points where interesting news is transpiring. No other journal in the country employes a larger or more capable corps of correspondents.
4th—Able editorials on Political Topics, and all subjects of current interest, and Reviews of New Publications.
5th—Full reports of meetings, whether Political, Religious, Agricultural, Educational or Miscellaneous.
6th—Proceedings of Congress and State Legislatures, important Speeches and Documents.
7th—Complete Market Reports, embracing avery article the farmer or dealer can expect to find quoted in a Newspaper. The Tribune has achieved and maintained the highest reputation as a Commercial Paper.
8th—Carefully prepared agricultural and horticultural articles, by "Rural," and other able writers on the Farm and Garden.
9th—Poetry, Tales, Anecdotes, and Interesting Miscellany.

PIANO.—We can sell a piano new from the factory, at etter rates than can be had elsewhere. Inquire at this office.

JOB PRESS.—We have for sale a small DRUGGIST JOB PRESS, which does good work, and will be sold low.

BAPTIST CHURCH.—J. G. Craven, Pastor—Services at 10½ A. M. and 7 P. M. Prayer meeting Wednesday at 7 P. M.

—See the advertisement of Hall & Howard's Sorghum seed. It was procured from the South and therefore not injured by frost.

QUIT CLAIMS.—We have just printed a neat form of quit claim deeds, which are for sale at this office and at Smith & Humphrey's book store.

TO TEACHERS AND SCHOOL BOARDS.—Smith & Humphrey will supply teachers and School Boards with the "National School Tablets" or any volume of the school teacher's library, at publisher's wholesale rates. For catalogue of Teacher's Library and "Educational Bulletin" apply to Smith & Humphrey, Mankato, enclosing a two cent stamp.

REAL ESTATE SALE.—Buck & Freeman, as agents for Joseph McCutchen, sold last week to Jabez Lloyd, of Butternut Valley, the north half of Sec 24, Town 108, Range 29, and south east quarter of Sec. 14, Town 108, Range 29, in all 480 acres, for $2,100.

A LARGE BUSINESS.—S. E. Stebbins, Esq., our County Surveyor, has been dealing quite heavily in real estate. He sells on commission, and his activity in this line we think quite outstrips most all other dealers. Last June he took out a license, and since that time has sold thirty-six farms. He lives in the town of Medo, and has a thorough knowledge of Blue Earth county.

MEANNESS.—The premium for meanness should be awarded the man who for money will poison the sick. Such are the wretches who sneak around the country buying up empty bottles of DR. SWAIN's Bourbon Bitters and Morning Beverage, refill them with their own vile mixtures, and palm them upon the public as the genuine article put up by DR. SWAIN.

Legitimate dealers should assist to ferret out and expose the guilty.

VAN BRUNT ESTATE.—We are informed that Miss Geannie Van Brunt, the youngest daughter, and heir in the Van Brunt estate, arrived at her majority on the 16th inst., and the family have already commenced to fulfill the obligations of their bonds previously made, by executing warranty deeds to lots sold during her minority. There will hereafter be no difficulty in obtaining a perfect title to lots owned by the estate, as all the heirs are qualified to join in the execution of deeds.

FIRE AT TIVOLI.—We are informed that the House of Mr. Charles Bennett of Tivoli was partially destroyed by fire on Monday last about sundown. The fire caught from the pipe in the attic, and nearly half the roof was burned off before the flames were extinguished. The ceiling was also damaged, but most of the furniture, windows and doors were taken out. The loss is covered by insurance.

THE WEATHER.—The weather for the past week has been delightful and the sleighing excellent, and horseflesh suffered considerably thereby. We have heard people say that Minnesota was a cold and barren country. Like other States it has its "spells of weather," but we deny, most emphatically, the erroneous charge of an "iceberg climate," and so will all who have the pleasure of spending a winter or two in Minnesota. Come all ye that are agued and are heavily oppressed, and a Minnesota winter will send you home in the spring perfectly cured and "feeling gay."

SPORTS.—Our correspondent "Echo" while commending the sport of sliding down hill to the "youth and beauty" of our city, thinks it not very becoming for persons of maturer age. We must dissent from this opinion and offer a "minority report." We are always pleased to see those who are more burdened with family cares than their younger associates, invoking dull care to be gone, and mingling in the sports of youth as often as possible. It is an invigorating, and life-renewing pleasure, to spend a moon-light evening on the Agency hill. Therefore we say let all slide both old and young.

NORMAL SCHOOL VISIT.—The winter examination of the State Normal School took place on Wednesday and Thursday last at Winona. As the members of the legislature were to be there, Mr. Buck of this city, who was a member of the legislature last winter, and now a member of the Normal School Board, went down to attend the examination, and also to see that no undue influence is exerted by Professor Phelps to induce the legislature to prejudice Mankato by unfriendly legislation, and ultimately defeat the establishment of a second Normal School.

SPLENDID DENTAL ROOMS.—The St. Paul Press of the 2d gives an extended description of a new suite of dental rooms just fitted up by Messrs. Pierce & Beecher. It is thought to be the most convenient as well as extravagent institution of the west. The cost of furniture and apparatus is $2,500. The first mentioned gentleman is the well known dentist who is now doing business at the Clifton House, he prefering that his partner shall be the resident dentist at their St. Paul rooms. When visiting the city our people should call and see this splendid establishment.

DEMAND FOR GOLD.—The demand for gold is great but is not equal to the demand for the celebrated Chemical Saleratus, especially where this Saleratus has been tried and where its worth is fully known. Try it and satisfy yourself. For sale by most merchants. Use it instead of Soda.

COUNTY JAIL.—The Board of County Commissioners at their late session passed a resolution appointing a committee to draft and present to the Legislature for its action a bill giving the county authority to issue bonds not to exceed $10,000 for the purpose of building a jail. The Board has the power to levy a tax for that purpose, but it would delay the building of the jail for more than a year. It is greatly needed now. At every session of the Board, bills to the amount of from ten to forty dollars are allowed for repairs on the old log shell, and the Sheriff seriously speaks of employing an extra guard to prevent escapes. Unless some steps are taken immediately, the growing wants of the county can only be met by sending our prisoners at great expense to St. Paul for safe keeping. It does not comport with the majesty of the law, dignity of the courts, or importance of Blue Earth county, that the farce of criminal confinement and punishment, in a rotten log jail, should continue to be played. A good and sufficient jail should at once be erected, as a guarantee of good order, and a terror to evil doers. We notice that Senator Porter has apprised the Senate of his intention to introduce a bill giving the county requisite authority to issue bonds. Our entire delegation will, no doubt, support the measure.

SENTENCE TOO LIGHT.—In our report of District Court proceedings last week we mentioned the fact that Herbert Dean had been sentenced to confinement in the county jail for three months. This man Dean was convicted of stealing $60 from a trunk at the Washington House. He admits the deed, but is far from being repentant. A bold, desperate, and defiant bravado, who, before sentence was passed, threatened vengeance against the prosecuting witness; having not a mitigating circumstance in his favor to recommend him to the mercy of the court, is given the lightest penalty the law imposes. We are quite astonished that Judge Austin did not at least give the culprit one year in the State prison, when the limit of the law would give him three. And aside from this light penalty, Blue Earth county must pay the expense of his arrest and trial, and to this is now to be added three months board for the lazy villain when he should earn his own living and learn an honest trade at Stillwater.

SPORTS.—MR. EDITOR: I wish a small space in your columns to notice the fact that skating has ceased to be an object of interest in consequence of the ice being covered with snow, and sleding has taken its place. It is wonderful how amusing it is to slide down the hills, with the swiftness of railroad speed, and occasionally tumble off, causing several new bumps to rise gracefully on your cranium, and other wise. The other evening I was a silent spectator of a small party of the elite of this city, who were enjoying themselves hugely at this healthy exercise, by gathering themselves up into a small heap, and piling on to a sled, and darting off like a bird down the hill, a distance of half a mile. How delicious it was! Me thinks I could hear them say, "Oh, that I were a boy again!" Now this seems a very healthy exercise, and I have no doubt that it would benefit a goodly number of parlor ladies to try the exercise, but it does seem rather out of place for those who have arrived at a more advanced age. I do not object to their enjoying good health, but we think they expose themselves these cold nights more than the exercise benefits them. But "let 'em slide."

ECHO.

DISTRICT COURT.—In the case of Rufus Thurston vs. James Bowles on Friday last the verdict was for the defendant. John Roland vs. J. N. Lockhart was a suit for labor performed on the sewer last summer. Roland claimed his pay, which Lockhart refused to pay on the ground that Roland did not perform according to contract. The jury decided that there was no valid contract and that Roland was entitled to pay by the day. Henry W. Smith sued for a divorce from his wife, who was formerly Mrs. Eastlick, the Lake Shetek captive, who since published a pamphlet concerning the Indian butcheries. She thinks she can do better peddling books, and as Smith has'nt time to follow her around, he desires to cut the "ties that bind." The court will grant the prayer. The case of Woodward vs. Gunning, involving the title to Keysor's place on Broad street, was virtually decided in favor of Keysor, the plaintiff Woodward not appearing. John Wiemer's case was continued, he giving bail for his appearance at court. The motion to arrest judgment in case of State vs. Henry Knight was overruled and he was sentenced to 3 months confinement in jail—another instance of inadequate punishment. The town of Mankato vs. Willard & Barney, which is a suit brought to cancel a deed of the greater portion of the levee, given to W & B. by Judge Branson, trustee of the town site, is on trial. The city claim the levee as a public easement. Two more cases are to be tried and the court will probably adjourn to-day.

FROM SHELBYVILLE.

By our own reporter.

Winter has again assumed its natural color, and we have plenty of sleighing once more, consequently everybody generally are availing themselves of the opportunity to do their usual amount of lumbering. We have two sawmills in full blast, but let them saw as fast as they will, there are men standing ready to take the boards as fast as they come from the saw, which are to be used for building and fencing purposes the coming spring; and it is a noticeable fact that scarcely any of the lumber goes farther than five or six miles from the mills, which certainly speaks well for the growth and prosperity of Shelbyville and vicinity.

We have had the pleasure recently of listening to a course of scientific lectures, given by Prof. Geo. A Shepherd, of Fon du Lac, Wisconsin. He has entertained a large and attentive audience for several evenings in our town, and Pleasant Mound, upon the subject of "Scientific Phrenology." Mr. Shepherd is a young man of a deeply scientific turn of mind, and during his short stay among us, has exhibited a talent well worthy of emulation. He is also a singing master. He has had four schools, with from fifteen to thirty-five scholars each, in successful operation during the winter, and seems determined to improve the vocal organs of this community. He is decidedly a master of his profession. He contemplates giving a lecture or two in Mankato; also Garden City and Vernon. We bespeak for him a liberal attendance.

There has been a recent change in the schedule of our mail route, (the Garden City and Fairmount route,) the mail now leaving Garden City on Friday instead of Monday, which secures us the UNION the same day that it is printed, or at farthest early on the next morning after, a very desirable result indeed.

There seems to be a determination on the part of a few, to bring the question of fencing in vs. fencing out, before our present legislature, with a view of establishing a change in our present system of protecting stock and grain; it seems to be a movement of very questionable propriety at the present time, when nearly every man throughout the settled portion of the State, has a large share of his tillable land fenced with a permanent fence and if he is obliged to move it for the purpose of fencing his stock, it will be at a cost of nearly the entire original value of his fence. Let us hear from other parts of the country on this subject.

Truly yours,

ARAD.

Shelby, Jan. 17th, 1867.

FROM VERNON.

By our own Reporter.

During the last three or four weeks a protracted meeting has been in progress here and much good has been done. Under the efficient labors of Elder Welcome, of Garden City, aided by Revs. N. Gardner, J. Barnard and N. A. Hunt. Some twenty-five or thirty persons have come out and espoused the cause of Christ. The meetings closed last Sunday evening and, as a people, we feel grateful for the work which has been accomplished.

As a token of our appreciation of Elder Welcome's labors among us, a collection was made for his benefit at the close of the morning service yesterday and twenty-six dollars and 50 cents realized.

BOUNTIES.—I take this method of informing those who have claims for bounty under the equalization act of Congress, that their claims should be made out and forwarded without further delay. I have already collected $100 for one of my clients. To those whose discharges are in my hands, I will say that there is no unnecessary delay. I ask of those who have not placed their claims into the hands of an agent, to call on me. I am turning off other business to give my attention to the collection of claims. DAVID WILCOX.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

—It is a mistake that all the "oldest residents of Mankato" stick to Butterfield's flour. Public opinion has changed very much within a few months in regard to flour. Scott & Worden make the best flour that is manufactured in the county, and the fact is conceded by all good judges. You can get a sack of it at Ray, Williams & Bro.'s any time.

—Go to Ray, Williams & Bro.'s for nice dried apples, corn meal and buckwheat flour.

TRY IT ONCE.—The manufacturers of the Best Chemical Saleratus, Messrs. D. B. De Land & Co., show their readiness to have the merits of the article tested, for they authorize all who sell it at retail to refund the money when by fair trial it does not prove to be as recommended. That is fair and shows their confidence in the article. It is better than Soda.

—Still going at the very bottom of the market. As they are wanting to close out their present stock of CLOTHING, GENTS FURNISHING GOODS, GLOVES, MITTS, HATS, CAPS, &c., preparatory to putting in their stock of Spring and Summer goods, and will offer to customers SUPERIOR INDUCEMENTS in their line of goods, at the Clothing Emporium of Randall & Smith. Give them a call.

—MERCHANT TAILORING.—Having secured the services of Mr. James McHenry, a PRACTICAL tailor and cutter, and having a nice stock of Cloths, Cassimeres and Vestings, are prepared to do all work in that line in the latest style. Also cutting and making to order. Be sure and call on Randall & Smith. Sign of the Big Hat.

ATTENTION.—We have recently collected for Ezekiel M. B. Laird, of South Bend, a land warrant of 160 acres for services rendered by him in the patriot war of 1837. All old veterans of the wars of 1812 and 1837, and of subsequent wars prior to the late rebellion, who have never received any land warrants for their services, are invited to call and see us about prosecuting their claims. No charge unless successful.

Add son's experience and intelligence avouches the necessity for. THE GREAT MEDICAL ANNUAL.

Hostetter's United States Almanac for 1867, for distribution, gratis, throughout the United States and all civilized countries of the Western Hemisphere, will be published about the first of January, and all who whish to understand the true philosophy of health should read and ponder the valuable suggestions it contains. In addition to an admirable medical treatise on the causes, prevention and cure of a great variety of diseases, it embraces a large amount of information interesting to the merchant, the mechanic, the miner, the farmer, the planter, and professional man; and the calculations have been made for such meridians and latitudes as are most suitable for a correct and comprehensive NATIONAL CALENDAR.

The nature, uses, and extraordinary sanitary effects of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, the staple tonic and alterative of more than half the Christian world, are fully set forth in its pages, which are also interspersed with valuable recipes, humorous anecdotes, and other instructive and amusing reading matter, original and selected. Among the Annuals to appear with the opening of the year, this will be one of the most useful, and may be had for the asking. Send for copies to the Central Manufactory, at Pittsburgh, Pa., or to the nearest agent for HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. The News.

The Ways and Means Committee are industriously at work upon the bill amendatory of the Internal Revenue Law. They have come to a decision in none of the questions except that of increasing the amount of income exempted to one thousand dollars. The bill will not be ready to report under ten or twelve days, and, perhaps, not within a fortnight.

The Post Office Committee have resumed the consideration of the proposition for the construction of telegraph lines along post routes, to be under the control of the Postmaster General. They will probably report in favor of it, but before doing so will see what arrangement can be made with the present companies, looking to a purchase of portions of their constructed lines.

A Herald dispatch says that the Government is preparing for an active campaign against the Indians in Dakota and other Territories. The best and most economical campaign the Government can make against the Indians is with the pickaxe and spade, laying the track of the Northern Pacific Railroad.

A novel elopement occurred lately at Danville, New York. A wife became poisoned against her husband through the machinations of a lover, who furnished her with the money to procure a divorce and then married her. After living with her second husband a while she became convinced that she had been deceived as to her first husband, and her old love returning, she eloped from her second husband, running away with her first husband.

The Roman Catholic paper, of St. Louis, the organ of the Archbishop in St. Louis, has this ominous language: "The Church is of necessity intolerant; heresy she endures when and where she must; but she hates it, and directs all her energies to its destruction, if Catholics ever gain an immense numerical majority, religious freedom in this country is at an end."

A New York paper says: "The depression of business in this city is illustrated by the important statement that one of our heaviest and most prosperous firms, which paid a tax on several millions of income last year, will this year be unable to pay a single cent, owing to heavy losses and a general dullness of trade, that reduced the receipts below the actual expenses."

A terrible tragedy occurred at Valpariso, Ind., on the 15th inst. Chancey Page, jeweler, attacked his wife, who had separated from him and was living as a servant in the family of an old man in the vicinity, beat and kicked her till he supposed her dead. He then went to an adjoining room and killed the old gentleman and lady, and set fire to the house and fled. The wife recovered and crawled out from the burning building and was rescued by her neighbors.

The proprietor of a public house in Wisconsin had his valise stolen while on a visit to the southern part of the State. On returning home he found the thief and stolen property housed in his own hotel. The astonishment of the thief at finding himself the guest of his victim may be imagined.

HUMOROUS.

Naturalists have now settled the fact that every cow once wore calf-skin boots.

You have no business to have business with other people's business, but mind your own business, and that is business enough for any business man.

If "all the world's a stage," who's the driver? The propounder of this query is only excusable because the quotation is hackneyed.

Weak doses of washboard are now recommended to ladies who complain of dyspepsia. Young men troubled with the same complaint, may be cured by a strong preparation of wood saw.

Why is a murderer like a mischievous boy? Give it up? Bekase a rope's end is the only thing that will do him good. Mr. Interrog says "That's rather unquestionable."

A spirit merchant in Killarney, Ireland, has announced that he has still on sale a small quantity of whiskey which was drank by the Prince of Wales when last at Killarney.

A doctor's wife attempted to move him by her tears. "Ann," said he, "tears are useless. I have analyzed them. They contain a little phospate of lime, some chloride of sodium and water."

A Western editor lately married one of his compositors, another compositor acting as bridesmaid, officiating clergyman being a retired printer, the local editor giving the bride away.—Exchange.

Where was the devil?

A young rustic was exhibiting three pounds of very choice spruce gum at a store in Chotquay, New York, when a Bostonian, pleased with its clear, transparent appearance, asked the young man what he would take for it. "Golly," said he, "you can't have a chor out of this; my gal is goin' to have every bit on't."

Bishop Burnett once preaching before Charles II., was much warmed by his subject, and, uttering a religious truth in a very earnest manner, with great vehemence he struck his clenched hand upon the desk, and cried out:

"Who dare deny this?"

"Faith," observed the King, in a key not quite so loud as the preacher, "nobody, I should think, that is within reach of that great fist of yours."

In one of the New England parishes, since the commencement of the reform of temperance, at a meeting held for the transaction of business, a proposition was introduced and carried for painting the meeting house. Of course, it was necessary to decide what color it should be painted. One gentleman proposed white, another green, another yellow, another red, and reasons were offered for each. At last says one, "Mr. Mcderator, I move that it be painted rum color, and I will give a reason. There is Colonel ——, who sits near you, has had his face painted rum color these fifteen years, and it grows brighter and brighter every day."

Know thy Destiny! Madam E. F. Thornton, the great English Astrologist, Clairvoyant and Psychometrician, who has astonished the scientific classes of the Old World, has now located herself at Hudson, N. Y. Madame Thornton possesses such wonderful powers of second sight, as to enable her to impart knowledge of the greatest importance to the single or married of either sex. While in a state of trance, she delineates the very features of the person you are to marry, and by the aid of an instrument of intense power, known as the Psychomotrope, guarantees to produce a life-like picture of the future husband or wife of the applicant, together with date of marriage, position in life, leading traits of character, &c. This is no humbug as thousands of testimonials can assert. She will send, when desired, a certified certificate, or written guarantee, that the picture is what it purports to be. By enclosing a small lock of hair, and stating place of birth, age, disposition, and complexion, and enclosing 50 cents and stamped envelope addressed to yourself, you will receive the picture and desired information by return mail. All communications sacredly confidential. Address, in confidence, MADAME E. F. THORNTON, P. O. Box 223, Hudson, New York.

MANDRAKE PILLS.

A Substitute for Calomel.

These Pills are composed of various roots, having the power to relax the secretions of the liver as promptly and effectually as blue pill or mercury, and without producing any of those disagreeable or dangerous effects which often follow the use of the latter.

In all bilious disorders these Pills may be used with confidence, as they promote the discharge of vitiated bile, and remove those obstructions from the liver and biliary ducts, which are the cause of bilious affections in general.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS cure Sick Headache, and all disorders of the Liver, indicated by sallow skin, coated tongue, costiveness, drowsiness, and a general feeling of weariness and lassitude, showing that the liver is in a torpid or obstructed condition.

In short, these Pills may be used with advantage in all cases when a purgative or alterative medicine is required.

Please ask for "Dr. Schenck's Mandrake Pills," and observe that the two likenesses of the Doctor are on the Government stamp—one when in the last stage of Consumption, and the other in his present health.

SYMPTOMS.

The symptoms of Catarrh are at first very slight. Persons find they have a cold, that they have frequent attacks, and are more sensitive to the changes of the temperature. In this condition the nose may be dry, or a slight discharge thin and acrid, afterwards thick and adhesive, may ensue.

As the disease becomes chronic, the discharges are increased in quantity and changed in quality; they are now thick and heavy, and hawked or coughed off. The secretions are offensive, causing a bad breath; the voice thick and nasal; the eyes are weak; the sense of smell is lessened or destroyed; deafness frequently takes place.

Another common and important symptom of Catarrh is, that the person is obliged to clear his throat in the morning of a slick or slimy mucous, which has fallen from the head during the night. When this takes place, the person may be sure that his disease is on its way to the lungs, and should lose no time in arresting it.

The above are but a few of the many Catarrhal symptoms. Write to our Laboratory for our pamphlet describing fully all symptoms; it will be sent FREE to any address. Also directions where to procure the medicine.

We are receiving letters from all parts of the Union, and also numerous testimonials from those using it, bearing the evidence of its infallible merits;

FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE CO.
100 WASHINGTON ST., CHICAGO.
Wm. H. SHARP & CO.,
GENERAL AGENTS.

THE FLORENCE is the only machine extant having a reversible feed, which enables the operator to sew either to the right or left at pleasure, and the only machine that makes a perfectly elastic seam, alike on each side of the fabric.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE not only makes the lock-stitch, but three others, which for certain kinds of work are much superior, especially where elasticity is required and is the only machine that fastens the ends of each seam securely, and does it in one-fourth the time it can be done by hand.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE, does not draw fine, thin goods down through the slot or hole in the work-plate, nor drop a stitch in turning a corner, and is the only machine having a changeless tension, and no slack threads both of which draw together simultaneously.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE is noiseless, and can be used when quiet is necessary as well in the sick-chamber as in the workroom. They oil no dresses, the machinery being all on the top of the table. It will sew over the heaviest seams, or from one to more thicknesses of goods, without skipping stitches, breaking threads or requiring change in tension.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE will do easily all family and tailoring work on one and the same machine. They are strong and finely finished,—their motions are all positive, there are no springs to get out of order.—while for strength, durability & beauty of design it will bear, and we invite, comparison with any or all machines.

AMERICAN ORGANS.

(From "Godey's Ladies' Book," February, 1866.)

REED ORGANS, &c.

THE following remarks and suggestions relative to this immensely popular instrument will doubtless interest and profit very many of our readers: we commend the article to their careful perusal:—

A hundred and one makers of Organs, Cottage, Parlor-Cabinet, American, School Organs etc. etc., are each claiming to make the best instrument in the world. Being comparatively a new instrument, as at present constructed, we are convinced the public are much less capable of judging of its merits, or demerits, than of most other instruments. If there is really an essential difference in them, if there are some worthless ones, the public should have some criterion for judging of them, some facts which will enlighten them. We cheerfully concede the space for this article, knowing that there is hardly a family, or church, or school in all the land, but is more or less interested in this topic. We are also aware of its being a great misfortune, a real calamity, to any of them to purchase an inferior or worthless Organ, ruinous to good playing, and often a source of much annoyance and vexation. We know this article to emanate from a candid and intelligent source, and thus we give it to our readers.

The question is often asked, what are "reed organs?" We answer, they are, in most cases nothing in the world but the old melodeon in disguise. Many of the so called Organs have the same bellows, the same reeds, and the same general internal arrangement. With the bellows turned on edge to gain room, they have simply put on a more pretentious exterior and a more high sounding name. But an organ to be in reality an organ, must have a wind chest or reservoir for air separate from the bellows, into which wind chest the reeds open, and the tone has room to expand and perfect itself into the full round tone, similar to the flute or pipe organ, even, smooth firm and mellow; and this tone from reeds cannot be obtained in any other way known. Nothing so annoys a true organist as to have the volume of sound swelling and jerking spasmodically with every variation of force on the bellows or air-passages, instead of a wind- or sound box. And yet some makers even go so far as to claim this spasmodic or automatic jerking of the bellows or the reeds as an excellence, just as though they did not know that it must soon throw the reeds out of tune, and injure the bellows; and as though it were not an easier matter to obtain a much better and more easily managed swell by other methods. The truth is, any organ so called, or melodeon which has the wind acting directly upon the reeds, is nothing more or less than a huge accordeon, dress it up as you may. And when organists and true musicians become aware of the fact that they can obtain those that are organs in fact as well as in name they will buy no more of the objectionable ones. Then again the swell should always be separate and distinct from the bellows, so as not to be acted on by the hand, or soft blowing, but convenient, so that the player can use it with the knee, separate from the hands or feet, and thus always under easy control, to be used ad libitum.

The large divided bellows, or double bellows, is also a very important improvement.—By this means not only can the wind be supplied more evenly, but with far greater ease to the performer, from the fact that either bellows alone will be sufficient for the lighter melodies, thus permitting the player to change about and rest the feet at will; then, if the bellows is of a requisite large size, and having the wind-chest or reservoir, all will be well.—As to the reeds, they must be scientifically tuned and voiced, or all the other good qualities in the world cannot produce a good toned instrument. The inquiry now very naturally arises, where can the organ be procured combining all these essential and desirable qualities? There is only one possessing these points and that is the AMERICAN ORGAN, made by S. D. & H. W. SMITH, of Boston, SIBERIA OTT, Wholesale Agent, 581 Broadway, New York. These organs have a wind-chest extending the whole length of the instrument, and so constructed as to act at the same time as a reverberating sound box or board, and having the same important relation and part to perform that the sounding-board has to the piano.

This feature the makers have patented, and to it are owing in a great measure the entirely unequaled fullness and richness of tone so highly prized by all who have used these organs. They also have the largest and best divided bellows in use, which is another important feature. No part of their work is slighted no expense or pains spared to make the American Organs perfect musically, as well as mechanically, and, judging from the immense sale of them at present, they bid fair to long maintain the proud position they have won by superior merit alone. We would most heartily advise all interested to call upon or address Mr SIBERIA OTT, the Wholesale Agent, at No. 581 Broadway, New York, and can assure them he will, in the most gentlemanly and truthful manner, impart to them all the information they may desire relative to this truly delightful instrument.

DUPLEX ELLIPTIC

(OR DOUBLE SPRING)

SKIRT.

The Wonderful Flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any Lady, wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced particularly in all crowded assemblies, Operas, Carriages, Railroad Cars, Church Pews, Arm Chairs, for Promenade and House Dress, as the Skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a silk or muslin dress, an invaluable quality in crinoline, not found in any Single Spring skirt.

A Lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort, and great convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Steel Spring Skirt for a single day, will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For Children, Misses and Young Ladies they are superior to all others.

They will not bend or break like the Single Spring, but will preserve their perfect and graceful shape when three or four ordinary skirts will have been thrown aside as useless. The Hoops are covered with double and twisted thread, and the bottom rods are not only double springs but twice (or double) covered; preventing them from wearing out when dragging down stoops, stairs, &c.

The Duplex Elliptic is a great favorite with all ladies and is universally recommended by the Fashion Magazines as the standard skirt of the fashionable world.

To enjoy the following inestimable advantages in Crinoline, viz: superior quality, Perfect Manufacture, Stylish shape and finish, Flexibility, Durability, Comfort and Economy, enquire for J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic, or Double Spring Skirt, and be sure you get the genuine article.

CAUTION.—To guard against IMPOSITION be particular to NOTICE that skirts offered as "DUPLEX" have the red ink stamp, viz., "J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic Steel Springs," upon the waistband—none others are genuine. Also Notice that every Hoop will admit a pin being passed through the centre, thus revealing the two (or double) springs braided together therein, which is the secret of their Flexibility and strength, and a combination not to be found in any other Skirt.

FOR SALE in all Stores where First Class skirts are sold throughout the United States and elsewhere. Manufactured by the Sole Owners of the patent,

DEVOTED TO

News, Commerce, Politics, Agriculture, Literature and Science.—The Best Newspaper, the Best Political Paper, the Best Commercial Paper, the Most Valuable Family Paper, the Largest Paper in the Northwest.—It Publishes more Telegraphic News, better Market Reports, more Interesting News, and a Greater Variety of Reliable and Useful Information than any other Paper in America.

The Chicago Tribune now approaching its twenty-first year, is recognized as the leading organ and exponent of the great, patriotic, dominant Republican party of the Northwest. The Tribune is no ephemeral concern of doubtful duration, but a permanently established institution, known and respected throughout the United States. Its circulation exceeds the combined issues of the other Chicago dailies. Its past record and career may be pointed to with pride and pleasure by its conductors. Since the Republican party was organized, the Chicago Tribune has stood by it, through evil as well as good report; never in the rear, but always in the front, beckoning it onward and upward; never faltering or weary, but always hopeful, earnest, fearless. Its blows have fallen incessantly on slavery, oligharcy and treason. During the entire period of the rebellion it blew no uncertain blasts, but sounded the charge and cheered on the defenders of freedom to renewed efforts, assuring them of a glorious triumph for the right as the reward of perseverance and sacrifice.

And now, when the wicked rebellion is crushed, the oligharchy conquered, and slavery abolished, the Chicago Tribune insists that the legitimate fruits of our victory shall not be yielded back to vanquished rebels by an apostate Executive, who has basely and wickedly betrayed the loyal people who intrusted him with Presidential powers. The Tribune opens a new campaign to secure to the Union an enduring peace, and a reconstruction based on the principles of

EQUAL RIGHTS AND EXACT JUSTICE TO ALL MEN!

It therefore advocates Impartial Suffrage, irrespective of color or birthplace. Right wrongs no man, and no man's rights are abridged or endangered by giving to every law abiding citizen all his rights. And no scheme of reconstruction will prove satisfactory or enduring that denies equal civil and political rights and privileges to any class of loyal citizens. No Democrat can oppose impartial suffrage and equal rights without shameful inconsistency and stultification.—And the South can never be truly free, prosperous or happy, until all its citizens are recognized as equal before the law, and equal in making the laws, which they must obey, regardless of color or position.

The Chicago Tribune sincerely believes in the principles of the Declaration of Independence, and is therefore Radical in its aims, impulses and endeavors, and is confident of witnessing, at an early day, the acceptance and adoption of the beneficent doctrines of Republicanism in every section and subdivision of our common country.

The readers of the Tribune will bear testimony that the policies it has opposed have generally been discarded; the measures it has supported have nearly all been adopted, and that its predictions have been singularly verified. The secret of its influence on public affairs is, that it espouses what is right, earnestly, and combats what is wrong, boldly; and the glass with which it sees into the future is implicit faith in the power of Truth and the ultimate triumph of the Right.

A FIRST CLASS NEWSPAPER.

The Chicago Tribune, while fearless in the expression of its opinions, and patriotic in its endeavors, aims at being a FIRST CLASS NEWSPAPER. It brings the news to the people of the Northwest several days sooner than the papers of the seaboard, and surpasses all its cotemporaries in the Northwest in every department of news enterprise.

It discusses every subject of interest to Western men. No banker, farmer, mechanic, drover or manufacturer, can study his own interest and do without it. No farmer should sell a bushel of wheat, corn, oats, or a pound of beef or pork, without reading the Tribune; no merchant should sell his goods without reading the Tribune; no manufacturer his wares; no mechanic the product of his hands, without first consulting its well-filled, accurate and reliable commercial columns.

The Contents of each Edition of the Tribune Embraces,

ANDY'S LAMENT—A PARODY.

Why am I so sick and weary? Come here,
Cowan, smell my breath!
All around to me seems reeling: is this "Victory or Death!"
Ah! how well I know your answer; to my fate
I "humbly bow,
If you only tell me truly "who will care for Andy now?"
So with traitors I am marching,
With no laurels on my brow;
For the people won't sustain me:
"Who will care for Andy now?"

I have "swung around the circle," spoke a piece at every town;
But the people laugh and jeer me,—call me
"Billy Seward's clown;"
"I have filled most every office," broken almost every vow;
I have always been "most umble,"—"who will care for Andy now?"
So with traitors I am marching,
With no laurels on my brow;
For the people won't sustain me:
"Who will care for Andy now?"

Let "my policy" be my pillow, and my "vetoes"
reach the sky,
I will be the Great Dictator, or will, like a rebel, die.
Now with Clymer I am marching, with no
laurels on my brow,
Geary won by 17,000,—"who will care for Andy now?"
Soon with traitors I'll be marching,
With no laurels on my brow;
For the people won't sustain me:
"Who will care for Andy now?"

VALPARAISO TRAGEDY.

In a news item of last week we mentioned the substance of a terrible tragedy occurring near Valparaiso Indiana. As the item was incorrect in some particulars, we clip a true account from the Vidette & Republic of that city. The murderer has since been arrested at Chicago and sent to Valparaiso, where he waived a preliminary examination and was sent to the La Porte jail to await trial. The paper says:

Mrs. Page commenced an action of divorce, charging abandonment and failure to provide. The case was set for trial at the January term of the Court of Common Pleas, which commenced its session on the 14th inst. Mr. Page came and looked at the complaint, and informed his attorney that he did not wish to make any defense. He went on Tuesday last, in the afternoon, to see his wife, and told her that she might take her divorce for all he cared, he only came to see that she did not get a judgment for alimony against him. He seemed perfectly satisfied with the course of affairs, and left the residence of Mr. Long about five o'clock on Tuesday afternoon. While there he learned that Mr. Long had gone to his son's, on Coffee Creek, and would not be back that night; that Mrs. Long, his wife's mother, and his wife, were alone. He returned to Valparaiso and remained at the Gould House until nine o'clock, when he left there. About ten o'clock, or perhaps a few moments later, the inmates of Mr. Long's residence, viz: Mrs. Long, Mrs. Page, and an invalid girl, Miss Ludolph, who had come in as a neighbor to stay all night for company, heard a loud rap at the door. Mrs. Long asked who was there, and received no answer —again the door received a heavy blow, and Mrs. Long again inquired who was there, and received answer "Page." Mrs. Long told him that it was too late to receive company, and asked him what he wanted. He replied he "wanted to see Em." She immediately started to unfasten the door to let him in, when another blow burst in the door, and Page entered with a revolver in his hand, which he immediately pointed at Mrs Long, when Mrs. Page cried out, "dont kill mother," and got out of bed. Page fired, and the old lady fell heavily to the floor, groaning terribly. Page then advanced to his wife and seizing her by the left hand, raised it, and putting the revolver to her heart fired, when Mrs. Page fell dead without a groan. Miss Ludolph, who saw all this from the bed, covered herself up, but the murderous wretch coming to the bed, saw her foot from under the bedclothes, and seizing it, he dragged her violently out of bed, and throwing her onto the floor and then deliberately shot her; the ball entering her cheek just below the eye and coming out on the other side. He then fired three more times at her, wounding her twice in the arm and once in the leg. Thinking the work of death completed, he seized the kerosene lamp which was standing on the table burning, he dashed it violently on the floor; the concussion put the lamp out without igniting the kerosene, contrary to his expectations. He deliberately lighted a match and set fire to the kerosene which was running over the floor, and then rolled Miss Ludolph into the flames. She then spoke, saying, "Page don't burn me alive—I am not dead." At that he seized a chair and struck her on the head; then leaned over her to listen if she breathed, and noticed a stifled groan, when he again struck her with a chair, and again held his ear down to listen to her breathing, but the heroic girl held her breath until he was satisfied his work was done. Then he again rolled her into the fire, and piling the other two upon her, he left the house. She then crawled out of the house, and near the gate fainted. The house being all on fire, burned rapidly, and the neighbors who discoved it, hastened to the scene to find Miss Ludolph near the gate with four wounds upon her body severely burned. The other victims of this horrible tragedy were in the burning building, and only portions of their remains were extricated from the flames with great difficulty.

A Man Sells His Wife.

From the Mound City (Ill.) Journal, Dec. 8.

A man named Thomas Pope, residing at the Mound City Junction, about six weeks since married a young woman residing but a short distance from that place. The young couple bought a little plain furniture, being in moderate circumstances, and started housekeeping. For several days they lived together quietly, enjoying their honeymoon as well as any couple could under similar circumstances.

But, after about ten days of this kind of life, the young husband woke one morning to find his darling gone. A search revealed the fact that she had gone with another man, an old lover, and her husband philosophically concluded that she was a different woman from what he took her for, and that he would give himself no further trouble about her. A week had not elapsed, however, after her elopement, before the young woman returned to her husband's home and begged to be taken in, [illegible] he turned away. Two or three days afterwards she went back to her husband again, and her petition to be allowed to officiate as his lawfully wedded wife was this time received with more favor, and she was immediately restored to her proper place in the household.

The fickleness of woman is proverbial, and that Mrs. Thomas Pope was no exception to the rule is apparent from the foregoing, but who would have supposed that she would act so ungrateful to her husband, after the remarkably generous treatment she had received at his hands, as to run away again. She did, though. She wickedly left her husband's bed and board a second time and joined her paramour, the destroyer of the peace and happiness of the Pope family.

On Tuesday last through some preliminary negotiations through agents, Mrs. Pope appeared at her husband's residence, accompanied by her paramour, Mr. Silas Murray. Under ordinary circumstances we would naturally expect such a meeting to result in bloodshed and serious physical injury to the parties. Nothing of the kind occurred in this case, however. All parties were as cool as cu umbers, and their manners were altogether business-like. Mr. Murray proposed to Mr. Pope to buy his wife and household furniture, as a recompense for the pecuniary loss he had met with in marrying Mrs. Pope. Mr. Pope gladly accepted the offer, and a regular bill of sale was made, conveying to Mr. Murray Mrs. Pope and the household furniture, in consideration of the sum of $15, for which sum, as full payment for property, Mrs. Pope included, Mr. Murray took Mr. Popes receipt. As before stated, the amount of furniture was not extensive. It consisted of a stove and bedstead. After the transfer of property was completed, Mrs. Pope and the furniture were loaded into Mr. Murray's wagon, and their owner drove away with triumph and happiness beaming from every lineament of his countenance, while Mr. Pope, sad and dejected, retired to his vacant domicile to reflect upon the vanity of all things "here below."

We should state here that Mr. Pope, Mrs. Pope and Mr. Murray are all American citizens of African decent. They were in the first batch of the colored population that arrived in this county after the opening of the late war. Mr. Murray, when told that he had inflicted a serious wrong upon Mr. Pope, stated that he did'nt know "nuffin 'bout dat," but he knew he "loved the gal better than anything," and that when she got married it "hurt wuss than sticking a needle into him."

CONGRESSIONAL.

DISTRICT SUFFRAGE.

WASHINGTON, January 22.—The Mayor of Georgetown has given notice to all male inhabitants, white and black, above the age of twenty-one, to appear before him and the Board of Aldermen at the times named for the preparation of a list of voters under the provisions of the late act of Congress to regulate the elective franchise in the District of Columbia.

THE INCOME TAX.

WASHINGTON, January 24.—The Ways and Means Committee has decided in favor of exempting from all tax incomes below one thousand dollars.

THE IMPEACHMENT COMMITTEE.

The Judiciary Committee of the House began its investigation of the charges against the President this morning.

TEST OATH.

The Supreme Court having decided the present test oath unconstitutional, Mr. Boutwell reported a bill to prescribe an oath to public officers, members of the bar, &c. The substitute provides that no person shall be permitted to act as an attorney or counsellor in any court of the United States, who has been guilty of treason, bribery, murder, or any other felony, or engaged in any rebellion against the Government of the United States, or given aid, comfort or encouragement to the enemies of the United States in armed hostility thereto. The second section declares the first section to be the rule of every court of the United States, and the third section makes it the duty of judges, when the suggestion is made in open court by any person acting as attorney or counsellor of the court, or proposing so to act, if barred of the provisions of this act, or when the judge shall believe such person to be so barred, to ascertain whether such person has been guilty of treason, murder or any other felony, or has been engaged in any rebellion against the Government of the United States, or has given aid, comfort or encouragement to the enemies of the United States in armed hostility thereto, and if the court be of the opinion that such person has been guilty of such crimes to debar such person from the office of attorney or counsellor.

In presenting this bill, Governor Boutwell said: "If a majority of the Supreme Court hadn't respect enough to adopt rules excluding rebels and traitors from the bar of that Court, it was time for the legislative power to slip in and make rules for them." The debate was briefly participated in by several gentlemen, every Democrat and Copperhead who could get the floor, taking occasion to eulogize the Judges who concurred in the test oath decision. Mr. Boutwell, in closing the debate, declared with thrilling effect that he would never subscribe to the doctrine that a Presidential pardon could put murderers or traitors on a footing with men who had never been guilty of crime. The President might open all the jails and penitentiaries in the land with his pardons, but while he had a seat in the House he would never admit that the President's pardon gave a traitor the right to enter the bar of the court, and assist in administering justice. The galleries and the Republican side of the House answered this sentiment with a quick and electric burst of applause.

Mr. Henderson, from the Indian Committee, reported, without amendment, the House joint resolution, to authorize persons who settled and made permanent improvements on land now included in the Sioux Reservation, Minnesota, before the boundaries of said Reservation were surveyed, to enter lands thus settled as in other cases of pre-emption.

THE BOUNTY EQUALIZATION BILL

introduced to-day by Senator Wilson, applies to sailors or marines, as well as soldiers. It provides that all who enlisted for not less than two years in the late war, and who have received, or are entitled to receive, a bounty of $100 and no more, shall be paid a bounty of eight and one third dollars for each month's service. Prize money and United States bounties heretofore received are to be deducted. The law of the last session is repealed. and all bounty money paid out thereunto is to be deducted from the amount due under this bill. It may be said in this connection that there seems little disposition at present to again open the bounty question.

THE SIXTH SECTION OF THE UNION PACIFIC RAILWAY.

The Secretary of the Interior has received a report from the Government Commissioners on the sixth section of twenty-five miles of the Union Pacific Railway, Eastern Division, commencing at the 155th mile station west from the initial point—west from Kansas City. The Commissioner represents the section ready for immediate service, and supplied with all the necessary paraphernalia of a first class railroad. The report was laid before the President to-day, who has ordered the acceptance of the section and delivery to the company of the bonds and land patents due on the completion of the section.

A Sketch of Horace Greeley.

From an interesting column of gossip, all about the New York Tribune, which we find in a Boston paper, is extracted the following notice of Greeley:

Greeley was born in Amherst, Hillsborough county, New Hampshire, and is now fifty-five years old. He is a member of Dr. E. H. Chapin's (Universalist) church, where he may be seen regularly sleeping almost any Sunday in the year. Probably he is not always slumbering so soundly as he seems. On one occasion, after nodding all through a sermon by the famous Channing he went immediately to his office and wrote out an abstract of it, nearly a column in length, which proved an exceedingly graphic, spirited and faithful report.

His family reside upon his farm, thirty miles above New York, on the Harlem railroad. His wife has been an invalid for several years. They have had seven children, only two of whom are now living. Greeley spends every Saturday upon his farm, entering into all its details, working zealously at chopping wood, digging potatoes or other manual labor. Like most amateur farmers he finds it an expensive luxury; and doubtless all his farm products cost him four or five times the amount he would have to pay for them in the New York market. But this little estate is picturesque and beautiful, and it enables him to practice all his farming theories. He declares that while all the money he ever spent in anything else disappeared without leaving any aperture, he can see the hole where every dollar invested in his farm went through!

During the week he spends his days at a room in Eighth street, where he was compelled while writing his history, to shut himself up to avoid interruption. Evening usually finds him in the Tribune editorial room writing for the next day's paper or talking to visitors who swarm upon him by fifties and by hundreds.

He is probably the hardest working journalist in the world. During the last two years, in addition to labor upon his history (which would have employed an ordinary author five or six years,) when at home he has averaged more than a column of editorial for each issue of the daily Tribune, besides writing ten or fifteen private letters daily, disposing of visitors with whom he holds a nightly levee, delivering lectures and political speeches by the score, and sometimes contributing to other newspapers and magazines.

Owning only ten shares in the stock of the Tribune, Greeley controls its editorial course, as fully as when he was sole proprietor. Every year the association goes through the form of re-electing him editor, by a unanimous vote.

In private life Greely is liberal and openhanded, giving freely to all who claim to be needy. His charities are not always discriminating, but the gifts of those who invariably give wisely are seldom large. He has assisted hundreds of young men, in pecuniary misfortune. He preserves as relics, notes amounting to nearly fifty thousand dollars, chiefly from persons whom he assisted, out of friendliness alone, notes which in the aggregate are barely worth the paper they are written upon. Many strangers apply to him for aid.

A visitor from New Hampshire once asked for a few dollars to pay his passage home; telling some plausible story about being disappointed in money, and promising to return the amount by the first mail. He stated that he had formerly been a merchant, purchasing goods in New York, but had since met with misfortune.

"Here," replied Greeley, opening his pocket-book, "here is the money. But of course I shall never see it again. If you have acquaintances here, and were in the habit of paying your debts, you would apply to them and not to me, a total stranger. I am quite willing to give you the money, but I don't want you to think me a fool."

For the last two years Greeley's income has reached nearly $40,000 annually, a large portion of it from his history.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21, 1867.

RECEPTIONS.

General Grant and wife give their second reception and dancing party to morrow evening, and Chief Justice Chase gives the first reception on the same evening. The President's third state dinner was given at the White House this evening. The Judges of the Supreme Court, the Attorney General, and half-a-dozen Congressmen, besides ladies, were present. The Star says that a state dinner will be given by the President each Tuesday evening during the session of Congress, to which the members of the Senate will be invited, beginning at the head of the list, and inviting a number to each dinner. A number of Representatives, heads of Departments, and others, will also be invited each evening.

NOT RETURNED.

The time within which the President could veto the bill repealing the thirteenth section of the Confiscation Act expired yesterday. Up to this evening he had not returned it to the House with his signature, and it is supposed he intends allowing it to become a law without being signed. This bill in effect prevents the President from pardoning rebels.

Horrible Catastrophe.

A few days since a cold-worded dispatch was received among our telegrams setting forth "that the jail at Kingston, S. C., had been destroyed by fire and twenty two negroes had perished in the flames." It has since transpired that the burning of the unfortunate prisoners was not accidental, as the telegram intimated, but was the result of wanton cruelty upon the part of the jail keeper and sheriff of the county. A single white prisoner confined in the prison was permitted to escape, his cell door having been thrown open by the barbarous officers, but although they knew that the negroes were perishing, they could not find sufficient authority to warrant them in liberating the prisoners from their certain and horrible deaths. The knowledge of the brutal inhumanity of the sheriff and jailor, caused Major General J. C. Robinson, commanding Department of the South, to order a thorough and immediate examination into the affair, and the arrest of the two inhuman monsters responsible for the death of the negroes upon the charge of murder.

State Library

The Mankato Union.

FRIDAY, - - FEBRUARY 1, 1867.

W. B. GRISWOLD, - Editor and Pro'r.

PRELIMINARY EXAMINATIONS AT NEW ULM.

The preliminary examination of the Campbell and Liscom murderers closed early last week, and Attorney Gen. Colville passed through Mankato en route for St. Paul on Friday last. Of the seventeen persons arrested five were unconditionally discharged, and among them Jacob Nix, one of the principal participants in the affair. Justice Rose intimated to the Attorney General that he should hold the twelve for commitment, but when his report was made only eight were held. John Gut, the soldier arrested at Austin, John Nun and Melchoir Roth were held for murder in the first degree. Antone Zieter, John Hose, Henry Hartman, Carl Beger, and one other, whose name we did not learn, were held for manslaughter in the second degree. This offense is bailable by a Justice of the Peace, and the opportunity was embraced to let the men slide by giving bail in the sum of $4,000 each. Mr. Colville did not seem to know whether the bail was even as good as straw or not. In all probability it is worthless. But the jail delivery did not end here. Flandreau at once applied to the county commissioner, Mr. Wagner, requesting the discharge of those convicted of murder in the first degree. It was not difficult to persuade Mr. Wagner that he had sufficient authority, and all the murderers were let loose except J. Gut, the soldier, who could not procure bail. It was a gross violation of law on the part of Wagner, as officers of courts of record are authorized to admit prisoners to bail only when they are committed for a bailable offence. Murder in the first degree is not bailable, where the proof is evident or the presumption great, and we should have have been astonished at the failure of Mr. Colville to resist their discharge from custody, had the cases been tried any where else than at New Ulm. The disposition of the people there is to defeat the ends of justice, and their complicity with these diabolical murderers is amply proven by the conduct of the Justice of the Peace, the court commissioner, and the New Ulm Post. There is no probability that a Grand Jury in that county will find indictments against any of these men except perhaps against John Gut, the soldier, upon whose shoulders they are disposed to place the guilt of all the bloodthirsty villians of that town. As the preliminary examination was had upon the murder of Campbell only, the same parties may yet be examined on the charge of the murder of Liscom, but in the mean time the Legislature should at once attach Brown county to an adjoining county for judicial purposes. In such a case, no matter whether these villains are brought before a justice on preliminary examination or not, a faithful Grand Jury will snatch them before the proper tribunal in short meter.

ROAD TO MONTANA.

There is no end to the movements in Congress to develop the North pole by establishing military posts, and roads and postal facilities in the region of St. Cloud, Fort Abercrombie, and the Fisk route to Montana, which reaches the 49th parallel of latitude.—Mr. Donnelly is determined that all Montana emigrants shall drag their tiresome journey through the entire length of the State, before making any progress toward the gold mines. He introduces a bill for the erection of a wagon road from Fort Abercrombie to the Territory of Montana, and proposes to give for the building of it, every alternate odd section of land for four miles wide on either side. With the utmost blindness do our delegation in Congress ignore every other route to the gold mines but this one. We have repeatedly set forth the necessity of a road from Mankato to the Missouri river touching at Fort Pierre, and passing north of the Blue Hills to Helena City. The Government should build a road commencing at the terminus of the Madelia State road, or at a point on the western boarder of the State, west of Mankato, making the same appropriations therefor that is proposed for the Abercrombie wagon road. Our Congressmen are dead to every request coming from this part of the State.

DEAF AND DUMB ASYLUM.

Mr. J. L. Noyes, superintendent and instructer in the State deaf and dumb asylum at Faribault sends us a copy of the 4th annual report of the directors and officers of that institution. The whole numbar of pupils in attendance the past year is twenty-eight. Only twenty four have been accommodated at one time as their apartments were too small to allow it. Only three new pupils have been admitted in the past year for the same reason. Of the school, seventeen are boys and eleven girls. The Superintendent was obliged to turn away eight applicants in the deaf and dumb apartment, and four in the blind apartment. Adding these to the present number in the institution and we have forty unfortunate children who justly claim the eleemosynary aid of the State. The influx of population from other States will swell the number, and the directors of the institution are urging the necessity of appropriations to complete the permanent buildings. The site has been increased by a donation of 25 additional acres from the citizens of Faribault, and the basement of a building 80 by 45 feet is completed. It is recommended that the State issue bonds to raise the necessary funds instead of taxing the present generation. The sum of $238 per pupil is asked to cover the annual expense. We trust that this institution, so charitable in its objects, will not fail of the necessary appropriation. The institution is free and open to all the deaf and dumb, and the blind, in the State, between the ages of ten and twenty-five, who are capable of receiving instruction. The Judge of Probate of each county where such children reside will furnish the certificates of admission required by statutes. All applicants for admission should be in good health, free from immoralities of conduct, and from offensive and contageous diseases. Application for admission should be made to J. L. Noyes, Faribault, Rice Co., Minn., Superintendent of the institution.

ANOTHER MURDER NEAR NEW ULM.

A Woman killed in her own House.

The public have hardly recovered from the shock occasioned by the New Ulm tragedy when it becomes necessary to unveil the particulars of another atrocious murder of the wife of Wilhelm Ruehl of Sigel Town, Brown county, about six miles from New Ulm. About a week since Mr. Ruehl came to Mankato to team, leaving his wife and three children at the farm, with a man by the name of Andreas Schmidt, a German between 40 and 50 years old, to do the chores and other labor about the place. It is thought that this man attempted improper liberties with Mrs. Ruehl, which were resisted, and that whether accomplishing his purpose or not, he put her out of the way, to prevent her reporting him. The monster on Saturday night last, attacked her with a large bowie knife, while she was in the basement kitchen, and after stabbing her in the chest until dead, he went above and asked the oldest boy, a lad of eight years, where the money was, to which he replied that his father had it. He then took some clothing and started for New Ulm where he remained until Sunday evening when he started for Fort Ridgely. The same night, however, he was overtaken and placed in the New Ulm jail. The family being several miles from any neighbor the murder was not discovered until Sunday evening. The children were still there, but were suffering from cold and hunger, the youngest being but a year old. A messenger started Monday to inform Mr. Ruehl of the calamity but missed his way, and on Tuesday resuming his trip he met Mr. Ruehl and his brother-in-law about 8 miles above Mankato on his way home, to whom the sad intelligence was conveyed. Mrs. Gertrude Ruehl was the daughter of Mr. Stephen Schwickert who lives in this city nearly opposite the Catholic church.

THE REPORT.

We have been looking for the publication of the report of Justice Rose on the preliminary examination of the New Ulm murderers. Col. Colville promised that it should be published in the St. Paul papers. It is said to be a document of peculiar merit, adopting peculiar law, and the public are interested to know the theory upon which his examinations were conducted. As it is a public document, let the public have it.

Spiritualism—An Answer.

Ed. Union: In your last issue you published, it is presumed, at the request of some subscriber, an extract of a speech by one Dean Clark delivered at the "Spiritualist Convention" (from different worlds) convened at Montpelier, Vt. Will you please oblige another subscriber by inserting the following significant extracts, delivered by the following persons at the Providence Spiritual Convention. Mr. Wheeler said:

Drunkenness is just as good as soberness. Vice is just as good as virtue. The devil is the equal of God, and hell is just as sweet a place as heaven. Hell itself, if you raise it high enough, becomes the golden floor of heaven. As spiritualists we have not as yet acknowledged there is such a thing as moral obligations."

Mr. Perry said:

As a spiritualist, I have yet to learn that we hold anything as sacred.

But your readers will not doubt, from the information furnished by these "mediums," between this and the lower world, that there is something in it, as they keep up a direct intercourse. Another of these mediums, Lizzie Doten, in the presence of a congregation, in Lyceum Hall, in Boston City, Dec. 8th, 1861, held the following interview with Satan:

O Lucifer, thou sun of the morning, who fell from thy high estate, and whom mortals please to call the embodiment of evil, we lift our voices unto thee. We know thou canst not harm us unless by the will of the Almighty, of whom thou art a part and portion, and in whose economy thou playest a part; and we cannot presume to sit in judgment over the Deity. From the depths of thine infamy streams forth divine truth. Why shall we turn from thee? Does not the same inspiration rule us all? Is one in God's sight better than another? We know thou art yet to come up in his expanded creation, purified by the presence of God's love, for his love is not perfect while one of his children writhes in misery. So, O Lucifer, do we come up and stand before the Ancient of days, hand-in-hand with thee. As thou has been the star of the morning, thou wilt again become an angel of light. O, Satan, we will subdue thee with our love, and thou wilt yet kneel humbly with us at the throne of God.

Was there ever more blasphemy uttered in the same number of words? Mr. Editor, duty prompts us, when such insidious efforts are made to corrupt the morals of our common country by the worst of all "heresies"—too good a name for "Spiritualism," so called—to show by their own "witnesses" that they are in league with hell, and in their efforts to distroy souls, join hand-in-hand with the devil.

When "reports" from "conventions" cease to be the order with some, we shall inflict no more on you, or your many readers.

A SUBSCRIBER.

The Normal School System—Letter from Hon Lewis Porter.

Mr. Editor: You will have received before this reaches you, through the St. Paul papers, an account of the recent Legislative excursion to Winona.

As a pleasure excursion, considering the generous provision of the railroad companies and of the citizens of Winona, for the comfort and the entertainment of the excurtionists, it was perfect, and as such duly appreciated.

But pleasure and entertainment were not the main objects had in view, in accepting the invitation of the President of the State Normal School. The purpose was to gain by personal examination, actual and precise information in regard to the practical workings and results of Normal School teaching, as a basis of legislative action. The system being of comparatively recent date, many had no practical knowledge of its merits, and therefore could not act intelligently in the matter of the appropriations to be asked for at their hands. It became therefore their duty to avail themselves of the opportunity offered, for seeing a school in actual operation.

Although the time for observation and examination was necessarily very short, yet the very complete arrangements on the part of the managers allowed the theory, practice and results a very clear presentation. We heard the principles explained, saw them reduced to practice in the preparation of teachers, and lastly the methods and results as shown in the model schools. These schools or classes are composed of children of all ages, ranging from five to fifteen years, classed with reference to their age and advancement. This was the crowning feature of the examination, for we could here see the ultimate results of the system. In the theories and their application upon pupils in the Normal School, there was much that was indeed very promising and convincing, in regard to the utility of the system, but in the model schools there was conviction itself. Here we saw the thing done, and well done, and the process of reasoning upon it was very simple indeed, viz: If the children of Winona can be taught to accomplish what these children do, then the children of the whole State may be taught by the same methods to accomplish the same things.

Your readers will all understand that these model schools are intended to represent the system as applied to the common schools. They correspond with the common schools, the same studies are pursued, and the age and capacity of the pupils are not different. The only difference is in the mode of instruction. The results were a little less than astonishing; and in view of what I saw I am of the deliberate opinion that by these methods more can be accomplished in imparting real instruction, in teaching children facts and how to think in one year than in three years by the ordinary methods. And I venture the opinion, that many of the children in these model schools, not more than twelve years of age, are much more competent to teach the branches usually taught in common schools, than the average of teachers in this State. What they have learned is not superficial, but radical and entire; they understand what they are taught, and will make daily use of it, and therefore remember it.

There were about 100 children, more or less, in these model classes, and apparently not a dull one in the whole number. Indeed I do not see how there could be, for everything in the system seems to conspire to produce the utmost brightness and liveliness of both body and mind. Under this system the whole person seems to be intensely animated and vitilized. The contrast in this respect between this examination and those witnessed in common schools, as generally conducted, was so great, that it appeared to be one of its most striking features.

But the limits of a newspaper article forbid going into an extended description of the system. It is sufficient to say that the advantages were so apparent that there seemed to be but one opinion among the members of the Legislature in regard to the propriety of dealing with this institution of the State, with a liberal hand. It will be admitted that the cause of education is indeed paramount to every other secular interest of the State, as knowledge lies at the foundation of all material power and prosperity. Our common schools are already munificently endowed. This is a matter of just pride to every citizen of the State. In the opinion of many disinterested parties, well qualified to judge, the normal system of teaching will increase their efficiency at least three-fold. From what I have seen I cannot doubt this to be the fact. If it be so, then the duty of the State is not doubtful.

If it were possible by a small expenditure of money to increase the material wealth of the State three-fold, our duty would not be equivocal. Is it less so when the future intellectual status of the State is in question?

Yours, very truly,
LEWIS PORTER.

LEGISLATURE.

NOTICE OF BILLS.

Senator Wakefield—A bill to authorize the Minnesota Valley Railroad company to construct a Branch Railroad from at or near Mankato, through the counties of Blue Earth and Faribault, to the south line of the State.

Senator Draper offered the following resolution which was adopted:

Resolved by the Senate, The House concuring, that the invitation of the Trustees of the State Asylum for the Deaf and Dumb and Blind, to visit that institution, be accepted, and Tuesday the 5th day of February next be designed as the day for that purpose.

A similar resolution was adopted in the House.

Mr. Yates offered a resolution requesting our Senators and Representatives in Congress to use their endeavors to secure the establishment of a tri-weekly mail route from Mankato, through Madelia, in Watonwan county, by the most feasible and direct route to Jackson, in Jackson county, to Sioux City in the State of Iowa, via Spirit Lake, which was adopted.

STATE ITEMS.

A Change.—Dr. Muller, the well-known Post Surgeon at Fort Ridgely, has resigned his position and will soon begin the practice of his profession at Minneapolis. He is succeeded by Dr. Braun, formerly surgeon at Forts Abercrombie and Ripley—a good man and one who will discharge his responsible duties faithfully.—St. Peter Tribune.

Eastern Rail Connection.—We rejoice that we are able at last to announce with certainty that the negotiations for some time pending have resulted in a determination on the part of the Winona & St. Peter Railroad Company, to immediately commence the construction of the connecting link between Winona and the La Crosse Railroad. The City council has agreed to give $100,000 toward the work.—Winona Democrat.

The Winona Cut Off.—The La Crosse Republican announces that the officers and directors of the Root River railroad have been in session perfecting measures for the extension of their road westwardly during the coming summer, so as to connect with the Minnesota Central railroad in Mower county. It is also in contemplation—so the La Crosse Republican informs us—to construct a branch line from Rushford to tap the Winona and St. Peter railroad nineteen miles west of Winona. This would give the people of Minnesota a continuous line of railroad from St. Paul to La Crescent.

Railroad News.—The Owatonna Vidette says that large quantities of Railroad iron and ties are being collected there by the Winona & St. Peter Railroad Co., preparatory to extending their track westward in the spring. They have also spanned the river west of the city with a neatly covered bridge.

The Mower County Register, at Austin, says that Mr. Geo. Skinner, of the Central R. R., is in that place making arrangements to secure the right of way to Ceresco on the McGregor Western R. R.

The official report on the famine in Eastern India shows that there were a million deaths from starvation.

Mr. Briggs has introduced a bill in Congress authorizing the pre-emption and sale of town property in Salt Lake City. This, of course, will, if passed, raise a misunderstanding between our Government and the Mormons, when it is to be hoped they will clean out this foul nest of bigamists. It seems strauge that this cankerous spot has not been before now removed. Better late than never.

Winnebago Trust Lands.

The Commissioner General of the Land Office has transmitted to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, for delivery to parties entitled to them, 117 patents to Winnebago trust lands, embracing 15,008 acres of Blue Earth county, Minn. These lands were sold for the benefit of the Winnebago Indians.

General Grant and family intend to sail for Europe in April next, and will visit the Paris Exposition.

A rare chance is offered to get something nice at a low figure. as they have a splendid assortment of goods, and the partnership is to be dissolved, and the store closed on the 1st of April next.

RELIGIOUS MEETING.—Evening meetings are being held at the Methodist and Presbyterian churches in this city under the direction of their respective pastors. An unusual degree of interest seems to be manifested.

SAUK CENTER NEWS.—This is the name of a little sheet just sprung into life at Sauk Center, Stearns county, some sixty miles above St. Cloud. It gives evidence of thrift, both in itself and the town and country which is tributary to its support. It is placed on our exchange list.

NORTHFIELD RECORDER.—A very pretty six column paper entitled The Northfield Recorder, which is printed at Northfield, Rice county, comes to our office as an exchange. Number six is a beautiful specimen of typography, and coupled with a goodly degree of talent, it cannot fail to be the pride of that prosperous village.

NORMAL SCHOOL BILL.—Hon. D. P. Temple writes us that the report of a bill to "authorize Mankato to issue bonds for the purpose of building a school house" was a blunder of the reporter. It was in fact a report by Mr. Temple, from the committee of education, in favor of such a bill as the people of Mankato desire, viz: "to authorize the town of Mankato to issue bonds to aid in the establishment of the Second State Normal School.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.—The Blue Earth County Agricultural Society met at Garden City on Saturday last according to adjournment, but owing to the bad state of the roads and severe cold weather, not many members were present from the north part of the county. The society therefore adjourned for two weeks, to Feb. 9th, at 1 o'clock P. M., when it is expected a full attendance will be had, as the society are then to elect their officers for the ensuing year.

OUT OF LUCK.—Our friend M. M. Rich, of Brule Creek, has been spending a part of the past week in Sioux City, having just returned from Mankato, whither he had been with a large train for freight for the Yankton Indian Agency. Shortly after leaving Mankato, his train was overtaken by a severe snow storm, his oxen stampeded. and out of eighty-six oxen, twenty-six perished in the storm, and about twenty more were disabled for immediate service and were left on the way to recruit. Mr. R. estimates his loss by this storm at some three or four thousand dollars.—Sioux City Journal.

DISTRICT COURT, Jan 24.—The case of Mankato vs. Willard & Barney was argued and decision reserved. John Quane sued the county for board of a pugelist who broke his leg and was unable to pay board bill. The decision was reserved. The case of Isaac Marks against the county, for goods and services rendered in the Wilson small pox case, was referred to J. A. Wiswell Esq., to report the facts to the court. The application of F. H. Waite for the vacation of Rulofson's Addition to Mankato was heard, and decision reserved. Several other motions were heard and the court adjourned on Saturday the 26th after a tedious session of thirty days, or five full weeks. This is the longest session ever held in the State outside of St. Paul, and it is said that the cost to the county will reach nearly $8,000.

MANKATO, BLUE EARTH CO., AND THE SOUTHWEST.—Owing to the demand for the UNION containing the history and business of Mankato, which could not bo supplied, we have concluded to republish it in pamphlet form, adding thereto items pertaining to the county, Blue Earth river water power, and prominent villages in the county. Also a brief statement of the settlement of Madelia, and of Watonwan, Faribault and other counties southwest of Mankato. We shall take pains to see that they are all distributed to those who will send them east. Real estate dealers, hotel keepers, bankers, and other business men will de well to publish their cards in the pamphlet, which may be done at a reasonable figure if sent in by the 11th inst.

EPISCOPAL ENTERTAINMENT—MR. EDITOR: On Thursday evening of last week, the 24th ult., I had the pleasure of attending an entertainment, given at Shoemaker's Hall for the benefit of the Episcopal Church, singing and reading being the programme. The singing was excellent; the pieces entitled "Moonlight, Music, Love and Flowers," "There is no time like the old time," were rendered with much effect, and the singers deserve great credit for their efforts to please their listeners. The reading, however, occupied more time than was necessary, and a portion of the audience seemed to prefer "Godey" and the "UNION" to "Tennyson," which conveyed the idea that it was not very well appreciated. These entertainments, if conducted rightly, are productive of much good, and also tend to enliven the long, dreary winter evenings, and I hope sincerely they will continue them. The audience was rather diminutive which was owing, I suppose, to the fact of their not inserting a notice of their project in the UNION.

Yours &c.,

NED.

THEATER.—Mr. Steidle will give one more of those pleasing entertainments, at Higgins' Hall, on Tuesday evening next. The play is in German and entitled "Der Verwunschene Prinz, oder Prinz und Schuster."

THE SAFEST.—The two best insurance companies of the east are the Hartford and Phoenix of the city of Hartford, Connecticut.—Notwithstanding the many disasters by fire, which have occured in the past year, they present a financial exhibit which places them far in advance of most other companies in point of ability to conduct a safe business and make prompt payment of all losses.—Elsewhere we publish the annual statements of these companies. John N. Hall, Esq., who is the resident agent for both companies, invites attention to the exhibits, and will issue policies without delay. With his characteristic promptness all losses of these companies will be cheerfully met and paid.

IMPROVEMENTS.—Charlie Heiborn has received from Cincinnatti, a fine planing mill which he is putting up in his chair factory.

McGraw Brothers have added a circular saw to their factory, and are sawing lumber for themselves and for customers.

L. G. M. Fletcher is building a large addition to his grain warehouse, for the purpose of storing wheat.

JAIL.—We hear that the bill for issuing bonds, presented for the action of the legislature, will contain a proviso that the people shall vote upon its location. If this is so the commissioners say that it will delay the building of the jail for this year and thus defeat the object of the bill. The verdict of the people would be overwhelmingly in favor of Mankato, and to vote upon the question would cause a needless delay and expense.

LARGE YIELDS.—Mr. John S. Davis of Butternut Valley, raised last season about 6 acres of oats which when thrashed showed a yield of eighty-two bushels per acre. His neighbor, A. S. Van Patten, had 5 acres of oats which yielded ninety bushels per acre. A large quantity of the wheat raised in that vicinity would average 30 bushels per acre. Considering the unpropitious weather of last year, we may conclude that Butternut Valley is one of the best towns in the State for raising grain.

MIRACALOUS—What effect Swain's Morning Beverages has upon the Kidney's Bladder and Urinary Organs in cases of obstructions and derangement of these organs. It is at the same time a pure and healthy tonic that can be safely recommended for general use in cases of weakness which are so common and yet so often neglected, until too late to be remedied except by painful surgical operations.

☞ Changed! Why not? true you thought I was about to make my exit to that "bourne from whence no traveler returns," but you see I have thought better of it; or rather I stumbled on a most precious piece of good luck. I was recommended to get a box of Bryan's Life Pills, for nature's ills, and here I am again robust and hearty, without a symptom of dyspepsia, headache, nervousness or jaundice; truly, I have a fresh lease of life. Those wishing to take a Western Agricultural paper, should send for a sample copy, which will be sent free by addressing Norman J. Colman, 67 Chesnut St., Saint Louis, Mo. This journal is published on the 1st and 15th of each month, in quarto form, at $2 per annum, or $1.50 in clubs. Every farmer would be benefited by perusing it.

Behind the Lighthouse.

Old fogyism is not quite dead. People are still to be found who think that health is promoted by depletion! Was there ever such false logic! Nature is the grand antagonist of disease, and the depleters propose to prostrate Nature, in order, one might suppose, to give the enemy a double chance at the life of the patient! The true practice is so to invigorate the vital powers as to render them an overmatch for the elements of disease. This can be done with HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Of all vegetable tonics they are the most powerful and the most genial. At this season, when even the strongest organizations are liable to be affected by the alternations of stringent cold and malarious moisture, this inestimable protective medicine is especially needed. Persons predisposed to billiousness, dyspepsia, constipation, intermittent fever, or any of the complaints which cold weather superinduces or aggravates, should take it regularly throughout the Winter and Spring months. It is absolutely pure and harmless.

—BISCUIT A LUXURY FOR ALL.—The popular notion that people suffering from dyspepsia or predisposed to that disease, should not eat biscuit, has grown out of the fault that the common saleratus has been used in the making of such biscuit. And it was right; the article is mischievous. But light and healthy biscuit, such as dyspeptic people may eat with impunity and with positive benefit, are made from D. B. De Land & Co.'s Best Chemical Saleratus. Physicians admit this.

IMPORTANT DECISION.—"Single Thread vs. Double Thread."—At the "Grand Trial of Sewing Machines" at Island Park, the contest being between "Single Thread" and "Double Thread" Machines, and the latter claiming an advantage because of its using two threads instead of one, the result was a unanimous decision of the judges, after a protracted and severely contested trial, that the advantage is not on the side of a double thread but on that of a single thread, as used by the Wilcox & Gibbs machine.—See Report of Grand Trial.

—It is a mistake that all the "oldest residents of Mankato" stick to Butterfield's flour. Public opinion has changed very much within a few months in regard to flour. Scott & Worden make the best flour that is manufactured in the county, and the fact is conceded by all good judges. You can get a sack of it at Ray, Williams & Bro.'s any time.

The News.

R. R. Survey.—The Belle Plaine correspondent of the Shakopee Argus says: Capt. H. P. Farrar of the Engineer corps of the M. V. R. R. arrived in town on Sunday last, and reports the party energetically pushing forward the preliminary survey above Le Sueur, though somewhat doubtful of their ability to prosecute the work if the snow continues to deepen as it now promises.

It is represented that the work of grading above that point will be more costly and laborious than it was below.

The Herald's Washington special learns that the President is opposed to admitting Colorado and favors the admission of Nebraska. It is also stated that sufficient evidence is laid before the Judiciary Committee to justify Ashley's action looking towards impeachment of the President.

The Virginia City Post says that the bill removing the capital of the Territory to Helena has passed the House, and will be concurred in by the Council. Most of the Minnesota boys are at Helena.

A C[illegible] Witnesses.

[From the Rochester (N. Y.) Democrat, January 19.]

The women of Greenfield, Highland county, Ohio, have a summary way of dealing with the much vexed liquor question, and in July, 1865, they took the evil, so far as their own neighborhood was concerned, into their own hands, and made a general onslaught on all the taverns and saloons they could find, staving in the heads of barrels, bursting demijohns, smashing bottles, and playing the mischief with drinking stock generally. The whisky dealers combined to bring suit against these strong armed and minded females for damages, and the trial is to come off in a few days at Hillsboro. The most extensive preparations are being made to escort the ladies of Greenfield, seventy of whom have been subpœned as witnesses. Large wagons are to be fixed up, and their male relations will accompany them to Hillsboro, where the Court will be in session on the 26th of this month. The ladies of Hillsboro, are making the most ample preparations to receive them as welcome guests, and they are to be entertained by the ladies of that place. There is little chance of a jury returning verdicts against the husbands, so we need expend no sympathy on them. But think of the unfortunate ushers of the court: their duty to keep silence with seventy female witnesses in court, each with a body guard of local female friends! They deserve the heartfelt pity of all right minded people.

Interesting Cholera Experiment.

Just at the close of the cholera epidemic in Paris, an interesting experiment was tried by Dr. Lorain, one of the physicians of the Hospital St. Antoine, in the Faubourg St. Antoine. As is well known to the profession, the blood in cholera becomes thick, or speak more correctly, loses its watery particles, and does not circulate in the capillary system. Under this state of things the patient grows blue and cold, and falls rapidly into collapse. Dr. Lorain thought that when a patient was found in this fatal condition it would be a good thing to inject water into his veins, so as to thin the blood again and enable it to circulate to all parts of the body. He first tried the experiment on animals, and found it did no kill them. He then took the first collapsed case which came into the hospital, which happened to be a young man with no other bodily ailment than the disease in question.

When he was cold, insensible and cadaveric—in a word, within an hour or two of his death—Dr. Lorain called the hospital colleagues together, told them what he wanted to do, and asked their opinion as to the possibility of curing the man by other remedies. With one accord they declared the patient beyond hope of relief, and that the Doctor's conscience might be at ease in the trial of the experiment he proposed. He then, with the usual precautions against the intromission of air, injected into the veins at the fold of the arm, about twelve ounces of water, at a temperature of 104 degrees Fahrenheit. The man soon grew warmer, his pulse grew perceptible, he showed unmistakable signs of returning life, and in fact, sixteen hours after the operation, in the morning, he sat up in bed and asked for a drink. He went on improving, passed through the phases of an ordinary convalescence from cholera, and got well.

There is said to be great rejoicing at New Orleans over the decision of the Supreme Court annulling the Congressional test oath as applied to attorneys. The same class rejoiced over rebel victories during the war, and for precisely the same reason.

A destructive fire occurred at Mariposa, Cal., recently, by which property to the amount of $177,350 was destroyed.

HUMOROUS.

A waggish candidate coming, in the course of his canvass, to a tailor shop, "What we look for here," said he, "are measures not men."

How does a pitcher of water differ from a man throwing his wife off a bridge? One is water in the pitcher, and the other is pitch her in the water.

A flying machine is in course of construction, and is being made "on the model of a goose." The inventor sits as a model.

A fair devotee lamented to her confessor her love for gaming. "Ah, madam," replied the reverend gentleman, "it is a grievous sin; in the first place consider the loss of time." "That's what I do," said she; "I always begrudge the time that is lost in shuffling and dealing."

In a recent case in Indiana a justice complacently remarked, in summing up the testimony: "Gentlemen of the jury, in this case the counsel on both sides are unintelligible, the witnesses on both sides are incredible, and the plaintiff and defendant are both such bad characters, that to me it is indifferent which way you give your verdict."

Old Dr. A—— was a quack, and a very ignorant one. On one occasion he was called by mistake to attend a council of physicians in a critical case. After considerable discussion, the opinion was expressed by one that the patient was convalescent. When it came Dr. A——'s turn to speak: "Convalescent!" said he, "why that's nothing serious; I have cured convalescence in twenty-four hours!"

MANDRAKE PILLS.

A Substitute for Calomel.

These Pills are composed of various roots, having the power to relax the secretions of the liver as promptly and effectually as blue pill or mercury, and without producing any of those disagreeable or dangerous effects which often follow the use of the latter.

In all billious disorders these Pills may be used with confidence, as they promote the discharge of vitiated bile, and remove those obstructions from the liver and biliary ducts, which are the cause of billious affections in general.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS cure Sick Headache, and all disorders of the Liver, indicated by sallow skin, coated tongue, costiveness, drowsiness, and a general feeling of weariness and lassitude, showing that the liver is in a torpid or obstructed condition.

In short, these Pills may be used with advantage in all cases when a purgative or alterative medicine is required.

Please ask for "Dr. Schenck's Mandrake Pills," and observe that the two likenesses of the Doctor are on the Government stamp—one when in the last stage of Consumption, and the other in his present health.

SYMPTOMS.

The symptoms of Catarrh are at first very slight Persons find they have a cold, that they have frequent attacks, and are more sensitive to the changes of the temperature. In this condition the nose may be dry, or a slight discharge thin and acrid, afterwards thick and adhesive, may ensue.

As the disease becomes chronic, the discharges are increased in quantity and changed in quality; they are now thick and heavy, and hawked or coughed off. The secretions are offensive, causing a bad breath; the voice thick and nasal; the eyes are weak; the sense of smell is lessened or destroyed; deafness frequently takes place.

Another common and important symptom of Catarrh is, that the person is obliged to clear his throat in the morning of a slick or slimy mucous, which has fallen from the head during the night When this takes place, the person may be sure that his disease is on its way to the lungs, and should lose no time in arresting it.

FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE CO.
100 WASHINGTON ST., CHICAGO.
Wm. H. SHARP & CO.,
GENERAL AGENTS.

THE FLORENCE is the only machine extant having a reversible feed, which enables the operator to sew either to the right or left at pleasure, and the only machine that makes a perfectly elastic seam, alike on each side of the fabric.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE not only makes the lock-stitch, but three others, which for certain kinds of work are much superior, especially where elasticity is required and is the only machine that fastens the ends of each seam securely, and does it in one-fourth the time it can be done by hand.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE, does not draw fine, thin goods down through the slot or hole in the work-plate nor drop a stitch in turning a corner, and is the only machine having a changeless tension, and no slack threads both of which draw together simultaneously.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE is noiseless, and can be used when quiet is necessary as well in the sick-chamber as in the workroom. They oil no dresses, the machinery being all on the top of the table. It will sew over the heaviest seams, or from one to more thicknesses of goods, without skipping stitches, breaking threads or requiring change in tension.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE will do easily all family and talloring work on one and the same machine. They are strong and finely finished,—their motions are all positive, there are no springs to get out of order,—while for strength, durability & beauty of design it will bear, and we invite, comparison, with any of all machines. Applicants for Agency should enclose stamps.

AMERICAN ORGANS.

(From "Godey's Ladies' Book," February, 1866.)

REED ORGANS, &c.

THE following remarks and suggestions relative to this immensely popular instrument will doubtless interest and profit very many of our readers: we commend the article to their careful perusal:—

A hundred and one makers of Organs, Cottage, Parlor-Cabinet, American, School Organs etc. etc., are each claiming to make the best instrument in the world. Being comparatively a new instrument, as at present constructed, we are convinced the public are much less capable of judging of its merits, or demerits, than of most other instruments. If there is really an essential difference in them, if there are some worthless ones, the public should have some criterion for judging of them, some facts which will enlighten them. We cheerfully concede the space for this article, knowing that there is hardly a family, or church, or school in all the land, but is more or less interested in this topic. We are also aware of its being a great misfortune, a real calamity, to any of them to purchase an inferior or worthless Organ, ruinous to good playing, and often a source of much annoyance and vexation. We know this article to emanate from a candid and intelligent source, and thus we give it to our readers.

The question is often asked, what are "reed organs?" We answer, they are, in most cases nothing in the world but the old melodeon in disguise. Many of the so called Organs have the same bellows the same reeds, and the same general internal arrangement. With the bellows turned on edge to gain room, they have simply put on a more pretentious exterior and a more high sounding name but an organ to be in reality an organ, must have a wind chest or reservoir for air separate from the bellows, into which wind chest the reeds open and the tone has room to expand and perfect itself into the full round tone, similar to the flute or pipe organ, even, as both firm and mellow; and this tone from reeds cannot be obtained in any other way known. Nothing so annoys a true organist as to have the volume of sound swelling and jerking spasmodically with every variation of force on the bellows or air-passages instead of a wind- or sound box. And yet some makers even go so far as to claim this spasmodic or an omatic jerking of the bellows on the reeds as an excellence, just as though they did not know that it must soon throw the reeds out of tune, and injure the bellows; and as though it were not an easier matter to obtain a much better and more easily managed swell by other methods. The truth is, any organ so called, or melodeon which has the wind acting directly upon the reeds, is nothing more or less than a huge accordeon, dress it up as you may. And when organists and true musicians become aware of the fact that they can obtain those that are organs in fact as well as in name they will buy no more of the objectionbel ones. Then again the swell should always be separate and distinct from the bellows, so as not to be acted on by the hand, or soft blowing, but convenient, so that the player can use it with the knee, separate from the hands or feet, and thus always under easy control, to be used ad libitum.

The large divided bellows, or double bellows, is also a very important improvement.—By this means not only can the wind be supplied more evenly, but with far greater ease to the performer, from the fact that either bellows alone will be sufficient for the lighter melodies, thus permitting the player to change about and rest the feet at will; then, if the bellows is of a requisite large size, and having the wind-chest or reservoir, all will be well.—As to the reeds, they must be scientifically tuned and voiced, or all the other good qualities in the world cannot produce a good toned instrument. The inquiry now very naturally arises, where can the organ be procured combining all these essential and desirable qualities? There is only one possessing these points and that is the AMERICAN ORGAN made by S. D. & H. W. SMITH, of Boston, SIBERIA OTT, Wholesale Agent, 581 Broadway, New York. These organs have a wind chest extending the whole length of the instrument, and so constructed as to act at the same time as a reverberating sound box or board and having the same important relation and part to perform that the sounding board has to the piano. This feature the makers have patented, and to it are owing in a great measure the entirely unequaled fullness and richness of tone so highly prized by all who have used these organs. They also have the largest and best divided bellows in use, which is another important feature. No part of their work is slighted no expense or pains spared to make the American Organs perfect musically, as well as mechanically, and, judging from the immense sale of them at present, they bid fair to long maintain the proud position they have won by superior merit alone. We would most heartily advise all interested to call upon or address MR SIBERIA OTT, the Wholesale Agent, at No. 581 Broadway, New York, and can assure them he will, in the most gentlemanly and truthful manner, impart to them all the information they may desire relative to this truly delightful instrument.

For the Union.

The Experience and Observations of an Invalid.

MR. GRISWOLD: When I came to your State early last summer on a visit, indefinite as to time, but not indefinite as to design, my main object being the improvement, if not the complete restoration of a broken down constitution, brought on by severe professional labors for a quarter of a century past, and by exposure in a climate subject to sudden changes, and whose atmosphere was impregnated with the causes of disease, particularly of the fever and ague type.

You may readily imagine that under these circumstances I have been no careless observer of the effects of this climate on diseases generally, but particularly of that class with which I have been afflicted for several years. My disease is general debility, or derangement of the nervous system. During the summer and early fall I was but little benefitted, because of the humidity of the atmosphere from an unusual amount of rain.

But since the commencement of cold and dry weather I have experienced a decided change for the better. This pure, rare, stimulating atmosphere which I inhale in large draughts from early morning until late evening is acting most charmingly upon my weak and shattered nerves. I am stronger and take my regular exercise on foot with more agility, and greater ease.

There is a contagion which universally prevails in this climate. It is a uniform appetite without abatement, except immediately after meals. There are no torpid livers here, but their functions are exercised healthfully, so that almost any food is readily digested. All that class of diseases tending to dispepsia soon disappear here unless they have assumed the chronic or consumptive form. My observations have led me to another solved problem, that decay of the lungs deeply seated is but hastened on in this stimulating climate. It is like oxygen let in upon the dying embers. Also inflamatory rheumatism finds no panacea in the pure, exhilerating air of Minnesota, but I know a woman, now a citizen of Mankato, who in another State suffered with that disease for many years, until the inflamatory phase left her. Less than two years ago she arose from her bed to which she was confined twenty weeks, and coming here with her husband and children, has enjoyed uninterrupted health ever since. Her marvelous and perfect recovery to health can be attributed to no other agency than a change of climate.

I was greatly interested in looking over Mr. Hewitt's pamphlet for immigrants to this State. In a table he exhibits the proportion of deaths in all the States to the number of inhabitants. While Indiana and Illinois have a mortality of 1 to 88, Minnesota has only 1 to 155. There is no State whose mortality is less, except Oregon which is reported 1 to 209. But as an offset to that, he states the palpable fact that Minnesota is the resort above all other States for invalids, and many of whom die soon after they come.

The largest mortality is reported of the District of Columbia, Massachusetts and Louisiana, 1 to 57, with a single exception, Arkansas, which he puts down at 1 to 49. California, Michigan, Wisconsin and Utah he reports at about 1 to 100 each.

I believe this climate is not very dissimilar in its effects upon diseases, to the Gulf breezes. A few years ago a lady of my acquaintance at Indianapolis who was rapidly declining with consumption was taken by her brother, South, and while on an excursion upon the Gulf, she expired before the vessel could reach the shore. So rare and stimulating were those breezes that they rapidly consumed her vitals. Four years ago in spending a winter at New Orleans for my health, and frequently crossing that beautiful lake, Ponchartrain, I experienced the most magical relief, by those same breezes which brought sudden death to my lady friend. I felt as buoyant as at twenty. I conclude therefore, that that or this climate has no remedy for a certain class of diseases, especially at a certain stage, while they effect a rapid cure, and often permanent to another class. Our friend, Mr. Champion, who has just deceased, was one of that class whose disease—pulmonary consumption—was too malignant to be arrested, though he spent a year here, enjoying every advantage that was thought favorable to restore him to health. This pure, reviving air can only assist nature, but can't new-create that which has already decayed away.

The News.

President Johnson has vetoed the bill for the admission of Colorado, assigning as a reason insufficiency of population and incongruity of Congressional legislation with the action of the territory, as respects the allowing of negroes to vote. The veto of the Nebraska bill is soon to follow.

There is nothing new on impeachment, and no new witnesses examined. It is not probable that this Congress will do anything toward impeachment.

The Ways and Means Sub-Committee on the whisky tax made a careful investigation, and concluded to recommend that no change should be made in the rate on this article. They will probably be sustained by the full committee, and have agreed to recommend the adoption of far more stringent laws regarding the collection of the whisky tax.

The steamer having Surrat on board is supposed to be now about due at Fortress Monroe. Ice in the Potomac will prevent her coming up to Washington as was originally intended.

NEW YORK, January 30.—A letter to the New York Post says: "It is probable that the Tariff Bill will fail for lack of time, and through the exorbitant demand of manufacturers. It cannot at any rate secure the requisite vote to pass it over a veto, and it would not surprise me if all great bills failed for lack of time. In financial matters McCulloch's policy will not be disturbed."

Result of the Preliminary Examination at New Ulm—Opinion of the Justice of the Peace.

State of Minnesota against John Gut, John Nun, Melchior Roth, Anton Zieter, Jacob Nix, Jost Pfeiffer, John Hoy, Alois Werrz, Nicodemus Werrz, Carl Beyer, John Stam, Frank Giehs, Henry Hartman, Mathias Miller, George Schneider, Henry Kettman, and August Schmidt.

Examination on charge of murder before Charles Roos, Justice of the Peace of New Ulm, Brown county Minnesota.

Upon examination of the witnesses in regard to the offense charged, and upon examination of the whole matter, and after due deliberation of the facts shown by the evidence produced in this action, on the part of the prosecution, as well as on the part of the defence, it appears to me that on the 25th day of December, A. D. 1866, in the afternoon between the hours of 4 and 5 in the town of New Ulm, in the county of Brown, and State of Minnesota, a certain John Spinner was killed "by two half breeds, as they were cried out," but in fact were trappers, returning from a hunting tour, the names of whom were afterwards discovered to be George Liscom and Alexander Campbell, both citizens and residents of Blue Earth county, Minnesota.

That an excitement arose during the time these both trappers were conveyed by the sheriff and his deputy to the jail, located at the bluff in the town of New Ulm, known as court house place, and that a number of persons at once, "but without concert of action" started for the jail. That when the first person arrived there, both of these trappers had been lodged in jail, the sheriff and his deputy being that time inside the building used partly as jail.

That a number of persons congregated outside the jail and assembled there "for a surely unlawful purpose" demanded that the sheriff should deliver his prisoners over to them, which were refused, that thereafter immediately "and without heading warning pretended to have been given not only by the sheriff but by some other lawabiding citizens, these persons broke open the outer door of the building known as Court House, drove out the sheriffs by dragging and kicking, and in a forcible manner carried them away from the scene of action, that then they with an axe knocked off the lock of cell door in which Alexander Campbell was incarcerated, and that then one of the mob placed a rope around the neck of said Campbell, "having been first asked if he was the murderer of John Spinner, to which he responded, yes." And that then said Campbell was then led out of his cell said Campbell being nearly naked at that time, that said Campbell as soon as he appeared in front of the court house was knocked down with a piece of cord wood, by a man in shirt sleeves, and that while said Campbell, felled to the ground by the blow so struck on him, and while he was lying insensible on the ground, was brutally stabbed with a knife in several parts of the body, by a man in soldier's clothes, inflicting several mortal wounds; that said Campbell, notwithstanding he was in a dying condition, was dragged about on the ground, by means of a rope tied around his neck, until he was dragged to the rear of the building, and there, by means of said rope, hung to the iron grating of the jail window, by some persons of said mob, causing, by these unlawful and outrageous means, the death of said Alexander Campbell.

The evidence also shows, that from the time Spenner was killed to the time Campbell was hanged as aforesaid, including also the time necessary to hang the comrade of Campbell, (Liscomb, who was hung immediately afterwards) not more than fifty minutes passed away: that a feeble attempt was made by a few isolated persons to stop the mob from doing and committing any crime, but unsuccessfully, the confusion, excitement and consternation, seemed to have stupified and paralized the minds of all present; otherwise, it would be impossible to account for committing such a horrible act in open daylight, in the presence of a number of persons, who had no hand in it whatever, and who will be horrified forever to think that they were present, and saw the crime commencing, and which, by a littled combination, could easily have been checked, if they only had responded to the call of their sheriff. If their minds were not stupified and paralized, they would as willingly have responded to his call, and aided him in suppressing the mob, as they are now willingly to testify against the sinners.

The evidence also shows that some of prisoners now before me, have, in some way or other, participated in the commission of this crime.

The evidence also shows, that some of the prisoners were amongst the mob for a good reason, and that some of the prisoners seem to have not been there at all, and that the witnesses were mistaken in the men, and that those prisoners were at the place, but had no hand in it, except to stay there and look on, as others did; but I must say, in such cases, that no man should be neutral, if he is no sinner; he should stand at once on the side of the law and the law officers, and should not be paralized at a time when he with a little effort can save the life of a man; and if he, even be a murderer, who will be hung afterwards by due course of law.

The evidence also shows that it was the intent of the mob to kill said Campbell, and that, during the presence of the mob, said Campbell was actually killed in an unlawful manner; but I must say the evidence is not strong enough to sustain the complaint to the full extent of its meaning.

The evidence does not show who gave the first mortal blow; but it has a tendency to presume that a certain peron, "who shortly before carried a piece of wood from the woodpile to the out door," struck the blow that felled Campbell to the ground; but the evidence leaves room to the presumption that another person gave the blow.

The evidence also shows that a certain person, fully identified, with a knife in his hands, inflicted several mortal wounds to said Campbell, while said Campbell lay in an insensible condition on the ground; and also that the same person stabbed the body of Campbell while said Campbell was hanging by the neck, tied with a rope around it to the grating of a jail window.

The evidence also shows that several persons at different times had hold of the rope which was tied around the neck of said Campbell; that some dragged said Campbell for a short distance, until he, by such dragging, was dragged around the building to the spot where he was hung; some had hold of the rope by putting it around the iron grating of the window; others by pulling on said rope to pull him up for hanging; others may have joined in adjusting him finally on the ladder, as one witness says.

The evidence also shows that certain persons were engaged in removing and carrying off the sheriff and his deputies, thereby aiding the commission of the crime, because, had they not removed the sheriffs, the others would not have committed the crime.

The evidence also attempts to show that others expressed themselves in favor of hanging Campbell, and that they therefore aided and abetted in the commission of the crime.

The evidence also shows that a number of persons, 'the witnesses produced not excluded,' were present, and unmistakably, by their noninterference, have strengthened the mob, and, by their presence, encouraged these outrages to be committed, and by their moving about and boisterous behavior kept up the excitement, prevented "the most conspicuous actors in this horrible scene" to cool down, and think for a moment what they were about doing, and prevent them from hearing the warnings of those who tried to pacify the mob, which no doubt would have been accomplished had these mere lookers on either kept their mouth for a moment, or better, stayed at home.

Now, as I cannot see that a man could possibly be killed twice, I come to the conclusion that the crime, if any was committed, can only be charged to those who committed it; and those who committed a crime of lesser degree or any other degree or offence should only be held to answer such crimes as the evidence will warrant to have been committed by such persons, as I hold, the life and liberty of a citizen should not be put in jeopardy on a mere suspicion, or a mere unthoughtful spoken word, if no other action follows and these persons where it is doubtful if they even were present, or if present the evidence does not show that they did an unlawful act, or if an unlawful act was committed and the evidence shows this to be in the case, but the witness may have been mistaken and charged the wrong person with the act, and where a reasonable doubt exists as to who committed said unlawful act the doubt should weigh for the benefit of the defendant, and he should be discharged.

As to those who were proven to be present but proved successfully that they actually tried to pacify the mob or to save the life of said Campbell, have of course to be acquitted at once.

Therefore the Court finds that John Gut on the 25th day of December, A. D. 1866, in the afternoon in the town of New Ulm, county of Brown and State of Minnesota, intentionally but without malice, aforethought or premeditation killed Alexander Campbell by knocking him down with a piece of cord wood, stabbing him with a knife, while alive, inflicting thereby several mortal wounds on said Campbell, and that he shall be held therefore to answer at the next term of the District Court to be held in Brown county, for the crime of Murder in the first degree.

2. That Melchoir Roth was engaged in an unlawful riotous manner to take Alexander Campbell out of the hands and possession of the jailor, by breaking in the doors of the jail, bringing out the prisoner, allowing John Gut to knock down said Campbell and stab him, and that he was engaged in the final hanging of the body of Campbell after he was mortally wounded, thereby causing the said Campbell to die; and that he is held to answer for the crime of aiding in the killing of said Campbell, at the next term of the District Court, to be held in Brown county, which is murder in the first degree.

3. That John Nun was engaged in an unlawful, riotous manner, to take Alexander Campbell out of the hands and possession of the jailor, and that he was engaged in the final hanging of the body of Campbell, and thereby aided in killing of said Alexander Campbell, and that he shall be held to answer for the crime of aiding in the killing of said Campbell, at the next term of the District Court to be held in Brown county, which is murder in the first degree.

4. That Carl Beger dragged the body of Alexander Campbell for a distance on the ground by a rope which was tied around the neck of said Campbell, after said Campbell was knocked down and stabbed by John Gut several times, and that there is probable cause to believe that he thereby aided in causing the death of said Campbell; therefore he shall be held to answer, at the next term of the District Court to be held in Brown county, for the crime of manslaughter in the second degree.

5. That John Hose furnished a piece of cord wood with which, "there is probable cause to believe," the door was knocked in, and with which said Alexander Campbell was felled to the ground; and that therefore he shall be held to answer, at the next term of the District Court to be held in Brown county, for the crime of manslaughter in the second degree.

6. That Henry Hartman was instrumental in moving and carrying off J. Brand, the Deputy Sheriff, thereby encouraging the mob to commit a crime which the mob saw fit to do; and that therefore he shall be held to answer, at the next term of the District Court to be held in Brown county, for the crime of manslaughter in the second degree.

7. That Anton Zieter talked to the mob, and that after his talk was over, the mob immediately made a rush for the door, broke the door open, took out Alexander Campbell, and that said Campbell then was killed by the mob, and that there is probable cause to believe that he by so talking to the mob, may have excited and infuriated said mob; therefore he shall be held to answer at the next term of the District Court to be held in Brown county, for the crime of manslaughter in the second degree.

The Justice here gives the reasons for the discharge of Jost Pfeiffer, John Stann Frank Grele, August Schmidt, George Schneider, Matheas Mueller, Henry Kottman, Alois Werrz and Nichodemus Werrz which were simply the want of evidence.—[ED. UNION.]

15. As to Jacob Nix, he was discharged for the reason that he acted during the mob to the effect to pacify the mob, and on the side of the Sheriff.

This disposes of all the prisoners brought before me in this action.

Given on the 21st day of January, A. D. 1867, at 9 o'clock A. M., and after the opening of the court.

EXAMINATIONS AND REPORTS.

The report of Justice Roos, before whom the preliminary examination of the New Ulm offenders was held, is published on our first page, and the important part of Attorney General Colville's report is also published. The justice divides up the crime in which all were engaged alike, and makes the very sage distinction that a man can't be killed but once, and therefore, if it can be ascertained who gave the first fatal blow, all others participants are guilty of a lesser crime. Upon this theory we presume that if the person dealing such a blow cannot be identified from others, then none are guilty of murder. It remains therefore simply to join hands in crime, to avoid a conviction upon the charge of murder in the first degree. All accessories are treated as principals and are liable to the same penalties, and all are equally guilty of murder, no matter how insignificant the part played in the dreadful tragedy. There seems to be a disposition on the part of the Justice to place the charges where he could control them, and bail the prisoners. In all but three cases he charges them with manslaughter in the second degree, instead of the first, a very nice distinction made simply to give him the power to let the murderers run. Another extraordinary feature of the report is the blame it attaches to the lookers-on. He censures them as severely as he does the actual participants, and would have the public believe that the murder would not have taken place if the crowd had kept away and given the scoundrels a chance to "cool down." His theory of preventing murder is to let the crowd have full swing. Col. Colville thinks that by-standers of American descent should not have pled "fear," but rushed in and prevented bloodshed. Better thrust themselves into the fire at once, than attempt by force to subdue a drunken and infuriated mob. It would only transfer or enlarge the theater of blood, and cause human slaughter in a ten-fold ratio. If the German citizens who spoke the language of the rioters, could not by force or favor dissuade them, how could Mr. Colville expect American citizens to affect such a result. The blame is chargeable only to the active participants.

THE REMEDY.

In submitting to the Legislature the report of Attorney Gen. Colville respecting the New Ulm trials, the Governor recommends legislation which will bring order out of chaos, and social quiet and safety out of anarchy. Our State officers and the Legislature are convinced that New Ulm has a misconceived idea of liberty and independence. Justice, only as they view it from a semi-barbaric stand point, can be administered by the authorities of Brown county, because the law is in the hands of just such men as justify the conduct of the murderers, at New Ulm. The force of public opinion in the town impels the entire county to act with it. The legislature therefore has wisely introduced a bill to repeal the law relating to the District Court in Brown county, and to attach the same, together with Cottonwood, Murray, Pipestone, and Redwood to Blue Earth county for judicial purposes. This move will act as a just penalty for the crime of disloyalty to the public welfare and good government, and teach them the meaning of true allegiance to the laws of the land. We care not to what other county Brown is attached, but it is evident that she is not competent to administer the laws and should therefore be stripped of the power of making mockery of them.

MAIL ROUTE TO SIOUX CITY.

Our representative from Madelia has introduced a resolution in the House, instructing our delegation in Congress to procure, if possible, a tri-weekly mail from Mankato to Sioux City. It is so reported by the St. Paul journals. It would be our idea to memorialize Congress in the usual form, sending the memorial, with petitions numerously signed by residents of Mankato, Madelia, Jackson, Sioux City and other points on the line, to our delegation in Congress. We are in favor of any method which will bring the desired result. We are asked to write an editorial upon the subject. Those who read the UNION know that the subject has been already exhausted through its columns. We can write again, or re-produce what has before been said—anything to promote the important end. The route would be simply a forerunner of the Minn. Valley R. R. Sioux City journals are clamoring for it. People all along the line want it. Citizens at Yankton are writing letters in favor of it, with a branch to that town. It would pass through a beautiful and fertile country. It would induce immigration, and in turn immigration would make the route profitable. It is on the line of railway which will eventually connect the great central Pacific Railroad with Lake Superior. And lastly it is the most direct and practicable route between the two points.

Stanley's Gift Concert.

George E. Stanly, of La Crosse, Wisconsin is one of the most extensive dealers in jewelry, silver-ware, musical instruments, &c., in the northwest. In addition to this it has been his custom to conduct a gift concert each year, in which is included the bulk of his stock of goods and other valuable property. Commencing fifteen years ago with $300 worth of goods, he is now able to offer for distribution on the Gift Concert plan, $15,000 in pianos, melodions, silver ware, gold watches, silver watches, clocks, cutlery, &c., &c. But there are three gifts which eclipse all these. They consist of three stores, included in a splendid three story brick block, with cellars, each valued at $6,000 and the whole renting for $2,500 per annum. They are located in the best business street in La Crosse. Mr. Stanley offers a reward of $1,000 for any article which proves to be brass or plated, which is advertised in his scheme as gold. There are persons in this city who know Mr. Stanley personally and attest his integrity in these enterprises. He is personally but little known in this community, but he has been operating for years. Last winter Mrs. Isane Marks, of this city, passing through La Crosse, purchased a ticket in his scheme at $1, and drew a beautiful gold watch worth $100. The same chances are open again, and Mankato may secure some of the valuable prizes. George Clark, Esq., at the office of Finch & Pitcher, is the agent for the sale of tickets, who can give all desired information and sell tickets at lowest club rates. As the drawing will take place on the 28th of of this month, tickets should be applied for at once.

—The village of Minneapolis is soon to put on metripolitan robes. A bill granting a city charter to the place, will pass the legislature at its present session, and in the spring the necessary city machinery will be put in operation. The town grows rapidly, and will soon measure its population with the capital of the State.

—Doctor Thomas Foster, editor of the Minneapolis daily Chronicle, has severed his connection with that paper except as an occasional contributor. He intends very soon to establish an agricultural paper in this State. Already he is working up the ground by organizing an Agricultural Society in Manomin County.

Montgomery, County Attorney, appeared for the State and Thomas Rutlege as attorney for the accused. The saw mill of Mason & Reed, at this place is to be run the ensuing year by Wm. H. Ellas & A. D. Mason.—Mr. Ellas having rented Mr. Reed's interest therein. Another circular saw is to be placed above the one now used, and with this improvement they will be enabled to saw the largest class of logs with ease and dispatch. These gentlemen will run the mill in good style and if customers are not very hard to please they will find it both pleasant and profitable to deal with Mason & Ellas.

Mr. Henry Schuler who, in company with S. W. Thurston, has been selling goods here for the past nine months, has just sold his half interest in the stock of goods to G. G. Young, one of our old settlers. Success to the firm.

REPORT OF ATTY. GEN. COLVILLE.

We submit below the report of Attorney General Colville concerning the trial of the New Ulm offenders. There were some conflicting statements which appeared in the earlier reports of the murders which are now satisfactorily cleared up in the General's report. He says:

From all this evidence it is established that the affair was commenced at the saloon of Havenstine and Geher on the afternoon of Christmas day, by a murderous assault upon George Liscom by several persons (about six) at once, the result of which was that Liscom was knocked down with clubs and his skull probably broken, and that Campbell, rushing to Liscom's assistance, was himself knocked down in like manner, and rendered helpless after having stabbed one Spenner, either in self defense or in defense of Liscom: after which and while both were lying helpless on the ground, Spenner was permitted to make a further murderous assault upon both of them with a knife, with which he stabbed Liscom, and attempted to injure Campbell. Immediately after a further murderous attack by the party upon Liscom. Within five minutes afterwards both Campbell and Liscom were dragged to the jail by the mob, and within twenty minutes thereafter both were taken from the custody of the officers and hung by the neck until dead, after being subjected to the most terrible and atrocious brutalities.

Shortly before midnight their bodies were cut down, and afterwards and before daylight carried away and thrust through a hole in the ice in the river—the body of Campbell having been in the meantime mutilated by the severing off his right leg and hand.

Nothing in earnest had been done or attempted at New Ulm before my arrival towards identifying the offenders or bringing them to justice, and one of the most prominent who had openly exhibited his bloody hands and boasted of his part in the transaction at a public place, in the presence of a number of citizens, was permitted after remaining all the next day in town to make his escape.

How far the persons charged are implicated is disclosed by the evidence. In my opinion it establishes the guilt of at least twelve of them.

In regard to the grade of the offence, it is clear from the mode by which death was inflicted that it was deliberate and premeditated, and that there must have been a concert of action between the parties inflicting it, and aiding and abetting in it. Indeed it was shown by the defense that divers persons made an attempt to delay and prevent the murder by talking to and trying to reason with the mob, and that they were heard, but to no purpose. Our statute provides that there shall be no distinction between aiders and abettors and principals—therefore there is no difference between the defendants in the grade of offense. It appears also that the most of the mob were infuriated by the false statement which had been industriously circulated by the parties concerned in the original affray at the saloon—for what purpose may be surmised—that Spenner had been stabbed without provocation by two half-breeds.

If half-breeds have no rights, and it is lawful to hang them without judge or jury, the fact that these men were mistaken for them by a portion of the mob might go in mitigation of the offense, so far as that portion is concerned; but until that principle is established by our courts, this offense having been clearly premeditated as above stated, is murder in the first degree.

I privately questioned a large number of persons (about fifty) present at the murder, and worthy citizens of New Ulm, who were not sworn at the examination, because, although in the immediate vicinity, and in full view of the whole scene, they could not remember a single person engaged in it. However, before the examination closed, I succeeded in finding evidence implicating several others in an equal degree with those under examination.

The charge for the murder of Liscom was kept in abeyance on purpose to meet such cases, but they were not arrested because the result of the first examination convinced me that their arrest at that time would secure no purpose except to put them on their guard.

I have also been favored with a copy of the evidence taken at the coroner's inquest at Mankato, which strongly corroborates, in almost every respect, the evidence accompanying this.

I was unable to obtain any trace of the parties who conveyed and secreted the bodies in the river, but presume it to have been done by some of those engaged in the murder, except that many circumstances disclosed at the examination and at the coroner's inquest, give grave grounds for the suspicion that the then sheriff of the county, if not acting in concert with the mob, was at least grossly negligent and inefficient as a public officer, and was also privy and consenting to the removal of the bodies.

A subject I may mention, because it has been quite frequently discussed in connection with this offense—is whether the peculiar religious doctrines entertained by the most of those taking part in the murder, were calculated to make them regardless of the public authority and the law. This, because it is clear, that the practice of holding their fraternal and harmonious gatherings on the Sabbath and Holidays, in saloons and places of like resort, was a prominent cause of the rage and brutality of the mob, as well as of its speedy formation.

There was more of a disposition upon my first arrival in New Ulm, to bring the guilty to justice than appears to me to subsequently be the case—which I attribute to the fact that the people were at first led to suppose that in case a fair trial was not possible at New Ulm, the offenders would be taken to another county—which they afterwards became convinced in some way could not be done.

With regard to whether an impartial trial can be had there, I am convinced to the contrary, from the fact that no attempt had been made by the local authorities to secure the offenders before my arrival, from the ruling of the Justice and Court Commissioner, from the fact of so many of the citizens refusing to disclose—even under oath, as some of them did—what they certainly must have known, and from the large number of citizens of that county, variously estimated at from one hundred and fifty to two hundred, who composed the mob and who, with their friends and relatives, comprised the bulk of the population of the county.

It is not satisfactory to have to notice that quite a number—fifteen or twenty—Americans by earth, some of them old soldiers, others acquaintances of the murdered men, were present and saw it all and yet made no effort to prevent it. Their excuse was "fear," one too ignoble to be pleaded.

In conclusion, it is proper to state that the utmost quiet and good order was maintained and prevailed throughout the town during the examination, and that the present Sheriff, Captain Brandt, and the County Attorney, Mr. Basan, Sen., through the long and tedious examination did all that was possible for any one to do to aid in bringing the guilty to justice.

I am respectfully you obed't serv't,
W. COLVIL,
Attorney General.

The Latest Fashions.

Since the invention and successful introduction of the Celebrated Duplex Elliptic [or double] spring hoop skirt, by Mr. J. W. Bradley, of New York, the ladies throughout the country have given up the idea of discarding the fashion of wearing hoop skirts on account of the peculiar and graceful manner in which the Duplex Skirts adapt themselves to every exigency and emergency. So generally acceptible have these skirts become that the ladies regard them as a special favorite, in view of the superior flexibility, lightness and durability combined in their manufacture. They also consider them a far more economical and comfortable hoop skirt than ever has or can be made for all crowded assemblies, for the promenade or house dress. Any lady after wearing one of these Skirts will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. Long experience in the manufacture of hoop skirts, has proven to the proprietors of this invention, that single springs will always retain that stiff, unyielding and bungling style which has ever characterized them, whereas the double spring hoop or Duplex Elliptic, will be found free from these objections. Notwithstanding the ability of the manufacturers, Messrs. Wests, Bradley & Cary, to turn out over six thousand skirts per day from their Large Manufactory in New York, they feel obliged to request all merchants ordering the Duplex Elliptic Skirts to send their orders a few days in advance of the time they are wanted, if possible, as they are most always some days behind.

The leg is doing well but will prevent him from doing anything for six or eight weeks.

IT VANISHES AWAY.—Do our readers all understand that the genuine Chemical Saleratus made by P. B. De Land & Co. is never eaten? In the process of baking it all evaporates, leaving the bread light and pure. It has been imitated but the counterfeit is not easily disposed of. Use it instead of Soda. It weighs 16 ounces to the paper. Others weigh 14 oz.

WELLS.—There seems to be some ground for complaint that the city wells are being built under great disadvantages, and at great expense. Digging by the day, cold weather, short days, frozen ground all conspire to make it expensive, and cause the people to complain. The wells ought at least to have been let by contract.

PAYING UP.—Our County Treasurer, J. W. Hoerr, reports that more taxes have been paid at this date than there were last year. This is a gratifying evidence of the solvency of the county. He desires us to say that 5 per cent will be saved on real estate by paying before March 1st. Also that personal tax should be paid at once, as costs are liable to be incurred at any time, by distraining property for the payment.

JAIL BILL.—The bill for authorizing the county to issue bonds to build a jail has passed the Senate, with a condition that the people shall vote on the question of "location" at the spring election. Whether this means simply a vote upon the location of the jail or the county seat, we are not informed, as no copy of the bill has reached us. The commissioners framed no such bill. All voted to build a jail, of course at the county seat. And if the result of a vote is already a foregone conclusion, which even our representatives concede, why go to the trouble of an election.

MONTANA.—Col. J. W. Kelly, late of the U. S. service, who was crippled in the arm by a poisoned arrow in an indian fight in New Mexico, has been appointed by Capt. P. B. Davy, as his agent to obtain recruits for the Montana expedition. He is stationed at Mankato and stops at the Clifton House. He will give all information necessary regarding teams, supplies, and the cost of passenger fare, &c. We confidently expect that a large train will start from Mankato, as this is to be one of the principal rendezvous of Capt. Davy, and an excellent place for securing outfits.

GIFT CONCERT.—Our friend M. C. Russell, of the Argus office in Shakopee, desires in consequence of ill health, to quit the printing business and sell his home and other property in Shakopee. To do so without a sacrifice he, with other respectable gentlemen of that town, has proposed a gift enterprise, a notice of which is found in another column. Being well acquainted with Mr. Russell we can assure the public that the concert will be honorably conducted. See the notice elsewhere.

MERCHANT MILL.—Our townsman Hon. L. C. Harrington, furnishes us some items concerning the merchant mill of Loveland & Harrington, located at Garden City, which not only shows the business capacity of its owners, but speaks well for the town; the progress that this section of the State is making in the production of flour, and the advantages of the water privileges on the Watonwan river. The mill was purchased last season by these gentlemen from H. C. Capwell, and has undergone thorough repairs and improvements and is now capable of making the very best quality of flour. The improvements have cost $4,000, and the value of the mill is $15,000. There are two runs of stone, with a capacity of 500 to 600 bushels per day. They do no custom work, but have taken on the dignity of a "merchant mill" which certainly looks large for this wooden country. About $45,000 have already been expended in the purchase of wheat which is ground into flour and in barrels is conveyed to Mankato for shipment in the spring. These gentlemen have made arrangements to deliver their flour in Boston, which will hereafter be their market. The water privilege attached to the mill is susceptible of greater power than is used, and in time doubtless their business will receive further enlargements. Garden City may well be proud of these wide-awake energetic business men. In conclusion we must not forget to acknowledge the receipt of a barrel of their superior flour—a very valuable present to any person whose good wife periodically announces the exit of its predecessor—Long live and flourish the firm of Loveland & Harrington, say we.

KENWORTHY & CO.—We had occasion several weeks since to purchase some flour, and took a sack of Kenworthy & Co., and are gratified to state that no flour made in this vicinity is superior to it. Since that time these gentlemen have presented us with a sack which even excels what we previously purchased. Their mill is situated at the foot of the Blue Earth rapids, has two run of stone with splendid cleaning apparatus and is in operation day and night. They do custom work at the lowest rates, and so good an institution should receive a generous patronage. David Lamb keeps his flour for sale.

—S. S. Higgins is again giving his personal attention to the sale of flour, shorts, bran, buckwheat flour, corn, oats &c. He sells Quayle's Garden City brand of flour. He pays the highest price for wheat, oats, corn and barley. Go to the stone building under Higgins's Hall.

SPECIALS.—Some of our merchants complain that we have placed their local notices in a "gang" by themselves, and that therefore our readers do not see them. The consequence is, a great falling off in trade. We must therefore make a special request of the reading public not to forget to look over the "Special Notices" column. There is always something new in it every week. We like system. We like a place for miscellaneous reading, for "humorous," for "news items," for editorials, for local news, and for "special items" by which our business men can notify the public what they are doing. Disliking too much of the amalgamation style, we have adopted this plan, but don't forget to read the special notices.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS.—Our county Superintendent has been visiting the schools of this city, both public and private, and to him we are indebted for the following communication, giving a brief sketch of the number of scholars in actual attendance in each school:

MR. GRISWOLD:—The following statement will show the number of scholars enrolled and attending the several schools in Mankato this winter. The whole number attending the public schools is 309.—males 171, females 138, and are distributed as follows:

Prof. Stuart, Principal of the Union School (Miss. Cross, ass't.,) has under his immediate care 98 scholars.

Mrs. Burgess in the other room, assisted by Miss Dey, has 101 scholars.

Miss Fletcher in Shoemaker's Hall, has 54 scholars.

Miss Cross, in the Baptist Church, has 58 scholars.

The German Catholic School in charge of the Sisters of Notre Dame, has 176 scholars.

English scholars, Males 45, Females 38,
German, " " 44, " 49.

Mr. Wiederman's German School in lower town has 45 scholars. Males 24. Females 22.
Whole No. of males in all the schools, 284
" " Females, " 247
Total, 531

JOHN R. BEATTY.
Co. Supt. Schools.

From the above letter it will be seen that 531 pupils are attending school in this District. Many are attending select schools who, when the public school is in a condition to do them justice, will attend there. The new school building when finished will hardly accommodate the scholars. Preliminary steps are being taken to attach a portion of the West Mankato District to this one, by first bringing it into the city limits, and then asking the county board to attach it to this school district. This is the tendency, and the fates can't stop it. Before another year, the entire Warren and Van Brunt property, and all lands this side of the slough will be included in Mankato District. Of course we must then have another school house; and of course upper town won't be satisfied with any thing short of 70 by 40 3 stories high. Of course they won't and shouldn't be. This arrangement smacks of taxation, but "thats' nothing when you get used to it." We simply mention it to give the people time to think of it a year or two, as this will probably be the solution of the future policy of the Mankato educational schemes.

CITY TAXES.—Our city taxes are heavy, as everybody knows. They are heavier than we like to bear, and everybody, we presume, is aware of that. It is however sometimes necessary to incur an expenditure which seems grevious to be borne. We are in favor of economy, but not of the "penny wise and pound foolish" variety. There may have been some money expended which some of our citizens would deem unnecessary. But the bulk of the appropriations made by the village Board have been necessary for the protection of property and the improvement which the importance and growth of the town demand. We are induced to refer to the matter because already the changes are rung over our high taxes, to prejudice the public mind against the Board and in favor of the anti-park side of our local questions. As the spring election approaches, it will be the role of the anti-park men to bring the present Board into public odium, and thereby elect a Board who will compromise the present suits; which have been brought to a successful issue by Judge Waite, our talented City Attorney. Even he is charged with receiving an enormous salary for his services. He receives $200 per annum, and the two suits against Finch & Thurston and Willard & Barney, tried at the last term and occupying nearly two weeks, would have cost the city twice that amount had they employed other counsel of equal talent. Now the cases will go to the Supreme Court, and much labor is still to be performed, all for the same money. Other expenditures may be explained in the same way but it is unnecessary at present. Let the people consider the motive which prompts men to complain of the present Board, before they condemn them unheard.

MR. EDITOR.—After reading your "minority report" on sliding down hill, I felt considerably convinced, and my mind were constantly prompted to go and do likewise. I did go and do like the rest of the b'noys and gals, with a few exceptions. Sometimes I was on the sled, and a great many times I war'nt.—I tell you, I did some lofty tumbling, until I got into the hang of stearing; but how uncouth I appeared upon the sled, my leg—perhaps I should of said limb, however, limb and leg mean about the same amongst we sliders,—sticking out behind like the rudder of a raft, floating down the Mississippi river, or something in that style,—sweeping around from side to side, trying to keep the thinga-myjig in the track, occasionally my foot would come in contact with some frozen knob, reminding us very forcibly that a portion of us was not on board. Still all went merry as marriage bells, and I was perfectly delighted with the amusement, until two fair lasses marched up to us and very politely requested us to pull their sleds up the hill, I almost swore, I think I should, if I had been in the habit of using that kind of phraseology. But I rallied and faced the music as there was no possible chance to retreat in good order.—I say bless the ladies, they are very useful in their place and are always ready to assist in any great undertaking, except pulling sleds up hill, still it afforded me great pleasure, after considering the matter over, to pull up their sleds, and I had almost voluntarily offered myself to carry them up, one at a time, but my own innate modesty prevented me from doing so. Oh, it is pleasant to slide down the hill! I would advise you, Mr. Editor, to try it; it will cause a peculiar sensation to creep all over you, more particularly if you should happen to be brought up standing against a stump or thrown into a gully where the snow has drifted to a considerable depth which adds to the glory of sliding do the hill.

Beard the Lighthouse.

Old fogyism is not quite dead. People are still to be found who think that health is promoted by depletion! Was there ever such false logic! Nature is the grand antagonist of disease, and the depleters propose to prostrate Nature, in order, one might suppose, to give the enemy a double chance at the life of the patient! The true practice is so to invigorate the vital powers as to render them an overmatch for the elements of disease. This can be done with HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Of all vegetable tonics they are the most powerful and the most genial. At this season, when even the strongest organizations are liable to be affected by the alternations of stringent cold and malarious moisture, this inestimable protective medicine is especially needed. Persons predisposed to billiousness, dyspepsia, constipation, intermittent fever, or any of the complaints which cold weather superinduces or aggravates, should take it regularly throughout the Winter and Spring months. It is absolutely pure and harmless.

DUPLEX ELLIPTIC

(OR DOUBLE SPRING)

SKIRT.

The Wonderful Flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any lady, wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced particularly in all crowded assemblies, Operas, Carriages, Railroad Cars, Church Pews, Arm Chairs, for Promenade and House Dress, as the skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a silk or muslin dress, an invaluable quality in crinoline, not found in any single Spring skirt.

A lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort, and great convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Steel Spring Skirt for a single day, will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For Children, Misses and Young Ladies, they are superior to all others.

They will not bend or break like the Single Spring, but will preserve their perfect and graceful shape when three or four ordinary skirts will have been thrown aside as useless. The Hoops are covered with double and twisted thread, and the bottom rods are not only double springs but twice (or double) covered; preventing them from wearing out when dragging down stoops, stairs, &c.

The Duplex Elliptic is a great favorite with all ladies and is universally recommended by the Fashion Magazines as the standard skirt of the fashionable world.

To enjoy the following inestimable advantages in Crinoline, viz: Superior Quality, Perfect Manufacture, Stylish shape and finish, Flexibility, Durability, Comfort and Economy, enquire for J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic or Double Spring Skirt, and be sure you get the genuine article.

CAUTION.—To guard against IMPOSITION be particular to NOTICE that skirts offered as "DUPLEX" have the red ink stamp, viz., "J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic Steel Springs," upon the waistband—none others are genuine. Also Notice that every Hoop will admit a pin being passed through the centre, thus revealing the two (or double) springs braided together therein, which is the secret of their flexibility and strength, and a combination not to be found in any other Skirt.

FOR SALE in all stores where First Class skirts are sold throughout the United States and elsewhere. Manufactured by the Sole Owners of the patent.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29, 1867.

THE REVENUE QUESTION.

The Ways and Means Committee are working on the free list, and are going over the whole subject of revenue in a general manner. Few things beyond those already given have been decided.

RECONSTRUCTION PROSPECT.

It is generally conceded that the vote on Stevens' bill indicates the fate of all similar measures during the session. Some, however, hope the Reconstruction Committee will report. The Southern Unionists here are denouncing the continued abandonment of the Unionists South to rebel outrages in unmeasured terms.

THE KELSO CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT.

The Constitutional Amendment brought forward in the House yesterday by Mr. Kelso is understood to represent the views of a large number of radical republicans of Missouri. Section one provides that no State shall pass a law or adopt a provision in its constitution depriving any citizen of the United States sound in mind and not convicted of an infamous offence, who has attained the age of twenty-one years, resided in the State one year, in the town, parish, city, district or county thirty days next preceding the day of election, of the right of voting at all elections for Presidential electors, representatives in Congress, and all elections for the Governor of the State, county, district, parish, city and town officers. Section two provides that no law shall be passed by Congress, or by the State depriving the citizen of sound mind and unconvicted of crime, from following any lawful business. Section three makes it the duty of each State to provide free schools for the education of all its children. Section four makes it the duty of Congress to carry out the third section if the State fails. The amendment was sent to the Judiciary Committee.

NEW BOUNTY BILL.

The House Military Committee has agreed to a bill providing that claims for bounties under the act of last session, in cases where the claimant's discharge certificate is alleged to have been accidently lost or destroyed, may be presented to the Second Auditor of the Treasury for settlement, and upon proper application, accompanied with proofs of such loss, the Auditor shall examine and determine the claim as in other cases, and payment shall be made in the usual way. The nature of the proof required shall be prescribed by the Treasury Department.

NEW ORLEANS MASSACRE.

WASHINGTON, January 29.—The President in compliance with the resolution of the House transmitted to day voluminous documents on the subject of the New Orleans riots in July last. These include 400 pages of foolscap pages of testimony taken before the Military Board convened by General Baird, and consisting of Generals Mower, Quincy, Gregg, and Baily, together with their report in which they condemn the conduct of Mayor Monroe, and say but for the declaration of martial law by General Baird, and the presence of troops, fire and bloodshed would have raged through the night in all the negro quarters in the city and the lives and property of Unionists and Northern men would have been at the mercy of the mob, the conservators of peace being, for the time, the instigators of violence, and nothing would have remained but arming for defense, and a scene might have ensued unparalled in the history of the age.

TESTING THE TEST OATH DECISION.

To-day, in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, Mr. Bradley moved the admission to the bar of Allen B. Magruder, of Virginia, a member of the bar of the old Circuit Court, and now an attorney and counsellor of the Supreme Court of the United States. It was generally understood that Magruder would be unable to take what is known as the test oath, and that this motion was made with a view of ascertaining how this Court regarded the recent decision of the Supreme Court of the United States, as affecting its duties with regard to the rule it had laid down on the subject. Chief Justice Cartler informed Mr. Bradley that to grant his motion and pass an order for admission would be to set aside the first rule of the Court. Mr. Bradley presumed that when a member of the bar of the Supreme Court applied for admission to the bar he would be admitted as a matter of course, taking such oaths as are prescribed by that tribunal, this Court being a branch of the other. Chief Justice Cartler said the question was whether this Court would consent to repeal or modify its own rules. It was agreed that the argument be heard on Thursday before a full bench.

THE TEST OATH DECISION IGNORED.

The United States District Court of this city to-day refused to allow attorneys to practice in said Court without taking the test oath, notwithstanding the recent decision of the Supreme Court.

TRANSFER OF THE INDIAN BUREAU.

The New York Times' Washington special says: "The House Military Committee have agreed to transfer the Indian Bureau from the Interior to the War Department."

HUMOROUS.

"What is colonizing, ma?" inquired a hopeful miss of seventeen.

"Colonizing, dear," replied the mother, "is having a home and raising a family."

"Oh, ma! how I would like to colonize!" exclaimed the expectant daughter.

An absent-minded professor, in going out of the gateway of his college, ran against a cow. In the confusion of the moment, he raised his hat and exclaimed, "I beg your pardon, madam." Soon after he stumbled against a lady in the street, and in sudden recollection of his former mishap he called out, "Is that you again, you brute?"

A gentleman living in the family of one of our worthy deacons not long since, had been showing the children, one evening, a beautiful musical box, after which he wound it up and put the instrument away in his pocket. At the hour of retiring for the night, the visitor was called upon for a prayer, and, having got upon his knees, was in the midst of what promised to be a somewhat lengthy petition, when suddenly in consequence of a change of position on the part of the supplicant, the musical box started gaily off with the tune, "Take your time Miss Lucy." To say that the prayer was brought to rather abrupt termination, and that even the worthy Deacon rose from his knees all but convulsed with laughter, is drawing the effect of the incident quite mildly.

CONSUMPTION CURABLE BY DR. SCHENCK'S MEDICINES.

TO CURE CONSUMPTION, the system must be prepared so that the lungs will heal. To accomplish this, the liver and stomach must first be cleansed and an appetite created for good wholesome food, which, by these medicines will be digested properly, and good healthy blood made; thus building up the constitution. SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS cleanse the stomach of all bilious or mucous accumulations; and, by using the Sea Weed Tonic in connection, the appetite is restored.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP is nutritious as well as medicinal, and, by using the three remedies, all impurities are expelled from the system, and good, wholesome blood made, which will repel all disease. If patients will take these medicines according to directions, Consumption very frequently in its last stage yields readily to their action. Take the pills frequently, to cleanse the liver and stomach. It does not follow that because the bowels are not costive they are not required, for sometimes in diarrhoea they are necessary. The stomach must be kept healthy, and an appetite created to allow the Pulmonic Syrup to act on the respiratory organs properly and allay any irritation. Then all that is required to perform a permanent cure is, to prevent taking cold. Exercise about the rooms as much as possible, eat all the richest food—fat meat, game, and, in fact, anything the appetite craves; but be particular and masticate well. [illegible]

TAKE NO MORE UNPLEASANT AND UNSAFE REMEDIES for unpleasant and dangerous diseases. Use Helmbold's Extract Buchu and Improved Rose Wash.

Dr. SEELYE'S

LIQUID

SYMPTOMS.

The symptoms of Catarrh are at first very slight. Persons find they have a cold, that they have frequent attacks, and are more sensitive to the changes of the temperature. In this condition the nose may be dry, or a slight discharge thin and acrid, afterwards thick and adhesive, may ensue.

As the disease becomes chronic, the discharges are increased in quantity and changed in quality; they are now thick and heavy, and hawked or coughed off. The secretions are offensive, causing a bad breath; the voice thick and nasal; the eyes are weak; the sense of smell is lessened or destroyed; deafness frequently takes place.

Another common and important symptom of Catarrh is, that the person is obliged to clear his throat in the morning of a thick or slimy mucous, which has fallen from the head during the night. When this takes place, the person may be sure that his disease is on its way to the lungs, and should lose no time in arresting it.

The above are but a few of the many Catarrhal symptoms. Write to our Laboratory for our pamphlet describing fully all symptoms; it will be sent FREE to any address. Also directions where to procure the medicine.

We are receiving letters from all parts of the Union, and also numerous testimonials from those using it, bearing the evidence of its infallible merits;

☞This remedy contains no MINERAL or POISONOUS INGREDIENTS, but is prepared from vegetable extracts EXCLUSIVELY; therefore it is PERFECTLY HARMLESS, even to the most tender and delicate child.☜

FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE CO.
100 WASHINGTON ST., CHICAGO.
Wm. H. SHARP & CO.,
GENERAL AGENTS.

THE FLORENCE is the only machine extant having a reversible feed, which enables the operator to sew either to the right or left at pleasure, and the only machine that makes a perfectly elastic seam, alike on each side of the fabric.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE not only makes the lock-stitch, but three others, which for certain kinds of work are much superior, especially where elasticity is required and is the only machine that fastens the ends of each seam securely, and does it in one-fourth the time it can be done by hand.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE, does not draw line, thin goods down through the slot or hole in the work-plate nor drop a stitch in turning a corner, and is the only machine having a change less tension, and no slack threads both of which draw together simultaneously.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE is noiseless, and can be used when quiet is necessary as well in the sick-chamber as in the workroom. They oil no dresses, the machinery being all on the top of the table. It will sew over the heaviest seams, or from one to more thicknesses of goods, without skipping stitches, breaking threads or requiring change in tension.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE will do easily all family and tailoring work on one and the same machine. They are strong and finely finished,—their motions are all positive, there are no springs to get out of order,—while for strength, durability & beauty of design it will bear, and we invite, comparison, with any or all machines.

AMERICAN ORGANS.

(From "Godey's Ladies' Book," February, 1867.)

REED ORGANS, &c.

The following remarks and suggestions relative to this immensely popular instrument will doubtless interest and profit very many of our readers; we commend the article to their careful perusal:—

A hundred and one makers of Organs, Cottage, Parlor-Cabinet, American, School Organs etc etc., are each claiming to make the best instrument in the world. Being comparatively a new instrument, as at present constructed, we are convinced the public are much less capable of judging of its merits, or demerits, than of most other instruments. If there is really an essential difference in them, if there are some worthless ones, the public should have some criterion for judging of them, some facts which will enlighten them. We cheerfully concede the space for this article, knowing that there is hardly a family, or church, or school in all the land, but is more or less interested in this topic. We are also aware of it being a great misfortune, a real calamity, to any of them to purchase an inferior or worthless Organ, ruinous to good playing, and often a source of much annoyance and vexation. We know this article to emanate from a candid and intelligent source, and thus we give it to our readers.

The question is often asked, what are "reed organs?" We answer, they are, in most cases nothing in the world but the old melodeon in disguise. Many of the so-called Organs have the same bellows, the same reeds, and the same general internal arrangement. With the bellows turned on edge to gain room, they have simply put on a more pretentious exterior and a more high sounding name. But an organ to be in reality an organ, must have a wind chest or reservoir for air separate from the bellows, into which wind chest the reeds open and the tone has room to expand and perfect itself into the full round tone, similar to the flute or pipe organ, even, smooth firm and mellow; and this tone from reeds cannot be obtained in any other way known. Nothing so annoys a true organist as to have the volume of sound swelling and jerking spasmodically with every variation of force on the bellows or air passages, instead of a wind- or sound box. And yet some makers even go so far as to claim this spasmodic or emotional jerking of the bellows or the reeds as an excellence, just as though the [illegible] that it must [illegible] and in jerking the bellows; and as though it were not an easier matter to obtain a much better and more easily managed swell by other methods. [illegible] organ so called, or a melodeon which has the wind acting directly upon the reeds, is nothing more or less than a huge accordeon, [illegible] And when organists and true musicians become aware of the fact that they can obtain those that are organs in fact as well as in name they will buy no more of the objectionable ones. Then again the swell should always be separate and distinct from the bellows, so as not to be acted on by the hand, [illegible] but convenient so that the player can use it with the knee, separate from the hands or feet, and they always under easy control, to be used ad libitum.

The large divided bellows, or double bellows, [illegible] very important improvement. By this means not only can the wind be supplied more evenly, but with far greater ease to the performer, from the fact that either bellows alone is sufficient for the lightest [illegible] the player to change [illegible] bellows is of a requisite large size, and having the wind chest [illegible] will be well [illegible] As to the reeds, they must be scientifically tuned and voiced [illegible] all the other good qualities in the [illegible] instrument. The inquiry now very naturally arises, where can the organ be procured combining all these essential and desirable qualities? There is only one possessing these points and that is the AMERICAN ORGAN manufactured by S. D. & H. W. SMITH, of Boston. SIBERIA OTT, Wholesale Agent, 581 Broadway, New York. [illegible]

This feature the makers have patented, and [illegible] They also have the largest and best divided bellows in use, which is another important feature. No part of their work is slighted [illegible] no expense or pains spared to make the American Organs perfect [illegible] mechanically, and judging from the immense sale of them at present, they bid fair [illegible] maintain [illegible] superior [illegible] We would most heartily advise all [illegible] SIBERIA OTT, the Wholesale Agent, at No. 581 Broadway, New York, and [illegible] will, in the most gentlemanly and truthful manner, impart to them all the information they may desire relative to this truly delightful instrument.

UPWARDS.

Who shall tell my love I love her?
Lo! she stands—
Heaven's own rainbow arch above her,
Palm boughs budding in her hands,
Flowers beneath her rested feet,
Thornless Eden flowers and sweet.

Who shall tell my love I love her?
Such sweet song
Angel lips are chanting over,
This new saint amid their throng;
Scarcely will they change their strain
Counting human love so vain.

Who shall tell my love I love her?
Shall the lark,
Starting from his grassy cover
While the skies are grey and dark?
Nay; mine own song soars as high
As the brown lark's minstrelsy.

Who shall tell my love I love her?
Shall the breeze?
That most sweet but thriftless rover,
Does it stir the living trees?
Can my message thus be given?
Nay, the breeze blows under heaven.

Who shall tell my love I love her?
Shall not I?
When life's fever-sleep is over,
And my soul's glad open eye,
Darts through blue and amber space
Searching looks for her dear face!

Who shall tell my love I love her
Very soon—
Human words no more may move her,
But my spirit lips shall tune
Songs of love as high and sweet,
Songs of love as pure and meet,
As angel's own, her ears to greet—
I shall tell my love I love her.

For the Union.

Did the World make Itself—A School Dialogue.

BY S. C. WELCOME.

(George sits in a deep study.)

Flora—George, what makes you look so sober,
Are your friends all dead and gone?
Tell us what you're thinking over,
While you're musing thus alone.

Laura—Yes, George, I too feel quite curious,
Now to have you speak and tell,
Why you sit so deeply musing,
Havn't your school-mates used you well?

Sarah—Come, rouse up George, from your study
Why, how stupid you appear;
Tell us quick of what you're dreaming,
Else I'll come and box your ear.

George—Well girls, I've been busy thinking,
What a curious world we're in;
Who has made this vast creation?
When did such a work begin?

Who has made the starry heavens,
And the earth on which we move;
Sure all animated nature
Says there is a God above.

Flora—Why, this earth you stupid fellow
Has been growing many years;
Many years, yes, many millions!
Till it now quite large appears.

Yes geologists now tell us
That the earth was once quite small;
That a cloud of fiery atoms
Cooled and formed into a ball.

Then this ball kept growing larger,
Needing no creating hand;
Having in itself the power,
To create the sea and land.

Laura—Sister Flora, you're mistaken,
I have read as well as you,
Once this earth was but a fire mist
Shining much as comets do.

This fire mist formed into granite,
When it cooled so long ago;
Then great earthquakes broke its surface,
Forming mountains high and low,

Heavy rains then washed this surface,
Forming then the clay and soil;
Out of this grows vegetation,
Which requites the laborers toil.

Henry—Yes, girls, now you think you've done it,
Telling how the world was made;
But who made the living creatures?
Not a word by you is said.

Do you think men grew spontaneous,
Shooting up from mother earth?
Growing up like little saplings,
Or did nature give them birth?

George—Now, girls, I think Henry's got you,
For I don't believe you know,
How so many living creatures
On the earth were caused to grow.

Flora—Well, sir, if you did but know it,
There is life in every thing;
Man and beast, the trees and flowers,
And the birds that sweetly sing.

Life in all things was inherent,
From the earth themselves they formed;
Growing from the dusty pebbles,
As the heat their life blood warmed.

Laura—Pshaw! what nonesense, sister Flora,
You think animals once were stone;
I can use much better logic,
From the earth we all have grown.

I have read that living creatures
Once were like the tender grass,
Growing from the earth spontaneous
Changing forms, though very fast.

Soon they grew to plants and roses,
Giving fragrance all around;
Then they changed to little tadpoles,
Then to frogs that hop around.

Quickly then they grew to monkeys,
Then into the black baboon;
Next they changed to little niggers,
Then to Indians, all so brown.

But the next great change was final,
For 'twas made from brown to white;
Here we get our fine complexions,
Say, now Sis, am I not right?

Henry—Well, now girls, I tell you truly,
Some geologists are true;
But I think that many of them
Know no more than some of you.

All the greatest men among them,
With the Bible do agree,
That a great and live creator
Formed the heavens, earth and sea.

George—(to the girls.)
That's what I'd been pondering over,
When you came and spoke to me;
And my soul was lost in wonder,
Oh! how powerful God must be!

You've been talking silly twaddle,
I don't care how much you've read
How mankind were once small tadpoles,
Growing up as you have said.

You from them may have descended,
I such origin don't claim;
God from dust created Adam,
Man was what God called his name.

Now when lost in meditation,
Thinking of the works of God,
How he made all living creatures,
And the heavens he spread abroad,

I believe the bible story,
Of his goodness and his love;
His works through all nature praise him,
And angels sing his praise above.

Flora & Laura—George, we won't give up the Bible,
And with you we will agree,
That God was the all-wise creator,
Who formed the air, the earth and sea.

Garden City, Feb. 4th, 1867.

Not Mercy, but Justice.

MR. EDITOR—SIR: Coming into your place last evening an entire stranger I found in your paper, written by a "subscriber," an article upon Spiritualism which is so grossly unjust to us, as a people, that I feel called upon to reply. If "subscriber" is a christian he had better read what the Revelator says about "all liars." "Subscriber" says Mr. Wheeler said, "Drunkenness is just as good as soberness," etc. Now, Mr. Wheeler said no such thing. He makes some wholesale statements in reference to our lecturers, which may possibly be true of some individuals, but is not true of us as a class, and then utters his protest by saying that "they had not gone high enough or deep enough into their Spiritualism. He insisted, that as a convention they should clear themselves from the region of tobacco smoke, and smoke of all kinds, and rise a little higher into the domain of spirituality. He wished to see their standard lifted upward. He apprehended that there would be no trouble with the appetites and passions of the body, if Spiritualism was once understood. He apprehended, also, that they must rise up to a clear recognition of the power of the spiritual and "seek first the kingdom of heaven and its righteousness." Mr. Wheeler did say that "hell itself, if only raised high enough, became the golden floor of heaven," and it is the only sentence imputed to him, that "subscriber" has quoted correctly, and what is there so terrible in this? It is simply a figure of speech showing the speaker's faith in the renovating power of truth and purity. To raise a thing spiritually is to purify it, but if "subscriber" wishes to make the interpretation literal, we will consent to it upon the condition that the following shall be interpreted literally, "Christ formed within us the hope of glory."

Mr. Perry said, "As a spiritualist, I have yet to learn that we hold anything sacred." "Subscriber" has quoted this nearly correct but taking it from its connection, makes it mean what the speaker never intended. If we make all things sacred, whether we eat or drink, do all to the glory of God, how can an especial sacredness be attached to days, books, forms and ceremonies, and it was in this sense that the speaker used the word. But why quote only those two as the standard by which to judge us? Why not quote from the next speaker who is reported at any length? Mr. Finney, of Ohio, takes issue with Mr. Wheeler in his statements in reference to what has been advocated by our lecturers, says that he has been a worker in the cause for fifteen years, and that he has never advocated, nor heard others advocate anything of the kind. He objects also to Mr. Perry in what he says of the the term "sacred" and the Convention sustained him by passing the resolution under discussion. Now, common honesty, to say nothing of the high claim made for the term christian, would have given the decision of that convention as a body, and not garbled extracts from what was said by two persons in the process of their discussions, as the index of the moral status of Spiritualists. But suppose we give the resolution as adopted by the representatives of what "subscriber" calls "the worst of heresies":

WHEREAS, Spiritualism is the subjugation of the carnal to the spiritual, the animal to the God in man; therefore,

Resolved, That as Spiritualists we are sacredly bound to cease from all practices that tend to develop and strengthen the carnal, or animal, at the expense of the spiritual or divine element of our natures.

In reference to "subscriber's" quotation from Lizzie Doten, I have not the facts in the case, and cannot say whether correct or not, but if no more so than his other quotations, it is not infallible; and as to destroying souls, I will simply say that we do not think such a thing possible; if we did, I should tremble for "subscriber's" soul.

MRS. LOIS WAISBROOKER.

Reply to "A Subscriber."

EDITOR UNION: In your issue of Feb 1st you publish some remarks written by "a subscriber," in which he says some pretty severe things of Spiritualism. Evidently the writer knows nothing of what he attempts to enlighten the public upon, or he wishes to counteract the holy influence which the publication of the lecture he refers to, was having in the community by a sophistical and dishonest mode of placing the remarks quoted before your readers. Viewing the matter from a purely orthodox stand point, his remarks might be received with some semblance of truth. But it should be borne in mind, that as spiritualists we entirely ignore that view of the subject, and claim the public have no right to judge us by it. We believe hell and heaven to be fables except as conditions of the human soul. Understanding this, it is not difficult to arrive at satisfactory conclusions in relation to the remarks of Mr. Wheeler, in which he said "hell itself, if you raise it high enough, becomes the golden floor of heaven." In these remarks it is easy for any person, of the most common intelligence, to see that the speaker had reference to the low, and down-trodden condition of the human race, and the probability of their elevation to a state of purity and loveliness; and not to the local orthodox hell, "subscriber" would have the readers of your paper believe. In the one line quoted from the remarks of Mr. Perry, in which he says that "he has yet to learn as a Spiritualist, that there is anything held sacred," had he quoted sufficient of the remarks of Mr. Perry, he would have shown his meaning, which was that we hold nothing too sacred for investigation. But this would have proven too much to have suited his purpose which evidently was to treat the question unfairly and as far as possible prejudice the public against our beautiful and divine religion. Why do men professing the possession of all there is of godliness, and to be the expounders of the Christ principle, resort to such unfair means as garbled extracts? Why did not "subscriber," if he wished to treat the subject fairly, quote from the lecture of Dean Clark, the publishing of which seems to have so aroused his holy horror? Was it not, that in that lecture he could find nothing but the purest and most elevating thought? the most beautiful christian teaching? Was it not because in that he could find nothing on which to base his malignant slanders, upon a large and respectable class of men and women through the United Stated and the civilized world?

Now, Mr. Editor, it should be distinctly understood, that spiritualists are bound by no creeds, that they subscribe to no articles of faith, but that every man and every woman is as free as the air we breathe, to think and express their thoughts, responsible only to themselves and their God. As a class, we do not hold ourselves responsible for the sayings or doings of individuals. But our great offense seems to be that we cannot accept as a truth the many dogmas of our orthodox friends, among which is a belief in the theory that man may spend a whole life on earth, in the commission of all the crimes in the catalogue, and at the last hour, cast them upon an innocent person, and pass from the lowest depths of pollution, a perfect being into heaven and the immediate presume of that God which they say cannot look upon sin with the least degree of allowance." We believe there are no atonements, no shedding of innocent blood which can wash out the guilt and stain of a broken law, but that the penalty must be endured in the future life, and the work performed necessary to the salvation of the sinning soul. In league with hell! If "subscriber" means to be understood as referring to his bottomless pit, of liquid fire and brimstone, and his sooty and satanic majesty of cloven-foot notoriety, we most respectfully demur, for we wish to be understood, as taking no stock in his majesty's dominions. But upon the other hand, if he has reference to the lowly and suffering millions of earth, and those of a similar condition, who have passed on, then we accept it as truth and proclaim to the world, that we are in league with humanity everywhere, and with the good in the world of souls, for the elevation, purification and perfection, of humanity everywhere, here and in the life beyond.

MEDFORD, Jan. 22.—A horrible tragedy occurred here to-day. Mr. B. Hale, of this place, having been absent from home, returned on the forenoon train. He entered the house, and meeting his wife, addressed her wildly: "I can't stand it!" which frightened her, but she did not lose her presence of mind. She saw he was nervous, and closely watched him. She left the room for a moment for an errand, and on returning discovered that he had escaped. She went immediately in pursuit, and in her search entered one of the chambers, in the second story, and to her horror, saw her husband hanging by the neck with a strap fastened to the top of the door. The inmates being alarmed, he was removed, but life was extinct. No other cause is known for the commission of the deed but insanity.

The Mankato Union.

FRIDAY, - - FEBRUARY 15, 1867.

W. B. GRISWOLD. - Editor and Prop'r.

CROWDED.

We are this week very much crowded with advertising, and items of news are necessarily crowded out. As some of our old contracts are about expiring we shall soon have more room.

HO! FOR MONTANA!

Mankato the Principal Rendesvous.

Capt. B. B. Davy, Commander of the Montana Expedition, was in town last Friday, being on his return home to Blue Earth City, from a tour east where he has been traveling and arranging for the Montana trip. It is the intention of the Captain to make Mankato his chief headquarters, and next week he will be here and remain some time in furthering the enterprise, and perfecting the organization. He has already secured the services of two eminent physicians who will accompany the expedition, one of whom is Dr. Wilson of St. Paul. Hazen's band of St. Paul is also engaged, and no pains will be spared to make the trip pleasant as well as profitable. Those who desire to pay their passage, can do so at the rate of $125 including 50 pounds of freight. For those who furnish their own teams, the fee will be $10 for adults and $5 for children. Upon payment of this amount the Captain gives a receipt substantially in the following form:

DATE————————.

Received of ———————— the sum of ———— which entitles him to a place in Captain P. B. Davy's Expedition to Montana, and secures to him all the privileges pertaining to said expedition, freeing him from providing medical aid, hiring guides or paying any expenses incurred in getting up and organizing the expedition.

As an evidence of interest manifested in the expedition, the Captain showed us 15 letters coming in one mail addressed to his secretary, Hon. J. P. Wakefield. During his absence his wife writes him that there are 100 letters awaiting an answer at Blue Earth City. Col. Kelly, his agent at this place enlisted ten men and five teams in one day all from this county, and still the work progresses. The route designed to be traveled is the celebrated Holmes route which is free from alkali water, and fifteen days shorter than the Abercrombie or Fisk route. Those deserving to go and wishing for further information should come directly to Mankato, and call upon Col. Kelly at the Clifton House, or address Capt. P. B. Davy, or Hon. J. B. Wakefield, Blue Earth City. The Captain will be here most of the time but as Blue Earth City is his home letters may be directed there.

IMPROVEMENT OF MINNESOTA RIVER.

The report of Gen. Warren's Government survey has been published. In his estimate for the improvement of the Minnesota river he states that at a cost of $4,500 the river may be improved from St. Paul to the rapids. Improvement of rapids with lock and dam, and improvement of river to Le Sueur, $126,000. From Le Sueur to Mankato $160,000. This would give a depth of four feet of water to this place. By removing snags and boulders, and making a dam at the rapids, at a cost of $37,500, and $20,000 per annum for dredge boat, a depth of from 2 to 3 feet can be obtained. This latter improvement would be of very little benefit to this portion of the river. A petition is in circulation in town seeking signatures, which only asks for a dam and lock at the rapids, and a dredge boat to clear the channel. We trust our citizens will not be so foolish as to sign a petition for a half loaf which will be wholly appropriated by our neighbors down river. They should demand a four foot channel to Mankato. The improvement proposed by their petition cannot materially benefit the river higher up than Henderson, and as it will be taken as the ultimatum of our desires upon that subject we had better draw up and forward a petition which will meet our own requirements.

SCHOOL BONDS.

The Governor has called the attention of the Legislature to the law in relation to school districts voting taxes or loans to erect school buildings, which required a majority of all the legal voters in the district, and prevented many districts from obtaining the needed money for schools and school houses. He recommends that the law be so changed that two thirds of the legal voters present and voting at a legally called meeting should be sufficient to determine action. We are inclined to believe that the republican doctrine, that a simple majority shall rule, is, after all the tinkering incident to this subject, the best that can be adopted. As the law stands now, a majority of the voters in the district must be obtained. It is difficult to determine when a majority have voted, as the population is constantly floating out and into the district. The Governor's suggestion improves the present law, but it still militates much against education and public mental development to require a two-thirds vote upon the subject of building a school house. More than one half and by far the most respected and intelligent half may be debarred the privilege of educating their children by a very few who have no taste for learning. As long as the building of a school house can be of no possible public disadvantage, a majority of the voters in a district should be allowed to build it.

LEGISLATIVE.

The Normal School bill allowing Mankato to issue bonds, has passed the Senate and is working its way through the house.

On Tuesday last, the birth day of Abraham Lincoln, the legislature adjourned to hear a lecture by Capt. Johns, upon the "Life and character of Abraham Lincoln."

Mr Yates presented a petition of R. W. Montgomery and thirty-seven others of the county of Watonwan, asking that a term of the district court may be established in that county. Referred to Judiciary committee.

Mr. Reed, from the special committee to whom was referred the bill to attach Brown county to Blue Earth for judicial purposes, reported favorably to the passage of the Bill with an amendment, attaching the same to Nicollet instead of Blue Earth.

The Omaha Republican says Captain North has been authorized to raise a battalion of Pawnee Indians for service on the plains, and that he has commenced the work with fine prospects of success.

FROM GARDEN CITY.

By our own Reporter.

MR. EDITOR:—While reading in your paper from week to week communications from different towns in Blue Earth County, I have thought that perhaps it would be interesting to some of your readers to hear more often from Garden City, therefore I have thought best to write occasionally and keep them posted as to our improvements, and any little incident that may occur from week to week.

The improvements of the last year have not been great, yet we think we have done very well. Ten new dwelling houses have been built. Ten more have been more or less improved by additions &c, and three barns have been built. Four stores have also been erected, and three of them occupied; also one steam saw mill, one storehouse, and one ice house. T. G. Quayle has constructed a new dam at his mill. Harrington & Loveland have also improved their dam and also their mill. Thirty families have moved into the village the past year, and but one family has left town. We have now in town three dry-goods stores, one occupied by J. M. Thompson, one by Ray & Williams, and one by Boynton & Cheney. Also one drug store occupied by Clark and Son. S. C. Welcome has also fitted up his building formerly leased to A. B. Barney, and used as a drug store, and in company with his brother Dr. Welcome, is about to fill it with drugs, medicines, books and stationery, under the firm of S. C. Welcome & Co. Dr. Welcome will also occupy it as his office, and make out prescriptions for the sick. T. J. Andrews, dentist, also has an office in the building and will attend to filling teeth &c.

There is now in the town four physicians, one dentist, one milliner, one real estate agent. Also one hotel, which we are not ashamed of. Two blacksmith shops, one shoe shop, one cooper shop, two flouring mills, one steam mill, and one carpenter's shop. We have had a harness shop until this week, but we understand that it is about to become a saloon much to the dissatisfaction of our citizens.

We have no churches yet, but the Baptists have just commenced getting out timber for a church. We have as yet no school house, except the old log barracks and of this we ought to be ashamed, and many of us are. We have two good public schools, with competent teachers this winter, also a good select school. We have also a very flourishing Union Sunday School at Farmer's Hall, and a good singing school, taught by Edson Gerry.

We have a very healthy little place, no fevers and but very little sickness of any kind. There has been but one funeral this winter, and yet physicians have considerable practice in the country. Dr. Welcome has a very large field to ride in, he rides to Jackson, Butternut Valley, Madelia, Vernon, Shelbyville, Willow creek and some in Martin County.

No incident worthy of note has transpired the past week; times are dull and sleighing is good.

Garden City, Feb. 12th, 1867.

JAIL BILL.—The jail bill has passed both houses, and will doubtless receive the sanction of the Governor. It provides for issuing the bonds payable in three years at farthest. This will bring in most of the homestead lands to share taxation for their payment. It provides further, that the question as to where the county seat shall be located, shall be submitted to a vote of the people, at the town election in April next. There has been some muttering among the citizens of Mankato in reference to raising the county seat issue, which has found ventillation through the columns of the UNION. Further reflection we think has induced our people, under the circumstances, to concede the propriety of submitting the question to the people. In view of the conflicting interests, our delegation, in passing the bill in this shape, have compromised the difficulties with tact and shrewdness, giving all parties a chance to try their claims upon their merits.

STATE ITEMS.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—A little boy by the name of Willie Walter, was drowned night before last at the upper bridge. Willie was sliding down hill and fell into a hole that had been cut to water horses. He was seven years old.—Minneapolis Chronicle, 9th.

Salaries of Judges.

The bill to increase the salaries of Judges of the Supreme Court to $3,000, and of the District Judges to $2,500 has passed the legislature, and only lacks the signature of the Governor to become a law. The bill received large majorities in both branches, and its justice is recognised by all who have a knowledge of the duties which these officers perform. The people want judges of ability and are willing to give them adequate remuneration for their services.—Pioneer.

The Insane Asylum.

The Joint committee, consisting of Senator Betters and Messrs. Lewis and Mitchel, who were appointed to visit the Hospital for the Insane, at St. Peter, reported that they had visited that Institution on Tuesday, the 5th inst., in connection with the Trustees, and find 48 patients there comfortably accommodated, and the Institution in good order, but now filled to its utmost capacity.

They are credibly informed that there are 25 more patients at this time that need medical attention, and would therefore recommend a liberal appropriation by the Legislature at this session, that the Trustees may at an early day commence the erection of a permanent building for the accommodation of that unfortunate class of our fellow citizens. The report was referred to the committee on Charitable institutions.

Two important bills, one repealing the amnesty power granted to the President by Sec. 13 of an act to surpress insurrection, &c., and another "to regulate the elective franchise in the territories of the United States," have become laws without the signature of the President, he having failed to return them in the time prescribed by the Constitution.

Sentence of Death of Ten Fenians.

TORONTO, C. W. Jan. 30.—The Fenians recently found guilty were to-day sentenced to be hanged on the fifth of March. The majority heard the sentence without apparent emotion. Several denied being Fenians, and stated that the testimony was false. The names of the condemned are: Patrick Norton, F. H. Maxwell, Patrick O'Neil, James Bach, Daniel Quinn, P. Ledwith, John O'Connor, John Rogan, Owen Kennedy and John Gallagher.

At Cleveland, O., a "wife agency" is in operation. It is conducted on the employment agency system, the prices ranging from $3 to $10.

Not one Cent in six years.

Our machine has been in almost constant use, for nearly six years, and has not cost one cent for repairs. It has given great satisfaction.—[Letter of Casper W. Hillman, No. 1,229 Heath st., Philadelphia, March 10, 1865 to the Wilcox & Gibbs S. M. Co.

There cometh glad tidings of joy to all,
To young and to old, to great and to small;

Is free for all, and all may be fair.*

Reparator Capilli.

Throw away your false frizzes, your switches, your wig—
Destructive of comfort, and not worth a fig;
Come aged, come youthful, come ugly and fair,
And rejoice in your own luxuriant hair.

REPARATOR CAPILLI.

For restoring hair upon bald heads (from whatever cause it may have fallen out) and forcing a growth of hair upon the face, it has no equal. It will force the beard to grow upon the smoothest face in from five to eight weeks, or hair upon bald heads in from two to three months. A few ignorant practitioners have asserted that there is nothing that will force or hasten the growth of the hair or beard. Their assertions are false, as thousands of living witnesses (from their own experience) can bear witness. But many will say, how are we to distinguish the genuine from the spurious? It certainly is difficult, as nine-tenths of the different Preparations advertised for the hair and beard are entirely worthless, and you may have already thrown away large amounts in their purchase. To such we would say, try the Reparator Capilli; it will cost you nothing unless it fully comes up to our representations. If your Druggist does not keep it, send us one dollar and we will forward it, postpaid, together with a receipt for the money, which will be returned you on application, providing entire satisfaction is not given. ASTROLOGY.

The World Astonished

AT THE WONDERFUL REVELATIONS
MADE BY THE GREAT ASTROLOGIST,

Madame H. A. Perrigo.

She reveals secrets no mortal ever knew. She restores to happiness those who, from doleful events, catastrophes, crosses in love, loss of relations and friends, loss of money, &c., have become despondent. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person.—She reads your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers unveils the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the malefic stars that overcome or predominate in the configuration—from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars in the heavens at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man. Fail not to consult the greatest Astrologist on earth. It costs you but a trifle, and you may never again have so favorable an opportunity. Consultation fee, with likeness and desired information, $1. Parties living at a distance can consult the Madame by mail with equal safety and satisfaction to themselves, as if in person. A full and explicit chart, written out, with all inquiries answered and likeness enclosed, sent by mail on receipt of price above mentioned. The strictest secresy will be maintained, and all correspondence returned or destroyed. References of the highest order furnished those desiring them. Write plainly the day of the month and year in which you were born, enclosing a small lock of hair.

MADAME REMINGTON, the world renowned Astrologist and Somnambulistic Clairvoyant, while in a clairvoyant state, delineates the very features of the person you are to marry, and by the aid of an instrument of intense power, known as the Psychomotrope, guarantees to produce a perfect and life-like picture of the future husband or wife of the applicant, with date of marriage, occupation, leading traits of character, &c. This is no imposition, as testimonials without number can assert. By stating place of birth, age, disposition, color of eyes and hair, and enclosing fifty cents, and stamped envelope addressed to yourself, you will receive the picture by return mail, together with desired information.

☞ Address in confidence, MADAME GERTRUDE REMINGTON, P. O. Box 297, West Troy, N. Y.

☞ A YOUNG LADY returning to her country home, after a sojourn of a few months in the City, was hardly recognised by her friends. In place of a coarse, rustic, flushed face, she had a soft ruby complexion of almost marble smoothness, and instead of twenty-three she really appeared but eighteen. Upon inquiry as to the cause of so great a change, she plainly told them that she used the Circassian Balm, and considered it an invaluable acquisition to any Lady's toilet. By its use any Lady or Gentleman can improve their personal appearance an hundred fold. It is simple in its combination, as Nature herself is simple, yet unsurpassed in its efficacy in drawing impurities from, also healing, cleansing and beautifying the skin and complexion. By its direct action on the cuticle it draws from it all its impurities, kindly healing the same, and leaving the surface as Nature intended it should be, clear, soft, smooth and beautiful. TOWN AND COUNTY.

FRIDAY, - - FEBRUARY 15, 1867.

Piano.—We can sell a piano new from the factory, at better rates than can be had elsewhere. Inquire at this office.

Job Press.—We have for sale a small DRUGGIST JOB PRESS, which does good work, and will be sold low.

Baptist Church.—J. G. Craven, Pastor—Services at 10½ A. M. and 7 P. M. Prayer meeting Wednesday at 7 P. M.

Reduced—At a late meeting of the village Board the town Marshal's salary was reduced from $400 per annum, to $15 per month, which is a reduction of $220 per annum, to take effect February 1st. This looks like curtailing expenses.

Dance.—A small party from St. Peter came up on Tuesday evening last, and joining a number of our citizens, had a social hop at Shoemakers Hall. Supper at the Mankato, House and all parties heartily pleased with the evenings entertainment.

Arthur's Magazine.—This interesting Home Magazine for the month of March, is received. The illustrations are new and beautiful, and miscellaneous reading of a high and interesting tone, complete the book. For sale at Smith & Humphrey's.

Drunk.—A man too drunk to be decent was ejected from the Clifton, Tuesday evening last. Next morning his wife piled him into their sled, and left for home. If our city licenses saloons, it should enjoin the public to take whisky in moderate quantities. An ordinance punishing drunkenness by a fine would have a beneficial result.

Bounty.—The first bounty under the law of July 1866, collected by any one in this vicinity was obtained this week by Buck & Freeman, Bounty and Pension Agents, for Geo. F. Sowers, and Wm. J. Martin, Co. E. 9th Minnesota Regiment. They are reliable bounty men. See advertisement elsewhere.

Festival—We have only room to say in brief that the people of Vernon will hold a festival in their new church in the evening of Feb 21st to liquidate a debt of $200 incurred by the society in building. We trust the friends of the cause will make the entertainment a success.

Improvement.—Stepping into the jewelry store of P. K. Wiser, we observed that he has added some beautiful glass show cases and shelving which gives a better opportunity to show his goods. Any improvements of our business men, should be deemed the pride of the city, and appreciated as such. Mankato can now boast of as handsome a jewelry establishment as can be found west of the Mississippi.

Land.—Elsewhere we publish the real estate card of S. E. Stebbins, of Medo. Mr. Stebbins being the county surveyor, has ample facilities for knowing the location of the Winnebago Trust Lands, and persons who wish any information as to what lands to bid on, should go at once and see Mr. Stebbins who lives a few miles south of the Agency. He also buys and sells lands on commission, and will give satisfaction to those who deal with him.

Winnebago Reserve.—The Commissioner of Indian Affairs sends us for publication the list of lands of the Winnebago Reservation, which are yet unsold, and offers them for sale at sealed bids, as per instructions which accompany the list. Elsewhere will be found the list which should be at once examined, and the bids made according to instructions in the next 30 days.

Social Gathering.—Wednesday evening last the ladies of the Presbyterian congregation met at the residence of Mr. Little to organize a social and benevolent aid society.—The gentlemen were also numerously represented. As near as we can learn the society was named The 1st Presbyterian-church-ladies'-aid,-benevolent-social-charitable financial-have a good time-association, or in other words a short road to a better acquaintance and relief society. The company was very hospitably entertained by Mrs. Little. Particulars next week.

Sale of Household Goods—Mr. Stephen Lamm, the authorized agent of Judge Lewis Branson, in this issue advertises for sale the entire household goods, and other personal property of the Judge, to take place at his residence on the 25th inst. Many valuable goods will be offered, and then will be the opportunity for bargains. In this connection we may state that the Judge and family are in San Francisco, and he contemplates selling his property and going into business there.

Wanted.—In our annual review we stated that the capacity of S. F. Barney & Co's barrel factory was 100 barrels per day. We are happy to to say that Mankato can boast of a barrel factory which can turn out one thousand barrels daily instead of a hundred. The consequence is that there is a great demand for barrel timber and hoop poles, for which the firm are advertising this week. See their card elsewhere.

Old School Church.—Last Saturday evening, Rev. Mr. Kerr of St. Peter, and Rev. Mr. Pryse of South Bend, held a meeting in Higgin's Hall, for the purpose of organizing an O. S. Presbyterian church. Thirteen persons who had recently withdrawn from the Welch Calvinistic Methodist Church of Mankato, were at their own request organized into a church to be called the 2d Presbyterian Church of Mankato. Messrs Jones, Hughs and Ellis were elected Presiding elders, who were regularly ordained at the beginning of divine service next day (Sabbath). Those constituting this church expect to enjoy the gospel in their native language, administered by the Rev. Mr. Pryse, who preaches both in Welch and English.

This new church professes that it is not their design to set themselves up in competition with any other church organization.

Mr Editor:—Notwithstanding my promise to furnish an advertisement for this week's paper, I will have to postpone doing so. I am forced to this by the too many buncomb appeals, now appearing in every paper published throughout the country.

What means this display of catch-penny headings to very nearly all the advertisements? What is the meaning of the words "More goods for one dollar than any other house,', "Goods at cost at Peter Funks." "Closing out to quit the business, at Morris Gammons," "My entire stock of Dry goods and Groceries will be sold at auction," and so on from one end of the papers to the other. Has it come to this, that merchants cannot advertise their stocks without exageration? Is it true that "people like to be humbugged", and will not believe the plain statement, that "A or B have a good stock of Dry Goods," or that J. F. Wallace keeps a "one horse Grocery," and has apples by the barrel, oysters by the case, candies of all kinds at wholesale and retail, and furthermore, that he intends to keep a good supply of the good things of the land constantly on hand, that he don't intend to quit the 'biz' until he has reached the top round on the ladder of fortune, or gone the other route to land in the "last ditch."

To avoid criticism I will only sign the letters,

P. N. S. K.

Behind the Lighthouse.

Old fogyism is not quite dead. People are still to be found who think that health is promoted by depletion! Was there ever such false logic! Nature is the grand antagonist of disease, and the depleters propose to prostrate Nature, in order, one might suppose, to give the enemy a double chance at the life of the patient! The true practice is so to invigorate the vital powers as to render them an overmatch for the elements of disease. This can be done with HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Of all vegetable tonics they are the most powerful and the most genial. At this season, when even the strongest organizations are liable to be affected by the alternations of stringent cold and malarious moisture, this inestimable protective medicine is especially needed. Persons predisposed to billiousness, dyspepsia, constipation, intermittent fever, or any of the complaints which cold weather superinduces or aggravates, should take it regularly throughout the Winter and Spring months. It is absolutely pure and harmless.

VALUABLE LANDS FOR SALE.

By the direction of the Honorable Secretary of the Interior, the undersign will receive sealed bids for the purchase of any or all the lands hereinafter described, they being among the choicest and best farming lands in Minnesota.

These lands comprise what are known as the Winnebago Trust Lands in the State of Minnesota, and will be sold to the highest and best bidders in tracts not exceeding one hundred and sixty acres each, under the provisions of a treaty concluded with the Winnebago Indians, April 15th, 1859, and an act of Congress, approved February 21st, 1863, entitled "An act for the removal of the Winnebago Indians, and for the sale of their Reservation in Minnesota for their benefit."

In case a bid is accepted, the party making the same will be notified as soon thereafter as practicable. If within thirty days after such notice the party shall fail to make payment to the undersigned, the land for which said bid was made will be subject to sale to any other person.

Patents will be issued and transmitted to purchasers as soon after payment as the same can be prepared. Payments may be made either in cash or in certificates of indebtedness of the Winnebago Indians, issued by the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, for the debt of said Indians, and secured to be paid out of the proceeds of the sale of such lands by the third article of the treaty above mentioned. The right to reject any and all bids is expressly reserved. All bids must be sealed and addressed to the undersigned, Washington City, D. C., and andorsed, "Bids for Winnebago Trust Land."

As heretofore many persons have bid upon these lands, and after the awards have been made to them have failed to respond, the Secretary of the Interior hereby dictates that all bids hereafter submitted must be accompanied by a deposit of a sum equal to ten per cent on the amount of each bid, which in case the land is awarded and the ballance not paid will be forfeited by the bidder. Should the bid be rejected the sum deposited will be returned to the unsuccessful bidder.

LATEST FASHIONS DEMAND
J. W. Bradley's Celebrated Patent
DUPLEX ELLIPTIC
(OR DOUBLE SPRING)
SKIRT.

The Wonderful Flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any Lady, wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced particularly in all crowded assemblies, Operas, Carriages, Railroad Cars, Church Pews, Arm Chairs, for Promenade and House Dress, as the Skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a silk or muslin dress, an invaluable quality in crinoline, not found in any Single Spring skirt.

A Lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort, and great convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Steel Spring Skirt for a single day, will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For Children, Misses and Young Ladies, they are superior to all others.

They will not bend or break like the Single Spring, but will preserve their perfect and graceful shape when three or four ordinary skirts will have been thrown aside as useless. The Hoops are covered with double and twisted thread, and the bottom rods are not only double springs but twice (or double) covered: preventing them from wearing out when dragging down stoops, stairs, &c.

The Duplex Elliptic is a great favorite with all ladies and is universally recommended by the Fashion Magazines as the standard skirt of the fashionable world.

To enjoy the following inestimable advantages in Crinoline, viz.: Superior Quality, Perfect Manufacture, Stylish shape and Finish, Flexibility, Durability, Comfort and Economy, enquire for J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic, or Double Spring Skirt, and be sure you get the genuine article.

CAUTION.—To guard against IMPOSITION be particular to NOTICE that skirts offered as "DUPLEX" have the red ink stamp, viz., "J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic Steel Springs," upon the waistband—none others are genuine. Also Notice that every Hoop will admit a pin being passed through the centre, thus revealing the two or double springs braided together therein, which is the secret of their flexibility and strength, and a combination not to be found in any other Skirt.

FOR SALE in all Stores where First Class skirts are sold throughout the United States and elsewhere. Manufactured by the Sole Owners of the patent,

BRIGHAM YOUNG'S WIVES.

His First, Second, Last, and several Intermediates.

Mary Angell Young is the first living and legal wife of the Prophet. She is a native of New York, and is a fine looking, intelligent woman. She is large, portly, and dignified. Her hair is well sprinkled with the frosts of age; her clear, hazel eyes and melancholy countenance indicates a soul where sorrow reigns supreme. She has been much attached to her husband, and his infidelity has made deep reads upon her mind. Her deep seated melancholy often produces flights of insanity, which increases with her declining years.

Lucy Decker Seely is the first wife in "plurality," or second "woman."

Lucy Decker was married to Isaac Seely, and had two children. She afterward became a Mormon, and went to Nauvoo to reside. Her husband (Seely) was somewhat dissipated, but treated her well. She, however, saw brother Brigham, and loved him. He visited her, told her that Seely could never give her an "exaltation" in the eternal world; that he, being "high in the priesthood," could make her a queen in the first resurrection.

She yielded to these inducements and the promptings of her inclinations, left her husband, and was "sealed" to Brigham Young.

Lucy Decker has brown hair, dark eyes, small features, a fair skin and short of stature, but quite embonpoint. She would strongly remind you of a New England house-wife, "fat, fair and forty." In common with nearly all the inmates of the harem, she is of very ordinary intellect and limited education.

Clara Decker, sister of Lucy Decker, is a short, thickset person, very much like Lucy in appearance. She is much more intelligent and agreeable than her sister, and in every way her superior. She is also quite a favorite with the Prophet; has three or four children and is much attached to her "husband."

Harriet Cook was early in plurality, having been sealed to Brigham at "Winter Quarters," on the Missouri river, while the Mormons were on their way to Utah. This was five years before polygamy was publicly proclaimed in Utah as a divine institution. Harriet is very tall, has light hair, blue eyes, a fair complexion, and sharp nose. She is rather slender, but has much power of endurance and a look of determination.—Mrs. Waite's "Mormon Prophet."

BRIGHAM YOUNG'S LAST WIFE.

[From the Milwaukee Wisconsin.]

Dr. Adonis, after various wanderings, has turned up in Utah. In a letter from the promised land, he writes under date of Nov. 22, as follows, about Brigham Young's last wife:

"I saw the President's last wife at the tabernacle on Sunday last. The lady's name ere marriage was Maria Folsom. Her former home was at Council Bluffs, Iowa. She is an imperious looking young beauty, of the Grecian rather than the Roman order, and is very imperious and jealous. Like all passionate and jealous women, she is noble-hearted. Miss Folsom is Brigham Young's last wife and pet.

Two of the President's daughters play at the theatre, and are great favorites with the Gentile portion of the community. One is married, Mrs. Clawson; and the other, Miss Jane, is single, but is being waited on by a distinguished editor."

How a Lover Won His Sweetheart

The Memphis Daily Appeal of Dec. 29th, 1866, is responsible for the following:

"Not long since a gentleman, a resident of our city, became enamored of a young lady, whose beauty was only equaled by her wit and intelligence. He obtained an introduction; was still more enchanted on conversing with her, and after paying his attentions for a short time, he proposed to her, but imagine his mortification at receiving a refusal, and without any apparent reason. It was cool weather, and our swain had an overcoat, which, in the confusion of his mind, he left behind him. He rushed home and was pondering on the disappointment of his hopes, when he received a little perfumed note from the object of his thoughts, saying that she had reconsidered her decision and would accept him. It is unnecessary for us to tell how he seized his hat and rushed to her house, where he found her waiting to receive him. After the first transports of joy had abated he ventured to ask her why she had changed her mind so suddenly, to which she replied with a smile, "After you had left I discovered you had forgotten your overcoat, and in lifting it up an open envelope fell out; I examined it and found you had purchased a couple of railroad tickets over the Erie broad-gauge railway. I immediately knew you were going to take me, after we were married, on a wedding tour; and as you selected the best road in the country to travel over, I thought a prudent man always makes a good husband, and I determined to accept you.' "

Comment is unnecessary, and we only say to our bachelor friends, when they plan for a wedding tour, to remember the action of this sensible girl, and they can easily win their sweetheart.—Ed.

The Secretary of War sent to Congress to-day the report of General Warren, relative to the survey of the Upper Mississippi and its tributaries. General Warren states that between Fort Snelling and the Rock Island Rapids, the current of the river has not been sufficient to transport the gravel therefrom. The bars are composed of sand. He recommends, as a measure of temporary relief, which may prove the most desirable, the construction of steamboats with scraping apparatus. These sand-bars act as dams, and the dredging could be controlled so as not to reduce the proof above the bar. By this means four feet could be secured to the mouth of the St. Croix, and thence to Fort Snelling three feet, at an estimate cost, for one year, $334,000. The report on the Fox and Wisconsin rivers makes out a navigable stage of low water in Wisconsin river of two feet, at an estimate to complete the improvement of $454,000; for Fox River, $1,308,000. He recommends a dredging boat in this river.

A great Reform demonstration is to be made in London on the 11th inst. The bitterness of the popular feeling is undisguised. Placards are shown on the streets saying, "Men without votes are serfs." Every personal regard for the Queen is eclipsed by the Reform furore. The Queen has resolved to appear more in public. A series of royal receptions is announced.

The fourth of March is close at hand and from all appearances the Thirty-ninth Congress will cease to exist without settling the vital question of reconstruction. The honor will devolve upon its successor.

DR. SCHENCK'S

PULMONIC SYRUP.

This great medicine cured Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, the Proprietor, of Pulmonary Consumption, when it had assumed its most formidable aspect, and when speedy death appeared to be inevitable. His physicians pronounced his case incurable when he commenced the use of this simple but powerful remedy. His health was restored in a very short time, and no return of the disease has been apprehended, for all the symptoms quickly disappeared, and his present weight is more than two hundred pounds.

Since his recovery, he has devoted his attention exclusively to the cure of Consumption and the diseases which are usually complicated with it, and the cures effected by his medicines have been very numerous and truly wonderful. Dr. SCHENCK makes professional visits to several of the larger cities weekly, where he has a large concourse of patients, and it is truly astonishing to see poor consumptives that have to be lifted out of their carriages, and in a few months healthy, robust persons. Dr. SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEAWEED TONIC, and MANDRAKE PILLS are generally all required in curing Consumption. Full directions accompany each, so that any one can take them without seeing Dr. Schenck, but when it is convenient it is best to see him. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer his fee is three dollars.

Please observe, when purchasing, that the two likenesses of the Doctor—one when in the last stage of Consumption, and the other as he now is, in perfect health—are on the Government stamp.

Sold by all Druggists and Dealers. Price $1.50 per bottle, or [illegible] the half dozen. Letters for advice should always be directed to Dr. Schenck's Principal Office, No. 15 North 6th St., Philadelphia, Pa. General Wholesale Agents: Demas Barnes & Co., N. Y.; S. S. LIQUID

CATARRH REMEDY

SYMPTOMS.

The symptoms of Catarrh are at first very slight. Persons find they have a cold, that they have frequent attacks, and are more sensitive to the changes of the temperature. In this condition the nose may be dry, or a slight discharge thin and acrid, afterwards thick and adhesive, may ensue.

As the disease becomes chronic, the discharges are increased in quantity and changed in quality; they are now thick and heavy, and hawked or coughed off. The secretions are offensive, causing a bad breath; the voice thick and nasal; the eyes are weak; the sense of smell is lessened or destroyed; deafness frequently takes place.

Another common and important symptom of Catarrh is, that the person is obliged to clear his throat in the morning of a slick or slimy mucous, which has fallen from the head during the night. When this takes place, the person may be sure that his disease is on its way to the lungs, and should lose no time in arresting it.

The above are but a few of the many Catarrhal symptoms. Write to our Laboratory for our pamphlet describing fully all symptoms; it will be sent FREE to any address. Also directions where to procure the medicine.

We are receiving letters from all parts of the Union, and also numerous testimonials from those using it, bearing the evidence of its infallible merits;

FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE CO.
100 WASHINGTON ST., CHICAGO.
Wm. H. SHARP & CO.,
GENERAL AGENTS.

THE FLORENCE is the only machine extant having a reversible feed, which enables the operator to sew either to the right or left at pleasure, and the only machine that makes a perfectly elastic seam, alike on each side of the fabric.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE not only makes the lock-stitch, but three others, which for certain kinds of work are much superior, especially where elasticity is required and is the only machine that fastens the ends of each seam securely, and does it in one-fourth the time it can be done by hand.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE, does not draw fine, thin goods down through the slot or hole in the work-plate nor drop a stitch in turning a corner, and is the only machine having a changeless tension, and no slack threads both of which draw together simultaneously.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE is noiseless, and can be used when quiet is necessary as well in the sick-chamber as in the workroom. They oil no dresses, the machinery being all on the top of the table. It will sew over the heaviest seams, or from one to more thicknesses of goods, without skipping stitches, breaking threads or requiring change in tension.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE will do easily all family and tailoring work on one and the same machine. They are strong and finely finished,—their motions are all positive, there are no springs to get out of order.—while for strength, durability & beauty of design it will bear, and welcome, comparison, with any or all machines.

AMERICAN ORGANS.

(From "Godey's Ladies' Book," February, 1866.)

REED ORGANS, &c.

THE following remarks and suggestions relative to this immensely popular instrument will doubtless interest and profit very many of our readers: we commend the article to their careful perusal:—

A hundred and one makers of Organs, Cottage, Parlor-Cabinet, American, School Organs etc. etc., are each claiming to make the best instrument in the world. Being comparatively a new instrument, as at present constructed, we are convinced the public are much less capable of judging of its merits, or demerits, than of most other instruments. If there is really an essential difference in them, if there are some worthless ones, the public should have some criterion for judging of them, some facts which will enlighten them. We cheerfully concede the space for this article, knowing that there is hardly a family, or church, or school in all the land, but is more or less interested in this topic. We are also aware of its being a great misfortune, a real calamity, to any of them to purchase an inferior or worthless Organ, ruinous to good playing, and often a source of much annoyance and vexation We know this article to emanate from a candid and intelligent source, and thus we give it to our readers.

The question is often asked, what are "reed organs?" We answer, they are, in most cases nothing in the world but the old melodeon in disguise. Many of the so called Organs have the same bellows, the same reeds, and the same general internal arrangement. With the bellows turned on edge to gain room, they have simply put on a more pretentious exterior and a more high sounding name But an organ to be in reality an organ, must have a wind chest or reservoir for air separate from the bellows, into which wind chest the reeds open, and the tone has room to expand and perfect itself into the full round tone, similar to the flute or pipe organ, even, smooth firm and mellow; and this tone from reeds cannot be obtained in any other way known. Nothing so annoys a true organist as to have the volume of sound swelling and jerking spasmodically with every variation of force on the bellows or air-passages, instead of a wind- or sound box. And yet some makers even go so far as to claim this spasmodic or automatic jerking of the bellows on the reeds as an excellence, just as though they did not know that it must soon throw the reeds out of tune, and injure the bellows; and as though it were not an easier matter to obtain a much better and more easily managed swell by other methods. The truth is, any organ, so called, or melodeon which has the wind acting directly upon the reeds, is nothing more or less than a huge accordeon, dress it up as you may. And when organists and true musicians become aware of the fact that they can obtain those that are organs in fact as well as in name they will buy no more of the objectionbel ones. Then again the swell should always be separate and distinct from the bellows, so as not to be acted on by the hand, or soft blowing, but convenient, so that the player can use it with the knee, separate from the hands or feet, and thus always under easy control, to be used ad libitum.

The large divided bellows, or double bellows, is also a very important improvement —

By this means not only can the wind be supplied more evenly, but with far greater ease to the performer, from the fact that either bellows alone will be sufficient for the lighter melodies, thus permitting the player to change about and rest the feet at will; then, if the bellows is of a requisite large size, and having the wind-chest or reservoir, all will be well — As to the reeds, they must be scientifically tuned and voiced, or all the other good qualities in the world cannot produce a good toned instrument. The inquiry now very naturally arises, where can the organ be procured combining all these essential and desirable qualities? There is only one possessing these points and that is the AMERICAN ORGAN, made by S. D. & H. W. SMITH, of Boston, SIBERIA OTT, Wholesale Agent, 581 Broadway, New York. These organs have a wind chest extending the whole length of the instrument, and so constructed as to act at the same time as a reverberating sound-box or board and having the same important relation and part to perform that the sounding-board has to the piano This feature the makers have patented, and to it are owing in a great measure the entirely unequaled fullness and richness of tone so highly prized by all who have used these organs. They also have the largest and best divided bellows in use, which is another important feature. No part of their work is slighted no expense or pains spared to make the American Organs perfect musically, as well as mechanically, and, judging from the immense sale of them at present, they bid fair to long maintain the proud position they have won by superior merit alone. We would most heartily advise all interested to call upon or address MR SIBERIA OTT, the Wholesale Agent, at No. 581 Broadway, New York, and can assure them he will, in the most gentlemanly and truthful manner, impart to them all the information they may desire relative to this truly delightful instrument.

WOMAN'S LOVE.

Much has been written about woman's love, but we doubt if that "glory of a woman" was ever so forcibly expressed in a few words as in the following stanzas:

Come from your long, long roving,
  On the seas so wild and rough;
Come to me tender and loving,
  And I shall be blessed enough.

Where your sails have been unfurling,
  What winds have blown on your brow,
I know not, and ask not, my darling,
  So that you come to me now.

Sorrowful, sinful and lonely,
  Poor and despised though you be,
All are nothing, if only
  You turn from the tempter to me.

Of men though you be unforgiven,
  Though priest be unable to shrive,
I'll pray till I weary all heaven,
  If you only come back alive.

Indignation of the People.

The Unnatural Parent and his Paramour Admitted to Bail.

UNBROKEN AFFECTION OF THE CHILD FOR HER FATHER.

[From the Norwich (Conn.) Advertiser.]

The people of Norwich and the surrounding towns have for some days been unwontedly excited by the development of an occurrence which for brutality and coldblooded humanity, is not exceeded by anything recorded outside the pages of Fox's Martyrs. Nothing but the steady habits and law abiding character of our citizens prevented the infliction of summary vengeance upon the perpetrators of the acts we are about to relate.

Charles C. Williams, the man now confined in the County Jail on charge of attempting the life of his own child, is an old resident of Norwich, and was formerly an industrious and much respected citizen. But the natural tendency of his mind began to exhibit itself some years since in his ultra opinions upon religious and political subjects, and he finally became an enthusiast on the subject of spiritualism, adopting all the vagaries of the sect, including its loathsome "free-love" doctrine, which he not only advocated among his neighbors, and in his own household, but put into practical operation beneath his own roof. He is said to have had several partners since the death of his wife.

His last affinity was a Miss Mary A. Mann, from Massachusetts, who claims to be a relative of the late Horace Mann, and from her course of conduct we think it probable there is some ground for the claim she sets up.—She is about forty years of age, and is said to be a woman of tolerable education, and capable of appearing in an amiable manner when she wills, but wearing talons under the silken gloves.

Williams owned a house on Bean Hill, and his well known sentiments caused it to be made a rendezvous for the "free lovers" of this section. At times, it is said, there would be four or five "philosophers" there with their "affinities," and it was quite natural that the neighbors who had not been converted to the beauties of this style of "progressive development" should look unkindly upon the orgies constantly enacted before their eyes.

Mrs. Williams, who will be remembered as a petite woman, used to appear on our streets in the mongrel costume advocated by strong-minded women and rattle-headed men. She appears to have acquiesced in her husband's wishes, but whether she entered fully into his views we are unable to say. One of her sisters was thoroughly converted, and became attached to an "affinity" in the shape of a typo, with whom she left town, and, in a neighboring city rejoices in the possession of several children. Mrs. Williams died some years ago, it was said of consumption.—Whether the dungeon in which his daughter Eunice was confined had been contrived previous to her death or not, we cannot say, but it is unfortunate in view of the late expose, that no physician was called to the bedside of the dying woman. Williams does not appear to have deeply mourned his bereavement, and after some unsuccessful experiments found his "affinity" in the person so inaptly named. With her he has lived in the most intimate relations ever since she came to his house, and whether through her influence or not, is uncertain, but the fact is, that since she came the child Eunice has been subjected to constant ill-treatment, culminating in the apparently deliberate attempt to take her life by starvation.

About 7 o'clock, Thursday morning, the 10th inst., as Mr. Charles W. Denison was passing the house of Williams he saw something fall upon the snow drift in the yard, and for the moment thought some of the inmates, who were in the habit of doing queer things, had thrown a bed from the window. Looking at the object he saw it move, and soon perceived that it was the daughter of Williams, a beautiful and intelligent child, about thirteen years of age, who had risen to her feet and was attempting to advance toward him. She was without shoes, and clad only in a night-dress, with an old shawl about her head and shoulders. The lower part of her head was covered with blood, which was running from her nostrils and from a wound in her lip which she had bitten in her agony while writhing under the lash of her tormentors, and she was so sadly changed by emaciation and the cruel treatment to which she had been subjected, as to be scarcely recognizable as the bright, healthy and robust girl of a few short weeks before. As Mr. Denison approached, the child clapped her hands and exclaimed, "O, Mr. Denison, don't let my father and that woman get me; they are trying to murder me." Mr. David Keeley was called, and the two gentlemen raised the child in their arms, and after a moment's consultation, concluded to take her into the house. The expression of this intention seemed to cause utter despair in the heart of the girl, and her head dropped, apparently in a fainting fit. The impression of those who had picked her up was that the child had jumped out of the window in the delirium of fever. On the way to the door they met a man with a pail of water he had drawn from Mr. Geo. Loom's well, and the girl pleaded for a drink, saying she could take it right out of the pail.

As the man held up the water she plunged her face into it, and drank with avidity, and Mr. Denison, still under the impression that she was ill from fever, felt obliged to stop her, when she begged for one more swallow, saying it tasted "so good." The poor thing said she had not tasted food or drink for two days and three nights. Miss Mann appeared at the door, and, in answer to an inquiry, affirmed that the child had been sick. She was taken into the house, and Miss Mann was asked where her bed was, that she might be immediately placed in it. She said all the beds were "airing." Mr. Keeley went to call Williams, and being gone a long time, Mr. Denison, after giving the invalid a little stimulant, went out to seek the father, met him near the house, and told him what had occurred. He did not seem surprised, and went into the house, Mr. D. following. Williams, instead of directing anything for the relief of the child, took hold of her wrists and told Mr. Denison he didn't need his assistance. It was suggested that a physician should be called, but Williams refused with many oaths, and ordered Mr. Denison out of the house. He went, but soon returned with others, and met Williams on the way, who explained that the child was not "sick" in the ordinary sense of the term. He said, "Her mother was d—— ugly, and she has inherited her disposition. It shows how d—— ugly she is—her jumping out of the window." He desired to place Mr. Denison under an injunction of secresy, saying it would ruin him if it got into the papers. The two (W. and D.) then went into the house, Williams refusing to let in any others of the party. Williams having told Mr. Denison he could ask the child any question he saw fit, Mr. D. said to her: "Eunice, I want you to tell me whether you meant what you said when you told me your father and this woman were trying to kill you?" She burst into tears and said, apparently terrified by the presence of the father and the woman: "My father says he punished me because I was a naughty girl.' "Well, what did you do?" "O, I stole some meat. Wasn't that what you cow-hided me for, papa?" At this point Williams sprang from the sofa and with an oath, declared that it was none of Denison's business, and that he shouldn't ask her any more questions. Mr. D. replied that he had his permission, and meant to know the truth of the matter. "Well' said Williams "let her tell the story about the meat." Eunice said: "It was Monday, wasn't it papa, that you cow-hided me for stealing the meat? I was starved almost to death, and stole down stairs and got a pig's foot to gnaw upon." While relating this, the poor child again broke out in sobs and tears. This was enough, and Mr. Denison left, to procure the services of an officer.

It has been learned since this discovery, that Williams had attempted to indoctrinate his daughter his favorite theory that men women, and children should associate as freely as the brute creation. There are apparently well authenticated reports in this connection, too indecent for publication. Being an intelligent and pure-minded child, Eunice revolted at the loathsome teachings of her father and expressed an ardent desire to attend a Christian Sabbath School. Williams and his "affinity" were exasperated by the unyielding rectitude of the child, and undertook to 'break her will.'

To carry out this purpose, they confined her in a sort of dungeon in the garret, about three feet by eight, and kept her there for three weeks during the terribly cold, freezing weather, with no shoes and inadequate clothing, strictly forbiding her to pound her feet on the floor to keep them from freezing! She was generally let out at night to sleep in a bed, but sometimes was kept there all night. In addition to this cruel confinement, the child was put on a regimen of a quart of thin gruel per day. Her complaints became so annoying to the unnatural father that he finally forbade her speaking to him for forty-eight hours, under penalty of deprivation of the gruel. Next morning, when given her gruel, she asked: "Papa, can't I have a crust of bread to eat with this?" This 'willful disobedience' so enraged the father that he took away the food—if such it can be called—and resorted to the gag and rawhide. A gag was forced into the mouth of the helpless child, so that she was unable to utter a sound, her hands were bound tightly behind her, and a rawhide applied with such force as to draw blood at every stroke. Williams and the Mann woman took turns in the work of castigation, and the little sufferer writhed and struggled under the blows, lacerating her wrists and causing the blood to settle in her hands. What must have been the feelings of that unfortunate child, bound and gagged, subjected to a blood-drawing lash, and unable to utter a sound!—We have no patience to comment upon an exhibition so like "total depravity."

Having inflicted this fearful punishment, or rather torture, Williams deprived his child of all the food and drink; and for three nights and two days, not a morsel passed her lips.—The condition to which this brought her, after what she had already endured, may be imagined, it cannot be described.

Becoming convinced at last that her much-loved parent and his unfeeling mistress were determined to starve her to death, the poor child in her desperation, resolved to throw herself from the third story window. Tieing two sheets together, she managed someway to fasten one of them, and let herself down by this means to the second story and dropped to the ground. fortunately she alighted in a snow-bank, or she would have been more severely injured by the fall.

After it became known that the child had been so inhumanly treated, Mr. S. Baily Case Selectman, was called in, and much against the wishes and in spite of the remonstrances of Williams, caused her removal to the house of a neighbor, where proper care could be given her and remedies applied for her recovery.

The news of this development flew over the town, and created astonishment and indignation. Early in the evening a crowd of several hundred persons collected around the house of Williams, and it was passed about from mouth to mouth that the authorities designed taking no action against the parties, but that they were to be allowed to depart unmolested. This report aroused the anger of the people, and there was loud talk of wreaking summary vengeance. As usual in such popular demonstrations, the females were not the least sanguinary in their advice, many of them declaring in the most excited manner, that if the men did not "take him out," they would. Finally a robust female from "Fatherland" called loudly on Williams to "come out" and brandishing a club brought it down with such force as to shatter it into a thousand pieces. A rail was procured, and, raised by some brawny arms, and directed by Mr. Thomas Wattles, (who appeared a little anxious to get his "flipper" on the "old rascal,") it was precipitated against the door, which was broken in, and Williams discovered in the hall, with a small armory collected to resist his assailants. He brandished an ax and made loud threats, but having received a blow under the right eye, which brought blood, he beat a hasty retreat, followed by the crowd, and after a sharp race with Wattles, took refuge in the store of Sherman & Denison, where he was protected from the incensed people, who had collected in considerable numbers, prepared to give the free-lover a taste of his own theory of "moral suasion." It was then concluded to place the man under arrest, and the services of Constable G. D. Fuller were called in for that purpose, and a movement made to take the prisoner away. At this point the crowd interfered, and demanded that the woman, or "the old hag," as they termed her, should also be taken into custody—that the officers should not make "fish of one and flesh of the other." The woman was accordingly brought along, and both terrified by the demonstrations of the crowd, were glad to be hurried off in Hough's omnibus.

On Friday morning, the people collected in increased numbers, and it was deemed imprudent to take the prisoners to the police headquarters, so Justice Young opened court at the "lock-up." The complaint formally charged an "aggravated assault," and both prisoners declined to call counsel and waived an examination. Williams acknowledged the truth of the charges against him, but appeared to think that he had done no more than his parental authority warranted. He has since confessed the gagging and whipping, and the woman also confesses that she whipped the child with the knowledge and permission of the father. The prisoners were required to give bail to the amount of $3,000 each, but preferred to be lodged in jail rather than run the risk of falling into the hands of a mob as uncharitable as they had shown themselves. They were accordingly placed in charge of Mr. Beckwith at "the castle."

The manifestations of childish affection on the part of this much abused child toward one who had treated her with so much inhumanity, would draw tears from the eyes of any man whose sensibilities were not clouded by the blight of fanaticism. Day after day, while suffering acutely, and obliged to undergo painful operations for the removal of incipient mortification which threatened to render amputation to the frozen feet necessary, and possibly terminate her existence, the child was solicitous for the welfare of her father, and wrote him notes breathing the most forgiving spirit—indeed, seeming to take no account of the terrible wrongs she had received. With these notes she sent apples and oranges and other little presents. The first of these gifts, (an orange) was handed to him with a remark calculated to arouse his sense of the forgiving spirit of his much-injured child. He took it in both hands, and wept, exclaiming, "Oh God, what have I done! I've starved my child almost to death." He was asked if he would not unite in prayer, and gladly assented. He was taken to a retired part of the jail where it was quite warm, and he exclaimed, "Oh, how good this feels! and my little Eunice was freezing with the cold." He fell upon his knees, and bowing upon a work-bench, sobbed and moaned in a most piteous manner. He was quite anxious that his neighbors should pray that God would forgive him; but a day or two after he seemed to have recovered his stoical disposition, and coolly turned over the presents sent him, to his dear Mann.

We give below a copy of one of the notes sent by the little girl to her father, which can hardly be read without shedding tears:

Oh, papa! You don't know how I do want to see you. If I could, I know I should get well quicker; but my feet are so sore that Mr. Case says it would kill me to ride down there. One of them is most well, so that I can lift it up and move it in the bed, and when the right foot gets well I can ride and see you. I have heaps and piles of presents, papa, and I wish you could have them with me just as we used to. I have so many nice oranges and apples and candies that I don't know what to do with them all. I want you to have all these apples that Mr. Denison brings you, because I sent them to you so that you could eat them for me; and you will please give a good big greening to Miss Mann for thinking of me in her note to Mrs. Huntington that morning. O, papa, you don't know how good everything does taste to me. I have to eat something every half hour, I am so hungry, and I have such nice toast and chicken broth, and bread and coffee and jelly; and I have such nice things sent to me. Mrs. Smith sent me a dish of preserved pears, and Mrs. Hyde sent me a big bowl of moss custard, and Mrs. Dearden sent me a big glass jar of canned whortleberries. I must stop writing a few minutes and eat my bowl of chicken broth and biscuit, papa; for the clock says it is half an hour since I had anything to eat, but I shall write more.

The above is only a portion of the letter, but is sufficient to show its character, and the spirit pervading the childs mind. We have not space for the entire letter. (ED. UNION.)

There has been much apprehension in the community that, by some legal quibble, this precious pair would slip through the meshes of the law and escape just punishment. We understand that additional complaints have been entered against both, and that warrants are out which will effectually bar their release on "straw bail." A brother of Miss Mann was here on Monday, but having learned the facts of the case, declared that he would not raise a hand to avert the action of the law. On Thursday an individual who gave the name of N. P. Hicks, of the firm of Shaw & Hicks, Providence, made his appearance at the jail, and proposed to give bail for Miss Mann, but on learning the situation of affairs, he concluded to save his money and abandon his charitable enterprise.

What a Woman Can Do

For the benefit and encouragement of all women kind, and at the risk of invading the private circles of a family of wealth and respectability, we give below the history of a young lady's successful efforts to answer one of the problems of life: What can a woman do?

A young lady at the East, dependent upon her own resources, was adopted into the family of a gentleman in this city. This gentleman was transacting a business of millions of dollars annually, and employed numerous clerks and accountants. The young lady alluded to was taken into the counting room, and very soon rose to the position of chief book-keeper and cashier of the house. She filled the position and performed its duties with singular fidelity and satisfaction for several years. All the large transactions of the house passed through her hands; the daily cash transactions alone amounting to from $20,000 to $50,000.

We have had the satisfaction of examining this set of books, and can truly say that no accountant in Milwaukee can show a better record of neatness and accuracy. Several bankers have also examined the work of this young lady, and pronounced it well nigh faultless. The young lady has balanced her books, closed her accounts and left her situation to take charge of the personal and household affairs of a young business man in a neighboring city. It is useless to predict that such a woman will make successful the difficult problems of HOME.

The Mankato Union.

FRIDAY, - - FEBRUARY 22, 1867.

W. B. GRISWOLD. - Editor and Pro'r.

OUR PAMPHLET READY.

We shall be ready to begin to receive orders for our pamphlet to-morrow, Saturday. It contains a detailed review of the growth of Mankato since its first settlement, with the amount of buildings erected and business done in 1866. Also a history of the first settlement of Watonwan county and Madelia. Also the business of Garden City for 1866, together with a brief mention of other towns, and the water powers of the county. It will be for sale next week at Smith & Humphrey's Mankato, S C Welcome, Garden City; and Yates Bros., Madelia, and at this office.

Editorial Convention.

Pursuant to a call recently made, the editors and publishers of the State, met in convention at St. Paul, on Wednesday last. The day previous an informal meeting was held at the hall of the Minne-ha-ha Engine company, twenty-five papers of the State being then represented. The Globe, Merchants, and International hotels, entertained the fraternity free of charge. As the convention will consist of publishers and editors only, and for strictly business purposes the beautiful hall of the fire company was deemed the most convenient place for holding it. It is a shame that Mankato is not represented, and nothing but a peculiar emergency would have prevented us from attending. As the proceedings came too late for this issue we must defer them to next week.

Southern Minnesota Railroad.

Our State Legislature and the Directors of the Southern Minnesota railway are widely at variance in regard to the conditions upon which the late Congressional land grant shall be passed over to the company. The usual channel of land appropriations by Congress for railroad purposes is through the respective States and from the States to the corporations entitled. The citizens of Austin, Albert Lee and Blue Earth City desire the road to pass through their towns, the two latter of which are located only ten miles from the State line; and they intend if possible to compel the road to pass through these places by imposing upon the company such a condition in their grant of lands. The company have presented a memorial to the Legislature setting forth their grievances. The grant gives them each alternate section for ten miles on either side of the road, but as the counties of Houston, Fillmore and part of Mower are quite well settled there is but little public land in them, and hence a deficiency arises. For this deficiency lands further west are appropriated, but they must be selected outside of the ten mile limit. If the company are compelled to build the road ten miles north of the State line and parallel with it, they can obtain no deficiency lands south of the road. They wish to build it about twenty miles north, which will leave these towns entirely off the road, but give them a strip of country ten miles in width along the border of the State from which to select the deficiency lands. The company claim that unless allowed this privilege, they must abandon the enterprise. The only interest, in our judgment, that Mankato has in this location of the road is, that it shall give us as much lea way as possible. As it approaches westward, the further south it is located unless it comes here, the better for us. Our trade from Faribault county must receive a check if the road is located as far north as Winnebago City, and it is quite natural that we should favor the location of the road further south, in order that we may retain a fair share of the trade of that county. Whatever may be the result of this controvers our neighbors need not fear the lack of railroad facilities long, for we look upon the grant allowing the Minnesota V. R. R. Co., to construct a road from Mankato via Blue Earth City to the State line, introduced by Hon. J. B. Wakefield, as one not only as advantagous as the Southern road, but one whose construction is attended with more certainty and less delay.

Railroad Tariffs.

Our present Legislature, as it has been with all preceding sessions, is still legislating upon the questions of railroad grants, charters, and amendments thereto. In accepting the 'Congressional land grant for the Southern Minnesota R. R., an attempt has been made to reserve to the State the right to regulate the passenger and freight tariffs. The usual pleas of avoidance have been urged by those members, who have nothing to lose and everything to hope for, in pinning themselves to the coat tails of railroad sharks. But Mr. Gordon brought the Senate up with a short turn on Friday last, by showing the cost of transportation on our Minnesota roads to be as follows:

Rates on wheat for 100 miles per bushel.

	cents.
St. P. and P. Branch	26½
Winona and St. Peter	20
Southern Minnesota	34
Minnesota Central	20½
Minnesota Valley	25½

Average charge per bushel per 100 miles, 25.3cents

At same rates transported to N. Y. City, distance estimated at 1,200 miles, per bushel:

At St. P. & P Branch rate	$3 20
At Winona and St, Peter rate	2 40
At Southern Minnesota rate	4 08
At Minnesota Central rate	2 46
At Minnesota Valley rate	3 06

The rates of either of these roads would absorb the full price of the wheat, when delivered in New York; and that of the Southern Minnesota would double the present price.—It is high time that our people cease to complain of the rates east of the Mississippi, so long as they allow through their legislature such extortions as the above exhibit reveals. Our former Legislators deserve the severest censure for not meeting and defeating this gross outrage upon the public. An attempt was made in the Senate, to let the company off with the dish-water provision that, "the railroad shall establish a fair and just passenger and freight tariff." This was defeated by the following vote:

Yeas—Messrs. Buck, Butters, Bristol, Draper, Lord, Murry and Yale.

Nays—Messrs. A. Armstrong, J. L. Armstrong, Baxter, Daniels, Evans, Folsom, Griggs, Gordon, Miller, Perkins, Porter, Pillsbury, Temple, Whitney and Yale.

Mr. Gorden offered an amendment giving the Legislature the right to fix and regulate freight and passenger tariffs, which after much discussion was adopted.

The House should not fail to concur in this important amendment. If we can have one road, of the several leading to a common western terminus, which can be governed as to freight, it is sufficient, as all others must reduce their rates to the same figures in order to compete with it, successfuly.

—Another Bounty bill has passed the lower branch of Congress, which provides for allowing every soldier a bounty at the rate of $8⅓ per month including local bounties, which are to be taken out of the aggregate sum. As it will require a large sum of money, it is thought the Senate will not concur before this congress expires. Such a law however, will doubtless eventually pass.

RECONSTRUCTION.

Congress is still working with some zeal to perfect a suitable bill for the reconstruction and representation of the late rebel states. Quite a number of bills have been presented, by different members. Elliots, Stevens military, and the Louisiana bill introduced at the suggestion of the New Orleans investigation committee, are now prominently before congress. Amendments have also been proposed one of which is known as the Blaine amendment, and another was introduced by Henderson which provides that the elective franchise shall be given to "all male citizens of the "United States, of whatever color, race or "condition, twenty-one years of age and upwards, who may be residents of the State "twelve months previous to the election, ex"cept such as may be disqualified for election "by rebellion, fellony at common law, idiocy "or insanity."

Upon this subject the Chicago Post says:

"It is rumored that the President will accept the Military Bill with the Blaine amendment. If so, this is one reson why the amendment should not be adopted. We have already expressed our objections to it, and we see no reason to change our mind.

It seems to us that the Elliot bill, in connection with Mr. Stevens' military bill, just as it went to the Senate, presents a complete and effective system of reconstruction. The military bill is simply preparatory to further action. Although it has some objectionable features in it, it is calculated to most effectually destroy the power of the State governments which have been set up in the South, and to clear the ground for the erection of new and loyal governments like that which Mr. Johnson himself helped erect in Tennessee.

The Louisiana bill is the complement of it. It is based upon the report of the New Orleans Investigating Committee, and provides for a provisional government, which shall rescue that State from the violence and disorder which prevails there. It is a just and wise measure, and if it passes the Senate, it will give Louisiana what Tennessee now has, a government loyal to the core. Similar measures would doubtless pass in regard to other States, in each case adapted to their condition for it must be admitted that Virginia or North Carolina require different treatment from Louisiana or Texas.

The Blaine amendment renders unnecessary the Louisiana bill of Mr. Elliot. If that shall be incorporated in the Military bill, the State of Louisiana as well as every other lately rebel State will be admitted to the Union on complying with the following conditions: 1st, Ratification of the Constitutional Amendment proposed as Art. XIV. 2d, Conformation of the State Constitution and laws to the amendment. 3d, Giving the elective franchise to all male citizens of the United States as specified above in Mr. Henderson's amendment. 4th, Ratification of its Constitution by the voters as above described. 5th, Approval of the Constitution by Congress.

On compliance with these conditions the State is to be declared entitled to representation in Congress and its Senators and Representatives will be admitted on taking the oath prescribed by law.

FROM GARDEN CITY.

By Our Own Reporter.

FEBRUARY 19, 1867.

We are having fine winter weather. Business is lively at the different saw mills, in Garden City and vicinity. Many logs are being drawn in and quite a large amount of lumber has been sawed out, and a number of persons are preparing to build in the spring.

Trade is rather dull at our stores; the farmers are generally improving the sleighing in getting out logs, fencing &c., and have but little time for trading.

S. C. Clark is now at work in earnest on the bridge, with a number of hands, and there is a prospect of our being able to cross the Watonwan this spring without using boats.

J. N. Thompson and family have returned to our little town, and will hereafter make Garden City their home. He intends building in the spring.

M. T. Fall, proprietor of the Garden City Hotel, has been quite sick during the past week but is recovering.

A little boy, the son of Daniel Fleming's, about three miles from town, fell down cellar and broke his thigh bone, on Monday of this week. It was set by Dr. Wellcome and is doing well.

N. N. Clark, of the firm of Clark & Son, had a (Miss) Fall a few days ago. He has not yet had medical attendance, but is doing well, and it is thought he will soon be able to rise as early as usual in the morning, as no bones were broken.

FROM STERLING.

ED. UNION—Dear Sir:—

Your's being a county paper, and seeing but little in its columns in regard to Sterling, we thought a few lines from here would not be unacceptable. Although in the country 25 miles from the county metropolis, we still have something going on. Our schools are all under good heading, District No. 33 having fifty-two names on the register, among which are those of several young ladies and gentlemen. Our Sundays are passed in attending a well filled Sunday school, and listening to the teaching of the Holy book, as expounded by Rev. N. A. Hunt, of this place. Rev. J. E. Conrad of Sterling also takes an active part in the cause he espouses. The "Sterling Lyceum" is a permanent institution of the winter, every Monday evening is very pleasantly passed in listening to or participating in its proceedings. Coming question for debate:

Resolved, That it is for the interest of the present and future settlers of Minnesota to fence in their stock instead of their grain."

Our decision will effect our Legislature "not any" but as a settlement we propose to see on which side of the fence we stand. Superintendent Beatty, of Mankato, has been paying our schools a visit. His kind manner and interesting and encouraging remarks, have given our scholars a marked impetus in the right direction. As a superintendent we like him, and in this direction the verdict in his favor is unanimous. On every Wednesday evening is a regular meeting of the I. O. of G. T. of Sterling. Our singing school every Friday evening is taught by Mr. S. H. Thorn of Mankato. One word in regard to Mr. Thorn. As a teacher he is liked, and his school here is a success. At once prompt and obliging, he deserves success. As an instance we refer to Thursday 7th inst when he obliged his scholars so far as to stay all night long with them. It was the worst night this winter, and some say he was not obliging, but obliged to stay. We cannot decide, but certain it is that he with his school remained in the school house until morning. In connection with the storm we will state, that on Friday Theodore, son of N. A. Hunt, above refered to, on his way home from Mankato, froze his feet so badly as to be somewhat crippled for the rest of the winter. Such cases together with those otherwise afflicted, are attended by Dr. C. L. Travis of our place, who with our life-giving Minnesota air, seldom fails to produce the desired effect. Wm. Russell, Sr., with R. Taylor of Mapleton and the Mankato merchants in toto, still countinue to make war on high prices. We are anxiously waiting for a victory, which if won, shall be duly recorded.

OCK. H. SHUNALLY.

FROM VERNON.

By our own Reporter.

The Good Templars Lodge here continues to grow in numbers, and their weekly meetings are quite interesting. The following officers are just installed:

W. C. T.—A. D. Mason.
W. V. T.—Mrs. M. B. Haynes.
W. C.—William Read.
P. W. C. T.—W. H. Ellas.

ARREST OF M. A. HAWKES.

Last summer a man of the above name was boarding at the Mansion House in St. Paul, and, as supposed, accidentally shot and killed his wife with a revolver. Evidence has been collected, showing it to be probable, that it was done purposely. Upon this subject the Chicago Post of the 15th says: A Coroner's inquest was held upon the body of Mrs. Hawkes, and a verdict of accidental shooting returned. "They had," so ran the despatch, "been married but a short time, and Mr. Hawkes was almost frantic with grief." He was at that time employed as a traveling agent for R. H. Curran, of this city, publisher of and dealer in steal engravings. Shortly after the death of his wife he returned to this city, where he has since been with Mr. Curran's establishment.

Some time after the death of his wife, it transpired that joint policies of insurance upon her life, to the amount of $11,000, in three different companies, had been effected by Hawkes, who, in the course of a month or two, endeavored to collect the same. The Insurance Company contrived to defer the settlement of the claims, postponing the matter from time to time.

Subsequent events and incidents transpired of a character to convince the parties interested that the shooting of the heavily insured wife might turn out not to have been so purely accidental. These items of information were slowly and carefully collected by the detectives, after months of patient effort, and finally led to the arrest of Hawkes, upon a requisition from Governor Marshall, of Minnesota, to the Governor of Illinois. Yesterday forenoon Sheriff Robertson, of Ramsey county, Minnesota, arrived in this city from St. Paul, bearing the requisition for the arrest of Hawkes. Deputy Longley, in company with Sheriff Robertson and one of Tuttle's detectives, proceeded to No. 152 Wells street, where they found Hawkes just coming down. Advancing towards him, Longley made Hawkes his prisoner, as he stated. upon the requisition of the Governor of Minnesota. He quietly submitted, remarking that it was all right; he had been expecting it for some time. The prisoner was last night lodged in the county jail, and this morning started for St. Paul, in the custody of Sheriff Robertson.

Concerning the same man, the St. Paul Press of the 19th, says:

It will be recollected that on the 21st of July last Mrs. Lizzie Hawkes was killed at the Mansion House, in this city. It was thought then that the shooting was accidental. Since that time circumstances have appeared which demanded a more full and complete investigation of the cause of Mrs. Hawkes' death. The result has been that about one week ago an officer left this city for Chicago, with a requisition for Mr. Hawkes. The latter was arrested in Chicago by the Sheriff of Cook county, Illinois, on Friday last, and quietly brought to this city last night. He was immediately placed in jail, where he now remains. He seems to have been quiet on the way, and is undisturbed now. The witnesses will be here from Illinois to morrow.

THE FENIAN OUTBREAK IN ENGLAND

Eight Hundred Armed Fenians near Killarney.

LONDON, Feb. 14—Evening.

The Government denies the truth of the stories of the landing of the shipload of Fenians at Valentia. It is admitted that there is a serious revolt at and near Killarney. The telegraph wires near Valentia were destroyed for a long distance, and riot and pillage were rampant. A coast guard policeman was killed.

LATER.

About eight hundred Fenians, commanded by Col. O'Connor, retreated to the hills near Killarney. British troops have been posted at Mallow Junction, in the county of Cork, commanding the hill district. The excitement in the neighborhood is intense, and many are precipitately leaving.

An ex-United States captain has been arrested at Killarney on suspicion of being a Fenian.

A large number of marines at Plymouth are ordered to proceed to Ireland immediately.

—That magnificent millionaire and practical philanthropist, George Peabody, has made another munificent donation. He has given two million one hundred thousand dollars for the education of the benighted Southern youth, black and white. The announcement is startling in its character and effect—"George Peabody has donated one million dollars in cash and one million one hundred thousand in unrepudiated Mississippi bonds for the instruction of Southern youth, without distinction of color." These bonds are the famous State bonds issued to the Planters' Bank of Mississippi. Mr. Peabody is a gentleman of large intelligence, of shrewd business knowledge, and of broad, enlightened views; but if he supposes that the Mississippi Legislature will refrain from repudiating his Planters' Bank bonds because he has devoted them to educating the little niggers of Mississippi he labors under a grave error. The fact that the money is to be devoted to instructing the young darkies will insure the repudiation of the bonds. Indeed, we should not be surprised to find all the Southern States uniting in a demand for their repudiation with as much unanimity as is displayed in their rejection of the constitutional amendment.—N.Y. Herald.

Yesterday Governor Marshall executed a deed for the State, to the Winona & St. Peter Railroad Company on account of construction of eighty miles of road. The amount of land conveyed was 25,682.99 acres.—Press, 13th.

There cometh glad tidings of joy to all,
To young and to old, to great and to small;
The beauty which once was so precious and rare,
Is free for all, and all may be fair.

Reparator Capilli.

Throw away your false frizzes, your switches, your wig—
Destructive of comfort, and not worth a fig;
Come aged, come youthful, come ugly and fair,
And rejoice in your own luxuriant hair.

REPARATOR CAPILLI.

For restoring hair upon bald heads (from whatever cause it may have fallen out) and forcing a growth of hair upon the face. It has no equal. It will force the beard to grow upon the smoothest face in from five to eight weeks, or hair upon bald heads in from two to three months. A few ignorant practitioners have asserted that there is nothing that will force or hasten the growth of of the hair or beard. Their assertions are false, as thousands of living witnesses (from their own experience) can bear witness. But many will say, how are we to distinguish the genuine from the spurious? It certainly is difficult, as nine-tenths of the different Preparations advertised for the hair and beard are entirely worthless, and you may have already thrown away large amounts in their purchase. To such we would say, try the Reparator Cappilli; it will cost you nothing unless it fully comes up to our representations. If your Druggist does not keep it, send us one dollar and we will forward it, postpaid, together with a receipt for the money, which will be returned you on application, proving entire satisfaction is not given. TOWN AND COUNTY.

FRIDAY, - - FEBRUARY 22, 1867.

PIANO.—We can sell a piano new from the factory, at other rates than can be had elsewhere. Inquire at this office.

JOB PRESS.—We have for sale a small DRUGGIST JOB PRESS, which does good work, and will be sold low.

BAPTIST CHURCH.—J. G. Craven, Pastor—Services at 10½ A. M. and 7 P. M. Prayer meeting Wednesday at 7 P. M.

CONFERENCE.—The Second Methodist Quarterly Conference will take place in this city on Saturday and Sunday next.

WHEAT.—The price of wheat is again on the rise. As high as $1.60 was paid this week, though the ruling price has been about $1,54 for number one.

CONCERT.—We understand that the choir of the Presbyterian church, assisted by others are preparing to give a concert at Higgins' Hall next Friday evening, March 1st. It promises to be an entertainment well worth hearing.

FURNITURE.—The new furniture firm of Drew & Payne, advertise their store elsewhere. They have on hand and arriving a fine assortment, and ask a share of public favor. Call and examine the goods.

STAGING.—In another column will be found the advertisement of the stage lines of J. C. Burbank & Co. Persons desiring to know where the lines run, and to consult their time table, can be accommodated for the present year by refering to the the columns of the UNION.

MILWAUKEE & ST PAUL.—Those intending to go east should consult the card of the Milwaukee & St Paul railway, to be found in another column. This road is equipped with the best cars in the west and makes close connection with all eastern routes. Apply for tickets to Col. J. C. George ticket agent, St. Paul.

GODEY.—Godey's Lady's book for the month of March reached us in good season. It is an excellent number, containing as usual what every lady desires. Smith & Humphrey receive subscriptions.

ELECTED.—At the annual meeting of the Blue Earth County Agricultural Society, held at Garden City, on the 9th of February, 1867, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

J. H. Mead,—President.

Henry Shaubut,
B. D. Pay,
Homer Porter,
John B. Skinner,
John Park.
} Vice Presidents.

James G. Thompson,—Secretary.
Daniel Buck—Cor. Secretary.
F. H. Ray—Treasurer.
H. W. Perry—Marshal.
D. H. Tyner—Assistant Marshal.

LARGE CONTRACT.—Messrs. Scott & Worden, of the "Red Jacket" mills, have concluded a contract with Capt. W. F. Davidson, of the Northern Packet Company for 1,000 barrels of their superior flour. They have already purchased 4,000 bushels of wheat, and commenced to deliver their flour at the Company's ware-house in this city. The flour is to be used on their line of boats both on the Minnesota and Mississippi rivers.

A PRESENT.—Mrs. W. B., or in other words, our "controling" half, was the recipient, last week, of a beautiful silver fruit knife, from P. K. Wiser, the jeweler, on Front street. In acknowledging our thanks, we wish to add that there is great satisfaction in trading at Wiser's, where the quality of the goods is to be relied on. If our citizens wish to deal in this line of goods, let them go there in preference to these tin and pewter gift enterprises.

BIERBAUER'S WOOLEN FACTORY.—The woolen factory of Jacob Bierbauer will be erected early in the spring, the contract having already been let to Henry Hartman & T. C. Rausch, of this city. The size of the building will be 40 by 52 feet—three stories high. The first story is to be built of stone, and the second and third of brick. The building and finish of course will be plain, but substantial, and will cost $5,000. The engine is already purchased, and the works for manufacturing will be obtained in Massachesetts. Mr. Bierbauer will at first put in three looms, with sufficient carders and spinners to supply them with yarn. The estimated cost of the establishment is $20,000.

VALEDICTORY.—The Winnebago City Homestead of the 20th inst., contains the valedictory of J. L. Christie, its editor. Ill health and inability to properly furnish the office is given as the cause of his retiring. Mr. Christie has given Faribault county a sprightly and creditable sheet, and in point of typography quite superior to his Blue Earth City cotemporary. Mr. E A Hotchkiss of New York is the new proprietor who is said to be a gentleman of ability and experience.

AID SOCIETY.—The First Presbyterian Ladies Aid Society held its first meeting at Mr. Littles', and elected the following officers:

President, Mrs. W. H. Shepard; Vice President, Miss Lucy McKennie; Secretary, Miss Libbie McClellan; Treasure, Mrs. A. J. Kennedy. About forty were admitted to membership, the initiation fee being 25 cents. The second meeting was held at the house of Mr. A. D. Seward on Wednesday last. New members were received. By a vote of the ladies, it was resolved to appropriate the funds to the liquidation of the church debt. A small amount is expected to be contributed by the members at each meeting.

DISTRICT COURT DECISION.—Judge Austin gave his decision this week in the case of John Quane against the Board of County Commissioners of Blue Earth, tried at the last term of the District Court in this place, in favor of John Quane. This action was brought by Quane, on account of a refusal of the county Board to allow him his bill for board and necessaries furnished a boxing master, who in his scuffling broke his leg at Quans' house, and who was in destitute circumstances. The Judge decided that no matter what the character of the man was, whether good or bad, if he was in destitute circumstances, and unable to be removed to the county where he claimed a residence, it was the duty of the county Board where the destitute man was, to provide him necessaries, and by neglecting to do it, after their attendance was called to the subject by Quane, were liable for necessaries furnished by other parties.

POST ROUTE.—The Government is advertising for bids for carrying a mail once a week from Peddiers' Grove to Garden City. The route touches at Medo, at Cobb mills in Beauford township, at Dyer's mill on the Maple river in Rapidan, and at the crossing of the Blue Earth, and thence to Garden City. This route will be a great convenience to the settlers on the line.

FOR MONTANA.—Col. Kelley informs us that he has this week enlisted nine men, six women and two children, for the Montana Expedition. Their destination is Helsemite Valley Oregon, and they take this route as being preferable to any other.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

—If you have poor bread it is because you have poor flour. To remedy this, go to P. F. Milnor's grocery, where you can get Quayle's choicest brand. No one else in the city keeps it. The announcement that it could be had at Higgin's flour store was a mistake.

☞Changed! Why not? true you thought I was about to make my exit to that "bourne from whence no traveler returns," but you see I have thought better of it; or rather I stumbled on a most precious piece of good luck. I was recommended to get a box of Bryan's Life Pills, for nature's ills, and here I am again robust and hearty, without a symptom of dyspepsia, headache, nervousness or jaundice; truly, I have a fresh lease of life. (See advertisement.) no30-4w.

Behind the Lighthouse.

Old fogyism is not quite dead. People are still to be found who think that health is promoted by depletion! Was there ever such false logic! Nature is the grand antagonist of disease, and the depleters propose to prostrate Nature, in order, one might suppose, to give the enemy a double chance at the life of the patient! The true practice is so to invigorate the vital powers as to render them an overmatch for the elements of disease. This can be done with HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Of all vegetable tonics they are the most powerful and the most genial. At this season, when even the strongest organizations are liable to be affected by the alternations of stringent cold and malarious moisture, this inestimable protective medicine is especially needed. Persons predisposed to billiousness, dyspepsia, constipation, intermittent fever, or any of the complaints which cold weather superinduces or aggravates, should take it regularly throughout the Winter and Spring months. It is absolutely pure and harmless.

VALUABLE LANDS FOR SALE.

By the direction of the Honorable Secretary of the Interior, the undersign will receive sealed bids for the purchase of any or all the lands hereinafter described, they being among the choicest and best farming lands in Minnesota.

These lands comprise what are known as the Winnebago Trust Lands in the State of Minnesota, and will be sold to the highest and best bidders in tracts not exceeding one hundred and sixty acres each, under the provisions of a treaty concluded with the Winnebago Indians, April 15th, 1859, and an act of Congress, approved February 31st, 1863, entitled "An act for the removal of the Winnebago Indians, and for the sale of their Reservation in Minnesota for their benefit."

In case a bid is accepted, the party making the same will be notified as soon thereafter as practicable. If within thirty days after such notice the party shall fail to make payment to the undersigned, the land for which said bid was made will be subject to sale to any other person.

Patents will be issued and transmitted to purchasers as soon after payment as the same can be prepared. Payments may be made either in cash or in certificates of indebtedness of the Winnebago Indians, issued by the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, for the debt of said Indians, and secured to be paid out of the proceeds of the sale of such lands by the third article of the treaty above mentioned. The right to reject any and all bids is expressly reserved. All bids must be sealed and addressed to the undersigned, Washington City, D. C., and andorsed, "Bids for Winnebago Trust Land."

As heretofore many persons have bid upon these lands, and after the awards have been made to them have failed to respond, the Secretary of the Interior hereby dictates that all bids hereafter submitted must be accompanied by a deposit of a sum equal to ten per cent on the amount of each bid, which in case the land is awarded and the ballance not paid will be forfeited by the bidder. Should the bid be rejected the sum deposited will be returned to the unsuccessful bidder.

LATEST FASHIONS DEMAND

J. W. Bradley's Celebrated Satent DUPLEX ELLIPTIC

(OR DOUBLE SPRING)

SKIRT.

The Wonderful Flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any Lady, wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced particularly in all crowded assemblies, Operas, Carriages, Railroad Cars, Church Pews, Arm Chairs, for Promenade and House Dress, as the Skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a silk or muslin dress, an invaluable quality in crinoline, not found in any Single Spring skirt.

A Lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort, and great convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Steel Spring Skirt for a single day, will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For Children, Misses and Young Ladies, they are superior to all others.

They will not bend or break like the Single Spring, but will preserve their perfect and graceful shape when three or four ordinary skirts will have been thrown aside as useless. The Hoops are covered with double and twisted thread, and the bottom rods are not only double springs but twice (or double) covered; preventing them from wearing out when dragging down stoops, stairs, &c.

The Duplex Elliptic is a great favorite with all ladies and is universally recommended by the Fashion Magazines as the standard skirt of the fashionable world.

To enjoy the following inestimable advantages in Crinoline, viz.: Superior Quality, Perfect Manufacture, Stylish shape and Finish, Flexibility, Durability, Comfort and Economy, enquire for J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic, or Double Spring Skirt, and be sure you get the genuine article.

CAUTION.—To guard against IMPOSITION be particular to NOTICE that skirts offered as "DUPLEX" have the red ink stamp, viz., "J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic Steel Springs," upon the waistband—none others are genuine. Also Notice that every Hoop will admit a pin being passed through the centre, thus revealing the two (or double) springs braided together therein, which is the secret of their Flexibility and strength, and a combination not to be found in any other Skirt.

FOR SALE in all Stores where First Class skirts are sold throughout the United States and elsewhere. Manufactured by the Sole Owners of the patent.

WOMAN'S LOVE.

Much has been written about woman's love, but we doubt if that "glory of a woman" was ever so forcibly expressed in a few words as in the following stanzas:

Come from your long, long roving,
On the seas so wild and rough;
Come to me tender and loving,
And I shall be blessed enough.

Where your sails have been unfurling,
What winds have blown on your brow,
I know not, and ask not, my darling,
So that you come to me now.

Sorrowful, sinful and lonely,
Poor and despised though you be,
All are nothing, if only
You turn from the tempter to me.

Of men though you be unforgiven,
Though priest be unable to shrive,
I'll pray till I weary all heaven,
If you only come back alive.

Starvation, Cow-hiding and Gagging the Means Resorted To.

Indignation of the People.

The Unnatural Parent and his Paramour Admitted to Bail.

UNBROKEN AFFECTION OF THE CHILD FOR HER FATHER.

[From the Norwich (Conn.) Advertiser.]

The people of Norwich and the surrounding towns have for some days been unwontedly excited by the development of an occurrence which for brutality and coldblooded humanity, is not exceeded by anything recorded outside the pages of Fox's Martyrs. Nothing but the steady habits and law abiding character of our citizens prevented the infliction of summary vengeance upon the perpetrators of the acts we are about to relate.

Charles C. Williams, the man now confined in the County Jail on charge of attempting the life of his own child, is an old resident of Norwich, and was formerly an industrious and much respected citizen. But the natural tendency of his mind began to exhibit itself some years since in his ultra opinions upon religious and political subjects, and he finally became an enthusiast on the subject of spiritualism, adopting all the vagaries of the sect, including its loathsome "free-love" doctrine, which he not only advocated among his neighbors, and in his own household, but put into practical operation beneath his own roof. He is said to have had several partners since the death of his wife.

His last affinity was a Miss Mary A. Mann, from Massachusetts, who claims to be a relative of the late Horace Mann, and from her course of conduct we think it probable there is some ground for the claim she sets up.—She is about forty years of age, and is said to be a woman of tolerable education, and capable of appearing in an amiable manner when she wills, but wearing talons under the silken gloves.

Williams owned a house on Bean Hill, and his well known sentiments caused it to be made a rendezvous for the "free lovers" of this section. At times, it is said, there would be four or five "philosophers" there with their "affinities," and it was quite natural that the neighbors who had not been converted to the beauties of this style of "progressive development" should look unkindly upon the orgies constantly enacted before their eyes.

Mrs. Williams, who will be remembered as a petite woman, used to appear on our streets in the mongrel costume advocated by strong-minded women and rattle-headed men. She appears to have acquiesced in her husband's wishes, but whether she entered fully into his views we are unable to say. One of her sisters was thoroughly converted, and became attached to an "affinity" in the shape of a typo, with whom she left town, and, in a neighboring city rejoices in the possession of several children. Mrs. Williams died some years ago, it was said of consumption.—Whether the dungeon in which his daughter Eunice was confined had been contrived previous to her death or not, we cannot say, but it is unfortunate in view of the late expose, that no physician was called to the bedside of the dying woman. Williams does not ap-ed that the child had been sick. She was taken into the house, and Miss Mann was asked where her bed was, that she might be immediately placed in it. She said all the beds were "airing." Mr. Keeley went to call Williams, and being gone a long time, Mr. Denison, after giving the invalid a little stimulant, went out to seek the father, met him near the house, and told him what had occurred. He did not seem surprised, and went into the house, Mr. D. following. Williams, instead of directing anything for the relief of the child, took hold of her wrist, and told Mr. Denison he didn't need his assistance. It was suggested that a physician should be called, but Williams refused with many oaths, and ordered Mr. Denison out of the house. He went, but soon returned with others, and met Williams on the way, who explained that the child was not "sick" in the ordinary sense of the term. He said. "Her mother was d—— ugly, and she has inherited her disposition. It shows how d—— ugly she is—her jumping out of the window." He desired to place Mr. Denison under an injunction of secresy, saying it would ruin him if it got into the papers. The two (W. and D.) then went into the house, Williams refusing to let in any others of the party. Williams having told Mr. Denison he could ask the child any question he saw fit, Mr. D. said to her: "Eunice, I want you to tell me whether you meant what you said when you told me your father and this woman were trying to kill you?' She burst into tears and said, apparently terrified by the presence of the father and the woman: "My father says he punished me because I was a naughty girl.' "Well, what did you do?" "O, I stole some meat. Wasn't that what you cow-hided me for, papa?" At this point Williams sprang from the sofa and with an oath, declared that it was none of Denison's business, and that he shouldn't ask her any more questions. Mr. D. replied that he had his permission, and meant to know the truth of the matter. "Well' said Williams "let her tell the story about the meat." Eunice said: "It was Monday, wasn't it papa, that you cow-hided me for stealing the meat? I was starved almost to death, and stole down stairs and got a pig's foot to gnaw upon." While relating this, the poor child again broke out in sobs and tears. This was enough, and Mr. Denison left, to procure the services of an officer.

It has been learned since this discovery, that Williams had attempted to indoctrinate his daughter his favorite theory that men women, and children should associate as freely as the brute creation. There are apparently well authenticated reports in this connection, too indecent for publication. Being an intelligent and pure-minded child, Eunice revolted at the loathsome teachings of her father and expressed an ardent desire to attend a Christian Sabbath School. Williams and his "affinity" were exasperated by the unyielding rectitude of the child, and undertook to 'break her will."

To carry out this purpose, they confined her in a sort of dungeon in the garret, about three feet by eight, and kept her there for three weeks during the terribly cold, freezing weather, with no shoes and inadequate clothing, strictly forbiding her to pound her feet on the floor to keep them from freezing! She was generally let out at night to sleep in a bed, but sometimes was kept there all night. In addition to this cruel confinement, the child was put on a regimen of a quart of thin gruel per day. Her complaints became so annoying to the unnatural father that he finally forbade her speaking to him for forty-eight hours, under penalty of deprivation of the gruel. Next morning, when given her gruel, she asked: "Papa, can't I have a crust of bread to eat with this?" This 'willful disobedience' so enraged the father that he took away the food—if such it can be called—and resorted to the gag and rawhide. A gag was forced into the mouth of the helpless child, so that she was unable to utter a sound, her hands were bound tightly behind her, and a rawhide applied with such force as to draw blood at every stroke. Williams and the Mann woman took turns in the work of castigation, and the little sufferer writhed and struggled under the blows, lacerating her wrists and causing the blood to settle in her hands. What must have been the feelings of that unfortunate child, bound and gagged, subjected to a blood-drawing lash, and unable to utter a sound!—We have no patience to comment upon an exhibition so like "total depravity."

Having inflicted this fearful punishment, or rather torture, Williams deprived his child

." It was then concluded under arrest, and the services of Constable G. D. Fuller were called in for that purpose, and a movement made to take the prisoner away. At this point the crowd interfered, and demanded that the woman, or "the old hag," as they termed her, should also be taken into custody—that the officers should not make "fish of one and flesh of the other." The woman was accordingly brought along, and both terrified by the demonstrations of the crowd, were glad to be hurried off in Hough's omnibus.

On Friday morning, the people collected in increased numbers, and it was deemed imprudent to take the prisoners to the police headquarters, so Justice Young opened court at the "lock-up." The complaint formally charged an "aggravated assault," and both prisoners declined to call counsel and waived an examination. Williams acknowledged the truth of the charges against him, but appeared to think that he had done no more than his parental authority warranted. He has since confessed the gagging and whipping, and the woman also confesses that she whipped the child with the knowledge and permission of the father. The prisoners were required to give bail to the amount of $3,000 each, but preferred to be lodged in jail rather than run the risk of falling into the hands of a mob as uncharitable as they had shown themselves. They were accordingly placed in charge of Mr. Beckwith at "the castle."

The manifestations of childish affection on the part of this much abused child toward one who had treated her with so much inhumanity, would draw tears from the eyes of any man whose sensibilities were not clouded by the blight of fanaticism. Day after day, while suffering acutely, and obliged to undergo painful operations for the removal of incipient mortification which threatened to render amputation to the frozen feet necessary, and possibly terminate her existence, the child was solicitous for the welfare of her father, and wrote him notes breathing the most forgiving spirit—indeed, seeming to take no account of the terrible wrongs she had received. With these notes she sent apples and oranges and other little presents. The first of these gifts, (an orange) was handed to him with a remark calculated to arouse his sense of the forgiving spirit of his much-injured child. He took it in both hands, and wept, exclaiming, "Oh God, what have I done! I've starved my child almost to death." He was asked if he would not unite in prayer, and gladly assented. He was taken to a retired part of the jail where it was quite warm, and he exclaimed, "Oh, how good this feels! and my little Eunice was freezing with the cold." He fell upon his knees, and bowing upon a work-bench, sobbed and moaned in a most piteous manner. He was quite anxious that his neighbors should pray that God would forgive him; but a day or two after he seemed to have recovered his stoical disposition, and coolly turned over the presents sent him, to his dear Mann.

We give below a copy of one of the notes sent by the little girl to her father, which can hardly be read without shedding tears:

Oh, papa! You don't know how I do want to see you. If I could, I know I should get well quicker; but my feet are so sore that Mr. Case says it would kill me to ride down there. One of them is most well, so that I can lift it up and move it in the bed, and when the right foot gets well I can ride and see you. I have heaps and piles of presents, papa, and I wish you could have them with me just as we used to. I have so many nice oranges and apples and candies that I don't know what to do with them all. I want you to have all these apples that Mr. Denison brings you, because I sent them to you so that you could eat them for me; and you will please give a good big greening to Miss Mann for thinking of me in her note to Mrs. Huntington that morning. O, papa, you don't know how good everything does taste to me. I have to eat something every half hour, I am so hungry, and I have such nice toast and chicken broth, and bread and coffee and jelly; and I have such nice things sent to me. Mrs. Smith sent me a dish of preserved pears, and Mrs. Hyde sent me a big bowl of moss custard, and Mrs. Deardon sent me a big glass jar of canned whortleberries. I must stop writing a few minutes and eat my bowl of chicken broth and biscuit, papa; for the clock says it is half an hour since I had anything to eat, but I shall write more.

The above is only a portion of the letter, but is sufficient to show its character, and the spirit pervading the childs mind. We have not space for the entire letter. (Ed. Union.)

There has been much apprehension in the community that, by some legal quibble, this precious pair would slip through the meshes of the law and escape just punishment. We understand that additional complaints have been entered against both, and that warrants are out which will effectually bar their release on "straw bail." A brother of Miss Mann was here on Monday, but having learned the facts of the case, declared that he would not raise a hand to avert the action of the law. On Thursday an individual who gave the name of N. P. Hicks, of the firm of Shaw & Hicks, Providence, made his appearance at the jail, and proposed to give bail for Miss Mann, but on learning the situation of affairs, he concluded to save his money and abandon his charitable enterprise.

What a Woman Can Do

For the benefit and encouragement of all women kind, and at the risk of invading the private circles of a family of wealth and respectability, we give below the history of a young lady's successful efforts to answer one of the problems of life: What can a woman do?

A young lady at the East, dependent upon her own resources, was adopted into the family of a gentleman in this city. This gentleman was transacting a business of millions of dollars annually, and employed numerous clerks and accountants. The young lady alluded to was taken into the counting room, and very soon rose to the position of chief book-keeper and cashier of the house. She filled the position and performed its duties with singular fidelity and satisfaction for several years. All the large transactions of the house passed through her hands; the daily cash transactions alone amounting to from $20,000 to $50,000.

We have had the satisfaction of examining this set of books, and can truly say that no accountant in Milwaukee can show a better record of neatness and accuracy. Several bankers have also examined the work of this young lady, and pronounced it well nigh faultless. The young lady has balanced her books, closed her accounts and left her situation to take charge of the personal and household affairs of a young business man in a neighboring city. It is useless to predict that such a woman will make successful the difficult problems of HOME.

WOMAN'S LOVE.

Much has been written about woman's love, but we doubt if that "glory of a woman" was ever so forcibly expressed in a few words as in the following stanzas:

Come from your long, long roving,
On the seas so wild and rough;
Come to me tender and loving,
And I shall be blessed enough.

Where your sails have been unfurling,
What winds have blown on your brow,
I know not, and ask not, my darling,
So that you come to me now.

Sorrowful, sinful and lonely,
Poor and despised though you be,
All are nothing, if only
You turn from the tempter to me.

Of men though you be unforgiven,
Though priest be unable to shrive,
I'll pray till I weary all heaven,
If you only come back alive.

Indignation of the People.

The Unnatural Parent and his Paramour Admitted to Bail.

UNBROKEN AFFECTION OF THE CHILD FOR HER FATHER.

[From the Norwich (Conn.) Advertiser.]

The people of Norwich and the surrounding towns have for some days been unwontedly excited by the development of an occurrence which for brutality and coldblooded humanity, is not exceeded by anything recorded outside the pages of Fox's Martyrs. Nothing but the steady habits and law abiding character of our citizens prevented the infliction of summary vengeance upon the perpetrators of the acts we are about to relate.

Charles C. Williams, the man now confined in the County Jail on charge of attempting the life of his own child, is an old resident of Norwich, and was formerly an industrious and much respected citizen. But the natural tendency of his mind began to exhibit itself some years since in his ultra opinions upon religious and political subjects, and he finally became an enthusiast on the subject of spiritualism, adopting all the vagaries of the sect, including its loathsome "free-love" doctrine, which he not only advocated among his neighbors, and in his own household, but put into practical operation beneath his own roof. He is said to have had several partners since the death of his wife.

His last affinity was a Miss Mary A. Mann, from Massachusetts, who claims to be a relative of the late Horace Mann, and from her course of conduct we think it probable there is some ground for the claim she sets up.—She is about forty years of age, and is said to be a woman of tolerable education, and capable of appearing in an amiable manner when she wills, but wearing talons under the silken gloves.

Williams owned a house on Bean Hill, and his well known sentiments caused it to be made a rendezvous for the "free lovers" of this section. At times, it is said, there would be four or five "philosophers" there with their "affinities," and it was quite natural that the neighbors who had not been converted to the beauties of this style of "progressive development" should look unkindly upon the orgies constantly enacted before their eyes.

Mrs. Williams, who will be remembered as a petite woman, used to appear on our streets in the mongrel costume advocated by strong-minded women and rattle-headed men. She appears to have acquiesced in her husband's wishes, but whether she entered fully into his views we are unable to say. One of her sisters was thoroughly converted, and became attached to an "affinity" in the shape of a typo, with whom she left town, and, in a neighboring city rejoices in the possession of several children. Mrs. Williams died some years ago, it was said of consumption.—Whether the dungeon in which his daughter Eunice was confined had been contrived previous to her death or not, we cannot say, but it is unfortunate in view of the late expose, that no physician was called to the bedside of the dying woman. Williams does not appear to have deeply mourned his bereavement, and after some unsuccessful experiments found his "affinity" in the person so inaptly named. With her he has lived in the most intimate relations ever since she came to his house, and whether through her influence or not, is uncertain, but the fact is, that since she came the child Eunice has been subjected to constant ill-treatment, culminating in the apparently deliberate attempt to take her life by starvation.

About 7 o'clock, Thursday morning, the 10th inst., as Mr. Charles W. Denison was passing the house of Williams he saw something fall upon the snow drift in the yard, and for the moment thought some of the inmates, who were in the habit of doing queer things, had thrown a bed from the window. Looking at the object he saw it move, and soon perceived that it was the daughter of Williams, a beautiful and intelligent child, about thirteen years of age, who had risen to her feet and was attempting to advance toward him. She was without shoes, and clad only in a night-dress, with an old shawl about her head and shoulders. The lower part of her head was covered with blood, which was running from her nostrils and from a wound in her lip which she had bitten in her agony while writhing under the lash of her tormentors, and she was so sadly changed by emaciation and the cruel treatment to which she had been subjected, as to be scarcely recognizable as the bright, healthy and robust girl of a few short weeks before. As Mr. Denison approached, the child clapped her hands and exclaimed, "O, Mr. Denison, don't let my father and that woman get me; they are trying to murder me." Mr. David Keeley was called, and the two gentlemen raised the child in their arms, and after a moment's consultation, concluded to take her into the house. The expression of this intention seemed to cause utter despair in the heart of the girl, and her head dropped, apparently in a fainting fit. The impression of those who had picked her up was that the child had jumped out of the window in the delirium of fever. On the way to the door they met a man with a pail of water he had drawn from Mr. Geo. Loom's well, and the girl pleaded for a drink, saying she could take it right out of the pail.

As the man held up the water she plunged her face into it, and drank with avidity, and Mr. Denison, still under the impression that she was ill from fever, felt obliged to stop her, when she begged for one more swallow, saying it tasted "so good." The poor thing said she had not tasted food or drink for two days and three nights. Miss Mann appeared at the door, and, in answer to an inquiry, affirmed that the child had been sick. She was taken into the house, and Miss Mann was asked where her bed was, that she might be immediately placed in it. She said all the beds were "airing." Mr. Keeley went to call Williams, and being gone a long time, Mr. Denison, after giving the invalid a little stimulant, went out to seek the father, met him near the house, and told him what had occurred. He did not seem surprised, and went into the house, Mr. D. following. Williams, instead of directing anything for the relief of the child, took hold of her wrist, and told Mr. Denison he didn't need his assistance. It was suggested that a physician should be called, but Williams refused with many oaths, and ordered Mr. Denison out of the house. He went, but soon returned with others, and met Williams on the way, who explained that the child was not "sick" in the ordinary sense of the term. He said, "Her mother was d—— ugly, and she has inherited her disposition. It shows how d—— ugly she is—her jumping out of the window." He desired to place Mr. Denison under an injunction of secresy, saying it would ruin him if it got into the papers. The two (W. and D.) then went into the house, Williams refusing to let in any others of the party. Williams having told Mr. Denison he could ask the child any question he saw fit, Mr. D. said to her: "Eunice, I want you to tell me whether you meant what you said when you told me your father and this woman were trying to kill you?' She burst into tears and said, apparently terrified by the presence of the father and the woman: "My father says he punished me because I was a naughty girl.' "Well, what did you do?" "O, I stole some meat. Wasn't that what you cow-hided me for, papa?" At this point Williams sprang from the sofa and with an oath, declared that it was none of Denison's business, and that he shouldn't ask her any more questions. Mr. D. replied that he had his permission, and meant to know the truth of the matter. "Well' said Williams "let her tell the story about the meat." Eunice said: "It was Monday, wasn't it papa, that you cow-hided me for stealing the meat? I was starved almost to death, and stole down stairs and got a pig's foot to gnaw upon." While relating this, the poor child again broke out in sobs and tears. This was enough, and Mr. Denison left, to procure the services of an officer.

It has been learned since this discovery, that Williams had attempted to indoctrinate his daughter his favorite theory that men women, and children should associate as freely as the brute creation. There are apparently well authenticated reports in this connection, too indecent for publication. Being an intelligent and pure-minded child, Eunice revolted at the loathsome teachings of her father and expressed an ardent desire to attend a Christian Sabbath School. Williams and his "affinity" were exasperated by the unyielding rectitude of the child, and undertook to 'break her will.'

To carry out this purpose, they confined her in a sort of dungeon in the garret, about three feet by eight, and kept her there for three weeks during the terribly cold, freezing weather, with no shoes and inadequate clothing, strictly forbiding her to pound her feet on the floor to keep them from freezing! She was generally let out at night to sleep in a bed, but sometimes was kept there all night. In addition to this cruel confinement, the child was put on a regimen of a quart of thin gruel per day. Her complaints became so annoying to the unnatural father that he finally forbade her speaking to him for forty-eight hours, under penalty of deprivation of the gruel. Next morning, when given her gruel, she asked: "Papa, can't I have a crust of bread to eat with this?" This 'willful disobedience' so enraged the father that he took away the food—if such it can be called—and resorted to the gag and rawhide. A gag was forced into the mouth of the helpless child, so that she was unable to utter a sound, her hands were bound tightly behind her, and a rawhide applied with such force as to draw blood at every stroke. Williams and the Mann woman took turns in the work of castigation, and the little sufferer writhed and struggled under the blows, lacerating her wrists and causing the blood to settle in her hands. What must have been the feelings of that unfortunate child, bound and gagged, subjected to a blood-drawing lash, and unable to utter a sound!—We have no patience to comment upon an exhibition so like "total depravity."

Having inflicted this fearful punishment, or rather torture, Williams deprived his child of all the food and drink; and for three nights and two days, not a morsel passed her lips.—The condition to which this brought her, after what she had already endured, may be imagined, it cannot be described.

Becoming convinced at last that her much-loved parent and his unfeeling mistress were determined to starve her to death, the poor child in her desperation, resolved to throw herself from the third story window. Tieing two sheets together, she managed someway to fasten one of them, and let herself down by this means to the second story and dropped to the ground. fortunately she alighted in a snow-bank, or she would have been more severely injured by the fall.

After it became known that the child had been so inhumanly treated, Mr. S. Baily Case Selectman, was called in, and much against the wishes and in spite of the remonstrances of Williams, caused her removal to the house of a neighbor, where proper care could be given her and remedies applied for her recovery.

The news of this development flew over the town, and created astonishment and indignation. Early in the evening a crowd of several hundred persons collected around the house of Williams, and it was passed about from mouth to mouth that the authorities designed taking no action against the parties, but that they were to be allowed to depart unmolested. This report aroused the anger of the people, and there was loud talk of wreaking summary vengeance. As usual in such popular demonstrations, the females were not the least sanguinary in their advice, many of them declaring in the most excited manner, that if the men did not "take him out," they would. Finally a robust female from "Fatherland" called loudly on Williams to "come out" and brandishing a club brought it down with such force as to shatter it into a thousand pieces. A rail was procured, and, raised by some brawny arms, and directed by Mr. Thomas Wattles, (who appeared a little anxious to get his "flipper" on the "old rascal,") it was precipitated against the door, which was broken in, and Williams discovered in the hall, with a small armory collected to resist his assailants. He brandished an ax and made loud threats, but having received a blow under the right eye, which brought blood, he beat a hasty retreat, followed by the crowd, and after a sharp race with Wattles, took refuge in the store of Sherman & Denison, where he was protected from the incensed people, who had collected in considerable numbers, prepared to give the free-lover a taste of his own theory of "moral suasion." It was then concluded to place the man under arrest, and the services of Constable G. D. Fuller were called in for that purpose, and a movement made to take the prisoner away. At this point the crowd interfered, and demanded that the woman, or "the old hag," as they termed her, should also be taken into custody—that the officers should not make "fish of one and flesh of the other." The woman was accordingly brought along, and both terrified by the demonstrations of the crowd, were glad to be hurried off in Hough's omnibus.

On Friday morning, the people collected in increased numbers, and it was deemed imprudent to take the prisoners to the police head-quarters, so Justice Young opened court at the "lock-up." The complaint formally charged an "aggravated assault," and both prisoners declined to call counsel and waived an examination. Williams acknowledged the truth of the charges against him, but appeared to think that he had done no more than his parental authority warranted. He has since confessed the gagging and whipping, and the woman also confesses that she whipped the child with the knowledge and permission of the father. The prisoners were required to give bail to the amount of $3,000 each, but preferred to be lodged in jail rather than run the risk of falling into the hands of a mob as uncharitable as they had shown themselves. They were accordingly placed in charge of Mr. Beckwith at "the castle."

The manifestations of childish affection on the part of this much abused child toward one who had treated her with so much inhumanity, would draw tears from the eyes of any man whose sensibilities were not clouded by the blight of fanaticism. Day after day, while suffering acutely, and obliged to undergo painful operations for the removal of incipient mortification which threatened to render amputation to the frozen feet necessary, and possibly terminate her existence, the child was solicitous for the welfare of her father, and wrote him notes breathing the most forgiving spirit—indeed, seeming to take no account of the terrible wrongs she had received. With these notes she sent apples and oranges and other little presents. The first of these gifts, (an orange) was handed to him with a remark calculated to arouse his sense of the forgiving spirit of his much-injured child. He took it in both hands, and wept, exclaiming, "Oh God, what have I done! I've starved my child almost to death." He was asked if he would not unite in prayer, and gladly assented. He was taken to a retired part of the jail where it was quite warm, and he exclaimed, "Oh, how good this feels! and my little Eunice was freezing with the cold." He fell upon his knees, and bowing upon a work-bench, sobbed and moaned in a most piteous manner. He was quite anxious that his neighbors should pray that God would forgive him; but a day or two after he seemed to have recovered his stoical disposition, and coolly turned over the presents sent him, to his dear Mann.

We give below a copy of one of the notes sent by the little girl to her father, which can hardly be read without shedding tears:

Oh, papa! You don't know how I do want to see you. If I could, I know I should get well quicker; but my feet are so sore that Mr. Case says it would kill me to ride down there. One of them is most well, so that I can lift it up and move it in the bed, and when the right foot gets well I can ride and see you. I have heaps and piles of presents, papa, and I wish you could have them with me just as we used to. I have so many nice oranges and apples and candies that I don't know what to do with them all. I want you to have all these apples that Mr. Denison brings you, because I sent them to you so that you could eat them for me; and you will please give a good big greening to Miss Mann for thinking of me in her note to Mrs. Huntington that morning. O, papa, you don't know how good everything does taste to me. I have to eat something every half hour, I am so hungry, and I have such nice toast and chicken broth, and bread and coffee and jelly; and I have such nice things sent to me. Mrs. Smith sent me a dish of preserved pears, and Mrs. Hyde sent me a big bowl of moss custard, and Mrs. Deardon sent me a big glass jar of canned whortleberries. I must stop writing a few minutes and eat my bowl of chicken broth and biscuit, papa; for the clock says it is half an hour since I had anything to eat, but I shall write more.

The above is only a portion of the letter, but is sufficient to show its character, and the spirit pervading the childs mind. We have not space for the entire letter. (ED. UNION.)

There has been much apprehension in the community that, by some legal quibble, this precious pair would slip through the meshes of the law and escape just punishment. We understand that additional complaints have been entered against both, and that warrants are out which will effectually bar their release on "straw bail." A brother of Miss Mann was here on Monday, but having learned the facts of the case, declared that he would not raise a hand to avert the action of the law. On Thursday an individual who gave the name of N. P. Hicks, of the firm of Shaw & Hicks, Providence, made his appearance at the jail, and proposed to give bail for Miss Mann, but on learning the situation of affairs, he concluded to save his money and abandon his charitable enterprise.

What a Woman Can Do

For the benefit and encouragement of all women kind, and at the risk of invading the private circles of a family of wealth and respectability, we give below the history of a young lady's successful efforts to answer one of the problems of life: What can a woman do?

A young lady at the East, dependent upon her own resources, was adopted into the family of a gentleman in this city. This gentleman was transacting a business of millions of dollars annually, and employed numerous clerks and accountants. The young lady alluded to was taken into the counting room, and very soon rose to the position of chief book-keeper and cashier of the house. She filled the position and performed its duties with singular fidelity and satisfaction for several years. All the large transactions of the house passed through her hands; the daily cash transactions alone amounting to from $20,000 to $50,000.

We have had the satisfaction of examining this set of books, and can truly say that no accountant in Milwaukee can show a better record of neatness and accuracy. Several bankers have also examined the work of this young lady, and pronounced it well nigh faultless. The young lady has balanced her books, closed her accounts and left her situation to take charge of the personal and household affairs of a young business man in a neighboring city. It is useless to predict that such a woman will make successful the difficult problems of HOME.

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 14.—The Senate Bridge committee report in favor of bridging the Mississippi at Winona.

DEFECTIVE PAGE

The Mankato Union.

FRIDAY, - - FEBRUARY 22, 1867.

W. B. GRISWOLD, - Editor and Pro'r.

OUR PAMPHLET READY.

We shall be ready to begin to receive orders for our pamphlet to-morrow, Saturday. It contains a detailed review of the growth of Mankato since its first settlement, with the amount of buildings erected and business done in 1866. Also a history of the first settlement of Watonwan county and Madelia. Also the business of Garden City for 1866, together with a brief mention of other towns, and the water powers of the county. It will be for sale next week at Smith & Humphrey's Mankato, S C Welcome, Garden City; and Yates Bros., Madelia, and at this office.

Editorial Convention.

Pursuant to a call recently made, the editors and publishers of the State, met in convention at St. Paul, on Wednesday last. The day previous an informal meeting was held at the hall of the Minne-ha-ha Engine company, twenty-five papers of the State being then represented. The Globe, Merchants, and International hotels, entertained the fraternity free of charge. As the convention will consist of publishers and editors only, and for strictly business purposes the beautiful hall of the fire company was deemed the most convenient place for holding it. It is a shame that Mankato is not represented, and nothing but a peculiar emergency would have prevented us from attending. As the proceedings came too late for this issue we must defer them to next week.

Southern Minnesota Railroad.

Our State Legislature and the Directors of the Southern Minnesota railway are widely at variance in regard to the conditions upon which the late Congressional land grant shall be passed over to the company. The usual channel of land appropriations by Congress for railroad purposes is through the respective States and from the States to the corporations entitled. The citizens of Austin, Albert Lee and Blue Earth City desire the road to pass through their towns, the two latter of which are located only ten miles from the State line: and they intend if possible to compel the road to pass through these places by imposing upon the company such a condition in their grant of lands. The company have presented a memorial to the Legislature setting forth their grievances. The grant gives them each alternate section for ten miles on either side of the road, but as the counties of Houston, Fillmore and part of Mower are quite well settled there is but little public land in them, and hence a deficiency arises. For this deficiency lands further west are appropriated, but they must be selected outside of the ten mile limit. If the company are compelled to build the road ten miles north of the State line and parallel with it, they can obtain no deficiency lands south of the road. They wish to build it about twenty miles north, which will leave these towns entirely off the road, but give them a strip of country ten miles in width along the border of the State from which to select the deficiency lands. The company claim that unless allowed this privilege, they must abondon the enterprise. The only interest, in our judgment, that Mankato has in this location of the road is, that it shall give us as much lea way as possible. As it approaches westward, the further south it is located unless it comes here, the better for us. Our trade from Faribault county must receive a check if the road is located as far north as Winnebago City, and it is quite natural that we should favor the location of the road further south, in order that we may retain a fair share of the trade of that county. Whatever may be the result of this controvers our neighbors need not fear the lack of railroad facilities long, for we look upon the grant allowing the Minnesota V. R. R. Co., to construct a road from Mankato via Blue Earth City to the State line, introduced by Hon. J. B. Wakefield, as one not only as advantagous as the Southern road, but one whose construction is attended with more certainty and less delay.

Railroad Tariffs.

Our present Legislature, as it has been with all preceding sessions, is still legislating upon the questions of railroad grants, charters, and amendments thereto. In accepting the 'Congressional land grant for the Southern Minnesota R. R., an attempt has been made to reserve to the State the right to regulate the passenger and freight tariffs. The usual pleas of avoidance have been urged by those members, who have nothing to lose and everything to hope for, in pinning themselves to the coat tails of railroad sharks. But Mr. Gordon brought the Senate up with a short turn on Friday last, by showing the cost of transportation on our Minnesota roads to be as follows:

Rates on wheat for 100 miles per bushel.

	cents.
St. P. and P. Branch	26¾
Winona and St. Peter	20
Southern Minnesota	34
Minnesota Central	20½
Minnesota Valley	25½

Average charge per bushel per 100 miles, 25.3cents

At same rates transported to N. Y. City, distance estimated at 1,200 miles, per bushel:

At St. P. & P. Branch rate	$3 20
At Winona and St, Peter rate	2 40
At Southern Minnesota rate	4 08
At Minnesota Central rate	2 46
At Minnesota Valley rate	3 06

The rates of either of these roads would absorb the full price of the wheat, when delivered in New York; and that of the Southern Minnesota would double the present price.—It is high time that our people cease to complain of the rates east of the Mississippi, so long as they allow through their legislature such extortions as the above exhibit reveals. Our former Legislators deserve the severest censure for not meeting and defeating this gross outrage upon the public. An attempt was made in the Senate, to let the company off with the dish-water provision that, "the railroad shall establish a fair and just passenger and freight tariff." This was defeated by the following vote:

Yeas—Messrs. Back, Butters, Bristol, Draper, Lord, Murry and Yale.

Nays—Messrs. A. Armstrong, J. L. Armstrong, Baxter, Daniels, Evans, Folsom, Griggs, Gordon, Miller, Perkins, Porter, Pillsbury, Temple, Whitney and Yale.

Mr. Gorden offered an amendment giving the Legislature the right to fix and regulate freight and passenger tariffs, which after much discussion was adopted.

The House should not fail to concur in this important amendment. If we can have one road, of the several leading to a common western terminus, which can be governed as to freight, it is sufficient, as all others must reduce their rates to the same figures in order to compete with it, successfully.

—Another Bounty bill has passed the lower branch of Congress, which provides for allowing every soldier a bounty at the rate of $8⅓ per month including local bounties, which are to be taken out of the aggregate sum. As it will require a large sum of money, it is thought the Senate will not concur before this congress expires. Such a law however, will doubtless eventually pass.

RECONSTRUCTION.

Congress is still working with some zeal to perfect a suitable bill for the reconstruction and representation of the late rebel states. Quite a number of bills have been presented, by different members. Elliots, Stevens military, and the Louisiana bill introduced at the suggestion of the New Orleans investigation committee, are now prominently before congress. Amendments have also been proposed one of which is known as the Blaine amendment, and another was introduced by Henderson which provides that the elective franchise shall be given to "all male citizens of the "United States, of whatever color, race or "condition, twenty-one years of age and up-"wards, who may be residents of the State "twelve months previous to the election, ex-"cept such as may be disqualified for election "by rebellion, fellony at common law, idiocy "or insanity."

Upon this subject the Chicago Post says:

"It is rumored that the President will accept the Military Bill with the Blaine amendment. If so, this is one reson why the amendment should not be adopted. We have already expressed our objections to it, and we see no reason to change our mind.

It seems to us that the Elliot bill, in connection with Mr. Stevens' military bill, just as it went to the Senate, presents a complete and effective system of reconstruction. The military bill is simply preparatory to further action. Although it has some objectionable features in it, it is calculated to most effectually destroy the power of the State governments which have been set up in the South, and to clear the ground for the erection of new and loyal governments like that which Mr. Johnson himself helped erect in Tennessee.

The Louisiana bill is the complement of it. It is based upon the report of the New Orleans Investigating Committee, and provides for a provisional government, which shall rescue that State from the violence and disorder which prevails there. It is a just and wise measure, and if it passes the Senate, it will give Louisiana what Tennessee now has, a government loyal to the core. Similar measures would doubtless pass in regard to other States, in each case adapted to their condition for it must be admitted that Virginia or North Carolina require different treatment from Louisiana or Texas.

The Blaine amendment renders unnecessary the Louisiana bill of Mr. Elliot. If that shall be incorporated in the Military bill, the State of Louisiana as well as every other lately rebel State will be admitted to the Union on complying with the following conditions: 1st, Ratification of the Constitutional Amendment proposed as Art. XIV. 2d, Conformation of the State Constitution and laws to the amendment. 3d, Giving the elective franchise to all male citizens of the United States as specified above in Mr. Henderson's amendment. 4th, Ratification of its Constitution by the voters as above described. 5th, Approval of the Constitution by Congress.

On compliance with these conditions the State is to be declared entitled to representation in Congress and its Senators and Representatives will be admitted on taking the oath prescribed by law.

FROM GARDEN CITY.

By Our Own Reporter.

FEBRUARY 19, 1867.

We are having fine winter weather. Business is lively at the different saw mills, in Garden City and vicinity. Many logs are being drawn in and quite a large amount of lumber has been sawed out, and a number of persons are preparing to build in the spring.

Trade is rather dull at our stores; the farmers are generally improving the sleighing in getting out logs, fencing &c., and have but little time for trading.

S. C. Clark is now at work in earnest on the bridge, with a number of hands, and there is a prospect of our being able to cross the Watonwan this spring without using boats.

J. N. Thompson and family have returned to our little town, and will hereafter make Garden City their home. He intends building in the spring.

M. T. Fall, proprietor of the Garden City Hotel, has been quite sick during the past week but is recovering.

A little boy, the son of Daniel Fleming's, about three miles from town, fell down cellar and broke his thigh bone, on Monday of this week. It was set by Dr. Wellcome and is doing well.

N. N. Clark, of the firm of Clark & Son, had a (Miss) Fall a few days ago. He has not yet had medical attendance, but is doing well, and it is thought he will soon be able to rise as early as usual in the morning, as no bones were broken.

FROM STERLING.

ED. UNION—Dear Sir: —

Your's being a county paper, and seeing but little in its columns in regard to Sterling, we thought a few lines from here would not be unacceptable. Although in the country 25 miles from the county metropolis, we still have something going on. Our schools are all under good heading, District No. 33 having fifty-two names on the register, among which are those of several young ladies and gentlemen. Our Sundays are passed in attending a well filled Sunday school, and listening to the teaching of the Holy book, as expounded by Rev. N. A. Hunt, of this place. Rev. J. E. Conrad of Sterling also takes an active part in the cause he espouses. The "Sterling Lyceum" is a permanent institution of the winter, every Monday evening is very pleasantly passed in listening to or participating in its proceedings. Coming question for debate:

Resolved, That it is for the interest of the present and future settlers of Minnesota to fence in their stock instead of their grain."

Our decision will effect our Legislature "not any" but as a settlement we propose to see on which side of the fence we stand. Superintendent Beatty, of Mankato, has been paying our schools a visit. His kind manner and interesting and encouraging remarks, have given our scholars a marked impetus in the right direction. As a superintendent we like him, and in this direction the verdict in his favor is unanimous. On every Wednesday evening is a regular meeting of the I. O. of G. T. of Sterling. Our singing school every Friday evening is taught by Mr. S. H. Thorn of Mankato. One word in regard to Mr. Thorn. As a teacher he is liked, and his school here is a success. At once prompt and obliging, he deserves success. As an instance we refer to Thursday 7th inst when he obliged his scholars so far as to stay all night long with them. It was the worst night this winter, and some say he was not obliging, but obliged to stay. We cannot decide, but certain it is that he with his school remained in the school house until morning. In connection with the storm we will state, that on Friday Theodore, son of N. A. Hunt, above refered to, on his way home from Mankato, froze his feet so badly as to be somewhat crippled for the rest of the winter. Such cases together with those otherwise afflicted, are attended by Dr. C. L. Travis of our place, who with our life-giving Minnesota air, seldom fails to produce the desired effect. Wm. Russell, Sr., with R. Taylor of Mapleton and the Mankato merchants in toto, still countinue to make war on high prices. We are anxiously waiting for a victory, which if won, shall be duly recorded.

OCK. H. SHUNALLY.

FROM VERNON.

By our own Reporter.

The Good Templars Lodge here continues to grow in numbers, and their weekly meetings are quite interesting. The following officers are just installed:

W. C. T.—A. D. Mason.
W. V. T.—Mrs. M. B. Haynes.
W. C.—William Read.
P. W. C. T.—W. H. Ellas.

ARREST OF M. A. HAWKES.

Last summer a man of the above name was boarding at the Mansion House in St. Paul, and, as supposed, accidentally shot and killed his wife with a revolver. Evidence has been collected, showing it to be probable, that it was done purposely. Upon this subject the Chicago Post of the 15th says: A Coroner's inquest was held upon the body of Mrs. Hawkes, and a verdict of accidental shooting returned. "They had," so ran the despatch, "been married but a short time, and Mr. Hawkes was almost frantic with grief." He was at that time employed as a traveling agent for R. H. Curran, of this city, publisher of and dealer in steel engravings. Shortly after the death of his wife he returned to this city, where he has since been with Mr. Curran's establishment.

Some time after the death of his wife, it transpired that joint policies of insurance upon her life, to the amount of $11,000, in three different companies, had been effected by Hawkes, who, in the course of a month or two, endeavored to collect the same. The Insurance Company contrived to defer the settlement of the claims, postponing the matter from time to time.

Subsequent events and incidents transpired of a character to convince the parties interested that the shooting of the heavily insured wife might turn out not to have been so purely accidental. These items of information were slowly and carefully collected by the detectives, after months of patient effort, and finally led to the arrest of Hawkes, upon a requisition from Governor Marshall, of Minnesota, to the Governor of Illinois. Yesterday forenoon Sheriff Robertson, of Ramsey county, Minnesota, arrived in this city from St. Paul, bearing the requisition for the arrest of Hawkes. Deputy Longley, in company with Sheriff Robertson and one of Tuttle's detectives, proceeded to No. 152 Wells street, where they found Hawkes just coming down. Advancing towards him, Longley made Hawkes his prisoner, as he stated, upon the requisition of the Governor of Minnesota. He quietly submitted, remarking that it was all right; he had been expecting it for some time. The prisoner was last night lodged in the county jail, and this morning started for St. Paul, in the custody of Sheriff Robertson.

Concerning the same man, the St. Paul Press of the 19th, says:

It will be recollected that on the 21st of July last Mrs. Lizzie Hawkes was killed at the Mansion House, in this city. It was thought then that the shooting was accidental. Since that time circumstances have appeared which demanded a more full and complete investigation of the cause of Mrs. Hawkes' death. The result has been that about one week ago an officer left this city for Chicago, with a requisition for Mr. Hawkes. The latter was arrested in Chicago by the Sheriff of Cook county, Illinois, on Friday last, and quietly brought to this city last night. He was immediately placed in jail, where he now remains. He seems to have been quiet on the way, and is undisturbed now. The witnesses will be here from Illinois to-morrow.

THE FENIAN OUTBREAK IN ENGLAND

Eight Hundred Armed Fenians near Killarney.

LONDON, Feb. 14—Evening.

The Government denies the truth of the stories of the landing of the shipload of Fenians at Valentia. It is admitted that there is a serious revolt at and near Killarney. The telegraph wires near Valentia were destroyed for a long distance, and riot and pillage were rampant. A coast guard policeman was killed.

LATER.

About eight hundred Fenians, commanded by Col. O'Connor, retreated to the hills near Killarney. British troops have been posted at Mallow Junction, in the county of Cork, commanding the hill district. The excitement in the neighborhood is intense, and many are precipitately leaving.

An ex-United States captain has been arrested at Killarney on suspicion of being a Fenian.

A large number of marines at Plymouth are ordered to proceed to Ireland immediately.

—That magnificent millionaire and practical philanthropist, George Peabody, has made another munificent donation. He has given two million one hundred thousand dollars for the education of the benighted Southern youth, black and white. The announcement is startling in its character and effect—"George Peabody has donated one million dollars in cash and one million one hundred thousand in unrepudiated Mississippi bonds for the instruction of Southern youth, without distinction of color." These bonds are the famous State bonds issued to the Planters' Bank of Mississippi. Mr. Peabody is a gentleman of large intelligence, of shrewd business knowledge, and of broad, enlightened views; but if he supposes that the Mississippi Legislature will refrain from repudiating his Planters' Bank bonds because he has devoted them to educating the little niggers of Mississippi he labors under a grave error. The fact that the money is to be devoted to instructing the young darkies will insure the repudiation of the bonds. Indeed, we should not be surprised to find all the Southern States uniting in a demand for their repudiation with as much unanimity as is displayed in their rejection of the constitutional amendment.—N. Y. Herald.

Yesterday Governor Marshall executed a deed for the State, to the Winona & St. Peter Railroad Company on account of constriction of eighty miles of road. The amount of land conveyed was 25,682.99 acres.—Press, 13th.

There cometh glad tidings of joy to all,
To young and to old, to great and to small;
The beauty which once was so precious and rare,
Is free for all, and all may be fair.

Reparator Capilli.

Throw away your false frizzes, your switches, your wig—
Destructive of comfort, and not worth a fig;
Come aged, come youthful, come ugly and fair,
And rejoice in your own luxuriant hair.

REPARATOR CAPILLI.

For restoring hair upon bald heads (from whatever cause it may have fallen out) and forcing a growth of hair upon the face, it has no equal. It will force the beard to grow upon the smoothest face in from five to eight weeks, or hair upon bald heads in from two to three months. A few ignorant practitioners have asserted that there is nothing that will force or hasten the growth of the hair or beard. Their assertions are false, as thousands of living witnesses (from their own experience) can bear witness. But many will say, how are we to distinguish the genuine from the spurious? It certainly is difficult, as nine-tenths of the different Preparations advertised for the hair and beard are entirely worthless, and you may have already thrown away large amounts in their purchase. To such we would say, try the Reparator Cappilli; it will cost you nothing unless it fully comes up to our representations. If your Druggist does not keep it, send us one dollar and we will forward it, postpaid, together with a receipt for the money, which will be returned you on application, proving entire satisfaction is not given. Madame H. A. Perrigo.

She reveals secrets no mortal ever knew. She restores to happiness those who, from doleful events, catastrophes, crosses in love, loss of relations and friends, loss of money, &c., have become despondent. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person.—She reads your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers unveils the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the malefic stars that overcome or predominate in the configuration—from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars in the heavens at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man. Fail not to consult the greatest Astrologist on earth. It costs you but a trifle, and you may never again have so favorable an opportunity. LUMBER! LUMBER!

The undersigned has associated with him Mr. Wm. H. Ellas, (one of the best sawyers in the State,) and who has rented Mr. Mason's share in the mill at Vernon, and has now on hand a large supply of lumber, and is prepared to furnish to order the best article of lumber made in the county, and at the most reasonable prices. They are determined to satisfy customers, and all who may want any article usually manufactured at country mills. All orders promptly filled.

CONFERENCE.—The Second Methodist Quarterly Conference will take place in this city on Saturday and Sunday next.

WHEAT—The price of wheat is again on the rise. As high as $1.60 was paid this week, though the ruling price has been about $1,54 for number one.

CONCERT.—We understand that the choir of the Presbyterian church, assisted by others are preparing to give a concert at Higgins' Hall next Friday evening, March 1st. It promises to be an entertainment well worth hearing.

FURNITURE.—The new furniture firm of Drew & Payne, advertise their store elsewhere. They have on hand and arriving a fine assortment, and ask a share of public favor. Call and examine the goods.

STAGING.—In another column will be found the advertisement of the stage lines of J. C. Burbank & Co. Persons desiring to know where the lines run, and to consult their time table, can be accommodated for the present year by refering to the the columns of the UNION.

MILWAUKEE & ST PAUL.—Those intending to go east should consult the card of the Milwaukee & St Paul railway, to be found in another column. This road is equipped with the best cars in the west and makes close connection with all eastern routes. Apply for tickets to Col. J. C. George ticket agent, St. Paul.

GODEY.—Godey's Lady's book for the month of March reached us in good season. It is an excellent number, containing as usual what every lady desires. Smith & Humphrey receive subscriptions.

ELECTED.—At the annual meeting of the Blue Earth County Agricultural Society, held at Garden City, on the 9th of February, 1867, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

J. H. Mead,—President.
Henry Shaubut, }
B. D. Pay, }
Miner Porter, } Vice Presidents.
John B. Skinner, }
John Park. }
James G. Thompson,—Secretary.
Daniel Buck—Cor. Secretary.
B. H. Pay—Treasurer.
H. W. Perry—Marshal.
D. H. Tyner—Assistant Marshal.

LARGE CONTRACT.—Messrs. Scott & Warden, of the "Red Jacket" mills, have concluded a contract with Capt. W. F. Davidson, of the Northern Packet Company for 1,000 barrels of their superior flour. They have already purchased 4,000 bushels of wheat, and commenced to deliver their flour at the Company's warehouse in this city. The flour is to be used on their line of boats both on the Minnesota and Mississippi rivers.

A PRESENT.—Mrs. W. B., or in other words, our "controling" half, was the recipient, last week, of a beautiful silver fruit knife, from P. K. Wiser, the jeweler, on Front street. In acknowledging our thanks, we wish to add that there is great satisfaction in trading at Wiser's, where the quality of the goods is to be relied on. If our citizens wish to deal in this line of goods, let them go there in preference to these tin and pewter gift enterprises.

BIERBAUER'S WOOLEN FACTORY. — The woolen factory of Jacob Bierbauer will be erected early in the spring, the contract having already been let to Henry Harman & T. C. Bausch, of this city. The size of the building will be 40 by 52 feet—three stories high. The first story is to be built of stone, and the second and third of brick. The building and finish of course will be plain, but substantial, and will cost $5,000. The engine is already purchased, and the works for manufacturing will be obtained in Massachusetts. Mr. Bierbauer will at first put in three looms, with sufficient carders and spinners to supply them with yarn. The estimated cost of the establishment is $20,000.

VALEDICTORY.—The Winnebago City Homestead of the 20th inst., contains the valedictory of J. L. Christie, its editor. Ill health and inability to properly furnish the office is given as the cause of his retiring. Mr. Christie has given Faribault county a sprightly and creditable sheet, and in point of typography quite superior to his Blue Earth City cotemporary. Mr. E A Hotchkiss of New York is the new proprietor who is said to be a gentleman of ability and experience.

AID SOCIETY.—The First Presbyterian Ladies Aid Society held its first meeting at Mr. Littles', and elected the following officers:

President, Mrs. W. H. Shepard; Vice President, Miss Lucy McKennie; Secretary, Miss Libbie McClellan; Treasure, Mrs. A. J. Kennedy. About forty were admitted to membership, the initiation fee being 25 cents. The second meeting was held at the house of Mr. A. D. Seward on Wednesday last. New members were received. By a vote of the ladies, it was resolved to appropriate the funds to the liquidation of the church debt. A small amount is expected to be contributed by the members at each meeting.

DISTRICT COURT DECISION.—Judge Austin gave his decision this week in the case of John Quane against the Board of County Commissioners of Blue Earth, tried at the last term of the District Court in this place, in favor of John Quane. This action was brought by Quane, on account of a refusal of the county Board to allow him his bill for board and necessaries furnished a boxing master, who in his scuffling broke his leg at Quane's house, and who was in destitute circumstances. The Judge decided that no matter what the character of the man was, whether good or bad, if he was in destitute circumstances, and unable to be removed to the county where he claimed a residence, it was the duty of the county Board where the destitute man was, to provide him necessaries, and by neglecting to do it, after their attendance was called to the subject by Quane, were liable for necessaries furnished by other parties.

POST ROUTE.—The Government is advertising for bids for carrying a mail once a week from Peddlers' Grove to Garden City. The route touches at Medo, at Cobb mills in Beauford township, at Dyer's mill on the Maple river in Rapidan, and at the crossing of the Blue Earth, and thence to Garden City. This route will be a great convenience to the settlers on the line.

FOR MONTANA.—Col. Kelley informs us that he has this week enlisted nine men, six women and two children, for the Montana Expedition. Their destination is Helsemite Valley Oregon, and they take this route as being preferable to any other.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

—If you have poor bread it is because you have poor flour. To remedy this, go to P. F. Milnon's grocery, where you can get Quayle's choicest brand. No one else in the city keeps it. The announcement that it could be had at Higgin's flour store was a mistake.

Behind the Lighthouse.

Old fogyism is not quite dead. People are still to be found who think that health is promoted by depletion! Was there ever such false logic! Nature is the grand antagonist of disease, and the depleters propose to prostrate Nature, in order, one might suppose, to give the enemy a double chance at the life of the patient! The true practice is so to invigorate the vital powers as to render them an overmatch for the elements of disease. This can be done with HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Of all vegetable tonics they are the most powerful and the most genial. At this season, when even the strongest organizations are liable to be affected by the alternations of stringent cold and malarious moisture, this inestimable protective medicine is especially needed. Persons predisposed to billiousness, dyspepsia, constipation, intermittent fever, or any of the complaints which cold weather superinduces or aggravates, should take it regularly throughout the Winter and Spring months. It is absolutely pure and harmless.

VALUABLE LANDS
FOR SALE.

By the direction of the Honorable Secretary of the Interior, the undersign will receive sealed bids for the purchase of any or all the lands hereinafter described, they being among the choicest and best farming lands in Minnesota.

These lands comprise what are known as the Winnebago Trust Lands in the State of Minnesota, and will be sold to the highest and best bidders in tracts not exceeding one hundred and sixty acres each, under the provisions of a treaty concluded with the Winnebago Indians, April 15th, 1859, and an act of Congress, approved February 21st, 1863, entitled "An act for the removal of the Winnebago Indians, and for the sale of their Reservation in Minnesota for their benefit."

In case a bid is accepted, the party making the same will be notified as soon thereafter as practicable. If within thirty days after such notice the party shall fail to make payment to the undersigned, the land for which said bid was made will be subject to sale to any other person.

Patents will be issued and transmitted to purchasers as soon after payment as the same can be prepared. Payments may be made either in cash or in certificates of indebtedness of the Winnebago Indians, issued by the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, for the debt of said Indians, and secured to be paid out of the proceeds of the sale of such lands by the third article of the treaty above mentioned. The right to reject any and all bids is expressly reserved. All bids must be sealed and addressed to the undersigned, Washington City, D. C., and andorsed, "Bids for Winnebago Trust Land."

As heretofore many persons have bid upon these lands, and after the awards have been made to them have failed to respond, the Secretary of the Interior hereby dictates that all bids hereafter submitted must be accompanied by a deposit of a sum equal to ten per cent on the amount of each bid, which in case the land is awarded and the ballance not paid will be forfeited by the bidder. Should the bid be rejected the sum deposited will be returned to the unsuccessful bidder.

DUPLEX ELLIPTIC
(OR DOUBLE SPRING)
SKIRT.

The Wonderful Flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any Lady, wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced particularly in all crowded assemblies, Operas, Carriages, Railroad Cars, Church Pews, Arm Chairs, for Promenade and House Dress, as the Skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a silk or muslin dress, an invaluable quality in crinoline, not found in any Single Spring skirt.

A Lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort, and great convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Steel Spring Skirt for a single day, will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For Children, Misses and Young Ladies, they are superior to all others.

They will not bend or break like the Single Spring, but will preserve their perfect and graceful shape when three or four ordinary skirts will have been thrown aside as useless. The Hoops are covered with double and twisted thread, and the bottom rods are not only double springs but twice (or double) covered: preventing them from wearing out when dragging down stoops, stairs, &c.

The Duplex Elliptic is a great favorite with all ladies and is universally recommended by the Fashion Magazines as the standard skirt of the fashionable world.

To enjoy the following inestimable advantages in Crinoline, viz.: Superior Quality, Perfect Manufacture, Stylish shape and Finish, Flexibility, Durability, Comfort and Economy, enquire for J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic, or Double Spring Skirt, and be sure you get the genuine article.

CAUTION.—To guard against IMPOSITION be particular to NOTICE that skirts offered as "DUPLEX" have the red ink stamp, viz., "J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic Steel Springs," upon the waistband—none others are genuine. Also Notice that every Hoop will admit a pin being passed through the centre, thus revealing the two (or double) springs braided together therein, which is the secret of their Flexibility and strength, and a combination not to be found in any other Skirt.

FOR SALE in all Stores where First Class skirts are sold throughout the United States and elsewhere. Manufactured by the Sole Owners of the patent.

The News.

The negro suffrage bill which passed the Tennessee House of Representatives a few days since, was taken up in the Senate on Saturday and passed precisely as it came from the House.

Mr. Morrill, chairman of the Ways and Means committee, being called home by the serious illness of his mother, his absence will seriously interfere with the progress of the tariff bill in the committee, as nearly all the members have left that important measure to his guidance. They will go on, however, with a view of getting it before the House as speedily as possible.

The friends of Colorado are confident their State bill will pass over the President's veto.

Miss Mary Harris, who shot her seducer, Burroughs, in the Treasury building, two years ago, has just been admitted to the insane asylum.

The Sioux Indians now on a visit to Washington, have made a proposition to guarantee the safety of travel through their country, and also the frontier settlements, provided the Government will authorize the organization of not less than two hundred and fifty men belonging to their bands, under an officer satisfactory, the compensation to be fixed at $60 per month and rations for themselves, families and horses. They will furnish their own arms, ammunition, horses transportation, &c.

A dispatch has been received in Washington from Richmond, stating that a very strong feeling of radical republicanism is developing itself in the southwestern portion of Va., particularly in the counties bordering on North Carolina. In Carroll county the organization known as "Red Strings," recently held a meeting at Hillsville, which was addressed by an ex-Rebel officer. He proclaimed their affiliation to the radical party at the North, denounced the present Legislature as disloyal and advocated the adoption of the constitutional amendment.

Commissioner Wilson, of the land office, has just transmitted to the Governor of Minnesota, a certified transcript of two approved lists of lands enuring to the State to aid in the construction of the St. Paul and Pacific railroad, containing in the aggregate 113,921 acres.

TOPEKA, Feb. 11.—The Senate voted the House joint resolution to amend the constitution by striking out the words "white" and "male," with an amendment making intelligence the basis of suffrage.

The Bankrupt Bill passed the Senate, February 12th, by a vote of 22 to 20. It goes to the House for concurrence in several amendments. It will probably meet with no formidable opposition in that body.

The delay in North Carolina Legislature to act on the reconstruction proposition of the Southern Governors is looked upon in Congress as ominous, as that State was expected to lead the way in its adoption.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The Supreme Court of the District of Columbia in the case of the application of Colonel Magruder for admission to the bar: reported that the test oath of 1863 was constitutional proper and necessary.

The New Orleans Crescent says: "The population of Texas at the beginning of the war was between 600,000 and 700,000. It is now at least 1,300,000. It will soon have as large a population as the State of New York —3,827,827. Population is flowing into it from every part of the civilized world. No country on the earth offers such inducements to immigrants as Texas."

TOPEKA, Ks., Feb. 13.—The editor of the Salt Lake Vidette who has just arrived via the Smoky Hill route, states that at Downer's Station there were 7,000 Indians who had met other tribes to decide upon war or peace.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—The Herald's Chicago special says: "The Chicago Alton & St. Louis railroad bridge over the Kankakee river, at Wilmington, has been swept away by the flood. At Aurora, Illinois, the island at the lower part of the town, has been overflowed by the Fox river, covering the first floor of the shops and business houses, and compelling families to leave their dwellings. At Galena, Illinois, the Illinois Central railroad bridge has been destroyed, and several steamers and barges swept from their moorings.

At Dubuque, Iowa, the long bridge and mill dam were swept away, and the loss is heavy. At Waterloo, Cedar Falls and Iowa Falls, the rivers are on the rampage, and much destruction is feared.

The question who has made the greatest belt in the world is under discussion in the Shoe and Leather Reporter. A Pittsburg manufacturer writes to that paper that his greatest effort was in the production of a double belt, one hundred and ninety-two (192) feet long, 56 inches wide, using 153 whole hides in the production of the same. The belt was made for the Eldorado Mining Co. of Nevada, at a cost of $2,390.

A Bill has been introduced in the United States House of Representatives by Mr. Donnelly, "To amend the act creating the Union Pacific Railroad, so as to provide for the extention of the northern branch from Sioux City, its present terminus, to Lake Superior, on the same terms and conditions as are contained in the original act.

The bill was referred to the committee on the Union Pacific Railroad. The Union Pacific railroad by this route, following the line of the Minnesota Valley and Lake Superior & Mississippi railroads, to the head of lake Superior would reach lake navigation between two and three hundred miles nearer than by the route to Chicago. So great a saving of land transit is well worth the cost of this extension of the Pacific scheme.—Press 13th.

Trying to Compromise.

Washington, Feb. 15th, 1867.—Several leading Republican leaders of Congress and others, among whom were Raymond, Bingham, Hubbel, Buckland and Delano, held a protracted caucus last night in this city for the purpose of ascertaining whether a compromise might not yet be effected between President Johnson and the Congress. There seems to be but little doubt but that the President is toiling to agree upon a plan for the purpose of accommodating the views of a majority of Congress, providing they would meet him half way, but it appears there is nobody that can speak for the majority. Hence the difficulty in bringing out the proposed arrangement.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU and Improved Rose Wash cures secret and delicate disorders in all their stages, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience and no exposure. It is pleasant in taste and odor, immediate in its action, and free from all injurious properties.

☞ A YOUNG LADY returning to her country home, after a sojourn of a few months in the City, was hardly recognised by her friends. In place of a coarse, rustic, flushed face, she had a soft ruby complexion of almost marble smoothness, and instead of twenty-three she really appeared but eighteen. Upon inquiry as to the cause of so great a change, she plainly told them that she used the Circassian Balm, and considered it an invaluable acquisition to any Lady's toilet. By its use any Lady or Gentleman can improve their personal appearance an hundred fold. It is simple in its combination, as Nature herself is simple, yet unsurpassed in its efficacy in drawing impurities from, also healing, cleansing and beautifying the skin and complexion. By its direct action on the cuticle it draws from it all its impurities, kindly healing the same, and leaving the surface as Nature intended it should be, clear, soft, smooth and beautiful. SYMPTOMS.

The symptoms of Catarrh are at first very slight. Persons find they have a cold, that they have frequent attacks, and are more sensitive to the changes of the temperature. In this condition the nose may be dry, or a slight discharge thin and acrid, afterwards thick and adhesive, may ensue.

As the disease becomes chronic, the discharges are increased in quantity and changed in quality; they are now thick and heavy, and hawked or coughed off. The secretions are offensive, causing a bad breath; the voice thick and nasal; the eyes are weak; the sense of smell is lessened or destroyed; deafness frequently takes place.

Another common and important symptom of Catarrh is, that the person is obliged to clear his throat in the morning of a slick or slimy mucous, which has fallen from the head during the night. When this takes place, the person may be sure that his disease is on its way to the lungs, and should lose no time in arresting it.

The above are but a few of the many Catarrhal symptoms. Write to our Laboratory for our pamphlet describing fully all symptoms; it will be sent FREE to any address. Also directions where to procure the medicine.

We are receiving letters from all parts of the Union, and also numerous testimonials from those using it, bearing the evidence of its infallible merits;

☞ This remedy contains no MINERAL or POISONOUS INGREDIENTS, but is prepared from vegetable extracts EXCLUSIVELY; therefore it is PERFECTLY HARMLESS, even to the most tender and delicate child. ☜

CALL FOR SEELYE'S CATARRH REMEDY, and take no other. If not sold by druggist in your vicinity, they will order it for you. Price $2,00 per bottle.

FLORENCE
SEWING MACHINE CO.
100 WASHINGTON ST., CHICAGO.
Wm. H. SHARP & CO.,
GENERAL AGENTS.

THE FLORENCE is the only machine extant having a reversible feed, which enables the operator to sew either to the right or left at pleasure, and the only machine that makes a perfectly elastic seam, alike on each side of the fabric.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE not only makes the lock-stitch, but three others, which for certain kinds of work are much superior, especially where elasticity is required and is the only machine that fastens the ends of each seam securely, and does it in one-fourth the time it can be done by hand.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE, does not draw fine, thin goods down through the slot or hole in the work-plate nor drop a stitch in turning a corner, and is the only machine having a changeless tension, and no slack threads both of which draw together simultaneously.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE is noiseless, and can be used when quiet is necessary as well in the sick-chamber as in the workroom. They oil no dresses, the machinery being all on the top of the table. It will sew over the heaviest seams, or from one to more thicknesses of goods, without skipping stitches, breaking threads or requiring change in tension.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE will do easily all family and tailoring work on one and the same machine. They are strong and finely finished,—their motions are all positive, there are no springs to get out of order,—while for strength, durability & beauty of design it will bear, and we invite, comparison, with any or all machines.

AMERICAN ORGANS.

(From "Godey's Ladies' Book," February, 1866.)

REED ORGANS, &c.

THE following remarks and suggestions relative to this immensely popular instrument will doubtless interest and profit very many of our readers; we commend the article to their careful perusal:—

A hundred and one makers of Organs, Cottage, Parlor-Cabinet, American, School Organs etc. etc., are each claiming to make the best instrument in the world. Being comparatively a new instrument, as at present constructed, we are convinced the public are much less capable of judging of its merits, or demerits, than of most other instruments. If there is really an essential difference in them, if there are some worthless ones, the public should have some criterion for judging of them, some facts which will enlighten them. We cheerfully concede the space for this article, knowing that there is hardly a family, or church, or school in all the land, but is more or less interested in this topic. We are also aware of its being a great misfortune, a real calamity, to any of them to purchase an inferior or worthless Organ, ruinous to good playing, and often a source of much annoyance and vexation. We know this article to emanate from a candid and intelligent source, and thus we give it to our readers.

The question is often asked, what are "reed organs?" We answer, they are, in most cases nothing in the world but the old melodeon in disguise. Many of the so called Organs have the same bellows, the same reeds, and the same general internal arrangement. With the bellows turned on edge to gain room, they have simply put on a more pretentious exterior and a more high sounding name But an organ to be in reality an organ, must have a wind chest or reservoir for air separate from the bellows, into which wind chest the reeds open, and the tone has room to expand and perfect itself into the full round tone, similar to the flute or pipe organ, even, smooth firm and mellow; and this tone from reeds cannot be obtained in any other way known. Nothing so annoys a true organist as to have the volume of sound swelling and jerking spasmodically with every variation of force on the bellows or air-passages, instead of a wind- or sound box. And yet some makers even go so far as to claim this spasmodic or automatic jerking of the bellows on the reeds as an excellence, just as though they did not know that it must soon throw the reeds out of tune, and injure the bellows; and as though it were not an easier matter to obtain a much better and more easily managed swell by other methods. The truth is, any organ so called, or melodeon which has the wind acting directly upon the reeds, is nothing more or less than a huge accordeon, dress it up as you may. And when organists and true musicians become aware of the fact that they can obtain those that are organs in fact as well as in name they will buy no more of the objectionbel ones. Then again the swell should always be separate and distinct from the bellows, so as not to be acted on by the hand, or soft blowing, but convenient, so that the player can use it with the knee, seperate from the hands or feet, and thus always under easy control, to be used ad libitum.

The large divided bellows, or double bellows, is also a very important improvement.—By this means not only can the wind be supplied more evenly, but with far greater ease to the performer, from the fact that either bellows alone will be sufficient for the lighter melodies, thus permitting the player to change about and rest the feet at will; then, if the bellows is of requisite large size, and having the wind-chest or reservoir, all will be well.—As to the reeds, they must be scientifically tuned and voiced, or all the other good qualities in the world cannot produce a good toned instrument. The inquiry now very naturally arises, where can the organ be procured combining all these essential and desirable qualities? There is only one possessing these points and that is the AMERICAN ORGAN, made by S. D. & H. W. SMITH, of Boston, SIBERIA OTT, Wholesale Agent, 581 Broadway, New York. These organs have a wind-chest extending the whole length of the instrument, and so constructed as to act at the same time as a reverberating sound box or board, and having the same important relation and part to perform that the sounding-board has to the piano. This feature the makers have patented, and to it are owing in a great measure the entirely unequaled fullness and richness of tone so highly prized by all who have used these organs. They also have the largest and best divided bellows in use, which is another important feature. No part of their work is slighted no expense or pains spared to make the American Organs perfect musically, as well as mechanically, and, judging from the immense sale of them at present, they bid fair to long maintain the proud position they have won by superior merit alone. We would most heartily advise all interested to call upon or address MR. SIBERIA OTT, the Wholesale Agent, at No. 581 Broadway, New York, and can assure them he will, in the most gentlemanly and truthful manner, impart to them all the information they may desire relative to this truly delightful instrument.

THE FAIREST SIGHT.

BY L. WAISBROOKER,

You ask me of the fairest sight,
That ever I have seen,
While wond'ring over mountain heights
Or thro' the valleys green;
The Fairest sight that ever yet
My eyes have looked upon,
Thrilled thr'o my soul one summer day
Just at the set of sun.
For the faithful love of hoary hairs,
Is lovelier far to me,
Than sparkling eyes, or rosy cheeks,
Or youthful vows can be.

An aged man with silver hair
And brow all wrinkled o'er,
And children's children's sporting round
Upon the cottage floor,
Rested his head upon the knee
Of her he chose for life,
When years before he stood erect,
In manhood's pride of life.
For the faithful love, etc.

And he with gentle, loving grace,
Still threaded o'er and o'er,
Those silver locks with fingers that
He'd clasped so long before,
Or rested them in love's caress,
Upon his aged brow,
And this of all the sights I've seen,
Was the fairest one, I trow.
For the faithful love, etc.

The First Quarrel.

"Sakes alive! what a looking room! I declare, George Graham, if you arn't enough to try the patience of Job! I don't believe there is another woman living has to bear what I do! Who'd ever think that I came in here after breakfast and worked a good hour putting things to rights! And now, what does it look like?"

Tears stood in the little wife's eyes, and her face lengthened out till you would have thought she had heard of a death.

"What is it, Susie? What's up now? What does what look like?" And Mr. Graham turned carelessly, and good naturedly too, from the double-leaded article on Reconstruction, which he had been so earnestly reading, that though he heard, he had scarcely comprehended a word of the complaint.

"That's just like you, George! If I were to tell you the house was on fire, you'd only look around and say, 'where Susie?'"

He laughed; a hearty laugh it was, too, clear and ringing; a laugh that many a wife would have treasured up as men do pearls and precious stones.

It nettled Mrs. Graham, and she said very sharply, "If you'd open your eyes, you'd see what does what look like."

He rubbed them briskly, and then peered around. 'I declare, Susie' I don't know what you mean. The carpet is swept, the furniture dusted, the lamps trimmed, the fire bright—what is it? I can't see for the life of me, anything wrong."

"You can't! No of course you can't! See there, and there, and there, and there," and she pointed rapidly her emphasis growing more inclusive each time, to his heavy overcoat which lay in a tumbled mass on the lounge, to his hat which was lodged unceremoniously in the middle of her work basket, to his rubbers which were roasting on the stove hearth, and to his gloves which had demurely settled themselves down on the mantle-piece.

"I see, I see, Susie, but then you know that I am a careless, good-for nothing sort of a fellow who never had any bringing up, and you must make allowances, my dear," and tossing the paper on the table, he caught her hand and drew her gently upon his lap and said soothingly as one might talk to a fretful child, "don't be so cross now, pet, cause I don't mean anything bad, you know. Put up your lips and let me kiss away that pout."

But the lips were not put up to meet the touch of those bearded ones. Instead, they assumed rigidity, square-ness, immobility.

"Must I have the lecture first, wifey, before I can either give or claim a kiss? Well, out with it then. The sooner I'm whipped the sooner It'll stop hurting, as I used to say to the boys when the schoolmaster was after me with the rod of correction. But Susie," and here his tones which had so far been jocular, assumed a touching earnestness, "I don't like this being scolded every time I come into the house. I've borne it so far patiently, but it's wearing on my temper. I shan't be able to hold it much longer, I'm afraid. I shall scold back, and then we'll quarrel, and then—our home will be no home, but—shall I say it, Susie?—what too many homes are, nothing more or less than cheap editions of hell itself."

"But George, how can I help it.—You do try me terribly."

"How, Susie?"

"Why, by never putting you things where they belong. I was brought up to have a place for every thing, and everything in its place, and it worries me to come in from the kitchen tired and hot, and then find the setting room looking so, I like to have things neat and orderly."

"But you know we can't have all we want in this world, Susie, and is it worth while for you to fret your life away just because I can't always think to put my gloves in my pocket, and hang up my coat and hat, and leave my rubbers out in the entry?"

That word "fret" was an unfortunate one; it stung her, and she said bitterly, "but you never think, George. You come rushing in like a whirlwind, and toss you things pell mell every which way, and if they are ever picked up and put in their places, it is I, not you, that do it, and I'm getting tired of it. I can't stand it any longer."

"What will you do, Susie?" There was severity in his tone now.

"Do? Why I won't stand it. I won't be any man's slave," and the black eyes flashed defiantly.

"Did I ever ask you to be my slave?"

"But what else am I? I toil like one from morning till night to do up the work and put things in order, and you come in and undo all just as I've got through. It is enough to make a saint swear."

She was excited now; she hardly knew what she said.

"And what am I," he retorted. "If you are a slave, I'm one quite as much. Who pays every cent that's brought in? Who pays the rent and buys the fuel, and lays in the provisions? Who clothes Mrs. Susan Graham, I'd like to know?"

"I earned my own clothes once, and I can do it again, George Graham, if it is necessary and no thanks to you or any other man."

"It is a pity she hadn't kept on earning them herself. Then she'd never had to pick up and put away her husband's things, and he—well it would not be gentlemanly to say it."

"Out with it sir. Never spoil a joke for relation's sake."

"And he wouldn't have caught a tartar, but be a happy old bach. Lord, but how I wish I was!"

"Are you in earnest, sir?"

"In earnest, madam!"

"Then perhaps we'd better part!"

"Part it is, then."

"The sooner the better, too."

"My sentiment exactly, madam."

"To-day!"

"Why not!"

"Where will you go?"

"I? I shan't go. I shall stay here."

"But you don't mean to say your going to turn me out of house and home? I never would have believed that of you, George Graham."

"It isn't I that's turning you out.—You're turning yourself out. Suppose you stay; you've no money to pay your rent, or run the affair. It costs something to keep house, I can tell you. I've found it out by bitter experience."

"But where can I go? You know I haven't a relative left me."

"You should have thought of that before you proposed parting. 'Tis not my business to look you up a home."

"I don't know whose else it is. You might do as much as that for your own wife."

"For my wife I'd do a great deal more! But you are not my wife any more; only the legal tie remains to be severed, and I'll apply for a divorce at once."

"And disgrace us both."

"But what can a fellow do? Now I've got used to having a home, I want one, and once free from you there are dozens of girls that will be glad to take up with me, careless, good-for-nothing scapegrace as I am."

"And a pretty life they'll lead you too."

"It can't be worse than what you've led me the last six months. Zounds! but I've been a fool to bear it so long. Fret, fret, fret, from morning till night. Thank heaven, it's all over at last!" and he whistled gaily.

"You seem glad to be rid of me, sir."

"You've made me glad, madam."

He put on his overcoat, and drew on his rubbers, gathered up his hat and gloves. Was he really going and without his dinner?

"When will you be ready to leave, madam? I'll order a carriage at any hour your name."

"You are an unfeeling wretch, George Graham, you are, and thats the truth. You might for decency's sake, give me until to morrow morning to pack my things and decide what to do."

"You can have a week, madam, if you wish, I though you were in a hurry to go. Yes, you may have a week. Meanwhile, I'll go to a hotel."

"And have the whole town talking about us. Why can't you stay at home just as well?"

"Because I never like to be in anybody's way."

"But it is your own house, and—and—if you even had any regard for me, you'd stay till—till I'm gone."—Her voice was not quite as steady as it had been,

"Well I'll stay then. But not now. I'll come back to-night. You need not sit up for me, Mrs. Graham. It will be late when I get in, and—I'll take the spare chamber till you are gone."

The front door slammed after him in another moment. He was gone; without his dinner; gone, and not coming back till, nobody knew when, and then going up stairs to sleep alone. They had quarreled. They had as good as parted. They would be divorced. He could get another wife and bring her home here, and she—she would have to go alone into the cold, dreary world and earn her own dreary living. She didn't know enough about divorces, poor thing, to think of alimony, and all this because he neglected to leave his things in the hall, and she found fault with him for the said neglect. Careless husband. Fidgety wife. And because he was careless and she fidgety, they must live apart.

Mrs. Graham looked about her just then. Everything was neat and orderly. There was nothing to worry her. Nothing? There was everything. And she sat down and cried; yes cried—she who had been so resolute and defiant only ten minutes before. But that resolution, that defiance had been born of anger, and the anger was all gone now. How sorry she was she'd been so cross to him—for she had been cross, real cross—wickedly cross. What if he had tossed his things any and every way! It was a man's trick, and—and—here she sobbed outright—he never had a mother to train him.—Poor fellow, he had been knocked around from pillow to post all his life, till he got married, and now he would knock around again, for of course he couldn't get married right away, no, he would have to get a housekeeper, and she'd worry the life out of him; and when he did get married, could he ever get one who'd love him as she had and did, yes, did!—the love was there yet, swelling up and overflowing.

She went into the kitchen, hardly knowing why; driven, perhaps, by the force of habit. There stood the table spread for dinner, and so neatly, the cloth white and in creases, the plates and glasses shining brightly, the knives and forks polished to almost silver whiteness. She gave it one look and mechanically opened the stove oven. The chicken was browning nicely, George liked roast chicken better than a fricassee, so she had cooked it that way. The potatoes and turnips were dancing merry jigs in the pot, and the tea kettle was softly humming. The mince pie stood on the hearth, warming itself quietly, and exhaling a spicy odor that was tempting even to a dyspeptic stomach.

"Such a nice dinner, and no one to eat it! I wish—I wish—I—I hadn't been so cross to him! I began it and kept it up too; he was not cross first, he held out until I made him mad. O, dear! I wish—I do wish it didn't worry me so to see things lying around. I wish he was more careful, thoughtful—such a dear, good fellow as he is about everything else. Never scolds when bills come in like Hannah Benton's husband. Mercy! I don't know how she does live with him. And he is always giving me change too; I never hardly have to ask for a cent; I don't know what I should do if I had to manage as Carrie Stanton does to get a cent out of Jim. If I had such a man, I'd leave him, and work my fingers to the bone to make my own living. And he wants me to have a girl and be dressed up all the time, and read, and practice, and go out with him. And there's poor little Mary Miller who never sits down once a week, but is forever stewing in the kitchen, and never a word of thanks, Joe always wondering that she don't do more. He ought to go to a treadmill himself. And he never tastes a drop of liquor, nor would not for the world, and there is Nelly Gray's sot of a husband coming home beastly drunk every night of his life, and scolding the life out of her. I'd see him drowned before I'd live with him. And he never smokes, nor chews, while you can't go into anybody's else house without standing over spittoons, or being suffocated with the smoke of a pipe or cigar. O, I should die in a week if I had to live in that way. And he is always so good natured, too—never gave me a cross word till to-day," but here she broke down entirely, sob after sob tearing away in her throat and threatening to choke her.

The paroxysm was too violent to last long. As it subsided she dashed off the tears that had flooded her cheek, wiped her eyes, brushed back her hair, and going to the sink, bathed her face thoroughly. Then she stood a few minutes as if gathering up resolution, a calm, beautiful expression playing about her lips.

The words of her old pastor had come back to her all at once as she sat there speaking. The words he had spoken to her the evening before her mariage. "My little girl, you have made a good choice. George Graham, your promised husband, is a good man, of excellent principles and good disposition, and will do his best to make you happy. But he is not perfect. No man is. And you must be patient. One cross word leads to another, and that to another, until by and by there is a quarrel, and then good-bye to happiness. Don't scold, but coax, don't drive but lead. And if you ever feel tired with him, think how much worse it might have been. And always remember he is no saint, but only a man, mortal and weak. Be it your work, little girl, to make his earthly home a happy one, and lead him onward and upward toward that holier one not made with hands."

"Dead, yet speaketh," she said solemnly, as that long and earnest talk came back to her. And—and I will do it any way. If he will forgive—if he will not agree to begin again and try it over, why—oh! I never can go out alone in the world—and see him married to another woman. Oh, I will never say another word, I will not, not one, if he has every chair piled to the ceiling with coats and pants, and the floor waist deep with boots and rubbers. I do not see what made me speak so cross to him. I will get a girl to-morrow; somebody that can cook better than I, and I will keep out of the kitchen; and whenever he comes in I will take his things myself and take care of them. What must he have thought of me to hear me say such dreadful things!

And filling up the stove with coal, draining the water off the vegetables, and leaving the oven door open, she put on her sacque and bonnet, seized her muff and gloves, and locking the door after her went out.

It was bitter cold but she did not mind it. The wind was driving the sleet right into her face, but she only drew the veil closer over her swollen eyes and hurried on. It was slippery as glass, but her gaitered feet ran along as if sharp shod. She had but one thought; to see George again, tell him how sorry she was and bring him back to dinner.

With a shout and a hurrah! a litlte fellow came coasting down one the cross streets just as she set her foot on the curb stone. The sleigh whirled, zigzagged a moment and then run her down. She screamed involuntarily, and, as she fell, put out her hands imploringly. Some one clasped them, held them tightly a brief spell, and then gently assisted her to her feet. Some one spoke to her, some one said kindly, tenderly, lovingly, "are you much hurt, Susie," and drew aside her veil, looking pityingly in to her eyes. Who do you think it was?

"O George! I am so glad you happened here. I was going down to the office after you."

"Were you Susie? And I was coming up to the house to see you."

He looked about him a tew seconds, and then said meaningly, "just half way and we met."

The next minute he was tucking her little hand under his elbow, and guiding her back home, walking slowly, cautiously, and asking her if she were sure she was not hurt, and adding "he would send the little rascal to jail if she were," to all of which she said earnestly, "not any hardly; only a little frightened—he was not to blame for the sled turning; I am so glad we met."

Inside the front door, before hardly the lock had sprung, he caught her to his heart and as he held her in the warm embrace he kissed her passionately.

"What do you think of me darling, for talking so to you? You don't know how sorry I am."

"What do you think of me George, scolding you as I did? If you only knew how I cried afterwards."

"But I plagued you dreadfully, I know, Susie. You are so neat, and I am such a careless scamp."

"It was I plagued you, George, I have no business to be so neat as to make myself a fussy, cross old thing and I won't any more. I won't say a word, George, if you turn the whole house topsy turvey every time you come in. O, George, to think of our quarreling so, before we've been married a year."

And you, running away to leave me here alone! O, Susie, I should have run after you before morning."

"It was awful the way we talked to each other. Can you ever forgive me?"

"Yes, indeed; I forgave you ten minutes after I reached the office; though going down there, Susie, I did wish, almost, that you were a little slovenly, instead of such a tidy bit of a lady."

"I do not wonder, George, it's enough to make a man hate the very word neatness when his wife is forever scolding about it so. But do you know what I'm going to do? I'm going to hire a girl to cook, wash, iron and scrub, and I'm going to meet you at the door every time you come in and put away all your things for you, so that we'll both be suited. The house will be in order, and you won't be bothered helping about it."

"The duce you will, Susie! pardon, pet, I didn't mean to say it. Have the girl I always wanted you to, but hang me if I'm going to have such a little doll of a wife to put my things away, and me a great six footer. No, no, you may meet and kiss me, but—just see how nice I can do it when I have a mind to," and raising her from his folded arms he deliberately took off his hat and overcoat and hung them up by plummet and line, and then kicking off his rubbers, set them squarely under the rack.

"Only, Susie, if I once in a while forget"—

"I won't scold, George, no I won't if I have to bite my lips till they bleed, to keep the ugly words in."

"And when I see you biting your lips Susie, I'll know what's up, and hurry and put things in their places, and then wipe the hurt off just so," and he pressed his bearded chin close to hers, so smooth and soft, and sweet, and took a dozen of warm kisses.

"And now, put away your things, wifey, and let's have some dinner, for I'm hungry as a church rat."

"I'm afraid it's all dried up by this time, but Ill hurry and make you a nice cup of coffee."

"You know what the good book says, Susie; better a dry morsel than"—

"I know, I know, George,' and turning back again, she took his right hand and laying it tenderly on her heart, said tearfully, help me to be good."

'We will help each other, wife, and Heaven shall help us both."

And so ended the first quarrel. God grant it may be the last.

The Mankato Union.

FRIDAY. - - - MARCH 8, 1867.

W. B. GRISWOLD, - Editor and Pro'r.

SPIRITUALISM.

It will be noticed that a public discussion on spiritualism is to take place next week. We trust it will operate as a transfer of the same subject out of the columns of the UNION. We have published our last batch of communications upon the subject for the present. Simple announcements only can appear in the UNION, until we have survived our disgust for this style of controversy.

"Hang the Heavens in Black."

Such is the language of our Senator who sends the painful intelligence that the Governor has vetoed the Normal School Bill. The bill was in type ready for publication but as it is a dead dog we have kicked it out to give room to express our indignation at the action of the Governor. He and Chas. McIlrath State Auditor, of whom we might have expected better things, have done the job for us, and kicked the breath out of us. Upon the recommendation of the latter gentleman the Governor ignores Mankato, and recommends an appropriation of $50,000 for Winona. The plea is that we are appropriating money before we need it. This we deny. At Winona more than half the Normal scholars belong in that county, while few go from distant parts of the State. This suggests the necessity of more schools and less stupendous appointments. Had only $40,000 been appropriated to each school, it would have been better than to encourage the erection of one overtopping in magnitude every other institution in the State, whose walls can never be filled with scholars. This vicinity could have afforded as many scholars next fall as Winona, and yet none of such scholars would deem it practicable to go so far away as Winona. This veto is a crushing blow to those of our citizens who had anticipated the great privilege of sending their sons and daughters to the Mankato Normal School next fall, and to this disappointment they can hardly be reconciled.

APPOINTMENTS.

In place of the "My Policy" appointments lately rejected in this State by the Senate, the following appointments have been made: For Assessor of Internal Revenue for the Second district, A. C. Morrill, formerly Chippewa Agent; Collector, Col. Robert N. McLaren. In the first district, Mr. John J. Randall, a merchant of Winona, has received the appointment. Hon. Cyrus Aldrich is Receiver of Public Moneys at St. Cloud, and Mr. L. K. Stannard at Taylor's Falls. Mr. John J. Randall was the Deputy Collector at Winona, and has received this promotion. This adds another sucker at the public pap from Winona, Chief Justice Wilson, Senator Norton, Representative Windom, Collector Randall, make four, and Dunnell of the same place wants to be Superintendent of Public Instruction. Anything more gentlemen? Don't all speak at once.

Fortieth Congress.

On Monday last March 4th at noon, the organization of the 40th Congress took place.—Senator Wade having previously been chosen Vice President of the United States, called the senate to order as President pro-tem. New members were sworn in and a committee appointed to wait on the President and inquire if he had any communication to offer. The House organized by re-electing Speaker Colfax. Owing to the new law which provides for the meeting of Congress in March instead of December, the States of Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Hampshire, and Kentucky, which elect congressmen during the spring and fall, are not represented. There is notwithstanding this, a two-thirds radical majority in the House.

Reconstruction—Tenure.

The President has vetoed the reconstruction and tenure of office bills and Congress has as promptly passed them over the veto. The law of reconstruction as published in our last issue will govern the reconstruction of the rebel States. So much for the 39th Congress.

SIOUX RELIEF.

The Government has appropriated $300,000 for the immediate relief of the friendly Sioux tribes living near Lake Traverse, and Captain Mix is far advancing the needed supplies. He went at Henderson 40 yoke of cattle and 40 sleds, and the goods, which have already arrived at that point, are to be conveyed by team to Lake Traverse. Captain Mix arrived at Henderson on Monday last and before this is moving toward the frontier.

MANKATO vs GARDEN CITY.

Elsewhere see the article of S. C. Welcome on the county seat question. According to our promise last week, we must make a few suggestions concerning the same matter, partly in reply to Mr. Welcome, and partly upon issues not mentioned in his article.

Where shall the county seat be? It should be where a majority of the voters shall put it. If they put it in the wrong place, "so much the worse for the county seat." It should be in the most convenient, central and metropolitan town in the county. Such a place is Mankato. Convenient, because it is the outlet for the produce of the county; central, because the people as naturally gravitate towards it as the water seeks its level; and metropolitan because there is no town in the entire Minnesota Valley, except Garden City, but concedes its inferiority to Mankato in point of location, population, and commercial importance. If, as Mr. Welcome says, Garden City may be as good a point as any in the State to trade, why is it that the fact has not been sooner discovered. The vast country west, north and south of it, have so far ignored those superior advantages, and poured their patronage into the lap of our citizens, notwithstanding the lack of a bridge on the Blue Earth river. Now that the western part of the county, as well as the country farther west, has failed to give Garden City metropolitan proportions, the proposition is to draw thither the eastern portion of the county by representing Garden City to be more convenient of egress and ingress. To get there, the eastern and southern portion of the county must cross the Little Cobb, Big Cobb, Le Sueur, Maple, Blue Earth, and Watonwan rivers, and the bug bear of "no bridges" on the Blue Earth alone which according to Welcome ought to sink Mankato into oblivion would certainly place Garden City beyond the reach of mortal man. A convenient place for a county seat is where the produce of the county naturally seeks its market. Its removal will never ruin a natural commercial point, nor will its presence divert the trade from the channels marked out by geographical and physical law. St. Peter, once had the prestige of congressional influence, heavy capitalists, railroad grants, public land office, and every other artificial stimulent to place it in the front rank of our river towns, while Mankato plodded on in the strength of her own physical resources, and has now left her far behind in the commercial race. Grain turns eastward, down-river-ward and sea-ward, and Garden City would not receive a bushel more grain in consequence of her being a county seat than she does now. [Space fails us, and we must continue the subject over to next week.—ED. UNION.]

The County Seat Question.

MR. EDITOR:—As the county seat question is becoming rather an exciting topic among many of your readers, especially in Mankato, and as Mr. Wise of the Record has seen fit to make statements in regard to the matter, which have a tendency to pull the "wool over the eyes" of many who have just come into the county, in regard to the different locations which he says, have been selected, to vote upon at the coming election, for the county jail, I should like to address you upon the subject.

He says, that Mankato, Garden City, and Rapidan, he believes are the only ones that claim the "prize"; that Garden City has long envied Mankato the county seat, and has confidently hoped to win the "prize" from us, because of its more central geographical position. In this, however, it has an unexpected, and so far as centrality is concerned, a meritorious rival in Rapidan. He then goes on to speak of their waterpowers, their unsurpassed farming lands, and abundance of timber, sufficient he says, to sustain a dense population, and as near as can be determined, the geographical centre of the county. He does not recommend the farming lands around Garden City; he says nothing about our timber lands, and water powers, and only admits that we have the advantage on account of having a larger population.

Well, this looks very reasonable, perhaps to Mankato, but we think not to those outside that are acquainted with those towns. In the first place, I ask him in all candor, if he has ever been to Rapidan,—that wonderful town that is exactly in the centre of the county?—if he has, can he tell us whether it is at Cook's, Kenworthy's, Dustin's, or Rew & Heaton's Rapids? They are all in Rapidan, and all along the Blue Earth, and extend almost across the township; or does he mean to have the jail located all over the township? If he would enlighten his readers on this point, perhaps he might make the citizens of Rapidan believe that they were entitled to the county seat, and do as he would like to have them do,—get up a side issue and so defeat Rapidan and Garden City both,—but we believe the people of Rapidan have more sense than to be humbugged in this way; they must know that there is no point in their town, where the county seat can be conveniently located, and they are aware that if we could get the county seat at Garden City, that it would benefit them, and although they have a number of excellent water powers along the river, in different localities, yet, neither of them is in the geographical centre of the county, the centre being as far from either of them, I think, as it is from Garden City, it being, I am informed, about one and a half miles east of Garden City near a water power owned by Dr. Welcome and still unimproved.

But we think the reason why Mr. Wise recommends Rapidan so highly at the present time is very obvious. He and others in Mankato, are well aware that Garden City is one of the finest towns in the west, and being near the centre of the county is justly entitled to the county seat, and instead of being willing to test the question directly with Garden City, they are trying to make Rapidan believe that they are entitled to it, which they well knew would defeat both towns, and Mankato would of course get the county seat. Friend Wise has, we presume, read the fable of the monkey and the cats, when the monkey got the cats to quarreling about a piece of cheese, and he pretending to divide the cheese equally ate it up, much to the discomfiture of the cats.—But we trust this card wont work quite so well as he imagines. The citizens of Rapidan are not so green as to work against their own interest. They are two near neighbors to Garden City to get up a quarrel with this town, let others try ever so hard to cause a division, to help Mankato. It is well known that Garden City is beautifully situated with prairie on three sides, having plenty of room for a large city. We have an excellent location for county buildings. We have good water powers, plenty of timber, and are so near the Blue Earth rapids, that eventually we shall constitute one large manufacturing district, and our interests will be identified with each other; and as for our farming lands Mr. Wise well knew they needed no recommendation, as they cannot be beat in the State. But how is it with Mankato? It is situated in one corner of the county, hemmed in on almost every side by rivers, and as yet we have seen but little disposition to bridge them and Mr. Wise says, it is the seat of trade. It is true that farmers can market their wheat there by paying for crossing the rivers, citizens in the South part of the county have to spend two days to pay their taxes instead of one, and have the privilege of spending a night in town, by paying well for it—hundreds of dollars in time and money are expended yearly in attending court, which could be saved was the county seat in a central position, and we trust that the citizens of this county will look to their own interests in the matter at the coming election, and we shall soon see Garden City as good a point for trade as any town in the State.

A WORD ON SPIRITUALISM.

MR. EDITOR.—There has been from time to time articles in your paper written in defence of the doctrines held by the body of people calling themselves spiritualists. The main drift of these articles has been to show that the othodox portion of the christian world mistake or misrepresent these sentiments. It is much to be regreted that in discussing questions of so much importance as those that have reference to man's well being here and hereafter, there should be any mistatement of what any body of men believe or disbelieve. Perhaps this has not been done intentionally. I for one have never yet been able to find out on what platform spiritualists really stand. We are told that they are not responsible for the sentiments uttered by their speakers or preachers in conventions or elsewhere. And a recent writer in your paper informs us that they have no creed or article of faith. How then is it possible for them, like myself, honestly desire to become acquainted with these real principles, to do so.

True, we obtain some light from the same writer, for he tells us, that they believe, "Heaven and hell to be only fables," may not that then be considered as one article in their creed. Secondly, he tells us "they believe that the penalty of a broken law must be paid in the future state, and the work performed there necessary to the salvation of the sinning soul." As I understand his statements, it means that every sinner must pass through a state of suffering in another world. The Catholics I suppose would call such a place purgatory. But as our Spiritualist friends do not believe in a Heaven to which they can go after their purification, I do not know what they call that place of punishment.

If I say that another article of their faith is a belief in Purgatory, I fear they will charge me with slandering them. And yet that is the only conclusion I can come to from their own statements. There is one other matter of consider ble importance, I would like some light upon. What are their views with regard to the Bible. Are all its doctrines like those of Heaven and hell fables? If so, then I should at once cease all further discussion with them on revealed religion, for the reason that we have no common ground to stand upon, no authority to which we can appeal.

Well, let us part friends, I have no angry words for the man who rejects the bible as God's word. When a youth I came near doing the same thing, or rather I wished to do so. Its precepts were two holy for the unregenerate heart. But there was no peace for me till I had decided the question. Is the Bible what it claims to be, a revelation of God's will to man, or is it a cunningly devised fable? Seeking according to its instructions divine teaching, I happily was fully convinced that it was all it claimed to be. I have since verified the truth of the Saviour's declaration "If any man will do his will; he shall know of the doctrine whether it be of God." Obedience first, faith afterwards, is God's appointed way to happiness and peace. He that thus believeth "hath the witness in himself," but

"Hear the just law the judgment of the skies.
He that hates truth shall be the dupe of lies,
And he that will be cheated to the last,
Delusions strong as Hell, shall bind him fast.

LAYMAN.

A WORD ON SPIRITUALISM.

EDITOR OF THE UNION—Sir:—It has been claimed by Mrs. Waisbrooker, and another correspondent, (who forgot to sign his name,) that we gave "garbled extracts etc.," from Wheeler, Persey and Miss Doten. Why then did they not give the "quotations" correctly? Why go into an "explanation" of what was said, instead of giving a correct version to the public, and let the readers judge for themselves? Now we claim to have quoted verbatim, word for word as we found it in the public journals! And yet we may be mistaken. I do not know that one of them ever wrote such a word, nay, I might have been imposed upon; as there may be no such persons as Wheeler, Perry, Doten, or Mrs. Waisbrooker—I have never seen or heard them—Probably never will. When I saw their names, and the speeches, etc., I believed the one as much as the other.

Further complaint is made, because we did not give more of the speeches: we think the difficulty is found in the fact, we gave too much to suit their purpose! Gave too much "light" on their corruptions. "They love darkness rather than light because their deeds are evil." We pursume Mrs. Waisbrooker let out a part of the truth, when in her closing sentences she admitted "she had not the facts in the case of Lizzie Doten." We are happy to inform her we have the facts,—and in an argument—facts are stubborn things!! We deal in facts.

For some of the facts, we gave in our former communication, if Mrs. Waisbrooker wishes to inform herself about the correctness of our "quotations," let her procure a copy of the Banner of Light, for December 21, 1866, and she will find we have not misrepresented.

As the other, unknown correspondent thinks "Subscriber wishes to inform the public upon what he knows nothing about etc." We are willing to let that go before an intelligent public, if judged by the rule "By their fruits ye shall know them."

Spiritualism, aims to undermine christianity, to destroy virtue, ignore the marriage relation, remove all restraints from the vicious, and give up our race to live and act as the birds; all this is seen in their public lectures, and writings as well as in their practice. Why should they not be consistent with their principles—if they keep such long, after becoming spiritualists? They deny human depravity, the atonement of Christ, and a future retribution. Hence Mrs. Waisbrooker sneers at the idea of "destroying souls," she says "we think such a thing impossible."

We take our leave by this word of advice upon "spiritualism." Those who believe they have souls, better not entrust their interests in the hands of spiritualists; but give them a "good letting alone,"—keep clean! As "wicked men and seducers wax worse and worse, deceiving and being deceived."

A WORD ON SPIRITUALISM.

The Child Whipper.

MR. EDITOR.—I have been requested to copy the following statement from the Boston Herald, for publication in your paper. I comply upon condition that it be distinctly understood that I do it not in the spirit of exultation. Be he spiritualist or not, he is of the human family, and as such, we cannot separate ourselves from him. When we learn that the human race is one, and that the interest of each is the interest of all, then, and not till then shall we be prepared to work effectually in removing the evils that afflict humanity.

A distinguished Divine says "No matter how necessary it may be for a man to be born again, it is very necessary that he be well born in the first place, for a naturally mean man is very apt to have his meanness stick to him after he joins the church," and this I hold to be equally true of one who joins himself to any other people.

L. WAISBROOKER.

"The child whipper, C. M. Williams, now in Norwich jail, at a religious meeting on Sunday renounced and denounced Spiritualism. The Spiritualists are to be congratulated on getting rid of him."—Boston Herald.

The Herald should have said, "Well may the Spiritualists congratulate themselves on getting rid of the name of owning him,' for the fact is, he never left the church."—Banner of Light.

Reparator Capilli.

Throw away your false frizzes, your switches, your wig—
Destructive of comfort, and not worth a fig;
Come aged, come youthful, come ugly and fair,
And rejoice in your own luxuriant hair.

REPARATOR CAPILLI.

For restoring hair upon bald heads (from whatever cause it may have fallen out) and forcing a growth of hair upon the face, it has no equal. It will force the beard to grow upon the smoothest face in from five to eight weeks, or hair upon bald heads in from two to three months. A few ignorant practitioners have asserted that there is nothing that will force or hasten the growth of the hair or beard. Their assertions are false, as thousands of living witnesses (from their own experience) can bear witness. But many will say, how are we to distinguish the genuine from the spurious? It certainly is difficult, as nine-tenths of the different Preparations advertised for the hair and beard are entirely worthless, and you may have already thrown away large amounts in their purchase. To such we would say, try the Reparator Capilli; it will cost you nothing unless it fully comes up to our representations. If your Druggist does not keep it, send us one dollar and we will forward it, postpaid, together with a receipt for the money, which will be returned you on application, providing entire satisfaction is not given. MADE BY THE GREAT ASTROLOGIST,
Madame H. A. Perrigo.

She reveals secrets no mortal ever knew. She restores to happiness those who, from doleful events, catastrophes, crosses in love, loss of relations and friends, loss of money, &c., have become despondent. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person.—She reads your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers unveils the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the malefic stars that overcome or predominate in the configuration—from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars in the heavens at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man. Fail not to consult the greatest Astrologist on earth. It costs you but a trifle, and you may never again have so favorable an opportunity. Consultation fee, with likeness and desired information, $1. Parties living at a distance can consult the Madame by mail with equal safety and satisfaction to themselves, as if in person. A full and explicit chart, written out, with all inquiries answered and likeness enclosed, sent by mail on receipt of price above mentioned. The strictest secrecy will be maintained, and all correspondence returned or destroyed. References of the highest order furnished those desiring them. SPIRITUALISM.

It will be noticed that a public discussion on spiritualism is to take place next week. We trust it will operate as a transfer of the same subject out of the colums of the UNION. We have published our last batch of communications upon the subject for the present. Simple announcements only can appear in the UNION, until we have survived our disgust for this style of controversy.

"Hang the Heavens in Black."

Such is the language of our Senator who sends the painful intelligence that the Governor has vetoed the Normal School Bill. The bill was in type ready for publication but as it is a dead dog we have kicked it out to give room to express our indignation at the action of the Governor. He and Chas. McIlrath State Auditor, of whom we might have expected better things, have done the job for us, and kicked the breath out of us. Upon the recommendation of the latter gentleman the Governor ignores Mankato, and recommends an appropriation of $50,000 for Winona. The plea is that we are appropriating money before we need it. This we deny. At Winona more than half the Normal scholars belong in that county, while few go from distant parts of the State. This suggests the necessity of more schools and less stupendous appointments. Had only $40,000 been appropriated to each school, it would have been better than to encourage the erection of one overtoping in magnitude every other institution in the State, whose walls can never be filled with scholars. This vicinity could have afforded as many scholars next fall as Winona, and yet none of such scholars would deem it practicable to go so far away as Winona. This veto is a crushing blow to those of our citizens who had anticipated the great privilege of sending their sons and daughters to the Mankato Normal School next fall, and to this disappointment they can hardly be reconciled.

APPOINTMENTS.

In place of the 'My Policy" appointments lately rejected in this State by the Senate, the following appointments have been made: For Assessor of Internal Revenue for the Second district, A. C. Morrill, formerly Chippewa Agent; Collector, Col. Robert N. McLaren. In the first district, Mr. John J. Randall, a merchant of Winona, has received the appointment. Hon. Cyrus Aldrich is Receiver of Public Moneys at St. Cloud, and Mr. L. K. Stannard at Taylor's Falls. Mr. John J. Randall was the Deputy Collector at Winona, and has received this promotion. This adds another sucker at the public pap from Winona, Chief Justice Wilson, Senator Norton, Representative Windom, Collector Randall, make four, and Dunnell of the same place wants to be Superintendent of Public Instruction. Anything more gentlemen? Don't all speak at once.

Fortieth Congress.

On Monday last March 4th at noon, the organization of the 40th Congress took place.—Senator Wade having previously been chosen Vice President of the United States, called the senate to order as President pro tem. New members were sworn in and a committee appointed to wait on the President and inquire if he had any communication to offer. The House organized by re electing Speaker Colfax. Owing to the new law which provides for the meeting of Congress in March instead of December, the States of Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Hampshire, and Kentucky, which elect congressmen during the spring and fall, are not represented. There is notwithstanding this, a two-thirds radical majority in the House.

Reconstruction—Tenure.

The President has vetoed the reconstruction and tenure of office bills and Congress has as promptly passed them over the veto. The law of reconstruction as published in our last issue will govern the reconstruction of the rebel States. So much for the 39th Congress.

SIOUX RELIEF.

The Government has appropriated $300,-000 for the immediate relief of the friendly Sioux tribes living near Lake Traverse, and Captain Mix is furnishing the needed supplies. He was at Henderson with 40 yoke of cattle and 40 sleds, and the goods, which have already arrived at that point, are to be conveyed by team to Lake Traverse. Captain Mix arrived at Henderson on Monday last and before this is moving toward the frontier.

MANKATO vs GARDEN CITY.

Elsewhere see the article of S. C. Welcome on the county seat question. According to our promise last week, we must make a few suggestions concerning the same matter, partly in reply to Mr. Welcome, and partly upon issues not mentioned in his article.

Where shall the county seat be? It should be where a majority of the voters shall put it. If they put it in the wrong place, "so much the worse for the county seat." It should be in the most convenient, central and metropolitan town in the county. Such a place is Mankato. Convenient, because it is the outlet for the produce of the county; central, because the people as naturally gravitate towards it as the water seeks its level; and metropolitan because there is no town in the entire Minnesota Valley, except Garden City, but concedes its inferiority to Mankato in point of location, population, and commercial importance. If, as Mr. Welcome says, Garden City may be as good a point as any in the State to trade, why is it that the fact has not been sooner discovered. The vast country west, north and south of it, have so far ignored those superior advantages, and poured their patronage into the lap of our citizens, notwithstanding the lack of a bridge on the Blue Earth river. Now that the western part of the county, as well as the country further west, has failed to give Garden City metropolitan proportions, the proposition is to draw thither the eastern portion of the county by representing Garden City to be more convenient of egress and ingress. To get there, the eastern and southern portion of the county must cross the Little Cobb, Big Cobb, Le Sueur, Maple, Blue Earth, and Watonwan rivers, and the bug bear of "no bridges" on the Blue Earth alone which according to Welcome ought to sink Mankato into oblivion, would certainly place Garden City beyond the reach of mortal man. A convenient place for a county seat is where the produce of the county naturally seeks its market. Its removal will never ruin a natural commercial point, nor will its presence divert the trade from the channels marked out by geographical and physical law. St. Peter, once had the prestige of congressional influence, heavy capitalists, railroad grants, public land office, and every other artificial stimulent to place it in the front rank of our river towns, while Mankato plodded on in the strength of her own physical resources, and has now left her far behind in the commercial race. Grain turns eastward, down-river-ward and sea-ward, and Garden City would not receive a bushel more grain in consequence of her being a county seat than she does now. [Space fails us, and we must continue the subject over to next week.—ED. UNION.]

The County Seat Question.

MR. EDITOR:—As the county seat question is becoming rather an exciting topic among many of your readers, especially in Mankato, and as Mr. Wise of the Record has seen fit to make statements in regard to the matter, which have a tendency to pull the "wool over the eyes" of many who have just come into the county, in regard to the different locations which he says, have been selected, to vote upon at the coming election, for the county jail, I should like to address you upon the subject.

He says, that Mankato, Garden City, and Rapidan, he believes are the only ones that claim the "prize"; that Garden City has long envied Mankato the county seat, and has confidently hoped to win the "prize" from us, because of its more central geographical position. In this, however, it has an unexpected, and so far as centrality is concerned, a meritorious rival in Rapidan. He then goes on to speak of their waterpowers, their unsurpassed farming lands, and abundance of timber, sufficient he says, to sustain a dense population, and as near as can be determined, the geographical centre of the county. He does not recommend the farming lands around Garden City; he says nothing about our timber lands, and water powers, and only admits that we have the advantage on account of having a larger population.

Well, this looks very reasonable, perhaps to Mankato, but we think not to those outside that are acquainted with those towns. In the first place, I ask him in all candor, if he has ever been to Rapidan,—that wonderful town that is exactly in the centre of the county?—if he has, can he tell us whether it is at Cook's, Keaworthy's, Dustin's, or Rew & Heston's Rapids? They are all in Rapidan, and all along the Blue Earth, and extend almost across the township; or does he mean to have the jail located all over the township? If he would enlighten his readers on his point, perhaps he might make the citizens of Rapidan believe that they were entitled to the county seat, and do as he would like to have them do,—get up a side issue and so defeat Rapidan and Garden City both,—but we believe the people of Rapidan have more sense than to be humbugged in this way; they must know that there is no point in their town, where the county seat can be conveniently located, and they are aware that if we could get the county seat at Garden City, that it would benefit them, and although they have a number of excellent water powers along the river, in different localities, yet, neither of them is in the geographical centre of the county, the centre being as far from either of them, I think, as it is from Garden City, it being, I am informed, about one and a half miles east of Garden City near a water power owned by Dr. Welcome and still unimproved.

But we think the reason why Mr. Wise recommends Rapidan so highly at the present time is very obvious. He and others in Mankato, are well aware that Garden City is one of the finest towns in the west, and being near the centre of the county is justly entitled to the county seat, and instead of being willing to test the question directly with Garden City, they are trying to make Rapidan believe that they are entitled to it, which they well knew would defeat both towns, and Mankato would of course get the county seat. Friend Wise has, we presume, read the fable of the monkey and the cats, when the monkey got the cats to quarreling about a piece of cheese, and he pretending to divide the cheese equally ate it up, much to the discomfiture of the cats.—But we trust this card wont work quite so well as he imagines. The citizens of Rapidan are not so green as to work against their own interest. They are two near neighbors to Garden City to get up a quarrel with this town, let others try ever so hard to cause a division, to help Mankato. It is well known that

A WORD ON SPIRITUALISM.

MR. EDITOR.—There has been from time to time articles in your paper written in defence of the doctrines held by the body of people calling themselves spiritualists. The main drift of these articles has been to show that the othodox portion of the christian world mistake or misrepresent these sentiments. It is much to be regreted that in discussing questions of so much importance as those that have reference to man's well being here and hereafter, there should be any misstatement of what any body of men believe or disbelieve. Perhaps this has not been done intentionally. I for one have never yet been able to find out on what platform spiritualists really stand. We are told that they are not responsible for the sentiments uttered by their speakers or preachers in conventions or elsewhere. And a recent writer in your paper informs us that they have no creed or article of faith. How then is it possible for them, like my self, honestly desire to become acquainted with these real principles, to do so.

True, we obtain some light from the same writer, for he tells us, that they believe, "Heaven and hell to be only fables," may not that then be considered as one article in their creed. Secondly, he tells us "they believe that the penalty of a broken law must be paid in the future state, and the work performed there necessary to the salvation of the sinning soul." As I understand his statements, it means that every sinner must pass through a state of suffering in another world. The Catholics I suppose would call such a place purgatory. But as our Spiritualist friends do not believe in a Heaven to which they can go after their purification, I do not know what they call that place of punishment.

If I say that another article of their faith is a belief in Purgatory, I fear they will charge me with slandering them. And yet that is the only conclusion I can come to from their own statements. There is one other matter of considerable importance, I would like some light upon. What are their views with regard to the Bible. Are all its doctrines like those of Heaven and hell fables? If so then I should at once cease all further discussion with them on revealed religion, for the reason that we have no common ground to stand upon, no authority to which we can appeal.

Well, let us part friends, I have no angry words for the man who rejects the bible as God's word. When a youth I came near doing the same thing, or rather I wished to do so. Its precepts were two holy for the unregenerate heart. But there was no peace for me till I had decided the question. Is the Bible what it claims to be, a revelation of God's will to man, or is it a cunningly devised fable? Seeking according to its instructions divine teaching, I happily was fully convinced that it was all it claimed to be, I have since verified the truth of the Saviour's declaration "If any man will do his will; he shall know of the doctrine whether it be of God." Obedience first, faith afterwards, is God's appointed way to happiness and peace. He that thus believeth "hath the witness in himself, but

"Hear the just law the judgment of the skies,
He that hates truth shall be the dupe of lies,
And he that will be cheated to the last,
Delusions strong as Hell, shall bind him fast.

LAYMAN.

A WORD ON SPIRITUALISM.

EDITOR OF THE UNION—Sir:—It has been claimed by Mrs. Waisbrooker, and another correspondent, (who forgot to sign his name,) that we gave "garbled extracts etc.," from Wheeler, Persey and Miss Doten. Why then did they not give the 'quotations' correctly? Why go into an "explanation" of what was said, instead of giving a correct version to the public, and let the readers judge for themselves? Now we claim to have quoted verbatim, word for word as we found it in the public journals! And yet we may be mistaken. I do not know that one of them ever wrote such a word, nay, I might have been imposed upon; as there may be no such persons as Wheeler, Perry, Doten, or Mrs. Waisbrooker—I have never seen or heard them—Probably never will. When I saw their names, and the speeches, etc., I believed the one as much as the other.

Further complaint is made, because we did not give more of the speeches: we think the difficulty is found in the fact, we gave too much to suit their purpose! Gave too much "light" on their corruptions. "They love darkness rather than light because their deeds are evil." We pursume Mrs. Waisbrooker let out a part of the truth, when in her closing sentences she admitted "she had not the facts in the case of Lizzie Doten." We are happy to inform her we have the facts,—and in an argument—facts are stubborn things!! We deal in facts.

For some of the facts, we gave in our former communication, if Mrs. Waisbrooker wishes to inform herself about the correctness of our 'quotations,' let her procure a copy of the Banner of Light, for December 21, 1866, and she will find we have not misrepresented.

As the other, unknown correspondent thinks "Subscriber wishes to inform the public upon what he knows nothing about etc." We are willing to let that go before an intelligent

VALUABLE LANDS
FOR SALE.

By the direction of the Honorable Secretary of the Interior, the undersign will receive sealed bids for the purchase of any or all the lands hereinafter described, they being among the choicest and best farming lands in Minnesota.

These lands comprise what are known as the Winnebago Trust Lands in the State of Minnesota, and will be sold to the highest and best bidders in tracts not exceeding one hundred and sixty acres each, under the provisions of a treaty concluded with the Winnebago Indians, April 15th, 1859, and an act of Congress, approved February 21st, 1863, entitled "An act for the removal of the Winnebago Indians, and for the sale of their Reservation in Minnesota for their benefit."

In case a bid is accepted, the party making the same will be notified as soon thereafter as practicable. If within thirty days after such notice the party shall fail to make payment to the undersigned, the land for which said bid was made will be subject to sale to any other person.

Patents will be issued and transmitted to purchasers as soon after payment as the same can be prepared. Payments may be made either in cash or in certificates of indebtedness of the Winnebago Indians, issued by the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, for the debt of said Indians, and secured to be paid out of the proceeds of the sale of such lands by the third article of the treaty above mentioned. The right to reject any and all bids is expressly reserved. All bids must be sealed and addressed to the undersigned, Washington City, D. C., and endorsed, "Bids for Winnebago Trust Land."

As heretofore many persons have bid upon these lands, and after the awards have been made to them have failed to respond, the Secretary of the Interior hereby directs that all bids hereafter submitted must be accompanied by a deposit of a sum equal to ten per cent on the amount of each bid, which in case the land is awarded and the balance not paid will be forfeited by the bidder. Should the bid be rejected the sum deposited will be

SPIRITUALISM.

It will be noticed that a public discussion on spiritualism is to take place next week. We trust it will operate as a transfer of the same subject out of the columns of the UNION. We have published our last batch of communications upon the subject for the present. Simple announcements only can appear in the UNION, until we have survived our disgust for this style of controversy.

"Hang the Heavens in Black."

Such is the language of our Senator who sends the painful intelligence that the Governor has vetoed the Normal School Bill. The bill was in type ready for publication but as it is a dead dog we have kicked it out to give room to express our indignation at the action of the Governor. He and Chas. McIlrath State Auditor, of whom we might have expected better things, have done the job for us, and kicked the breath out of us. Upon the recommendation of the latter gentleman the Governor ignores Mankato, and recommends an appropriation of $50,000 for Winona. The plea is that we are appropriating money before we need it. This we deny. At Winona more than half the Normal scholars belong in that county, while few go from distant parts of the State. This suggests the necessity of more schools and less stupendous appointments. Had only $40,000 been appropriated to each school, it would have been better than to encourage the erection of one overtopping in magnitude every other institution in the State, whose walls can never be filled with scholars. This vicinity could have afforded as many scholars next fall as Winona, and yet none of such scholars would deem it practicable to go so far away as Winona. This veto is a crushing blow to those of our citizens who had anticipated the great privilege of sending their sons and daughters to the Mankato Normal School next fall, and to this disappointment they can hardly be reconciled.

APPOINTMENTS.

In place of the "My Policy" appointments lately rejected in this State by the Senate, the following appointments have been made: For Assessor of Internal Revenue for the Second district, A. C. Morrill, formerly Chippewa Agent; Collector, Col. Robert N. McLaren. In the first district, Mr. John J. Randall, a merchant of Winona, has received the appointment. Hon. Cyrus Aldrich is Receiver of Public Moneys at St. Cloud, and Mr. L. K. Stanard at Taylor's Falls. Mr. John J. Randall was the Deputy Collector at Winona, and has received this promotion. This adds another sucker at the public pap from Winona, Chief Justice Wilson, Senator Norton, Representative Windom, Collector Randall, make four, and Dunnell of the same place wants to be Superintendent of Public Instruction. Anything more gentlemen? Don't all speak at once.

Fortieth Congress.

On Monday last March 4th at noon, the organization of the 40th Congress took place.—Senator Wade having previously been chosen Vice President of the United States, called the senate to order as President pro tem. New members were sworn in and a committee appointed to wait on the President and inquire if he had any communication to offer. The House organized by re-electing Speaker Colfax. Owing to the new law which provides for the meeting of Congress in March instead of December, the States of Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Hampshire, and Kentucky, which elect congressmen during the spring and fall, are not represented. There is notwithstanding this, a two-thirds radical majority in the House.

Reconstruction—Tenure.

The President has vetoed the reconstruction and tenure of office bills and Congress has as promptly passed them over the veto. The law of reconstruction as published in our last issue will govern the reconstruction of the rebel States. So much for the 39th Congress.

SIOUX RELIEF.

The Government has appropriated $300,000 for the immediate relief of the friendly Sioux tribes living near Lake Traverse, and Captain Mix is furnishing the needed supplies. He [illegible] at Henderson 40 [illegible] of cattle and 40 sleds, and the goods, which have already arrived at that point, are to be conveyed by team to Lake Traverse. Captain Mix arrived at Henderson on Monday last and before this is moving toward the frontier.

MANKATO vs GARDEN CITY.

Elsewhere see the article of S. C. Welcome on the county seat question. According to our promise last week, we must make a few suggestions concerning the same matter, partly in reply to Mr. Welcome, and partly upon issues not mentioned in his article.

Where shall the county seat be? It should be where a majority of the voters shall put it. If they put it in the wrong place, "so much the worse for the county seat." It should be in the most convenient, central and metropolitan town in the county. Such a place is Mankato. Convenient, because it is the outlet for the produce of the county; central, because the people naturally gravitate towards it as the water seeks its level; and metropolitan because there is no town in the entire Minnesota Valley, except Garden City, but concedes its inferiority to Mankato in point of location, population, and commercial importance. If, as Mr. Welcome says, Garden City may be as good a point as any in the State to trade, why is it that the fact has not been sooner discovered. The vast country west, north and south of it, have so far ignored those superior advantages, and poured their patronage into the lap of our citizens, notwithstanding the lack of a bridge on the Blue Earth river. Now that the western part of the county, as well as the country farther west, has failed to give Garden City metropolitan proportions, the proposition is to draw thither the eastern portion of the county by representing Garden City to be more convenient of egress and ingress. To get there, the eastern and southern portion of the county must cross the Little Cobb, Big Cobb, Le Sueur, Maple, Blue Earth, and Watonwan rivers, and the bug bear of "no bridges" on the Blue Earth alone which according to Welcome ought to sink Mankato into oblivion would certainly place Garden City beyond the reach of mortal man. A convenient place for a county seat is where the produce of the county naturally seeks its market. Its removal will never ruin a natural commercial point, nor will its presence divert the trade from the channels marked out by geographical and physical law. St. Peter, once had the prestige of congressional influence, heavy capitalists, railroad grants, public land office, and every other artificial stimulent to place it in the front rank of our river towns, while Mankato plodded on in the strength of her own physical resources, and has now left her far behind in the commercial race. Grain turns eastward, down-river-ward and sea-ward, and Garden City would not receive a bushel more grain in consequence of her being a county seat than she does now. [Space fails us, and we must continue the subject over to next week.—ED. UNION.]

The County Seat Question.

MR. EDITOR:—As the county seat question is becoming rather an exciting topic among many of your readers, especially in Mankato, and as Mr. Wise of the Record has seen fit to make statements in regard to the matter, which have a tendency to pull the "wool over the eyes" of many who have just come into the county, in regard to the different locations which he says, have been selected, to vote upon at the coming election, for the county jail, I should like to address you upon the subject.

He says, that Mankato, Garden City, and Rapidan, he believes are the only ones that claim the "prize"; that Garden City has long envied Mankato the county seat, and has confidently hoped to win the "prize" from us, because of its more central geographical position. In this, however, it has an unexpected, and so far as centrality is concerned, a meritorious rival in Rapidan. He then goes on to speak of their waterpowers, their unsurpassed farming lands, and abundance of timber, sufficient he says, to sustain a dense population, and as near as can be determined, the geographical centre of the county. He does not recommend the farming lands around Garden City; he says nothing about our timber lands, and water powers, and only admits that we have the advantage on account of having a larger population.

Well, this looks very reasonable, perhaps to Mankato, but we think not to those outside that are acquainted with those towns. In the first place, I ask him in all candor, if he has ever been to Rapidan,—that wonderful town that is exactly in the centre of the county?—if he has, can he tell us whether it is at Cook's, Kenworthy's, Dustin's, or Rew & Heaton's Rapids? They are all in Rapidan, and all along the Blue Earth, and extend almost across the township; or does he mean to have the jail located all over the township? If he would enlighten his readers on this point, perhaps he might make the citizens of Rapidan believe that they were entitled to the county seat, and does he would like to have them do,—get up a side issue and so defeat Rapidan and Garden City both,—but we believe the people of Rapidan have more sense than to be humbugged in this way; they must know that there is no point in their town, where the county seat can be conveniently located, and they are aware that if we could get the county seat at Garden City, that it would benefit them, and although they have a number of excellent water powers along the river, in different localities, yet, neither of them is in the geographical centre of the county, the centre being as far from either of them, I think, as it is from Garden City, it being, I am informed, about one and a half miles east of Garden City near a water power owned by Dr. Welcome and still unimproved.

But we think the reason why Mr. Wise recommends Rapidan so highly at the present time is very obvious. He and others in Mankato, are well aware that Garden City is one of the finest towns in the west, and being near the centre of the county is justly entitled to the county seat, and instead of being willing to test the question directly with Garden City, they are trying to make Rapidan believe that they are entitled to it, which they well knew would defeat both towns, and Mankato would of course get the county seat. Friend Wise has, we presume, read the fable of the monkey and the cats, when the monkey got the cats to quarreling about a piece of cheese, and he pretending to divide the cheese equally ate it up, much to the discomfiture of the cats.—But we trust this card wont work quite so well as he imagines. The citizens of Rapidan are not so green as to work against their own interest. They are two near neighbors to Garden City to get up a quarrel with this town, let others try ever so hard to cause a division, to help Mankato. It is well known that Garden City is beautifully situated with prairie on three sides, having plenty of room for a large city. We have an excellent location for county buildings. We have good water powers, plenty of timber, and are so near the Blue Earth rapids, that eventually we shall constitute one large manufacturing district, and our interests will be identified with each other; and as for our farming lands Mr. Wise well knew they needed no recommendation, as they cannot be beat in the State. But how is it with Mankato? It is situated in one corner of the county, hemmed in on almost every side by rivers, and as yet we have seen but little disposition to bridge them and Mr. Wise says, it is the seat of trade. It is true that farmers can market their wheat there by paying for crossing the rivers, citizens in the South part of the county have to spend two days to pay their taxes instead of one, and have the privilege of spending a night in town, by paying well for it—hundreds of dollars in time and money are expended yearly in attending court, which could be saved was the county seat in a central position, and we trust that the citizens of this county will look to their own interests in the matter at the coming election, and we shall soon see Garden City as good a point for trade as any town in the State.

A WORD ON SPIRITUALISM.

MR. EDITOR.—There has been from time to time articles in your paper written in defence of the doctrines held by the body of people calling themselves spiritualists. The main drift of these articles has been to show that the othodox portion of the christian world mistake or misrepresent these sentiments. It is much to be regretted that in discussing questions of so much importance as those that have reference to man's well being here and hereafter, there should be any mistatement of what any body of men believe or disbelieve. Perhaps this has not been done intentionally. I for one have never yet been able to find out on what platform spiritualists really stand. We are told that they are not responsible for the sentiments uttered by their speakers or preachers in conventions or elsewhere. And a recent writer in your paper informs us that they have no creed or article of faith. How then is it possible for them, like myself, honestly desire to become acquainted with these real principles, to do so.

True, we obtain some light from the same writer, for he tells us, that they believe, "Heaven and hell to be only fables," may not that then be considered as one article in their creed. Secondly, he tells us "they believe that the penalty of a broken law must be paid in the future state, and the work performed there necessary to the salvation of the sinning soul." As I understand his statements, it means that every sinner must pass through a state of suffering in another world. The Catholics I suppose would call such a place purgatory. But as our Spiritualist friends do not believe in a Heaven to which they can go after their purification. I do not know what they call that place of punishment.

If I say that another article of their faith is a belief in Purgatory, I fear they will charge me with slandering them. And yet that is the only conclusion I can come to from their own statements. There is one other matter of considerable importance, I would like some light upon. What are their views with regard to the Bible. Are all its doctrines like those of Heaven and hell fables? If so then I should at once cease all further discussion with them on revealed religion, for the reason that we have no common ground to stand upon, no authority to which we can appeal.

Well, let us part friends, I have no angry words for the man who rejects the bible as God's word. When a youth I came near doing the same thing, or rather I wished to do so. Its precepts were too holy for the unregenerate heart. But there was no peace for me till I had decided the question. Is the Bible what it claims to be, a revelation of God's will to man, or is it a cunningly devised fable? Seeking according to its instructions divine teaching, I happily was fully convinced that it was all it claimed to be. I have since verified the truth of the Saviour's declaration "If any man will do his will; he shall know of the doctrine whether it be of God." Obedience first, faith afterwards, is God's appointed way to happiness and peace. He that thus believeth "hath the witness in himself, but

"Hear the just law the judgment of the skies,
He that hates truth shall be the dupe of lies,
And he that will be cheated to the last,
Delusions strong as Hell, shall bind him fast.

LAYMAN.

A WORD ON SPIRITUALISM.

EDITOR OF THE UNION—Sir:—It has been claimed by Mrs. Waisbrooker, and another correspondent, (who forgot to sign his name,) that we gave "garbled extracts etc.," from Wheeler, Persey and Miss Doten. Why then did they not give the "quotations" correctly? Why go into an "explanation" of what was said, instead of giving a correct version to the public, and let the readers judge for themselves? Now we claim to have quoted verbatim, word for word as we found it in the public journals! And yet we may be mistaken. I do not know that one of them ever wrote such a word, nay, I might have been imposed upon; as there may be no such persons as Wheeler, Perry, Doten, or Mrs. Waisbrooker—I have never seen or heard them—Probably never will. When I saw their names, and the speeches, etc., I believed the one as much as the other.

Further complaint is made, because we did not give more of the speeches: we think the difficulty is found in the fact, we gave too much to suit their purpose! Gave too much "light" on their corruptions. "They love darkness rather than light because their deeds are evil." We presume Mrs. Waisbrooker let out a part of the truth, when in her closing sentences she admitted "she had not the facts in the case of Lizzie Doten." We are happy to inform her we have the facts,—and in an argument—facts are stubborn things!! We deal in facts.

For some of the facts, we gave in our former communication, if Mrs. Waisbrooker wishes to inform herself about the correctness of our 'quotations,' let her procure a copy of the Banner of Light, for December 21, 1856, and she will find we have not misrepresented.

As the other, unknown correspondent thinks "Subscriber wishes to inform the public upon what he knows nothing about etc." We are willing to let that go before an intelligent public, if judged by the rule "By their fruits ye shall know them."

Spiritualism, aims to undermine christianity, to destroy virtue, ignore the marriage relation, remove all restraints from the vicious, and give up our race to live and act as the birds; all this is seen in their public lectures, and writings as well as in their practice. Why should they not be consistent with their principles—if they keep such long, after becoming spiritualists? They deny human depravity, the atonement of Christ, and a future retribution. Hence Mrs. Waisbrooker sneers at the idea of "destroying souls," she says "we think such a thing impossible."

We take our leave by this word of advice upon "spiritualism." Those who believe they have souls, better not entrust their interests in the hands of spiritualists; but give them a "good letting alone,"—keep clean! As "wicked men and seducers wax worse and worse, deceiving and being deceived."

A SUBSCRIBER.

A WORD ON SPIRITUALISM.

The Child Whipper.

MR. EDITOR.—I have been requested to copy the following statement from the Boston Herald, for publication in your paper. I comply upon condition that it be distinctly understood that I do it not in the spirit of exultation. Be he spiritualist or not, he is of the human family, and as such, we cannot separate ourselves from him. When we learn that the human race is one, and that the interest of each is the interest of all, then, and not till then shall we be prepared to work effectually in removing the evils that afflict humanity.

A distinguished Divine says "No matter how necessary it may be for a man to be born again, it is very necessary that he be well born in the first place, for a naturally mean man is very apt to have his meanness stick to him after he joins the church," and this I hold to be equally true of one who joins himself to any other people.

L. WAISBROOKER.

"The child whipper, C. M. Williams, now in Norwich jail, at a religious meeting on Sunday renounced and denounced Spiritualism. The Spiritualists are to be congratulated on getting rid of him."—Boston Herald.

The Herald should have said, "Well may the Spiritualists congratulate themselves on getting rid of the name of owning him," for the fact is, he never left the church."—Banner of Light.

VALUABLE LANDS FOR SALE.

By the direction of the Honorable Secretary of the Interior, the undersigned will receive sealed bids for the purchase of any or all the lands hereinafter described, they being among the choicest and best farming lands in Minnesota.

These lands comprise what are known as the Winnebago Trust Lands in the State of Minnesota, and will be sold to the highest and best bidders in tracts not exceeding one hundred and sixty acres each, under the provisions of a treaty concluded with the Winnebago Indians, April 15th, 1859, and an act of Congress, approved February 21st, 1863, entitled "An act for the removal of the Winnebago Indians, and for the sale of their Reservation in Minnesota for their benefit."

In case a bid is accepted, the party making the same will be notified as soon thereafter as practicable. If within thirty days after such notice the party shall fail to make payment to the undersigned, the land for which said bid was made will be subject to sale to any other person.

Patents will be issued and transmitted to purchasers as soon after payment as the same can be prepared. Payments may be made either in cash or in certificates of indebtedness of the Winnebago Indians, issued by the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, for the debt of said Indians, and secured to be paid out of the proceeds of the sale of such lands by the third article of the treaty above mentioned. The right to reject any and all bids is expressly reserved. All bids must be sealed and addressed to the undersigned, Washington City, D. C., and endorsed, "Bids for Winnebago Trust Land."

As heretofore many persons have bid upon these lands, and after the awards have been made to them have failed to respond, the Secretary of the Interior hereby directs that all bids hereafter submitted must be accompanied by a deposit of a sum equal to ten per cent on the amount of each bid, which in case the land is awarded and the balance is paid will be forfeited by the bidder. Should the bid be rejected the sum deposited will be returned to the unsuccessful bidder.

Reparator Capilli.

Throw away your false frizzes, your switches, your wig—
Destructive of comfort, and not worth a fig;
Come aged, come youthful, come ugly and fair,
And rejoice in your own luxuriant hair.

REPARATOR CAPILLI.

For restoring hair upon bald heads (from whatever cause it may have fallen out) and forcing a growth of hair upon the face, it has no equal. It will force the beard to grow upon the smoothest face in from five to eight weeks, or hair upon bald heads in from two to three months. A few ignorant practitioners have asserted that there is nothing that will force or hasten the growth of the hair or beard. Their assertions are false, as thousands of living witnesses (from their own experience) can bear witness. But many will say, how are we to distinguish the genuine from the spurious? It certainly is difficult, as nine-tenths of the different Preparations advertised for the hair and beard are entirely worthless, and you may have already thrown away large amounts in their purchase. To such we would say, try the Reparator Capilli; it will cost you nothing unless it fully comes up to our representations. If your Druggist does not keep it, send us one dollar and we will forward it, postpaid, together with a receipt for the money, which will be returned you on application, providing entire satisfaction is not given. ASTROLOGY.
The World Astonished

AT THE WONDERFUL REVELATIONS
MADE BY THE GREAT ASTROLOGIST,
Madame H. A. Perrigo.

She reveals secrets no mortal ever knew. She restores to happiness those who, from doleful events, catastrophes, crosses in love, loss of relations and friends, loss of money, &c., have become despondent. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person.—She reads your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers unveils the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the malefic stars that overcome or predominate in the configuration—from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars in the heavens at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man. Fail not to consult the greatest Astrologist on earth. It costs you but a trifle, and you may never again have so favorable an opportunity. Consultation fee, with likeness and desired information, $1. Parties living at a distance can consult the Madame by mail with equal safety and satisfaction to themselves, as if in person. A full and explicit chart, written out, with all inquiries answered and likeness enclosed, sent by mail on receipt of price above mentioned. The strictest secrecy will be maintained, and all correspondence returned or destroyed. References of the highest order furnished those desiring them. Write plainly the day of the month and year in which you were born, enclosing a small lock of hair.

TERRIBLE EXPLOSION.—Last Friday morning the boiler of Rockey's flouring mill exploded, killing John Drenke who was employed about the mill, and Peter Seimon who was from Madelia and happened in the engine room at the time. Drenke was a married man, his family residing in this town. The engine and boiler were completely destroyed, the loss being from $4,000 to $5,000. The engineer had gone to breakfast, and Drenke put the engine and pumps in motion, and the cold water is supposed to have caused the explosion.

SPIRITUALISM.—Mr. Moses Hull of the Temperance Clarion, of Milwaukee, arrived in town on Wednesday of last week, and delivered a temperance lecture on Thursday evening of the same week. Since that time he has been lecturing on Spiritualism to crowded houses at Shoemaker's Hall. We have not learned how many converts he has made to the faith, but have promised to become a believer, when all spiritualists shall understand their doctrine alike, and Mr. Hull shall perform a real genuine Apostolic miracle on the paralyzed arm of Mr. Kelly, who may be frequently seen at our office. Mr. Kelly has received the initiatory manipulations from Mr. Hull, and says his fingers begin to wiggle "a ready." If Mr. Hull should succeed in curing the arm, he will have a greater difficulty to surmount, in reconciling the thousand and one different and conflicting principles entertained by his followers. When they affiliate let us know.

DISTRICT COURT.—The following persons have been drawn to serve as Grand and Petit Jurors at the May term which convenes on the 21st day of that month.

GRAND JURORS:

J. C. Hilton, S. C. Clark, John J. Porter, Albert Turner, J. K. Mead, Nahum Bixby, Theodore Eckstorm, Geo. Maxfield, J. S. Little, Adolphus Dart, J. F. Meagher, J. Y. Caldwell, S. F. Mills, J. J. Shaubut, B. Marchand, J. H. Ray, Chas. Pagenkopp, Amos Warner, M. McNamara, David Lunn, John A. Reed, Theodore Scattergood, G. A. Bierise.

PETIT JURORS:

Nathan Bennett, Wm. Wells, G. W. Dietz, Joseph Dabbe, R. J. Marvin, S. N. Phelps, D. R. Brooks, W. R. Price, James June, E. T. Kellogg, Saml. Hinkley, S. B. Ryburgh, C. O. Hersey, A. B. Reed, S. S. Fogg, Edward Buckley, Thos. Doak, Wm. Gray, Richard R. Jones, C. W. Remington, John A. Jones, John Frisbie, R. J. Brown.

—If our friends will use preparations for restoring gray hair they should use the best in the market. Our attention has lately been called to an article which has an extensive sale and a very high reputation, known as Ring's Vegetable Ambrosia, and we are inclined to think that it possesses more desirable and less objectionable qualities than any other in the market. It restores gray or faded hair to its original color in a most remarkable manner, and by its invigorating and soothing properties removes all dandruff and humors from the scalp. Give it a fair trial and you cannot fail to like it. It can be had at Frisbie's Drug Store.

RELIGIOUS DISCUSSION.—There will be a joint discussion between Mr. Moses Hull of Milwaukee, and Rev. J. M. Pryse, of South Bend, upon the subject of the bible and spiritualism embodied in the following propositions:

1st. Can it be satisfactory proved that the claims of the Bible to being a well authenticated record of infallible revelation, from the Eternal and infinite mind—the father of Spirits, are false, or can the claims which are made in behalf of the bible be justly and satisfactory assailed. Mr. Hull takes the affirmative and Mr. Pryse the negative.

2d, That the power by which the phenomena of modern Spiritualism are produced, is not identical or the same in kind with that which Jesus possessed, by which he wrought those wonders, by which in part he sought to establish his mission, and which he communicated to his apostles for the same purpose.

The discussion commences on Monday evening next at Higgins' Hall. Tickets for course of 5 lectures 75 cts. Single tickets 20 cts., to be had at W. W. Davis', Wickersham & Co. Clifton House, Book Store, and S. S. Higgins' feed store.

DECISION.—The District Court decided in the town election case of Clark vs Welcome, that there were 111 votes polled, 55 each for the contestants, the other vote not being cast for either. Being a tie neither one is elected and each pays his own cost.

"THE BOND OF HOPE."—Lyman Beecher, the father of Henry Ward, said in the early days of the temperance reform, "Now I have an assurance that my children will not die drunkards." His hope was not a vain one.

A few days since at Vernon Center, I noticed a few small boys collecting—one with a neat little blank-book under his arm. On inquiring, I found that they were gathering to hold their lodge or society. My curiosity was excited to learn what was the object of their society, and when I had learned it all, I had to say, my brave boys, you have made a good beginning—only continue in well doing.

And now, gentle reader, do you want to know their pledge.—Nothing that intoxicates; no tobacco; no gambling; no swearing; no fighting; no lying; and no stealing.

What older head is guilty of putting those ideas into the heads of these boys I do not know. It was insinuated by one man that I was the culprit, but I can honestly deny the charge. Nor could I learn that they got any extraneous help. They take in members from 8 to 15, at which time they can be one "Good Templars." But to my mind the society of the younger is quite as interesting, and promises quite as much good (if it were general, which I hope it may be) as the society of the older.

If Lyman Beecher had a rational assurance with the first faulty pledge of near half a century ago, a fortiori, (by how much rather) have we a rational assurance when we see the pledges of the Vernon boys?

FROM PLEASANT MOUND.

By our own Reporter.

We have had some quite warm weather recently, and we looked for a general breaking up of the river, and disappearance of snow, but March has came in with all sail set, the wind blows, and the snow flies, and there is now fair prospects for "six weeks sleighing in March." Those who have not already done so, are now busy marketing their grain, owing, we suppose to the recent rise in prices.

We have had a series of protracted meetings recently, held at the house of Mr. R. S. Briggs, they were continued for about three weeks, and quite a goodly number were convinced of their lost condition, and have espoused the good cause. The meetings were conducted under the supervision of Elder Barnard, and although perhaps there was some measures taken, which did not tend to secure the desired result, yet generally speaking the meetings were conducted in an able and efficient manner. We sincerely hope that this revival will affect a radical change in the morality of this community.

ARAD.

FROM GARDEN CITY.

By Our Own Reporter.

—Business is very lively in and about Garden City. Logs continue to come in from every direction to Potter's steam mill, which is doing a heavy business in sawing out lumber. The sleighing is first rate. Harrington is sending off large quantities of flour from his mill, which he has ground up this winter, and still keeps grinding. Quayle's Mill is also doing good business in flouring, both in quantity and quality, and it is proving to be a fact that Garden City flour "can't be beat."

RETURNED.—S. M. Folsom has again returned to Garden City, and has commenced getting out timber for his mill which he is about to erect just below town on the Watonwan river. He has a number of hands at work and seems to be in earnest about it.

SINGING SCHOOL.—We have a singing school two evenings in the week, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. It is in a flourishing condition, and is taught by Maj. Edson Gerry of this place. He is considered to be one of the best singing school teachers in the State. If any of your readers doubt it let them visit the school.

DONATION.—There is to be a donation for Eld. A. G. Perkins, Methodist, at Farmers Hall in this place on the evening of Monday the 11th inst., and a cordial invitation is extended by the committee to all who are disposed to attend, and it is expected that no one will come without a present for the Elder, as he is needy, and is also a worthy man. Every thing that is good to eat or wear will be accepted, and greenbacks will not be rejected.

SICKNESS.—Dr. Welcome has a number of cases of typhoid fever on his hands out in the country, but it is hoped that it will not prevail to any extent.

A NEW TOWN.—A new town has just sprung up on the Blue Earth river, about three miles from Garden City called Rewville. Rew & Heaton have built a good sawmill with a circular saw, costing together with the dam about $4,000. It is doing a good business, they intend putting in a flour mill in the spring, and already have a part of the timber on the ground. Four or five houses have been built near the mill within a few months. But they are undecided as to whether they will have the County seat there or not the present spring.

VILLAGE CHARTER AMENDMENT.

AN ACT, to amend the Charter of the Village of Mankato.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota.

SECTION 1. That section two of the act incorporating the village of Mankato and all the amendments thereto, passed in the year eighteen hundred and sixty six, are hereby repealed.

SEC. 2. That section nine in the act incorporating the village is amended by inserting the word "exclusive" in the eighth line thereof immediately preceding the word "power" so that the same shall read "they shall have exclusive power."

SEC. 3. The trustees may license persons who shall offer or cause to be offered any manufactured articles for sale at auction in said village, and may charge therefore not less than twenty-five nor more than one hundred dollars in their discretion and whoever shall offer or cause to be offered such property without such license shall forfeit one hundred dollars.

SEC. 4. All penalties and forfeitures shall be sued for by the trustees in the name of and shall belong to the village.

SEC. 5. The trustees shall on the second Tuesday in April in each year make an accurate statement of the finances of the village at that date particularly including all debts and liabilities, the assets and means to discharge the same, on what account incurred, to whom owing, and shall also contain a correct statement of each item from whom and on what account received and to whom paid and what account expended, which annual statement shall be published between that time and the first day of May in a newspaper published in said village and the original filed with the village treasurer.

SEC. 6. The trustees may, when they see fit, assess any special tax upon the property liable therefor to be based on the last assessment roll of the town of Mankato perfected by the County Commissioners when the tax shall be incurred, and may issue a warrant under their hands directing the Marshal to collect the same within thirty days; the marshal may levy the same upon any personal property (none of which shall be exempt from such levy,) and may advertise and sell the same as constables may advertise and sell personal property on Justices executions. If the marshal shall fail to collect such tax he may return the same as a charge on the real estate on which it was assessed to the county Auditor, who shall insert the same in the next general assessment roll to be collected like other taxes. The special tax for the improvement of Front street in the year eighteen hundred and sixty six, shall be based on the assessment roll of eighteen hundred and sixty-five.

SEC. 7. The trustees may fix the compensation of Treasurer, Marshal and Clerk.

SEC. 8. This shall be a public act and shall be in force from its passage.

Approved February twenty-seventh eighteen hundred and sixty-seven.

☞ To be very serious or very sad is inconsistent with good bodily health—the natural state of good health is a cheerful one. Sadness or low spirits, and melancholy of all kinds, are evidences of the loss of vigor in the life of glory with us—and the deadening causes of the gloom we experience must be driven out of the system, or the life within is overwhelmed with gloom and horrors. By all means then, preserve a cheerful tone of mind, and live long in good health and spirits by the use of Bryan's Life Pills, for there is purer nor more useful Medicine, and none which, for good health, can be taken with better effect. The Shivering Victims

Of Fever and Ague, who freeze to-day to burn to-morrow, might have been exempted from their present trials had they availed themselves in time of that safe-guard against all malarious diseases, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. But if it is too late for prevention it is not too late for cure. A single bottle of this irresistible herbal tonic will stop the paroxysms, and a brief course of it will restore the patient to vigorous health. The prudent and thoughtful, however, who would rather forestall disease than wait for its assaults, will resort to this sure defence against intermittent and remittent fevers at the commencement of the season when they prevail. Now is the time to fore-arm the system against fever and ague, bilious complaints and dyspepsia—diseases which are often engendered, and always aggravated, by the chills and damps of Winter and early Spring. SHAKESPEARE ON INTERMITTENTS.

The Bard of Avon tells us that the "Sun in March doth nourish Agues," and the remark is as true now as it was three hundred years ago. But fortunately, in these modern days March Agues can be prevented. Hostetter's Bitters, in a single week, will put the system in a condition to resist every species of intermittent fever. Or, if there is a predisposition to biliousness or dyspepsia, this unequaled regulator and invigorant will just as certainly prevent that. All the disorders common to the season of fogs and frosts may be held in abeyance by this potent antidote. They may also be ejected from the system, after they have made a lodgement there, by its persevering use. It is therefore moral insanity for any family to be without it.

DIED:

On Saturday the 2nd inst., Cora, daughter of Dr. I. H. Thurston, aged about eight years.

Cora was one of our sabbath school scholars. She was a sweet tempered child, beloved by all who knew her. In her last sickness which was a lingering one, she was patient and resigned, and passed gently away in the morning of life, to bloom in a fairer clime than this.

In sorrow they laid the little one down,
With the cold prairie sod as her pillow,
Yet sweet Cora is safe, on the river of death,
For she'll make her way over the billow.

Yes, the old river Jordan may roll on its course,
And its waves heave up like the ocean,
Jesus watches while little ones pass o'er the tide,
And bears them all safe in his bosom.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU and Improved Rose Wash cures secret and delicate disorders in all their stages, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience and no exposure. It is pleasant in taste and odor, immediate in its action, and free from all injurious properties.

☞ A Young Lady returning to her country home, after a sojourn of a few months in the City, was hardly recognised by her friends. In place of a coarse, rustic, flushed face, she had a soft ruby complexion of almost marble smoothness, and instead of twenty-three she really appeared but eighteen. Upon inquiry as to the cause of so great a change, she plainly told them that she used the Circassian Balm, and considered it an invaluable acquisition to any Lady's toilet. By its use any Lady or Gentleman can improve their personal appearance an hundred fold. It is simple in its combination, as Nature herself is simple, yet unsurpassed in its efficacy in drawing impurities from, also healing, cleansing and beautifying the skin and complexion. By its direct action on the cuticle it draws from it all its impurities, kindly healing the same, and leaving the surface as Nature intended it should be, clear, soft, smooth and beautiful. THE GLORY OF MAN IS STRENGTH.—Therefore the nervous and debilitated should immediately use Helmbold's Extract Buchu.

CONSUMPTION CURABLE BY DR. SCHENCK'S MEDICINES.

TO CURE CONSUMPTION, the system must be prepared so that the lungs will heal. To accomplish this, the liver and stomach must first be cleansed and an appetite created for good wholesome food, which, by these medicines will be digested properly, and good healthy blood made; thus building up the constitution. SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS cleanse the stomach of all bilious or mucous accumulations; and, by using the Sea Weed Tonic in connection, the appetite is restored.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP is nutritious as well as medicinal, and, by using the three remedies, all impurities are expelled from the system, and good, wholesome blood made, which will repel all disease. If patients will take these medicines according to directions, Consumption very frequently in its last stage yields readily to their action. Take the pills frequently, to cleanse the liver and stomach. It does not follow that because the bowels are not costive they are not required, for sometimes in diarrhœa they are necessary. The stomach must be kept healthy, and an appetite created to allow the Pulmonic Syrup to act on the respiratory organs properly and allay any irritation. Then all that is required to perform a permanent cure is, to prevent taking cold. Exercise about the rooms as much as possible, eat all the richest food—fat meat, game, and, in fact, anything the appetite craves: but be particular and masticate well. (2nd w. ea. mo. 1 yr.

Are more frequently than otherwise caused by a thick, slimy mucous, falling from the head, especially during the night, and resulting from Catarrh, and are cured by

LIQUID

SYMPTOMS.

The symptoms of Catarrh are at first very slight. Persons find they have a cold, that they have frequent attacks, and are more sensitive to the changes of the temperature. In this condition the nose may be dry, or a slight discharge thin and acrid, afterwards thick and adhesive, may ensue.

As the disease becomes chronic, the discharges are increased in quantity and changed in quality; they are now thick and heavy, and hawked or coughed off. The secretions are offensive, causing a bad breath; the voice thick and nasal; the eyes are weak; the sense of smell is lessened or destroyed; deafness frequently takes place.

Another common and important symptom of Catarrh is, that the person is obliged to clear his throat in the morning of a thick or slimy mucous, which has fallen from the head during the night. When this takes place, the person may be sure that his disease is on its way to the lungs, and should lose no time in arresting it.

The above are but a few of the many Catarrhal symptoms. Write to our Laboratory for our pamphlet describing fully all symptoms; it will be sent FREE to any address. Also directions where to procure the medicine.

We are receiving letters from all parts of the Union, and also numerous testimonials from those using it, bearing the evidence of its infallible merits;

☞ This remedy contains no MINERAL or POISONOUS INGREDIENTS, but is prepared from vegetable extracts EXCLUSIVELY; therefore it is PERFECTLY HARMLESS, even to the most tender and delicate child.☜

FLORENCE
SEWING MACHINE CO.
100 WASHINGTON ST., CHICAGO.
Wm. H. SHARP & CO.,
General Agents.

THE FLORENCE is the only machine extant having a reversible feed, which enables the operator to sew either to the right or left at pleasure, and the only machine that makes a perfectly elastic seam, alike on each side of the fabric.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE not only makes the lock-stitch, but three others, which for certain kinds of work are much superior, especially where elasticity is required and is the only machine that fastens the ends of each seam securely, and does it in one-fourth the time it can be done by hand.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE, does not draw fine, thin goods down through the slot or hole in the work-plate, nor drop a stitch in turning a corner, and is the only machine having a changeless tension, and no slack threads both of which draw together simultaneously.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE is noiseless, and can be used when quiet is necessary as well in the sick-chamber as in the workroom. They oil no dresses, the machinery being all on the top of the table. It will sew over the heaviest seams, or from one to more thicknesses of goods, without skipping stitches, breaking threads or requiring change in tension.

THE FLORENCE

AMERICAN ORGANS.

(From "Godey's Ladies' Book," February, 1866.)

REED ORGANS, &c.

The following remarks and suggestions relative to this immensely popular instrument will doubtless interest and profit very many of our readers; we commend the article to their careful perusal:—

A Hundred and one makers of Organs, Cottage, Parlor Cabinet, American, School Organs etc etc., are each claiming to make the best instrument in the world. Being comparatively a new instrument, as at present constructed, we are convinced the public are much less capable of judging of its merits, or demerits, than of most other instruments. If there is really an essential difference in them, if there are some worthless ones, the public should have some criterion for judging of them, some facts which will enlighten them. We cheerfully concede the space for this article, knowing that there is hardly a family, or church, or school in all the land, but is more or less interested in this topic. We are also aware of its being a great misfortune, a real calamity, to any of them to purchase an inferior or worthless Organ, ruinous to good playing, and often a source of much annoyance and vexation. We know this article to emanate from a candid and intelligent source, and thus we give it to our readers.

The question is often asked, what are "reed organs?" We answer, they are, in most cases nothing in the world but the old melodeon in disguise. Many of the so called Organs have the same bellows the same reeds, and the same general internal arrangement. With the bellows turned on edge to gain room, they have simply put on a more pretentious exterior and a more high sounding name But an organ to be in reality an organ, must have a wind chest or reservoir for air separate from the bellows, into which wind chest the reeds open and the tone has room to expand and perfect itself into the full round tone, similar to the flute or pipe organ, even, smooth firm and mellow; and this tone from reeds cannot be obtained in any other way known. Nothing so annoys a true organist as to have the volume of sound swelling and jerking spasmodically with every variation of force on the bellows or air-passages, instead of a wind or sound box And yet some makers even go so far as to claim this spasmodic or an ominous jerking of the bellows or the reeds as an excellence, just as though they did not know that it must soon throw the reeds out of tune, and injure the bellows; and as though it were not an easier matter to obtain a much better and more easily managed swell by other methods. The truth is, any organ so called or melodeon which has the wind acting directly upon the reeds, is nothing more or less than a huge accordeon, dress it up as you may. And when organists and true musicians become aware of the fact that they can obtain those that are organs in fact as well as in name they will buy no more of the objectionable ones. Then again the swell should always be separate and distinct from the bellows, so as not to be acted on by the hand, or soft blowing, but convenient, so that the player can use it with the knee, separate from the hands or feet, and thus always under easy control, to be used ad libitum.

The large divided bellows, or double bellows, is also a very important improvement—By this means not only can the wind be supplied more evenly, but with far greater ease to the performer from the fact that either bellows alone will be sufficient for the lighter melodies, thus permitting the player to change about and rest the feet at will; then, if the bellows is of a requisite large size, and having the wind-chest or reservoir, all will be well—As to the reeds, they must be scientifically tuned and voiced, or all the other good qualities in the world cannot produce a good toned instrument. The inquiry now very naturally arises, where can the organ be procured combining all these essential and desirable qualities? There is only one possessing these points and that is the AMERICAN ORGAN made by S D. & H. W. Smith, of Boston, Siberia Ott Wholesale Agent, 581 Broadway, New York. These organs have a wind chest extending the whole length of the instrument, and so constructed as to act at the same time as a reverberating sound box or board and having the same important relation and part to perform that the sounding board has to the piano. This feature the makers have patented, and to it are owing in a great measure the entirely unequaled fullness and richness of tone so highly prized by all who have used these organs. They also have the largest and best divided bellows in use, which is another important feature. No part of their work is slighted no expense or pains spared to make the American Organs perfect musically, as well as mechanically, and, judging from the immense sale of them at present, they bid fair to long maintain the proud position they have won by superior merit alone. We would most heartily advise all interested to call upon or address Mr Siberia Ott, the Wholesale Agent, at No. 581 Broadway, New York, and can assure them he will, in the most gentlemanly and truthful manner, impart to them all the information they may desire relative to this truly delightful instrument.

WEARY WAITING.

BY J. E. C.

Weary waiting, long, long, years,
The filling of hopes, the passing of fears,
Cares grim rod give way for peace,
And this restless, endless toiling cease.

Weary waiting, for wrong to right,
Waiting for the breaking clouds of night,
The springing of flowers upon life's way,
Harbingers of a brighter, better day.

Weary for some kind recognition,
Of honest worth, sorrow's fruition,
Weary waiting for affection's chain,
To clasp round my life its spell again.

Weary waiting for that better life,
Where sorrow, care, temptation and strife,
Woe, and grief, disapointments and tears,
Come not in the cup of life's long years.

Weary waiting, yet walking day by day,
In duty's cold track, that weary way,
While love with a passionate earnestness,
Calls for love again, to make life blest.

Weary waiting, Oh! who can tell,
But they who suffer—how sorrow's spell,
Binds in fetters fast, my longing soul,
That yearningly views a higher goal,

Weary waiting, and yet seeking still,
To know and do my "Fathers" will.
For blessings to fall from lips of love,
For perfect peace, known only above.

LETTER FROM STEELE.

MR. GRISWOLD:—A few days ago I received a letter from my old friend, Mr. Steele, Esq., of Wabash, Ind. Many of your readers will remember his visit to our city last summer. He boarded at the Mankato House, where many of our ladies called upon his wife and daughter. Mr. Steele's health had been declining for several years, and the primary object of his visit was the restoration of an impaired constitution. In this, his most sanguine expectations were surpassed.

As some of your readers would like to here from him, I will give a part of the communication. R. I——.

REV. R. IRWIN—Dear Sir:—Your kind letter came duly to hand, the receipt of which, allow me to assure you, afforded me very great pleasure, chiefly I may say on account of the information communicated in regard to the condition of your health. In regard to myself I will say that my health continued to improve during the whole time of my stay in Minnesota, and after my return. * * * * I fully concur with you in opinion as to the effect of the climate of Minnesota in imparting life and vigor to constitutions impaired by labor and disease, and have no doubt that my life would be greatly prolonged and the pleasure of living much enhanced by a permanent settlement in that country. Whether I will ever come or not will depend upon circumstances, over which I have little or no control * * * We expect however to visit Mankato again this season, and remain during the hot weather. * * * I have just received the paper containing your article headed "Experience and observations of an invalid," for which please accept many thanks. Should you visit Indiana this spring do not fail to make us a visit, and we will endeavor to make your stay a pleasant one. * * *

Yours truly,
WM. STEELE, Jr.

For the Union.

THE NEW INDIAN TREATY.

EDITOR UNION:—The great effort and expense incurred to get Indians to Washington to treat with, it seems has resulted in concluding a treaty with the Sisseton and Wahpaton Sioux which, if ratified, will prove the grandest swindle of the age; and some correspondent of the Pioneer sends a copy of a treaty, urging the press of Minnesota to urge its ratification, because he says everything favorable to Minnesota and the Montana route has been got into it. Whatever the public press may do or say in the matter, it is quite certain the people will have an opinion of their own, and few will clamor for the ratification of a treaty which is no improvement on the old sysem of Indian government, save only that frauds and swindling are made easier, while the periodical visitation of savage vengeance upon frontier settlers is equally sure, and all the more dreadful from the fact that so many of them will be armed and well drilled at government expense in the more expert use of them while peace may continue.

There can be no doubt in the mind of any Senator or Congressman from Minnesota but what at least nine-tenths of the people at all conversant with the Indian history of the West for the past thirty years, are absolutely opposed to the ratification of any treaty which renews the Indian government existing during that time. Had it been the design of the originators of that system to devise a plan especially adapted to enrich agents, traders and superintendents at the expense of the government, and by defrauding Indians, and serve to bring a periodical outpouring of savage vengance upon defenceless frontier settlers they could have made no improvement in their scheme which is not made in this treaty. For such purposes this treaty is perfect. The people of this State have hoped since the massacre of 1862 that they might be spared in future the horrors which are but the legitimate fruits of the system. That if the laws, good enough for civilized settlers were not deemed quite good enough for the savages, the Indians as fast as conquered might be placed under military protection and thus secured from the frauds heretofore perpetrated upon them by dishonest agents and traders, and which have so often been made their excuse for the murder of women and children on our frontier. But the ratification of this treaty will prove beyond a doubt that the old Indian ring are too much for the people. It bears all the ear marks of those who have long fattened on the spoils under the old system, and will do more so under this treaty.

It commences by acknowledging the supremacy of these bands to a territory more than half as large as Minnesota, makes the United States government pay tribute to them for the pitiful privilege of building a wagon road and carrying mails across a country over which the jurisdiction of the United States should be as supreme and unquestionable as over any portion of the public domain in the State of Minnesota. The fact of itself should condemn the treaty in the estimation of every man. But it goes on from bad to worse.

It next provides that there shall be two large reservations for agricultural settlers. One on Lake Traverse, and another on Devil's Lake, upon which an Indian, head of a family or person over 21 years of age may settle and have 160 acres of land by occupying the same five years, the same as the civilized man settles upon his homestead, except that the Sioux murderer has no land office fees to pay, no house to build—government furnishing him a house and expending during the first four years from $100 to $700 per head for each member of his family to aid him in his improvements. Section six provides that for the benefit of the settlers on the Lake Traverse reservation as cultivators of the soil, there shall be expended in 1857, $350,000; in 1868, $250,000; in 1869, $100,000; in 1870, $50,000 and forever thereafter $30,000 per annum. Section seven provides that whenever 500 persons shall be settled for the same purpose on the Devil's Lake reservation, there shall be expended the first year, $100-000; the second year, $200,000; the third year, $50,000; and $30,000 per annum thereafter. Article eight provides that houses shall be provided for all Indians and mixed bloods locating on the respective agricultural reservations. It will be seen from this treaty that a reconstructed Sioux murderer is considerably better—at least in the estimation of these treaty makers—than any good, civilized christian settler, under the homestead law, in Minnesota. The latter, it is true, can have his 160 acre homestead, but he must pay the land office fee—from $10 to $15—build his own house and make his own improvements, while the Sioux savage is exemt from the fee, has a house furnished him and has for the first four years, from one to seven hundred dollars per head for each member of his household—if not swindled out of it by agents or traders—expended for his benefit, to improve his farm.

This is no exaggeration. The money on the Devil's Lake reservation is to be expended when 500 persons, not farmers, are located there for agricultural purposes. The first year it would be $200 per head; the second year $400; the third year, $200; the fourth year $100; the fifth year and each subsequent year, $60 per head. On the Lake Traverse reservation the expenditure is to begin this year whether there are 10 persons or 500 there; and none but a fool expects there will be 500 there at the close of the fifth year, but if we call it 500 for the whole time, the amount for 1867, is $700 per head; for 1868, $500; for 1869, $200; for 1870, $100; and $60 per head annually, forever thereafter. The reconstructed Sioux murderer with five children would be entitled this year to an expenditure—provided there are 500 persons there—of $4,900. The civilized christian settler under the homestead law, may settle on an equal amount of government land, provided he can pay the filing fees, but he must build his own cabin, support his own babies, and make his own improvements. It would be well enough for him to remember, in order that he may not indulge in extravagant ideas of his own importance that in the estimation of these treaty makers, and if ratified, in the estimation of congress, that the reconstructed Sioux—who has perhaps murdered as good a man as himself, or a wife and few children for some other man—is worth to this government his house and $4,900 in greenbacks more than he is. These reflections may be good for him in another sense. A first rate test of his christian meekness and faith, if he take these things all into serious consideration and feel no rising in his heart of the old Adam nature he may reasonably conclude that he has tolerably well-grounded christian hope. Any man who can imagine a grosser insult to the people of Minnesota, generally, and our homestead settlers in particular, need not doubt his capacity to writter a better "Paradise Lost" or "Course of Time," than Milton or Pollock have done.

But that is not all that is infamous in this treaty. Section ten provides that the Indians shall guarantee the safety of mail carriers, mail stations and travelers through their country. Section eleven provides that to enable them the better to protect these travelers, &c., from themselves, the President shall appoint a man satisfactory to the Indians, who shall organize not less than 250 of these bands for government service as scouts. Section 12 provides that each scout shall furnish his own horse, arms and equipments and shall receive as compensation for his services so equipped $60 per month with rations for himself and family and grain rations for his horse: Farther still, that there shall be one chief of station for every 12 men, who shall have $15 per month extra; one chief of escort for every 50 men, who shall have $20 per month extra; and one chief of band for every 50 men, who shall have $30 per month extra. This moderate pay for savage soldiery cannot but be eminently flattering to our regular civilian soldiery. 250 is the smallest number that can be thus organized, and may be as much greater as the commander appointed by the President may chose to make it, or as there may be warriors in these bands. It is interesting, don't you think so, Mr. UNION? No Indian treaty was ever made better calculated to aid dishonest agents or traders, or more certain to bring forth its legitimate fruits. A few years of peace, during which the Indians will be robbed and swindled, traders and agents enriched, and then their fortunes will be sanctified. their crimes washed away, and savage wrongs redressed in the blood of another thousand or fifteen hundred slaughtered men, women and children on our frontier. Such has been the workings of this accursed system of Indian government in the past,—it can be no better in future. Like causes produced like effects in all ages. No Congressman or Senator from Minnesota, who values the good will of his civilized constituency or the honor of his country more than that of the murderous savages and the unprincipled agents who hope to profit by this opportunity to plunder, will vote for its ratification.

Our senators and representatives may as well make up their minds that the people of Minnesota have not forgotten the horrors of 1862, and are by no means ready to concede the superior rights of Sioux murderers to the fostering care of the government over civilized christian citizens. And if they would do the best possible thing in their power for their savage as well as civilized constituents, they will assert the supremacy of the United States government over every foot of land and water embraced within the limits of the United States, place these Sioux under the wholesome restraint of our laws, and if there is power enough in the United States enforce obedience or kill them. Extend our civilization with our conquest. Till that policy is adopted it is folly to make treaties and keep up this miserable farce of agricultural reservations. It has been a curse to both the Indian and the white man. While a few have been enriched, many have been impoverished, and thousands been slaughtered—sacrificed to a policy that has proved a disgrace as well as a wanton, wastful expense to the government. If congress would place Joe Brown, Ben Thompson, and a few other men of like ilk who have long fattened from the public crib through the Indian bureau on the retired list, pension them off even on full pay; assert the supremacy of the government over the whole territory within the boundaries of the republic, and take the proper steps to enforce it not only in Dakota, but everywhere else; deal as generously and justly with civilized christian frontier settlers as with the savage butchers of women and children on our western borders or with rebels in the South, it would inspire in the hearts of all true men far more respect for the government and higher hopes for the future of the Republic.

Truly, yours,
OBSERVER.

GOV. MARSHALL'S NORMAL SCHOOL VETO MESSAGE.

MARCH 5th, 1867.

Hon. Thos. H. Armstrong, President of the Senate:

SIR: I respectfully return herewith to the Senate, in which it originated, a bill entitled "An Act to appropriate money for the erection of buildings for the three State Normal School's," without my approval.

I object to the large sums given in the bill, one hundred and fifty thousand dollars in addition to past appropriations, for a class of schools that would be out of proportion to the other educational institutions and interests of the State.

The bill appropriates these large sums in advance, for future years, when we do not know, and cannot know, the financial condition of the State, and the ability of the people to pay the taxes that these appropriations make necessary.

In recommending, in my annual message, an appropriation for the first State Normal School, which is now established and greatly needing better building accommodations, and for which the building had been begun, I deferred to the judgment of the State Normal Board in regard to the plan and cost of the building, much doubting myself the expediency of so large and costly a structure.

What seemed to me an evil in the case of the first Normal School, is multiplied three fold in this bill, and without the need and urgency, as respects the second and third schools, of being organized and needing the accommodations.

My view of the true policy of the State in regard to its institutions is to do what our hands find to do—to provide for the present. We can only provide for the future by taxing the future.

I believe it will be more satisfactory to the future to provide for itself, and to tax itself.

There are other State institutions pressing for appropriations. Let us be just to all, which I believe we cannot with these excessive appropriations for Normal Schools, without over taxation of the people, or embarrassing the State finances.

The people are taxing themselves heavily to sustain local schools. Let us not burden them oppressively with State taxes for Normal Schools, and thus impair their ability to support common schools.

These appropriations for buildings are only a part of the burden the bill entails. Large annual appropriations will be needed to sustain the schools. They are dependent wholly upon the State treasury. In Wisconsin, which is cited as an example to us in the number of its Normal Schools, they have an independent Normal School fund of over a million dollars. Minnesota has not a dollar of such a fund. (I should be glad to see such a fund created out of any proper means.)

I am not unfriendly to Normal Schools, nor to any of the localities to be benefitted by these appropriations. I shall be glad when all these schools can be provided for consistently with the State's duty to other interests, and I trust that this veto will not prejudice these institutions in the future, nor prevent an appropriation, now, such as you shall deem just for the First Normal School building—the sum indicated in the bill, considering all the circumstances, not seeming to me unreasonable.

Additional financial objections are stated to the bill in the following extracts from a communication from the State Auditor, whose opinion, as the head of the chief financial department of the State, I solicited. Mr. McIlrath says:

"By the terms of this act it is made my duty, upon application of the State Normal Board, to issue warrants on the State Treasurer for $150,000; $25,000 of which would be due immediately, $50,000 due in 1868, $50,000 due in 1869, and 25,000 in 1870. Nothing in the act prevents warrants to that amount being drawn as soon as the act takes effect. It is true that the money is not drawn or paid out of the treasury until these warrants become due; but at the same time these warrants represent the faith and credit of the State, and there is no prohibition in any law against their being discounted and the money thus obtained used for all the institutions during the present year. Whether that would be the case or not by the terms of the act, treasury warrants to the amount of $50,000 will fall due next year without any provision made to meet them, and the same sum the year after. Should we be so unfortunate as not to collect the balance due the State from the General Government there would be no chance to borrow money except by an amendment to the constitution, and as there will be no proposition of that kind offered to the people this year, it cannot be effected until the fall of 1868—several months after these warrants become due. The consequence would be that the treasury would become bankrupt, and the warrants remain unpaid." * * * "Such an issue of warrants creates a State debt not authorized by the constitution. The only safe course is not to arpropriate moneys in advance of the capabilities of the treasury to supply."

For these substantial reasons of the Auditor, and the general objections I have urged, I withhold my approval from the bill.

I am, very respectfully,
Your ob't serv't,
WM. R. MARSHALL,
Governor.

A FRANK AND NOBLE ACT.

General Sheridan sent, a few days ago, to Miss Rebecca Wright, of Winchester, Va., An elegant gold watch, an exquisitely wrought chain, and a broach. The broach is of fine gold, exquisitely wrought into a gauntlet, and set with pearls. One of the charms, says the correspondent, is a sword, set with very valuable diamonds. Accompanying this magnificent gift was an authorgraph letter from Gen. Sheridan acknowledging Miss Wright's services, which led to the General's success at Winchester, in the battle of the 19th of September 1864. Miss Wright was a young Quakeress, well known for her faith in a united nationality, and understood to be willing to aid the cause at any sacrifice. When Gen. Sheridan was in great doubt how to act, he sent a scout to the lady, who, writing upon a slip of paper, which she enclosed in tin foil, directed it to be placed in the mouth that it might escape the enemy's search, and thus furnished the information that enabled the General to achieve his victory.

The Mankato Union.

FRIDAY, - - - MARCH 15, 1867.

W. B. GRISWOLD, - Editor and Pro'r.

LEGISLATURE--LAWS.

The ninth session of the State Legislature closed at noon on Friday last. Before adjournment the Senate elected Hon. J B. Wakefield of Blue Earth City president pro tem of the Senate. About 300 bills have been enacted by the Legislature, the greater part of which would be termed special laws. As time passes, the general laws undergo less change, the experience of the past teaching us what laws are most suitable to our wants, as well as the folly of frequent amendments. Our new statutes are not free, however, from innovations by the Legislature, and the practice of enacting, repealing amending or re-enacting a law at nearly every session, results in but little good. A law which is established with certainty and is well understood by the public, is a desirable landmark to guide human actions, but constant change in the laws brings uneasiness and bewilderment. Many important bills and memorials have been before the Legislature and the most of them have become laws. The most important to this locality are: A law to authorize Mankato to raise by tax $5,000 toward the Normal School fund; a law to issue bonds of the county for the purpose of building a jail; a law amending our village charter and extending our city limits, a law authorizing the Minn. Valley R. R., to construct a road from Mankato to Blue Earth City and Iowa line; a law empowering Danville to issue bonds to take up bounty indebtedness; a memorial to Congress asking for a tri-weekly mail between Mankato and Sioux City via Madelia; and a memorial asking Congress to lend its credit to the amount of $16,000 per mile, for the construction of a railroad from Sioux City via Mankato and St. Paul to Lake Superior. This loan is asked in favor of the companies which are now building the road in order to enable them to push them through at once.

The bill most important to this locality was defeated by a veto message from the Governor. It was the bill appropriating $150,000 to be expended for Normal School purposes at Winona, Mankato and St. Cloud, within the coming four years. While the Legislature may be complimented upon its sagacious enactments, its action upon this veto was most miserable. One round from the Governor created a panic and demoralized the entire ranks of the Legislature. It was the most disgraceful surrender of opinion and principle that has ever been recorded of any legislature in this State. The bill was carried by an almost unanimous vote, and an opportunity was afforded them to elucidate and emphasize the republican principle, that the people speak through their representatives, and are not to be controlled by two persons employees and servants of the State. Senator Porter, of this District, tested the feeling of the Legislature upon the subject of passing the law over the veto, but he might as well have attempted to resuscitate a dead dog, for they were all laid out on their backs praying for executive clemency and confessing the follies of their own acts. A cowardly surrender indeed. They could with amazing fortitude send missiles of paper squibs at Dan Norton, who was beyond their reach, but when danger threatens, and their own good sense and judgment is assailed, there is not one to enter a protest. One of two things is certain. Either the Legislature had passed a law involving an abuse of its power, which is confessed by their refusal to act on the veto, or having passed a law essential to the welfare of the State, a dereliction of duty ensued by permitting it to be slain by the Governor.

SOUTHERN MINNESOTA R. R.

We had occasion to notice that a controversy had existed between the people living along the line of the proposed route of the Southern Minn. railway, and the company, in respect to the exact location of the road. The towns in the lower tier of counties desire the road to be located through them, while the company wished to go further north in order to obtain more deficiency lands between the road and the Iowa line. The legislature in accepting the grant of lands, from Congress, imposed a condition that the road should go to these towns, which are Austin, Albert Lea and Blue Earth City. The company say that in being thus restricted, they will be compelled to abandon the construction of the road, further west than its present terminus, which is at Rushford. Whether honest or not in this announcement is yet to be determined.

MANKATO TO STATE LINE.

The charter granted to the Minnesota Valley Railroad to build a line of railway from Mankato to the southern State line, passing through Garden City and other towns including Blue Earth City, seems to meet with much favor from the citizens of the latter town. The Southwest deems it the most important scheme as yet contemplated to develope the southwestern portion of the State, and thinks it will be the first road to reach their doors. Taken in connection with the St. Paul and Lake Superior road, there can be no doubt that it will prove the cheapest and most direct eastern outlet. We are glad that the county of Faribault is turning its attention to this important connection. It will prove materially beneficial to every town on the line of the road, and its early accomplishment is more easily attained than a connection with the Southern Minnesota at La Crescent.

THE LATE SIOUX TREATY.

We hope for the honor of the nation that the infamous swindling treaty recently made with some straggling Sioux Indians, collected by Joe Brown for that purpose, will not be ratified by the Senate. It is a mammoth swindle and nothing else. For the honor of the State as well as for the credit of the Government, we hope that our Senators in Congress, will see to it, that this rascally scheme of plunder is defeated in the Senate. It is idle to talk of burdening the people with oppressive taxation to maintain the credit of the national and state Government, while Congress encourages such wholesale swindling as this treaty inaugurates. On our first page will be found a thorough expose of this proposed treaty, from the pen of Orville Brown of Faribault, to which attention is invited.

Congress.

It was expected that Congress would adjourn last Monday, but it seems in the practical working of the reconstruction law that there are some amendments necessary in order to prevent the President from an abuse of his power in appointing Generals who will throw their influence in favor of rebels. Senator Wilson has introduced a supplimental bill which meets the emergency, and as it will require ten days to receive the signature or veto of the President. Congress will not adjourn at present.

HAWKES' TRIAL.

The trial of Moses Hawks for the murder of his wife is taking place at St. Paul. Seven or eight days have been spent in taking testimony to show that the death, which occured from a pistol shot, while in the hands of Mr. Hawkes, was not accidental but premeditated by him. So far we think the evidence is not sufficient to hold him, but public sentiment seems quite suspicious of his guilt.

For the Mankato Union.

Holes and Patches

In the St Paul Press, of the 12th inst., I find the following passage:

"Fifty of the acts passed by this Legislature are amendatory to the General Statutes; fifty holes are torn in that beautiful garment, and fifty patches sewed thereon."

The re-visionary Committee, chief of whom was Judge Palmer and Gen. Cole, left such "holes" as the following—

Hole 1. They did away with Petit Larceny so that if a man stole a poodle-dog, or stole $50, the penalty was the same—imprisonment in the county jail not less than three months, or a fine of $300.

Hole 2. Sec. 140 of chapter 65, provides that in criminal jury trials before a justice, the Sheriff shall make a list of 24 electors; that each party shall strike out six names each, and that the remaining six shall be summoned as a jury.

Hole 3. In Sec. 34 of chap. 65, an error of the old statutes was left uncorrected, which makes one clause sheer nonsense; and so on ad libitum.

The present Legislature has no alternative but to "patch," or leave the holes sticking out like the fellow's well who dug for water on a sandy claim in Wisconsin, and in six months the wind blew the sand all away, and left the naked hole sticking up 20 feet!

Yours,

LEX.

VETO OF THE NORMAL SCHOOL BILL.

There has been no measure before the Legislature the past winter in which our people have felt so deep and lively an interest as that making provision for the erection of a State Normal School building at this place. And when the bill for that purpose was passed by both Houses of the Legislature by very large majorities, we all felt that the measure was secure. It never occured to us that the Governor of this State would veto a bill intended to promote the cause of education, upon the grounds of expediency alone. We believe that is the first instance where the Governor of a State when our Common School System has been adopted has ever pursued this course. It may possibly have been done in Mississippi or Florida, where the leading minds of the State are opposed to popular education, but we have never heard of a bill of this kind being vetoed in any of the northern States. More than all are we disappointed that Gov. Marshall should have vetoed this bill. Like Ex-Gov. Miller, our executive is very fond of speech making, and since he has been Governor he has seized upon every occasion, on rail-road excursions, and Legislative frolicks, to make display of his regard for the cause of education, and all these institutions which promote the moral well being of the State. Of course on these occasions as well as in his messages he has spoken in general terms, but he has always made these avowals with such apparent sincerity, that we really believed that he felt all that he expressed.

In the veto of the Normal School bill the Governor admits that the necessity exists for the establishment of these schools, and fully endorses the principles upon which they were proposed to be established, and adds, "I shall be glad when all these schools can be provided for consistantly, with the State's duty to other interests."

He vetoes this bill upon the ground of expediency alone, upon the simple consideration of dollars and cents, and in this we think he has taken a position which can not readily be sustained by reference either to reason or authority. The power of taxation and the appropriation of the public moneys is one which is especially given to the Legislative department of the State, and forms no part of the duties or functions of the Executive. But in attempting to sustain his action in this matter the Govenor has given the most puerile of all reasons for the course which he has seen fit to pursue. He says, "my view of the true policy of the State in regard to its institutions is, to do what our hands find to do to provide for the present. We can only provide for the future by taxing the future. I believe that it will be more satisfactory to the future to provide for itself and tax itself."

If any thing was ever communicated by a Governor to the Legislature of a State, which sounds more like the effusions of a school boy and less like the wisdom of the Statesman than the above extract from the veto message, we confess that we have never seen it. What! not legislate for the future? ye may have been deceived all the time, but we supposed that we had been legislating for the future ever since our organization as a State. What progress would we make? what fond hopes would we realize? To what future triumph could we look forward, if we were to be governed by the ignoble and selfish policy suggested by the Governor in his message. All efforts made by the State in behalf of education are for the benefit of the future. On the great and vital subject of education, to talk of legislating for the hour and leaving the future to take care of itself is to our mind too narrow and selfish a view for the Executive of any intelligent people to take.

But the Gov. calls upon the Auditor of State to help him out, and to furnish an additional justification for his opposition to this measure. No less weak than the message itself in the report of that officer. While it is admitted that by the terms of the bill, no more than $25,000 can be drawn from the treasury the present year, and $50,000 in 1868, $50,000 in 1869, and $25,000 1870, "the warrants," he says, "may be drawn on the treasury at once by the Auditor and issued to the State Normal School board, for the whole amount of the $150,000, thus creating a debt against the State for that amount at once. This is an excuse unworthy the officer who urges it, for it is based upon the supposition that both the officer who issues the warrants, and the School board who apply for them will act in open violation of the plain intent and meaning of the law. No, this is a miserable subterfuge not worthy of the Governor, even if it could be overlooked in the Auditor.

Again, Auditor McIlrath gravely informs the Governor, that by the issuance of his warrants for the whole amount contemplated by this bill, he can create an indebtedness against the State for the whole sum of $150,000, when the law expressly declares that the money shall not be drawn from the treasury before the year 1870. To a plain common sense mind this twaddle of the State Auditor is nonsense. The Auditor of State has no power to create an indebtedness against the State until by the terms of the law under which he pretends to act, the money may be drawn from the treasury to meet it. We say therefore that the report of the Auditor is simple nonsense.

By a reference to the annual report of the Auditor and Treasurer of State, it appears that for the past few years, the people have been taxed for the purpose of keeping a large fund idle in the hands of the Treasurer to fill the vaults of the First National Bank at St. Paul. The Treasurer in his annual report says that the ballance in the treasury Dec. 1, 1865, was $78,594.22, and the ballance on Dec. 1, 1866, was $65,350.41. This is a nice little sum of the people's money to bank upon, and it is not altogether surprising, that the officers who have charge of it, should regret to see it drawn from the treasury for the purpose of establishing permanent institutions for the education of the young.

While the Governor is opposed to taxing the people for the purpose of education he is willing and ever anxious to tax them for every thing else. In his annual message to the legislature, this high functionary recommended a large increase in the salaries of the Judges and State officers, and not only this he goes further and recommends the creation of a Sinking fund to the amount of several millions of dollars to pay the fraudulent Railroad Bonds which were obtained from the State by corruption and fraud, and that too, fifteen years before they are by the terms of the constitution made redeemable. Every extravagant act of the legislature increasing the expenditure of the State Government he has readily approved. He urges no objections to taxing the people except for the purpose of education.

We regret the action of the Governor in this important matter, and we are of the opinion that he will yet, upon a more full and careful review of this question, regret that he has placed himself in antagonism to so important a measure, as that which the Normal School bill was intended to foster.

For the Union.

ABOUT THIS AND THAT.

GOV. MARSHALL—An Executive, who in his great and simple-hearted desire "to be just to all," clogged the wheels of educational progress in two thirds of our State.

"LET THE FUTURE PROVIDE FOR ITSELF."—A political clap-trap of our very learned State Auditor, and echoed with seeming sincerity by our "present executive," whose rule contemplates being "just to all."

"WE CAN ONLY PROVIDE FOR THE FUTURE BY TAXING THE FUTURE."—A most remarkable utterance, which stamps its author as an economist of terribly enlarged views.

"BE JUST TO ALL."—Which literally means give to Winona all she asks, to railroad corporations, bond-holders, &c., all they may ask, but not one cent to Mankato and St. Cloud, for that would be legislating for the future.

QUERY?—Can any one tell us how State Auditor McIlrath, can live on a salary of $1,200 per year and pay $100 per month for board for himself and family at a first class hotel? Perhaps the answer to this may have something to do with his learned constitutional opinion against appropriating money to erect our Normal School building.

X.

THE COUNTY SEAT QUESTION.

EDITOR UNION:—Your correspondent at Garden City in replying to the Record, on the County seat question, is inclined to think that all that is now necessary to make that place a city of business and renown is to secure to it the location of the county seat. Every one will admit, that should the county seat be located there, Garden City will enjoy, what it never will without it, one or two good substantial buildings, but his pet ideal of a thriving business town, is rather visionary than real. If Garden City has not the elements of business and enterprise without the County Seat, it never can enjoy those elements with it. Business may make a county seat but the county seat can never make a flourishing business. His strongest argument in favor of removing the County Seat to Garden City, viz: its central geographical position, is really a positive argument against its removal. The county seat of every county should be located at its business metropolis—the center of its legal business.

The facilities for transportation will always invite capital; capital will increase buisness; and buisness will give rise to litigations. Law suits originate generally from some misunderstanding in business. The more business therefore a place enjoys the greater will be the number of its law suits. Mr. Welcome may imagine many stately private residences springing up at Garden City upon the removal of the County Seat to that place, but he will find that Mankato, having superior facilities for transportation the business capital will always retain the best professional lawyers and the greatest amount of legal business. Your correspondent wishes to invert the popular theory of locating county seats. Throughout the entire Union where a county lies contiguous to a navigable water course, the county seat is always located at the metropolis of the county on the water course. This is true of every county (lying on the Mississippi river,) from New Orleans to St. Cloud, From Cairo to Pittsburg. Perhaps Mr. Welcome's new theory of erecting two large cities in Blue Earth County, would work "like a charm," in killing both. Every farmer in the county has, and always will have, more or less business to transact in Mankato, which he can attend to while attending court, "killing two birds with one stone." Were the County seat removed his business would be divided. Mankato has now and always will have more legal business than all the balance of the county outside of it, and is therefore the practical if not the geographical center of the county, and is entitled to the county seat Garden City to the contrary notwithstanding.

RUSTICUS.

DESERVED COMPLIMENT

ST. PAUL, March 9th, 1867.

EDITOR UNION:—The ninth session of the Minnesota Legislature is numbered with the things that were. At 12 o'clock, yesterday noon, it adjourned sine die and to-day scarce an indication of the dignified body is visible. Quickly did the members hie to their homes when the hour arrived for adjournment, and a few doffed their legislative garb, pocketed their little stipend and departed for home and loved ones, even before the hour of adjournment came.

I do not propose to chronicle any particular acts of the session just closed, but as an outsider I desire to write a few complimentary words of your own delegation--not that your readers are unmindful or uninformed of their faithfulness, but to state that they are appreciated outside of Blue Earth county, and have established reputations alike, honorable to themselves and their constituents. No member of the Senate has left a better record than Hon. Lewis Porter. Always in his seat, always watching even the dullest details of legislation, always voting understandingly and right, never swerved from duty and justice, he has made a mark and established a reputation as a wise, faithful, true and honest Senator. If Blue Earth county has many such men, it must indeed be a desirable abiding place. Senator Porter never inflicts long speeches upon the Senate, but quietly goes straight forward in the path of duty, vigilant withal, in the interests of his constituents, and the public in general. In fact he is in every sense a safe legislator—Emphatically honest, a true and highminded gentleman.

Your Representatives, too, have proved themselves worthy of the confidence reposed in them, and were quick to discern wherein benefits might inure to their constituents. Capt. Reed was not absent from his seat for a single day during the entire session, and in the goodness of his soul the Cap is always to be found on the side of right and justice, truth and reform. In fact he would be a host in himself were it not for his puny frame and constitutional debility. Mr. Yates has been an efficient member and prompt to guard the interests of his people. He failed, however, to bring the House to time on the "fencing in" question.

In this communication I should come far short of doing full justice, did I not say a word in praise of the faithful and diligent Assistant Clerk of the House, Capt. Mark D. Flower of your town. At the opening of the session there were numerous candidates for the position, but he scooped them all, and I am yet to hear the first regret in the selection. He has been the hardest worked of the whole retinue of attaches, but he has performed these duties in a manner creditable to himself and satisfactory to all. He has gained many friends whose best wishes are with him.

ON STATU QUO.

PRINTING—PENALTY.

The Legislature has given the country press a little job. It consists of the publication of the general laws passed at the annual session of that body. We are to be paid fifteen cents per folio, which is about one-fifth the established rates. It leaves, however, a small margin over the cost of the type setting, and therefore the country press hail the work as a favor to the craft. When there are two papers in a county of opposite polities, each publish the laws, but when politically the same, the paper having the largest circulation will publish them. We hope to commence their publication next week.

The penalty of five per cent on taxes upon real estate, unpaid on the 1st day of March, was repealed on the last day of February, so that practically the law never went into effect. and persons who have paid such penalty are entitled to receive it back. A new law also gives 20 cents instead of 10 cents a description for publishing the delinquent tax lists. By this means an incentive is given tax payers to be prompt, and in default, the printer will be able to receive a better remuneration for his labor. Where contracts for printing the list have been made the contract price should be increased in the same ratio, as the law was passed for the benefit of publishers.

Reparator Capilli.

Throw away your false frizzes, your switches, your wig—
Destructive of comfort, and not worth a fig;
Come aged, come youthful, come ugly and fair,
And rejoice in your own luxuriant hair.

REPARATOR CAPILLI.

For restoring hair upon bald heads (from whatever cause it may have fallen out) and forcing a growth of hair upon the face, it has no equal. It will force the beard to grow upon the smoothest face in from five to eight weeks, or hair upon bald heads in from two to three months. A few ignorant practitioners have asserted that there is nothing that will force or hasten the growth of of the hair or beard. Their assertions are false, as thousands of living witnesses (from their own experience) can bear witness. But many will say, how are we to distinguish the genuine from the spurious? It certainly is difficult, as nine-tenths of the different Preparations advertised for the hair and beard are entirely worthless, and you may have already thrown away large amounts in their purchase. To such we would say, try the Reparator Cappilli; it will cost you nothing unless it fully comes up to our representations. If your Druggist does not keep it, send us one dollar and we will forward it, postpaid, together with a receipt for the money, which will be returned you on application, proving entire satisfaction is not given. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person.—She reads your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers unveils the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the malefic stars that overcome or predominate in the configuration—from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars in the heavens at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man. Fail not to consult the greatest Astrologist on earth. It costs you but a trifle, and you may never again have so favorable an opportunity. Consultation fee, with likeness and desired information, $1. Parties living at a distance can consult the Madame by mail with equal safety and satisfaction to themselves, as if in person. IMPORTANT TO STRANGERS.—Persons desiring a complete description and history of Blue Earth and Watonwan Counties, including Mankato, Garden City, Madelia and other towns, should call and obtain it in pamphlet form at the UNION Office and Smith & Humphrey's, Mankato; S. C. Clark & Son and S. C. Welcome, Garden City, and Yates Bros' Madelia. The best and cheapest means of conveying information concerning Southwestern Minnesota, which bears upon its past, present and future developement and natural resources, is the above pamphlet. Call and examine for yourselves.

—We have turned over the county seat question for this week to "Rusticus," to whose article elsewhere our readers are referred.

FENIAN BALL.—Recollect that the Fenian Ball takes place to-morrow (Saturday) night at Higgins' Hall. Hazen's band is secured for the occasion and a good time is expected.

COLD WEATHER.—It will be seen by our thermometrical record that the past week has been among the coldest of the season, and much colder than is usual for March. Maple sugar weather is postponed at least two weeks later than usual.

DEBATES.—The debate between Messrs. Hull and Pryse has been attended by tolerably full houses. The friends of either man think his opponent completely demolished. If they are as sharp as the weather has been during the lectures, both of them must be pretty badly cut to pieces, demoralized and scattered.

COUNTY BOARD.—A meeting of the Board of county commissioners was held on Tuesday and Wednesday last. The business consisted in allowing bills, forming school districts, and receiving the annual financial report &c. The bills for holding the inquest over the bodies of Liscom and Cambell, were audited. The entire cost of the inquest will exceed $600.

HO FOR MONTANA.—If you think of going to Montana, it is now time for you to begin to get your teams ready, or if you don't intend to take a team, you should enroll yourself at once at the Clifton House, so that provision can be made for you. You will find Kelly there to give you all information concerning teams and outfits. Capt. Davy is one of the best of commanders, and a friend to the stranger, and will furnish for $135 all you desire in crossing the plains and mountains. Hazen's band will furnish the music, and Neff & Fowler will give you fun in the bulletin, which they will publish on the route. Come and see Kelly at the Clifton.

ANOTHER BUSINESS HOUSE.—Mr. J. H. Howe recently of Faribault, has removed his family to this city preparatory to entering upon the mercantile business in the spring. Mr. Howe brings with him ample means to establish a first class store, and is one who believes in the future importance of Mankato. He proposes to stay with us until success crowns his efforts. Men of his strong faith are just the persons to welcome among us. In removing from Faribault the Republican of the place gives him the following complimentary notice:

"We understand that Mr. J. H. Howe, late of the New York Store, has decided to make Mankato his future residence, where he will continue the mercantile business. Mr. H. is an enterprising and active business man, and while in our place has built up a flourishing trade by liberal dealing with customers and a judicious use of printers' ink. We presume that the same means will inure to his success in his new locality.

OUR DELEGATION.—Senator Porter and Capt. John Reed, called on us Friday evening, upon their return home from the legislature. Mr. Yates and Mark D. Flower, also arrived on Saturday, the former en route for Madelia, and the latter to resume business at the "Clifton". These gentlemen have acquitted themselves with much credit during the legislative session, and return to receive the thanks of their constituency. Elsewhere will be seen a complimentay notice of these gentlemen which we can heartily endorse.

NOTICE.—The Republican Electors of Mankato township will assemble at the Office of the Clerk of the District Court in Mankato, on Saturday evening, the 16th inst., at 7½ o'clock for consideration upon suitable candidates for township officers, and other matters pertaining to the coming April township election.

By order of the township Committee.

Z. PADDOCK,
Chairman.

NOTE.—This meeting is intended for consultation only.

VILLAGE TRUSTEE MEEING.—At a meeting of the Village Board held March 13th, Mr. Jacob Bierbauer was permitted to take the water from the "big spring" where it enters Broad street, and turn the same into a ditch to be built of stone and covered, running on Broad street to Rock street, and down Rock street to the alley in block 124, and down the alley to Little Creek, to be used as a water power for his woolen mill. The Board reserves the right to use the water for public purposes. It was also resolved that the county be requested not to collect the village taxes for 1866 levied on public streets, commons, levies, and other public grounds as shown by Bruners & Folsom's survey, and that the tax be refunded to those who have paid the same. It was also resolved that all persons occupying or having situated any buildings or fence upon the commons or public grounds in Mankato are requested to move them. It was also resolved that $100 be charged as a license to auctioneers in pursuance of a recent act of the Legislature.

SABBATH SCHOOL CONVENTION.

A convention of minister's and Sunday School Superintendent's, representing Blue Earth and adjoining counties, was held in the first Presbyterian church, Mankato, on Friday and Saturday of last week.

In the afternoon of Friday, after a temporary organization and the preparation of a series of questions for consideration in the evening, the convention adjourned until 7½ o'clock P. M.

In the evening there was a good attendance. The first question discussed was "The best method of conducting a Sunday School." Mr. T. Nield opened the subject by giving an outline of the manner in which a School might be conducted without confusion or loss of time. The speaker incidentally recommended teachers not to encourage scholars in cramming their memories with scripture texts but to remember what they learned.

After a few remarks upon the same question by Mr. Seward, Judge Brown and Rev. T. Marshall, the convention proceeded to consider the second question. "The best method of conducting a bible class." The Rev. H. Cooper, of Blue Earth City, led, remarking upon the importance of prayer, and that the aim of the teacher should not be merely to impart instruction about bible character's, nor to inculcate favorite doctrines, but to lead souls to Jesus.

After a few other remarks by Mr. T. Nield, Judge Brown, Judge Cleveland, Rev. T. Marshall and Rev. R. Irwin, the third question was read. "Is any person holding fundamental error a fit Sabbath School Teacher; and what moral qualifications are essential?" The Rev. T. Marshall thought the teacher was in a measure as the parent of the scholar. When the child comes to school we are to teach it what we regard as truth. There are certain fundamental doctrines that all christians hold. These should be taught in every Sunday School. And teachers should be moral, not attending balls, saloons or similar places.

A few facts were stated by the Revs. R. Irwin, Barker (returned missionary from India,) and Ruliffson, showing the evil effects from allowing false doctrines to be taught in Sunday Schools, after which the convention adjourned.

Second day. The convention opened at 10 A. M., and had devotional exercises for half an hour, when the following question was introduced, considering the peculiar temptations of our youth to intemperance.

Resolved, That it is the duty of Sunday School Teachers to urge total abstinence upon their scholars." The Rev. T. Marshall opened by saying, the use of lager beer was winked at. But it was only the door through which people passed to rum and whiskey. Teachers ought to abstain themselves and not patronize in any way those who sold intoxicating drink.

Rev. Barker told of a narrow escape from being capsized through the drunkeness of their captain, while the vessel in which he sailed from India was off the cape of Good Hope.

Rev. H. Cooper thought there was some danger of our Sunday Schools being turned into temperance Societies. Yet he was in favor of temperance. Mr. T. Nield said, if "The Priest and Prophet erred through strong drink" in olden times and some of the great and good were ruined by it now, in what danger must the young be when exposed to its tempting influence. The young should be warned against it as their greatest enemy.

Judge Brown thought the church was injured by joining in so many moral reforms, and since no christian church made abstinence a test of membership, we should not enjoin it upon the young. Rev. T. Marshall knew of two churches that had such a test.

Rev. Ruliffson considered that if we urge the duty of keeping the Sabbath so we should of temperance.

Rev. T. Marshall said he knew no rumselling christian. If one became such he left the traffic. Therefore we should not patronize them.

Judge Brown said then we should not patronize a surveyor, who is a sinner.

Rev. T. Marshall replied, surveying did not make him a sinner.

Mr. Griswold, senior, added that, surveying did not have the same effect of rumselling upon the public.

The convention then adjourned.

In the afternoon a children's meeting was held, after which the convention was permanently organized, to meet again in Mankato, upon the first Tuesday in February 1868.

THE SANBORN CHURN.—We have been invited by Mr. Daniel Bunce to examine a new patent churn which is on exhibition at the Clifton House. We can only judge of its merits upon general principles, having had but little experience in butter making. It seems to us however that no patent has as yet given the public as much satisfaction as this one. It is turned by a crank and is adjusted with paddies inside, which both stir and cut the cream, and by changing the crank it is made to gather the butter nicely. Many of our citizens have examined the churn and pronounced it the best yet in use, and have ordered one for their own use. Among these gentlemen are Henry Shaubut Esq., one of the best farmers in the county, G. W. Fletcher, and T. R. Colson, book keeper in Marks' store, who carries on a farm in Nicollet county. Mr. Bunce is manufacturing these churns in Minneapolis and is taking large orders for spring sales. He will sell the right to manufacture in this county upon reasonable terms, confident that the merits of the churn will well repay the purchaser and manufacturer. He will be at the Clifton House a few days longer, and we advise those interested to call and see the churn.

FROM GARDEN CITY.

By Our Own Reporter.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—Mr. Benjamin Evans, of this place, received a kick from his horse on Saturday the 9th inst., which caused his death in about thirty hours. He was engaged in drawing logs for S. M. Folsom about 1½ miles from town, and about sundown, he loaded one log on to his sled and drove it up a hill a short distance and took his horses from his sled, and went back for another log, which he wished to draw, but on undertaking to hitch to it, one of his horses being a little ugly, Mr. Evans hit him a light blow with a stick, when the horse kicked him in the abdomen, knocking him some 8 or 10 feet upon the snow, where he lay about twenty minutes. He then roused up, hitched his horses to his sleigh and drove home. Upon arriving he told his wife he had received his last blow.—Dr. Welcome was sent for, but being absent, Case & Thurston were called who applied such remedies as they thought proper but without avail. Although there seemed to be no outward bruises, he was fatally injured inwardly. Sunday through the day and evening he conversed freely, and about half past ten o'clock, he raised himself in bed, arranged his pillow, then lay down and passed away as quietly as if going to sleep. Mr. Evans was 56 years and 10 months old, was a native of New Hampshire, and removed to this place in the spring of 1863. He has always been considered one of our best citizens, reserved in manners, peaceable and quiet, and always minding his own business. It has often been remarked of him that he was one of the most moral men in this country. In fact he was a man respected by all his townsmen.—He was a kind husband and father, and leaves a wife and two children, who, on account of this and other afflictions are entitled to the sympathies of all who have hearts to feel.

E. P. Evans, the only surviving brother of the deceased, arrived on Tuesday, the 12th inst., from the east, not having heard of his brother's death until he arrived at Mankato. Two years ago when his sister, Mrs. Jewett, was killed by the Indians he was returning from the east and arriving at Mankato he there learned of her death, and arrived in time to attend her funeral,—a coincidence worthy of remark. Mr. Evans will be buried Friday (to-day) at 12 o'clock noon, under the direction of the G. T. of which he was a worthy member.

☞To be very serious or very sad is inconsistent with good bodily health—the natural state of good health is a cheerful one. Sadness or low spirits, and melancholy of all kinds, are evidences of the loss of vigor in the life of glory with us—and the deadening causes of the gloom we experience must be driven out of the system, or the life within is overwhelmed with gloom and horrors. By all means then, preserve a cheerful tone of mind, and live long in good health and spirits by the use of Bryan's Life Pills, for there is purer nor more useful Medicine, and none which, for good health, can be taken with better effect. The Shivering Victims

Of Fever and Ague, who freeze to-day to burn to-morrow, might have been exempted from their present trials had they availed themselves in time of that safe-guard against all malarious diseases, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. But if it is too late for prevention it is not too late for cure. A single bottle of this irresistible herbal tonic will stop the paroxsysms, and a brief course of it will restore the patient to vigorous health. The prudent and thoughtful, however, who would rather forestall disease than wait for its assaults, will resort to this sure defence against intermittent and remittent fevers at the commencement of the season when they prevail. Now is the time to fore-arm the system against fever and ague, bilious complaints and dyspepsia—diseases which are often engendered, and always aggravated, by the chills and damps of Winter and early Spring.

SHAKESPEARE ON INTERMITTENTS.

The Bard of Avon tells us that the "Sun in March doth nourish Agues," and the remark is as true now as it was three hundred years ago. But fortunately, in these modern days March Agues can be prevented. Hostetter's Bitters, in a single week, will put the system in a condition to resist every species of intermittent fever. Or, if there is a predisposition to biliousness or dyspepsia, this unequaled regulator and invigorant will just as certainly prevent that. All the disorders common to the season of fogs and frosts may be held in abeyance by this potent antidote. They may also be ejected from the system, after they have made a lodgement there, by its persevering use. It is therefore moral insanity for any family to be without it.

IT'S ALL ONE TO ME.

Oh 'tis all one to me, all one,
Whether I've money or whether I've none.
He who has money can buy him a wife,
And he who has none can be free for life.
He who has money can trade if he chose,
And he who has none has nothing to lose.
He who has money has cares not a few,
And he who has none can sleep the night through.
He who has money can squint at the fair,
And he who has none escapes from much care.
He who has money can go to the play,
And he who has none at home can stay.
He who has money can travel about,
And he who has none can do without.
He who has money can be coarse as he will,
And he has none can be coarser still.
He who has money can drink the best wine,
And he who has none with the gout will not pine.
He who has money the cash must pay,
And he who has none says, charge it I pray.
He who has money must die some day,
And he who has none must go the same way.
Oh tis all one! to me, all one,
Whether I've money or whether I've none.

The Famine in South Carolina.

The following appalling facts are given in an editorial of the Evening Post of monday last:

The Southern Famine Relief Commission, of which Mr. James M. Brown, 61 Wall street is treasurer, has received many letters from South Carolina, all of which agree in representing the scarcity of provision in that State as being of the most serious character. It extends over nearly the whole State, and unless relief be given, nothing can prevent absolute starvation among the poorer classes, while a large number of the planters and farmers will be left without seed for the next crop.

Governor Orr writes that the destitution is so great and severe that five hundred thousand busheles of corn are estimated to be needed to feed the people, over and above all that can be obtaininied within the State. Colonel William Nettles, a gentleman of high standing in Sumpter district, has been in this city with bonds signed by about seventy-five planters, in which they pledge their next cotton crop as security for about forty thousand dollars worth of corn and bacon. He could find no one to take his bonds, and has left the city, after obtaining two thousand bushels of corn from the Commission for the relief of the very poor of his district, saying that unless he could find some persons in some other city to make the necessary advances, he did not see how it would be possible for the planters of Sumpter district to put in their seed the present season.

A similar statement comes from the most prominent men in Lancaster district of the same State, who offer to mortgage their real estate as security for corn and bacon needed to supply the wants of the people until another harvest can be gathered in.

Representations of the same character come from Richland, Greenville, Darlington and Greenwood districts; and it is believed that at least one hundred thousand people, one-quarter of the population of the whole State of South Carolina, are now in absolute need of provisions; and if relief is not given, the number must increase every week until July.

Congress has placed at the disposal of the Secretary of the Navy a national vessel to carry supplies to the South; and it is to be hoped that the kindly-disposed people of this city and the Northern States will make it possible for the Commission to fill every available square foot of her space with the means of saving human beings from death, and enabling the husbandman to put seed into the earth for another harvest. But what is done should be done without delay.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, March 6, 1867.

The Republican caucus this evening was largely attended, about one hundred and twenty members being present. Mr. Banks presided, and Mr. Ferry, of Michigan, was Secretary. The session was earnest and lively, but in the main harmonious. Mr. Covode offered a resolution creating a committee of thirteen, to be appointed by the Speaker, of which the present Judiciary Committee should form a part, to prosecute the impeachment investigation. The resolution passed, instructing the Judiciary Committee, when appointed, to proceed with the investigation of the charges against the President, and to sit during the recess of Congress.

On motion of Mr. Stevens, it was agreed, by eighty to thirty-seven, that when Congress takes a recess it will be to meet on the eighth day of May, for the purpose of hearing the report of the Judiciary Committee acting thereon, and also to perform such legislation as may then be necessary. The resolutions were then passed—56 to 54—to take a recess on Monday next till the 8th of May. The scheme covered by the Covode resolution was broached in a caucus of about twenty Republicans this morning, Butler being the head man in the matter. It failed in this body, however, and the result to-night is considered a most signal defeat for Butler.

INDIAN SETTLEMENT IN NEBRASKA.

Returns of the survey of the southern part of the Omaha Indian Reservation, situated on the Missouri river, in the extreme part of Nebraska, have been received by the Commissioner of the General Land Office, showing that the Omaha Reservation has been divided into the northern and southern portions, under the treaty of March 6th, 1865. The former has been sold to the United States, and is to be occupied by the Winnebagos, and the latter by the Omahas, to be possessed in severalty assigning to each head of a family one hundred and sixty acres, and to each male person, sixteen years of age and upwards, a tract not exceeding forty acres. White persons are not allowed to reside on the reservation, except such as are in the employ of the United States, without written permission of the Superintendent of Indian Affairs or Special Agent of the reservation. The allotment of land to the Omahas will be made for the exclusive use and benefit of themselves and heirs. Said tracts shall not be alienated by lease or otherwise disposed of except to the United States, or to other members of the tribe.

Large amounts of wheat are being shipped from San Francisco to New York. The price when shipped is $1.65 per bushel for No. 1, and the freight is about the same as the railroad charges from Chicago to the East.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU and Improved Rose Wash cures secret and delicate disorders in all their stages, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience and no exposure. It is pleasant in taste and odor, immediate in its action, and free from all injurious properties.

☞ A YOUNG LADY returning to her country home, after a sojourn of a few months in the City; was hardly recognised by her friends. In place of a coarse; rustic, flushed face, she had a soft ruby complexion of almost marble smoothness, and instead of twenty-three she really appeared but eighteen. Upon inquiry as to the cause of so great a change, she plainly told them that she used the Circassian Balm, and considered it an invaluable acquisition to any Lady's toilet. By its use any Lady or Gentleman can improve their personal appearance an hundred fold. It is simple in its combination, as Nature herself is simple, yet unsurpassed in its efficiency in drawing impurities from, also healing, cleansing and beautifying the skin and complexion. By its direct action on the cuticle it draws from it all its impurities, kindly healing the same, and leaving the surface as Nature intended it should be, clear, soft, smooth and beautiful. DR. SCHENCK'S
PULMONIC SYRUP.

This great medicine cured Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, the Proprietor, of Pulmonary Consumption, when it had assumed its most formidable aspect, and when speedy death appeared to be inevitable. His physicians pronounced his case incurable when he commenced the use of this simple but powerful remedy. His health was restored in a very short time, and no return of the disease has been apprehended, for all the symptoms quickly disappeared, and his present weight is more than two hundred pounds.

Since his recovery, he has devoted his attention exclusively to the cure of Consumption and the diseases which are usually complicated with it, and the cures effected by his medicines have been very numerous and truly wonderful. Dr. SCHENCK makes professional visits to several of the larger cities weekly, where he has a large concourse of patients, and it is truly astonishing to see poor consumptives that have to be lifted out of their carriages, and in a few months healthy, robust persons. DR. SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEAWEED TONIC, and MANDRAKE PILLS are generally all required in curing Consumption. Full directions accompany each, so that any one can take them without seeing Dr. SCHENCK, but when it is convenient it is best to see him. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer his fee is three dollars.

Please observe, when purchasing, that the two likenesses of the Doctor—one when in the last stage of Consumption, and the other as he now is, in perfect health—are on the Government stamp.

Sold by all Druggists and Dealers. Price $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 the half dozen. Letters for advice should always be directed to Dr. Schenck's Principal Office, No. 15 North 6th St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Are more frequently than otherwise caused by a thick, slimy mucous, falling from the head, especially during the night, and resulting from Catarrh, and are cured by

Dr. SEELYE'S
LIQUID

SYMPTOMS.

The symptoms of Catarrh are at first very slight. Persons find they have a cold, that they have frequent attacks, and are more sensitive to the changes of the temperature. In this condition the nose may be dry, or a slight discharge thin and acrid, afterwards thick and adhesive, may ensue.

As the disease becomes chronic, the discharges are increased in quantity and changed in quality; they are now thick and heavy, and hawked or coughed off. The secretions are offensive, causing a bad breath; the voice thick and nasal; the eyes are weak; the sense of smell is lessened or destroyed; deafness frequently takes place.

Another common and important symptom of Catarrh is, that the person is obliged to clear his throat in the morning of a slick or slimy mucous, which has fallen from the head during the night. When this takes place, the person may be sure that his disease is on its way to the lungs, and should lose no time in arresting it.

The above are but a few of the many Catarrhal symptoms. Write to our Laboratory for our pamphlet describing fully all symptoms; it will be sent FREE to any address. Also directions where to procure the medicine.

We are receiving letters from all parts of the Union, and also numerous testimonials from those using it, bearing the evidence of its infallible merits;

☞ This remedy contains no MINERAL or POISONOUS INGREDIENTS, but is prepared from vegetable extracts EXCLUSIVELY; therefore it is PERFECTLY HARMLESS, even to the most tender and delicate child ☜

FLORENCE
SEWING MACHINE CO.
100 WASHINGTON ST., CHICAGO.
Wm. H. SHARP & CO.,
GENERAL AGENTS.

THE FLORENCE is the only machine extant having a reversible feed, which enables the operator to sew either to the right or left at pleasure, and the only machine that makes a perfectly elastic seam, alike on each side of the fabric.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE not only makes the lock-stitch, but three others, which for certain kinds of work are much superior, especially where elasticity is required and is the only machine that fastens the ends of each seam securely, and does it in one-fourth the time it can be done by hand.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE, does not draw fine, thin goods down through the slot or hole in the work-plate, nor drop a stitch in turning a corner, and is the only machine having a changeless tension, and no slack threads both of which draw together simultaneously.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE is noiseless, and can be used when quiet is necessary as well in the sick-chamber as in the workroom. They oil no dresses, the machinery being all on the top of the table. It will sew over the heaviest seams, or from one to more thicknesses of goods, without skipping stitches, breaking threads or requiring change in tension.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE will do easily all family and tailoring work on one and the same machine. They are strong and finely finished,—their motions are all positive, there are no springs to get out of order.—white for strength, durability & beauty of design it will bear, and we invite, comparison, with any or all machines.

AMERICAN ORGANS.

(From "Godey's Ladies' Book," February, 1866.)

REED ORGANS, &c.

THE following remarks and suggestions relative to this immensely popular instrument will doubtless interest and profit very many of our readers: we commend the article to their careful perusal:—

A hundred and one makers of Organs, Cottage, Parlor Cabinet, American, School Organs etc etc, are each claiming to make the best instrument in the world. Being comparatively a new instrument, as at present constructed, we are convinced the public are much less capable of judging of its merits, or demerits, than of most other instruments. If there is really an essential difference in them, if there are some worthless ones, the public should have some criterion for judging of them, some facts which will enlighten them. We cheerfully concede the space for this article, knowing that there is hardly a family, or church, or school in all the land, but is more or less interested in this topic. We are also aware of its being a great misfortune, a real calamity, to any of them to purchase an inferior or worthless Organ, ruinous to good playing, and often a source of much annoyance and vexation. We know this article to emanate from a candid and intelligent source, and thus we give it to our readers.

The question is often asked, what are "reed organs? We answer, they are, in most cases nothing in the world but the old melodeon in disguise. Many of the so called Organs have the same bellows, the same reeds, and the same general internal arrangement. With the bellows turned on edge to gain room, they have simply put on a more pretentious exterior and a more high sounding name. But an organ to be in reality an organ, must have a wind chest or reservoir for air separate from the bellows, into which wind chest the reeds open and the tone has room to expand and perfect itself into the full round tone, similar to the flute or pipe organ, even, smooth firm and mellow; and this tone from reeds cannot be obtained in any other way known. Nothing so annoys a true organist as to have the volume of sound swelling and jerking spasmodically with every variation of force on the bellows or air-passages, instead of a wind- or sound box. And yet some makers even go so far as to claim this spasmodic or an omatic jerking of the bellows or the reeds as an excellence, just as though they did not know that it must soon throw the reeds out of tune, and injure the bellows; and as though it were not an easier matter to obtain a much better and more easily managed swell by other methods. The truth is, any organ so called, or melodeon which has the wind acting directly upon the reeds, is nothing more or less than a huge accordeon, disguise it as you may. And when organists and true musicians become aware of the fact that they can obtain those that are organs in fact as well as in name they will buy no more of the objectionbel ones. Then again the swell should always be separate and distinct from the bellows, so as not to be acted on by the hand, or soft blowing, but convenient, so that the player can use it with the knee, separate from the hands or feet, and thus always under easy control, to be used ad libitum.

The large divided bellows, or double bellows, is also a very important improvement—By this means not only can the wind be supplied more evenly, but with far greater ease to the performer, from the fact that either bellows alone will be sufficient for the lighter melodies, thus permitting the player to change about and rest the feet at will; then, if the bellows is of a requisite large size, and having the wind chest or reservoir, all will be well—As to the reeds, they must be scientifically tuned and voiced, or all the other good qualities in the world cannot produce a good toned instrument. The inquiry now very naturally arises, where can the organ be procured combining all these essential and desirable qualities? There is only one possessing these points and that is the AMERICAN ORGAN made by S. D. & H. W. SMITH, of Boston, SIBERIA OTT Wholesale Agent, 581 Broadway, New York. These organs have a wind chest extending the whole length of the instrument, and so constructed as to act at the same time as a reverberating sound box of board and having the same important relation and part to perform that the sounding board has to the piano This feature the makers have patented, and to it are owing in a great measure the entirely unequaled fullness and richness of tone so highly prized by all who have used these organs. They also have the largest and best divided bellows in use, which is another important feature. No part of their work is slighted no expense or pains spared to make the American Organs perfect musically, as well as mechanically, and, judging from the immense sale of them at present, they bid fair to long maintain the proud position they have won by superior merit alone. We would most heartily advise all interested to call upon or address MR SIBERIA OTT, the Wholesale Agent, at No. 581 Broadway, New York, and can assure them he will, in the most gentlemanly and faithful manner, impart to them all the information they may desire relative to this truly delightful instrument.

FENIAN NEWS FROM IRELAND.

DUBLIN, March 10.

A band of Fenians, which was previously reported to have taken possession of the barracks at Kitteel, in Kildare, have been dispersed by the troops.

The insurgents made an attack on the barracks at Mount Melick, and were repulsed. Two of the attacking party were shot.

The rebels are said to have assembled, to the number of 3,000, in the neighborhood of Aberlais Abbey. Troops have been sent out to disperse them.

The existence of the Fenian Council, which has been secretly in session in this city has been discovered and its members have been arrested by the police. General Burke one of the Fenian leaders in the South, has been captured at Tipperary.

LONDON, March 9—Noon.

It is reported from Ireland to-day that tranquility is restored throughout the Province of Leinster, and there has been no recent disturbance in the county of Kerry, the scene of the abortive outbreak of last month.

DUBLIN, March 9.

A dispatch from Waterford states that the Galty Mountains, are swarming with Fenians, and it is feared that an attack will be made on the town of Tipperary, the inhabitants of which are disaffected and strongly disposed to help them.

LONDON, March 9—p. m.

The official despatches received from Ireland say that loads of arms have been discovered and seized by the military, and that this fact seems to confirm the report that the rising of the Irish has failed to be general.

LONDON, March 9—Eve.

Despatches from Dublin state that small bands of Fenians are patrolling the counties of Cork, Waterford, Tipperary and Limerick, pressing people into the ranks, and committing robberies everywhere. Taverns in the city of Cork have to be closed every evening at dusk.

Stephens is still in Paris.

DUBLIN, March 9—Eve.

A dispatch from Waterford reports the Fenians have appeared in force at Devil's Bit Mountain, Tipperary County. Troops with artillery have been sent to dislodge them. The result is yet unknown.

The insurgents muster in strong force, particularly in Tipperary County. No bands have as yet appeared in the county of Wicklow, and the town of Wicklow is quiet.

Reports from Drogheda say that there is no further disturbance there up to this hour.

Twelve of the foremost of the rebel leaders have been captured and are held at the police barracks at Kilteet in the county of Kildare.

LONDON, March 12.

The Fenian bands in Ireland have all been dispersed. The entire country is tranquil. The authorities have good reason to fear another rising and have taken measures to frustrate it.

DUBLIN, March 12—Eve.

Arrests of Fenians are being made in all parts of the country, and large quantites of arms seized by the police.

A despatch from Cork states that a detachment has been sent in pursuit of a large number of insurgents who are reported to have gathered in the vicinity of Mallow Junction, an important railway centre in the County of Cork.

Dr. Livingstone, the Explorer.

Hardly any death could have been announced from abroad which would cause more regret than that of the enterprising African explorer, who is reported by the cable to have been killed by the Caffres. He was born in Glasgow, Scotland, in 1815, and, like Hugh Miller, gained the rudiments of knowledge while working for his bread. For nine years preceding 1834 he was a cotton spinner. Having won a medical and theological education, he sailed for Cape Town in 1840, and spent some years with the Bechuanas. In 1849 he reached Lake Ngami, via the Bakalihari desert but failed in an attempt to revisit in 1850. The next year he visited the Zambesi. In 1853 he started on his great northern tour, visited the Makololos, and reached Loanda in 1854.

The next year he followed the Zambesi to Quilimane, on the Indian ocean, and completed a journey of more than nine thousand miles, never before traveled by white man. He reached England in 1856, and published an account of his travels.

In 1859 he traveled to the Zambesi, and explored it in the hope of planting cotton culture along its banks, destroying slavery, and making a market for British manufactures. His record of adventure in this expedition has quite recently been published. The attempt in which he is said to have lost his life, was undertaken with a view to explore a route from Southern Africa northward by the interior, and great expectations were placed on what he would do.

With no more knowledge than we have, it is reasonable to suppose that after having escaped every form of fever the attacks of wild beasts, and the most venomous serpents, the hostility of slave traders along the coast, and of the savages of the interior, he has fallen a victim to the malice of a tribe which has constant communication with the coast, and which he had visited before. No one has done more for the geography of Africa, or for science and religion there, and he cannot be readily replaced. His accounts of his travels were written with much force and perspicacity, and will continue valuable records when the falls of the Nyanza are visited like those of Niagara, and Ngami is disturbed by steamboats.—Phil. North American.

POLITICS AT THE SOUTH.

The Time's special says two distinct parties are at work in every Southern State to organize conventions under the reconstruction bill. The Union men say, however, that the disqualifications of the reconstruction bill are not complete enough to insure the safety of the Union cause, as many men now in office will be able to take the present oaths and secure re-election. In Georgia there is a thorough organization of the freedmen, and Gov. Brown's party has joined forces with them. In South Carolina, Mississippi, Alabama, Florida, Louisiana and Texas, organizations are not so complete, but their ramifactions are being rapidly extended throughout every county. On the other hand, the class who fill the officers at present are also organized.

The News.

The Commissioner of the General Land Office has ordered the restoration to market of the 795,225 acres of land heretofore withheld on account of the Lake Superior & Mississippi Railroad.

In a bill passed at the last Congress, Section three allows the commutation of rations at cost prices on the settlement of the accounts of all enlisted men of the army, navy and marine corps, who died while held as prisoners of war in the rebel States, or who, having been so held, have died or may die subsequent to release, to be paid on order to the widow, children, parents, brothers and sisters.

It is stated on excellent authority, that the President has, after a long interview with General Grant and the Secretary of War, decided upon the following commanders under the Reconstruction Act: General Schofield for Virginia; Sickles for North and South Carolina; Thomas for Georgia, Florida and Alabama; Sheridan for Louisiana and Texas; and Ord for Mississippi and Arkansas.

Speaker Colfax and Representatives Orth and Julian were the Republicans of the Indiana delegation in the last Congress who declined the President's invitation to a state dinner.

The Georgetown Common Council are making an investigation relative to the recent election in that city. It comes up on the charge of some defeated candidate that the majority polled a large number of illegal negro votes. What the result will be is not yet clear.

The sentiment in favor of a recess till fall is increasing in Congress rapidly, and there is no doubt that a majority of the House are now opposed to reassembling again in May. The probabilities are that as soon as the Southern Enabling Act has become a law, an adjournment will take place to some date near the end of October, with the hearty concurrance of three fourths of the Republicans in Congress.

"ARTEMUS WARD" has directed, in his will, that his property, after the death of his mother, shall go toward the erection of an asylum for printers.

The New Hampshire election, last week Tuesday, resulted in the success of Gen. Walt. Harriman, Republican candidate for Governor, by about two thousand less majority than the present Governor received one year ago. The Republican candidates for Congress are elected by about 1,000 majority each.

Gen. Thomas Francis Meagher is still in Montana territory, no longer as Secretary and acting Governor, but as a private citizen, largely interested in developing the mineral resources of that country, He has every prospect of becoming a millionaire through the extraordinary success of some mines in which his interests are large.

NEW YORK, March 13.—The Herald's Vera Cruz letters of March second, state that 16,000 French troops had sailed for France up to that date. Great preparations were being made to defend the city after the French had left it. It is said that Max will expose Napoleon's intrigue against the United States.

A new weekly publication of the feminine gender is to be undertaken in New York. It will be owned and managed in every department, mechanical as well as editorial, exclusively by the ladies. Two female phonographic reporters from London have been imported to do the city reporting. The editorial staff is to consist of Mrs. Ann S. Stephens, Mrs. Calhoun, Mrs. Croly, Mrs. Parton, and Mrs. Terhune. Miss Olive Logan will be dramatic critic, and Anna Dickinson foreign correspondent. It will be gossipy, no doubt.

The Grand Army of the Republic hold a State Convention at Davenport, Iowa, April 10th.

About 100 towns in Illinois have got city charters at the late Legislature, all with different provisions.

Wm. S. King, of Minneapolis, has been elected Postmaster of the House of Representatives—a position he has held for two terms before.—Atlas.

Political Affairs in New Orleans.

NEW YORK, March 11.—The New York Times, Washington special gives the situation in New Orleans prior to Friday last, prohibiting the election: There being indications of a riot, General Sheridan made all necessary preparations to meet and suppress any disturbance. He has forwarded two batteries of artillery and a battallion of cavalry, together with Generals Mower, Kautz and Baldy Smith, in the city, ready to take part in any hostilities. The trouble originated in the fact that Governor Wells recognized the Reconstruction Bill, considered the State Government reduced to a Provisional Government, and himself to be Military Governor only. The municipal authorities, however, did not recognize this change, inasmuch as the Reconstruction Bill has not yet been received in official form, and Mayor Munroe and Chief of Police Adams ordered the police to obey no orders not issued by themselves. An election for City Councilmen was to take place on Monday, and Governor Wells, in his proclamation, ordered that the freedmen enfranchised under the Reconstruction Bill should vote, and the class disfranchised should not vote. Here was an opportunity of a re-enactment of the former riots, but Sheridan's order postponing the election until the District Commander is appointed under the Reconstruction Bill, or special instructions covering the case are received, has restored order.

State University.

The annual report of the Board of Regents of the State University, recently laid before the Legislature, contains some statements in regard to that institution which show that there is still a reasonable probability of its being placed upon a successful working basis. The Regents indulge the hope that, after the last debt shall have been cancelled, not only "the buildings and adjacent land will be retained," but of the lands already set apart and confirmed to the State, at least 34,000 acres will be saved for the University, and it is thought that within a score of years those lands will be worth $340,000. For the past six or eight years the condition and prospects of the University have been hopeless, but it is hoped that this exhibition of its finances will cause it to be looked upon by the friends of the institution with all the more pleasure. The State University, as most of our readers know, is established at St. Anthony, where it has a capacious and imposing edifice, judiciously arranged, structure of stone, erected upwards of ten years ago.—Winona Rep.

DEFE TIVE PAG

The Mankato Union.

FRIDAY, - - - MARCH 22, 1867.

W. B. GRISWOLD, - Editor and Pro'r.

MOSES A. HAWKES.

The Hawkes trial at St. Paul was concluded last Thursday, after a session of eight days. Justice Lambert decided that, although the evidence might not convict, yet there was sufficient to warrant him to hold Mr. Hawkes for trial at the next term of the District Court. He attempts to obtain bail but so far we believe he has been unsuccessful. Whether guilty of murder or not, he certainly is guilty of criminal negligence in cleaning a pistol with a loaded barrel pointed toward his wife.

A man that has no more forethought than that, must certainly be either a fool or a villian and is a fit subject either for the Insane Asylum or the State Penitentiary. The court which held him for trial will be sustained by public opinion, whether he be acquitted or convicted upon trial.

HULL AND HIS MIRACLES.

In the last issue of the Record appeared an article from the pen of Rev (?) Moses Hull, a spiritualist lecturer, who has been spending a couple of weeks in this place. It was mostly devoted to an attack upon the UNION concerning our refusal to allow any more controversy upon spiritualism through our columns until we "survived our present disgust for it," and upon an article in which we promised conditionally to become a spiritualist. He thinks us worse than a Pagan ruler, because we would not permit the religion of six millions of persons to be defended through our columns. His loud groan of disappointment, and accusation of our religious proscription, is extremely flattering to us. We did not presume that the columns of the UNION were so very valuable, and of such wide spreading influence that a denial of their use would cause such a terribly sour stomach as the effusion of Moses the Third indicates. He must have been either woefully addle headed, or dishonest if he did not know and admit that the spiritualists were first to demand and the first to receive a hearing at our hands, and that we had warned their leading member that the discussion must close. Of course his next best course to pursue was, like "Jack at a pinch"—to engage a paper of inferior parts, which at their bidding took particular pains to reiterate their mournful lamentation of religious proscription, by announcing that the UNION, cruel journal of pagan proclivities, had left six millions of persons out in the cold of a frosty morning, and coming cross lots and crying they found at the Record office a friend indeed, overflowing with the milk of human kindness. If Mr. Hull complains at the treatment spiritualists have received at our hands most any convicted criminal might with equal propriety complain of being hung.

He says of our promise to become a spiritualist:

> "Does Mr. G. become a believer or disbeliever at will? If so he is safe in promising to believe on certain conditions. If not his promises only show his ignorance of the laws regulating the matter."

Now this is just as clear as mud. We propose to become a spiritualist upon satisfactory evidence, and not simple at will as Mr. Hull foolishly and erroneously concludes from our statement. We believe any principle, or theory, or statement, upon such evidence as is rational, whether it be oral, written or physical. But Mr. Hull has got the cart before the horse in presuming that the will cannot control the man, for a man "convinced against his will is of the same opinion still." The will is an element in the support of any belief, and yet it is unworthy a man professing common sense, to presume that its caprice alone overrides all rational proof upon a given subject. But what was Mr. Hull's mission here? It is conceded that he came to make converts to spiritualism. To do this he presents his points and asks the people if they will believe them. This involves an exercise of the will, and yet he berates us for doing just what he asks of others. We agreed to become a spiritualist when all spiritualists understand their religion alike, and when he should perform an Apostolic miracle upon the arm of Mr. Kelly. We simply asked for this evidence of the faith that is within them. Mr. Hull says we are a christian, and that christians do not believe alike, and hopes the land will be cursed with infidelity rather than see the day when all shall agree, even upon the most vital issues of our eternal welfare. We may here first observe that we are neither a Christian, Pagan, or Spiritualist in the strict sense of these terms, and are therefore competent as a neutral to judge of the various theories submitted to the public. Mr. Hull does not wish the world to agree. It would be a curse to the earth greater than infidelity. Why then does he desire to convert the world to spiritualism? Why his anxious desire to see the day when his favorite themes shall be universally adopted and the christian religion dethroned? Why his enthusiasm to be in the front rank to crush out all other opinions, and obtain the unanimous verdict of the people in favor of spiritualism? Why willing to fall in the glorious cause of bringing a blind, bigoted, deluded and pitiable generation, to a correct knowledge of themselves and their God? In such a case we should all agree, hence be is laboring mind and might to curse the world with a harmony of opinion upon the subject of religion—a crime according to Hull's code, committed by Hull, convicted upon Hull's evidence and the penalty of which he now suffers in the miserable dilemma he has unwittingly placed himself. Again, only one religious theory is correct. If the human family are divided in their opinions, a portion must sooner or later suffer a disappointment, and perhaps the loss of eternal happiness. But even this is no curse compared with a universal harmony of ideas. War is better than peace, wrangling to be preferred to brotherly love, and a portion of God's creatures only are to understand his designs correctly. Such are the views of Mr. Hull.

Infidelity is Mr. Hull's preference, however, because he is an infidel himself. He attempts to prove that the power of Christ to perform miracles is a phenomenon common to men not only of that age but of this, and professes to be clothed with such power himself. To convince the people that such phenomena are common to men, he must make the miracles of Christ, and those of himself, so far harmonize as not to be dissimilar to each other. To do this he traduces biblical history, calling the statements in the new testament of Christs most wonderful works lies, because the people, then as now, were addicted to lies, and then lies himself in his attempt to elevate his own performances to the dignity of miracles preformed in the Apostolic age. He accuses us of deceiving by not telling the whole in reference to Mr. Kelly's arm. Our reputation for veracity will suffer none in his hands, for we can prove by the columns of the Record that he has made a wilful and grossly erroneous statement, and by other sources that other statements in the Record are equally false. A man who lays the charge of deception without proof, and leaves his own tracks so clearly uncovered, will not disturb the reputation of his honest neighbors. He says that not only his fingers wiggle but his whole arm moves with almost if not quite as much vigor as ours. If any one will take the pains to see Mr. Keily they will find his arm almost if not quite as useless as ever, and so far from being cured is it, that he carries it in his pocket, and his other hand is used to move the disabled member from one position to another. No greater deception could be practiced upon a credulous public, than the announcement in the Record that Mr. Kelly's arm moved with vigor. Another glaring misstatement is that the dead hand has set type. This lie is nailed by his own witness, but as it is customary for Mr. Hull to impeach his own testimony, where it does not promote his ends, this is not to be wondered at. In a card published in the Record by Mr. Kelly, he says that he can hold a composing stick on this lame hand and set type with the OTHER—not with the cured hand, as Mr. Hull represents. The intention to deceive is most palpable in Mr. Hull, while the statements of Mr. Kelly are much nearer the truth, but are as highly colored as truth would justify, and published as a compensation to Mr. Hull for services rendered. Mr Kelly's arm was paralyzed by a poisoned arrow, and by a vigorous rubbing of the arm, so severe that it caused great and almost incessant pain, persevered in for several days, the arm commenced to do his bidding. This was not unnatural, and it only differs from galvanism in this, that the electricity is developed by friction and not by chemical processes. But the electricity immediately becomes inactive as soon as friction ceases, and for this reason Mr. Kelly's arm has not been materially improved. But the nub of the issue is whether by this instance of spiritual agency, he has given proof that the power he possesses, to perform miracles, is identical in kind with that possessed by Christ and his Apostles. Christ healed by the laying on of hands, and not by developing electricity by friction. Virtue went out of him simply by touching the hem of his garment. A multitude of five thousand was fed from five loaves and two fishes. Lazarus was raised, if not from death, from a condition beyond the reach of human skill. Water was turned into wine. These are only a few instances of the miraculous power of Christ, and if the restoration performed on Mr. Kelly's arm is a fair specimen of modern miraculous phenomena, and deemed worthy of publication to the world as such, it bears about the same significance to Christ's miracles, that a toad stool does to Bunker Hill monument. Failing to establish his theory, let Mr. Hull either admit the distinction between Christ's power and his own, or let him brand biblical history as a badge of lies, we care not which. We have no desire to impugn the motives of those of our readers who claim to be spiritualists, nor to argue any point in their religious belief not involved in the communication of Mr. Hull, but we ask them to decide for themselves, whether the story of Mr. Kelly's recovery is'nt a pretty huge sell to those not acquainted with the facts, and a shaky foundation upon which to base a religious belief.

THE COUNTY SEAT QUESTION.

A week from next Tuesday is the day fixed by law for the people of Blue Earth County to decide where they will locate the County jail It is expected that their decision upon this question will decide the location of the Court house and county seat also. This does not necessarily follow, though it might be difficult to retain the county seat long at Mankato, if the jail should be located at an other place. One thing is certain, if the jail is located elsewhere, the contest for the county seat will be all the fiercer and possibly involve the county in the expense of finally building another jail here. People are sometimes bent on achieving a victory regardless of expense. The contest which immediately concerns us, however is upon the location of the jail, and its nature should be well understood. The Grand Jury of the county has pronounced the present jail a nuisance, and passed a resolution demanding of the County Board a new one. The Judge of the District Court joins in the demand. The jail must be built, the law authorizes the commissioners to issue the bonds, and the Grand Jury insist that they shall exercise the power, and it is their desire so to do. Where shall we build it? The county seat is at Mankato, It is not removed by locating the jail elsewhere, and if by possibility the jail should be located elsewhere, a temporary jail must be provided here to accommodate criminals during the terms of the court, until future legislation should allow the people to vote on the question of removal. How inexpedient therefore to separate the jail from the place of holding court. The jail ought to be located here, and any person of sense can see the impropriety of building it twelve miles from the court room, especially when the prospects are that Mankato and adjoining towns, at their present rapid growth, will soon be able to out vote the entire balance of the county, and hold the county seat where it is now. The farmers desire a market for their vegetables, butter and eggs. The smaller the town the smaller the market, and the sooner the demand is supplied, and the price of their commodities flattened to nothing. It is difficult, even in Mankato, sometimes, to maintain prices at a fair remuneration, and how much more difficult in a town where they raise their own pigs, hens, and cows, and supply themselves with butter and eggs from their own resources. Five dozens of eggs and a pail of butter would completely flatten the Garden City market, and first doing their county business, farmers would be obliged to take their basket of eggs 12 miles further to find a market.

Of the method of voting upon the question the people should be thoroughly apprised. The law after giving power to issue the bonds, provides for voting on the location in sections 5 and 6 of this act which reads as follows:

Sec. 5. At the next annual election to be held in said county of Blue Earth on the first Tuesday of April, 1867, the electors of said county shall by vote determine the location of said jail. The ballots shall have the name of the village which each elector may desire to designate, either written or printed thereon, and shall be deposited in a separate box to be provided by the town supervisors, and the same qualifications shall be required of the persons voting, and the same rules shall govern the canvass of said votes, as apply to voters at such regular annual election of town officers.

Sec. 6. It shall be the duty of the county commissioners to locate and erect said jail within the limits of the village which shall at such election be designated by a plurality of the votes cast in said county at such election.

Votes cast in any other manner than as provided by this law will be void, and those persons interested in conducting the elections, should have these sections of the law before them. The simple words "Mankato," "Garden City," "Rapidan" or any other town to be designated, written on a blank piece of paper, and placed in a separate poll box provided for the purpose, would be sufficient.

The importance of this election should not be underrated. It is a question of convenience to the public, and the disadvantage of locating it in the wrong place, may overtake the people when it is too late to retrieve the loss. Let the public consider the matter thoroughly and go to the polls EN MASSE.

THE SIOUX TREATY.

While the principal part of the Sioux Indians are hostile to the Government, Joe Brown has picked up a few of the old men who have been left behind, taken them to Washington, and through some strange influence, has effected one of the most gigantic swindles under the garb of a treaty with them that we have ever known. (What was our delegation in Congress about while this fraud was being consumated in Washington.)

The following is a part of the expenditures provided for the Lake Traverse Reservation:

For the year 1867	$350,000
" " 1868	250,000
" " 1869	100,000
" " 1870	30,000
Yearly thereafter	30,000
Devil's Lake Indians	100,000
Second year	200,000
Third "	50,000
Thereafter	30,000
	$1,140,000
250 scouts at $60 per month for the year	$180,000
Rations for himself, family & horse	120,000
Extra pay for chief of scouts, one for every twelve Indians	28,800
Two extra chiefs of scouts	7,20
	$1,469,520

But this enormous sum of one and half millions of dollars is not all. Each Indian is to have a house built for him, which will not cost less than $200,000. Now what do these cut throat Indians do on their part for all this? They agree to protect the overland mail route from Fort Abercrombie to the Missouri river.

The whole affair is a shameful and barefaced robbery, intended only to enrich Joe Brown and a few of his friends. We understand that Capt. Mix, whose father is chief clerk in the Indian office at Washington, is already engaged in expending money contemplated by the treaty. What is the Senate of the United States about. The Treasury plundering right before their eyes, and they do not seem to know it. Senator Ramsey knows that this Treaty is a fraud. What is he doing in Washington, while these men are defrauding the Government of millions.

BY THE CENTAL.

On the 1st of March the Cental system went into operation in most of the leading cities of the United States. Instead of buying grain by the bushel it is to be taken by the cental. We understand that a cental of grain, no matter of what sort, is one hundred pounds, and the number of bushels in a cental may be obtained by dividing one hundred pounds by 60 in the case of wheat, by 56 for corn and rye, by 48 for barley and by 32 for oats. But there is no necessity of retaining the dry measure system of calculation, as long as it is to be governed by the weight of the grain. The most equitable method of purchasing or selling everything in the produce and provision line is by the pound. The cental system was adopted in California at the earliest period of its settlement, and all produce including vegetables such as potatoes, onions, cabbages, &c were sold by the pound. Grain quotations were always given at a cent, cent and a quarter, cent and a half, two cents or three cents as the case might be. It is easy to see that if wheat is worth 1½ cents, it brings 90 cents per bushel, if corn is two cents it brings $1,12 per bushel, and oats at the same rate per pound brings 64 cents per bushel It will not take long for farmers to banish dry measure when they have once established in the minds eye, a guide by which they may determine what a fair price for wheat or other grain is. To explain. Two cents per pound or two dollars per hundred pounds gives $1,20 per bushel for wheat. This price is usually deemed a fair and remunerative figure, and when grain drops below 2 cents or rises above that figure the variation is easily understood. If bids are made by the hundred pounds instead of the single pound, as $2,00 per cental, every half dollar gives 30 cents more per bushel, and each ten cents gives six. This calculation is on wheat, but it may be made on all grain in the same manner. The cental system when once made familiar is far preferable to Dry Measure.

IMPORTANT TO INVALIDS.

Dr ALLEY, formerly of New York, who last fall opened an office in St. Paul is said to be meeting with great success in the treatment of diseases of the Throat and Lungs to which he devotes exclusive attention. The St. Paul Press in October says of him: "The many "invalids in our State will be glad of an op-"portunity to consult one so eminent in his "profession as Dr. ALLEY. The Dr. is a "graduate of the University of New York, "has practiced twelve years in that city, and "is widely known as one of the editors of the "largest and ablest Medical Journal in the "United States. He has for several years de-"voted particular attention to the diseases of "the throat and chest, having given the sub-"ject the most thorough investigation both in "this country and during a two years residence "in Europe.

"The Dr. is prepared to give his patients "the full benefit of all the latest discoveries "and will continue to pay particular attention "to the scientific application of Medicated In-"halation in such diseases as Consumption, "Bronchitis, Asthma, Catarrh and all Chronic "affections of the lungs."

Dr. ALLEY's ability and experience in the use of Medical Inhalation in these diseases, is surpassed by no one of our day. We are consequently glad to hear that his merits are being appreciated and that business flows in upon him from all parts of the State. Patients are treated either persoually or by letter. His office is at 130 Third St., St. Paul.

COWAN'S REJECTION.—The following is the vote by which the nomination of ex-Senator Cowan, as Minister to Austria, was rejected:

Yeas—Messrs. Anthony, Buckalew, Davis, Dixon, Doolittle, Hendricks, Henderson, Johnson, Norton, Patterson (Tenn), Ramsey, Saulsbury, Sheridan, Trumbull, Van Winkle, Willey and Yates.

Nays—Messrs. Cameron, Cattell, Chandler, Cole, Conkling, Conness, Corbitt, Drake, Edmunds, Ferry, Fessenden, Fowler, Frelinghausen, Grimes, Harlan, Howard, Howe, Morgan, Morrill, Nye, Patterson (N. H.), Pomeroy, Ross, Stewart, Sumner, Thayer, Tipton, Williams and Wilson.

We clip the above from the St. Paul Press, of the 15th.

We see that Ramsey and Norton unite in giving their support to Cowan. We do not understand this, can the Press inform us why Senator Ramsey voted to confirm this man Cowan, whose course in the Senate, ever since the commencement of the war, has been in open and violent opposition to the great Union party of the country?

The Vedette and Republican Journal of Owatonna have consolidated. The new paper will be called the Owatonna Journal. The union has been effected for the purpose of strengthening the party and establishing a paper on a firm basis, CONSECRATION AT CHATFIELD.—The new St. Matthew's Church at this place was consecrated on Thursday morning, by the Bishop of the diocese, assisted by Revs. Mr. Woodward, Johnston and Shatzel. It is a very neat and elegant structure, and reflects much credit on those who designed it. A class consisting of twelve was confirmed at the same visitation.—Preston Rep, March 15th.

Reparator Capilli.

Throw away your false frizzes, your switches, your wig—
Destructive of comfort, and not worth a fig;
Come aged, come youthful, come ugly and fair,
And rejoice in your own luxuriant hair.

REPARATOR CAPILLI.

For restoring hair upon bald heads (from whatever cause it may have fallen out) and forcing a growth of hair upon the face, it has no equal. It will force the beard to grow upon the smoothest face in from five to eight weeks, or hair upon bald heads in from two to three months. A few ignorant practitioners have asserted that there is nothing that will force or hasten the growth of the hair or beard. Their assertions are false, as thousands of living witnesses (from their own experience) can bear witness. But many will say, how are we to distinguish the genuine from the spurious? It certainly is difficult, as nine-tenths of the different Preparations advertised for the hair and beard are entirely worthless, and you may have already thrown away large amounts in their purchase. To such we would say, try the Reparator Cappilli; it will cost you nothing unless it fully comes up to our representations. If your Druggist does not keep it, send us one dollar and we will forward it, postpaid, together with a receipt for the money, which will be returned you on application, proving entire satisfaction is not given. DONATION.—The members of the Methodist church and congregation gave their pastor, Rev. D. Tice, a donation visit last evening at the church. The lateness of the hour forbids us making any extended report.

—Smith & Humphrey are putting up a two story frame building 30 feet deep, adjoining their store, to be used as a post office building. Their store is to be enlarged to occupy the space now used for the postoffice.

WANTED.—A person acquainted with the business of farming, desires to rent a farm somewhere conveniently situated in Blue Earth County. For particulars inquire at this office.

MYSTERIOUS.—To see people suffering from Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Constipation and Palpitation of the heart, all arising from a torbid state of the Liver and Indigestion, when it can be remedied by taking Dr. Swaine's Bourbon Bitters, well known to the medical profession as the best preparation of the kind in the world.

GRAIN.—There has been another advance in grain, and wheat brings $2 00 per bushel, oats $1 00 and corn $1 50. Notwithstanding these prices there is but little grain coming in. The country is doubtless almost stripped of wheat, and in some towns upon comparing notes, it is found that there is not sufficient for seed.

LARGE TIN CONTRACT.—L. L. & O. H. Davis have taken the contract to cover Bierbeaur's Woolen Mills with tin. The roof is 40 feet by 52, and the contract will reach five or six hundred dollars.

AGRICULTURAL.—There will be a meeting of the executive Board of the Blue Earth Co. Agricultural Society, on Friday the 29th of March at Mankato, for the purpose of looking after the financial matters of the society. By order of

J. K. Mead, President,
J. G. Thompson, Secretary.

FALSE.—We understand that a Rapidan citizen has been representing to persons who are not posted, that on the jail question, they can vote "yes" or 'no,' for or against building a jail. This is false. The law provides for no such thing; and voters will find, if the judges of election do their duty, that they can vote on the location only. The jail must be built somewhere the coming season. A ballot box will be prepared in which all votes, designating where the location is desired, will be polled.

NOTICE.—A meeting of the Republican Electors of the town of Mankato, will be held at Shoemaker's Hall, to-morrow, (Saturday), evening the 23d of March 1867, at 7 o'clock, for the purpose of nominating a ticket for town officers for the spring election, and to transact any other business that may properly come before said meeting. A full attendance is requested.

Per order town Committee,
E. P. FREEMAN, Ch'n.

INCOME TAX.—Charles Mansfield Esq., Deputy Assessor of this Division informs us that the new revenue law compels the assessment of the income tax on the first of March in each year, or as soon thereafter as possible. Tax is now levied on incomes of over $1,000, instead of $600 as under the old law. This will relieve quite a number of citizens in every community from income tax. Mr. Mansfield has already commenced the assessment.

SOCIAL.—The Presbyterian social gathering at the house of J. J. Shaubut, Esq., on Wednesday evening last, in point of numbers, mirth and money was probably the greatest success yet achieved. The evening was propitious, and all, both great and small, turned out to enjoy it. A party came up from St. Peter, and as a compliment to them, the rules of the society were suspended, and coffee and cake were served in abundance to the entire assembly. These circles are promotive of much good in removing the barriers which too often serve to estrange members of the same community.

A WELCOME PRESENT.—We are in receipt of a copy of the newly revised statutes of the State, which is presented us by the Pioneer Printing Company, of St. Paul. It is a valuable acquisition to any man's library, whether he be lawyer, mechanic, merchant or farmer. These laws have been published by State authority, and the copyright has been secured to the Pioneer Company, who are the sole publishers of the work. They have just issued a thousand copies, and are ready to receive orders. The price is six dollars, which is very low considering the quality and finish of the book.

—As spring approaches, our farmer friends begin to look around for the best plows. It seems to be very difficult to find a plow that scours in this rich Minnesota soil. There are none that can be relied on to work well everywhere but the Cast Cast Steel of Hartford Conn., which is warranted to give perfect satisfaction everywhere. John F. Meagher has just received a large supply of these excellent plows. Call and examine them for yourself before purchasing.

SALE.—Tompkins & Lay have purchased the livery stables of Tyner & Quinn, in the rear of Paddock's Grocery and have moved their stock in. Tyner & Quinn have leased the Mankato House stable and removed their stock to their new quarters and are prepared to let horses on as good terms as any other stable. Their stock is good and well eqnipped with harnesses, saddles and carrages. Elsewhere see their card and try them.

BURGLARY AND LARCENY.—A man passing by the name of Charles F. Goodall broke into the store of White Brothers on Front street on Tuesday evening, and took from the drawer $112, and escaped after helping himself to some candy and gun caps and turning a lot of molasses into a tub of butter. Next morning Deputy Sheriff Martin worked up the case, and tracked the rascal toward the Agency. He found him sitting by the road side loading some shooting irons, and by a skillful movement and the aid of Mr. Tourtelotte who was with him the gun and pistol were taken from him, and he was brought back for trial. He disgorged the most of the money, a part of which was in his pocket book, and some in a handkerchief secreted in his pants. The gun had been purchased with the stolen money, of the gunsmith Krash. It was returned and the money refunded. The thief had been in the store and surveyed the chances the same evening, and Mr. White was obliged to request him to go out as he wished to close the store. Waiting at the Clifton to see his brother off on the stage, he returned to the store, where he sleeps, between 11 and 12 o'clock, and discovered that the thief had entered by opening the back window in the wood shed, and bursting open the back door of the store. Justice Pfaff committed the scamp for trial. Too much credit cannot be given to the Deputy Sheriff for his prompt and successful efforts in this matter.

FENIAN BROTHERHOOD.—The Fenian Brotherhood of this city celebrated St. Patrick's day on Saturday evening last at Higgin's Hall. The day properly coming on Sunday, the evening previous was selected for the ball and entertainment. There was quite a good attendance, but the cold prevented some from coming out. Mr. George Clarke called the assembly to order, and after making a few remarks, in sympathy with the objects of the Brotherhood, he introduced Col. Kelly, who, being of Irish extraction, was a proper person to address them. His speech was quite appropriate to the occasion and was frequently applauded. After the address, Hazen's Band furnishing the music, the dance commenced and was enjoyed with much life and spirit. At half past 11 o'clock a supper was served in the small hall below. The table was neatly spread with an abundance of rich meats, cakes and pastry, and oysters in every style were served without stint or limit. The managers of the table deserve great credit for arranging an entertainment so handsomely and with such satisfaction to their guests.

TO THE CITIZENS OF MANKATO.—The time is now approching when something should be done toward making Mankato the principal point of outfit for Southern and Central Minnesota, for the Great Montana Expedition, which will positively leave Minnesota by the first of June next. From present indication the expedition promises to be very large, as it behooves our citizens to be up and doing in the matter. It is proposed to have a meeting in connection with the county seat meeting, at Shoemaker's Hall this (Friday) evening. Let there be a good attendance, and the proper means adopted to make Mankato the main point of outfit. A large addition to our trade will undoubtedly be the result.

It was not possible to publish this week another plea for Garden City, sent by our correspondent. It will appear next week.

TIMBER STEALING.—A Person from Shelbyville was brought before Justice Pfaff of this place yesterday, charged with stealing timber from the lands of John Marks in Shelbyville. He was found guilty by the justice, and fined $30,00 and costs. This should be a warning to others.

PROCEEDINGS OF COUNTY BOARD.—The regular session of the board of county Commissioners was held March 12, 1867. Present—A. Hanna, chairman; S. R. Granuis, D. D. Evans, and George Andrews.

Minutes of previous session read and approved, except bills of Dr. Zenopolski and A. L. Dornberg, which were erroneously entered.

Petitions of Francis Russell and others, citizens of school district 13 and 14, for division of school district No. 13, in center so that each district shall be three miles square, and attaching the south half of section 13, 14 and 15 of town 106 range 29, now in district No. 14, to district No. 13. Granted.

Petition of John W. Rowe and 41 other citizens of school district 71 and 73, in McPherson, asking for a school district to contain south half of section 18, and southwest quarter and south half of southwest quarter section 17, all of sections 19 and 20, and the north half of sections 29 and 30, town 107 range 25. Granted.

Petition of A. B. Preston and others, citizens of McPherson and Medo for school district from parts of both towns, including sections 31, 32, 33, and a strip 80 rods wide from the south side of sections 28, 29 and 30, in McPherson—now in district 71—and section 5 and 6, and north half of northeast quarter of section 8 in town of Medo—now in district 59. Granted.

Petition of Isaac Autry, and others for school district in town 107 range 25, rejected, as conflicting with the action of the board at its present session.

Petition to be formed to the southeast quarter of Lyra, signed by Jonathan Townsend and others. Granted.

Petition of C. N. Plumb and others for school district in town of Lyra, to be composed of sections 19, 20, 21, 22, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32 and 33. Granted.

Petition of R. H. Wilson and others for shool districts out of parts of District 16 and 17, in town of Garden City—laid over for further information.

Petition for change of road in Lime, by A. P. Davis and others—laid over for information.

A large number of bills were allowed.

County orders to the amount of $6,437,67 were received from the treasurer, counted and destroyed. Subsequently $1,028,28 were received, counted and destroyed.

County Auditor was instructed to put lots 1 and 2, in section 33, in town 109, range 28, now in the village of Judson on the assessment roll, as acres, and instruct to assess accordingly.

The bills in the coroner's inquest over the bodies of Cambell and Liscom were allowed as follows:

W. H. Finch, care of bodies,	$6,00
Tyner and Quinn, teams in matter of Brown county riot,	74,00
W. W. Clark, post mortem examination,	40,00
J. C. Jones, " " "	20,00
Dr. Bedlent, " " "	20,00
J. S. Eaton. " " "	5,00

Previously bills to the amount of $421,95 were allowed, making a total of $626,95

A Hanna and acting county auditor were appointed committee to procure stationery for use of county officers.—Record.

DONATION PARTY.—The Members of the M. E. Church of this place intend to give a donation party on Friday evening the 22d inst., for the support of the Rev. A. G. Perkins. Yates Hall has been secured for the day and evening. All are respectfully invited to attend and give of their abundance to the worthy Pastor, who has so earnestly and faithfully labored for the benefit of this community and the cause of religion. Such arrangement are being made as will insure a pleasant and festive occasion, and make the donation a success. Mr. C. G. Mullen, Mr. John Chase, Mrs. O. F. Winterstrand and Mrs. J. C. Sprague, have been appointed as "Receiving Committee."

BRIGHT PROSPECTS.—The prospects now are very flattering for the improvement of this town and county during the coming spring and summer. We expect to receive a good share of the immigration that will pour into this State as soon as the river opens. People living in the eastern States, have been corresponding with parties residing here, concerning the opportunites of getting good lands. An almost endless variety of homestead lands may be found in our county—Watonwan. A few very choice partly improved farms can be purchased at a reasonable figure. Plath & Schwerdtfeger are doing a driving business at their saw mill. A great many logs have been hauled in and many more are being hauled in to be sawed up into building materials. It is estimated that the improvements to be made this year will more than double those of last. These good tokens give impetus to capital and labor, and the people are preparing for the spring and summer work. "All hail the glad tidings."

SCHOOL MEETING.—There will be a meeting of the voters of Madelia School District at the School House in Madelia on the evening of the 30th inst., for the purpose of electing a new board of School Officers, and for the transaction of such other business as may be brought before the meeting.

FROM GARDEN CITY.

BUILDING.—Not withstanding the continued cold weather, our citizens are preparing for building. Timber is being hewn, lumber hauled upon the ground, and in a short time a number of houses will be in process of erection.

PROSPECTING.—Earlier in the season then usual, strangers from abroad are making their appearance in our streets, prospecting the country and looking up homes. A number of gentlemen from the east, have been in town within the past few days, and are so well pleased with Garden City, that they intend locating here in the spring and going into the mercantile business. They declare that we have the finest location for a business town, they have seen in the west.

SALE OF LOTS.—Mr. E. P, Evans, since returning to Garden City, has been selling some of his town lots. I am informed that he has sold some eight or ten, averaging about $100 each.

DONATION.—A donation party came off at Farmers Hall on Monday evening the 18th inst., for the benefit of Elder A. G. Perkins, the Methodist preacher in charge of this circuit. A large number of persons of both sexes, old and young, were present, from the vicinity in and around Garden City. Capt. Burke, of Mankato, was appointed president of the meeting, S. C. Welcome, secretary and Richard Haskins Treasurer. Presents were made to the elder to the amount of $51 05, $39 in cash, the remainder in promiscuous articles. An essay was read by S. C. Welcome, and elder Perkins gave a short pithy sketch of his pioneer labors in Minnesota. Capt. Burke sang a song, much to the edification of all present. The supper prepared by the ladies of town and vicinity was excellent. The rest of the evening was spent in social conversation and all present seemed to enjoy the occasion.

TO DEALERS.—Dr. W. Frisbie, at the City Drug Store, has received a large supply and great variety of fresh GARDEN SEEDS, which will be disposed of to retail dealers at the smallest commission. Country stores can supply themselves at his store at as low figures as they can be obtained in Chicago. They are also for sale at the counter by the paper.

The Shivering Victims

Of Fever and Ague, who freeze to-day to burn to-morrow, might have been exempted from their present trials had they availed themselves in time of that safe-guard against all malarious diseases, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. But if it is too late for prevention it is not too late for cure. A single bottle of this irresistible herbal tonic will stop the paroxsysms, and a brief course of it will restore the patient to vigorous health. The prudent and thoughtful, however, who would rather forestall disease than wait for its assaults, will resort to this sure defence against intermittent and remittent fevers at the commencement of the season when they prevail. Now is the time to fore-arm the system against fever and ague, bilious complaints and dyspepsia—diseases which are often engendered, and always aggravated, by the chills and damps of Winter and early Spring. SHAKESPEARE ON INTERMITTENTS.

The Bard of Avon tells us that the "Sun in March doth nourish Agues," and the remark is as true now as it was three hundred years ago. But fortunately, in these modern days March Agues can be prevented. Hostetter's Bitters, in a single week, will put the system in a condition to resist every species of intermittent fever. Or, if there is a predisposition to biliousness or dyspepsia, this unequaled regulator and invigorant will just as certainly prevent that. All the disorders common to the season of fogs and frosts may be held in abeyance by this potent antidote. They may also be ejected from the system, after they have made a lodgement there, by its persevering use. It is therefore moral insanity for any family to be without it.

LUMBER! LUMBER!

Ellas, (one of the best saw yers in the State,) and who has rented Mr. Mason's share in the mill at Vernon, and has now on hand a large supply of lumber, and is prepared to furnish to order the best article of lumber made in the county, and at the most reasonable prices. Church Pews, Arm Chairs, for Promenade and House Dress, as the Skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a silk or muslin dress, an invaluable quality in crinoline, not found in any Single Spring skirt.

A Lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort, and great convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Steel Spring Skirt for a single day, will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For Children, Misses and Young Ladies, they are superior to all others.

They will not bend or break like the Single Spring, but will preserve their perfect and graceful shape when three or four ordinary skirts will have been throw aside as useless. The Hoops are covered with double and twisted thread, and the bottom rods are not only double springs but twice (or double) covered; preventing them from wearing out when dragging down stoops, stairs, &c.

The Duplex Elliptic is a great favorite with all ladies and is universally recommended by the Fashion Magazines as the standard skirt of the fashionable world.

To enjoy the following inestimable advantages in Crinoline, viz.: Superior Quality, Perfect Manufacture, Stylish shape and Finish, Flexibility, Durability, Comfort and Economy, enquire for J. W. Bradley's Duplex Eliptic, or Double Spring Skirt, and be sure you get the genuine article.

CAUTION.—To guard against IMPOSITION be particular to NOTICE that skirts offered as "DUPLEX" have the red ink stamp, viz., "J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic Steel Springs," upon the waistband—none others are genuine. To Mr. Peabody's Correspondents.

The following appears in the Boston Daily Advertiser, of March 8th:

EDITORS ADVERTISER:—Mr. George Peabody intending soon to leave for England, deems it a duty due to himself to inform all those who, during his visit of ten months in his native country, have written to him asking loans of money, donations to literary institutions, subscriptions to churches, public charities, &c., or assistance for themselves or others, that the great number of these communications has rendered it impossible for him to read, or answer, or even to open them in person. The latter duty has, therefore, been assigned confidentially to others.

And as many of the writers have requested that their applications should be kept secret, Mr. Peabody would state that he has this day caused these letters amounting to nearly four thousand, to be burnt in his presence,—thus relieving their apprehensions and his own responsibility.

CAUSE OF CHOLERA.

At a meeting of the health department of the Social Science Association lately held in London, Dr. Bain read a paper on his experience of four cholera epidemics. The result of the author's observations may be summed up as follows:—

"That sporadic cholera is caused by a special organic poison. That it is communicated by material particles either inhaled or swallowed when diffused in liquids, as water; in the former case it is communicated on a small scale. That the period of incubation is about forty hours. That adult males are generally first attacked, then women and children. That the proportion of deaths in the first two or three weeks of epidemic averages four males to three females. That all persons are not equally susceptible, but, as a rule, it has the most power over the badly nourished. That it is not influenced by the atmospheric changes of the barometer or the hydrometer, or the quantity of ozon, but in this climate by the seasons. That the greatest mortality has always occurred during every epidemic in those districts in which the water is most impure."

RECONSTRUCTION IN NORTH CAROLINA.

At a meeting of the loyal Union members of the Legislature of North Carolina, with other loyal citizens, held in Raleigh, it was unanimously recommended that the people of the State promptly accept the Military Bill. It was also unanimously resolved that the chairman of the meeting designate not less than one hundred citizens of the State, and that the citizens thus named be requested to assemble in Raleigh, on Wednesday, March 27, to mature a plan to call a convention, preparatory to the admission of the State to representation in Congress in accordance with the terms prescribed in the act of Congress.

It was also unanimously resolved that the Chairman of the meeting confer with the colored people of the State, and ascertain their views and wishes, with a view to a prompt and harmonious co-operation of all the loyal people of the State in the work of reconstruction.

Virginia Politics.

John Minor Botts has written a letter, under date of March 7th, to a prominent Congressman, in which he states that the rebel legislature of Virginia will fix the first Tuesday in May for a Convention; that the rebel forces are thoroughly organized, and will certainly control the Convention, unless a registration law and provisions for voting by ballot are provided at the present session of Congress. He says that not one-fifth of the colored people are aware of their right to vote at the ensuing election. He and the Union people implore Congress not to adjourn before providing the legislation suggested.

There is an unprecedented rise in the Ohio river and its tributaries. The railroads south are blocked by bridges being carried away, cuttings washed full, and by land slides, trains only running to Lebanon Junction, south of Nashville. The damage to the road and private property is appalling. Frankfort Ky., is half submerged; Jeffersonville, Ind., is almost an island; Evansville is totally so.

—These are "hard times" for Boston. More people are now out of employment in that city than in any previous time for many years, many manufacturing establishments are idle, and all building enterprises are at a standstill. The cost of living there is very high, and the suffering among the poor this winter has been unusually widespread and severe.

Nearly all the post offices in Texas are in charge of females. It works so well that the males now arrive and depart every hour in the day.

—At the recent commencement of the New York University Medical College, the Mott medal perpetuated by the will of the late Dr. Valentine Mott was awarded to Eugene C. Rogers of Minnesota, for the best anatomical preparation.

BOSTON, March 14.—The lower branch of the Massachusetts Legislature has passed the constitutional amendment by a vote of 120 yeas to 20 nays.

HUMOROUS.

Why is beefsteak like a locomotive? It's not of much account without it's tender.

If a person wishes his friends to discontinue their visits, he has only to loan them money, or to let them know that he holds a subscription paper for any public enterprise or charitable object.

A teacher in a public school gave a sentence to be written and properly punctuated. The boy gave the following as the result of his efforts: The quality of mercy says, "Shakespeare is not strained."

A lady was asked to join one of the divisions of the daughters of temperance. She replied, "This is unnecessary, as it is my intention to join one of the sons in the course of a few weeks."

A gentleman was always complaining to his father-in-law of his wife's temper. At last papa-in-law, becoming weary of these endless grumblings, and being a bit of a wag, replied, "Well, my dear fellow, if I hear of her tormenting you any more I shall disinherit her."

An exchange publishes the marriage of John North and Annie South. This is a union of the North and South founded on mutual esteem and reciprocity of benefits, and will probably be permanent. The question of "reconstruction" is solved.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU and Improved Rose Wash cures secret and delicate disorders in all their stages, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience and no exposure. It is pleasant in taste and odor, immediate in its action, and free from all injurious properties.

☞A YOUNG LADY returning to her country home, after a sojourn of a few months in the City; was hardly recognised by her friends. In place of a coarse; rustic, flushed face, she had a soft ruby complexion of almost marble smoothness, and instead of twenty-three she really appeared but eighteen. Upon inquiry as to the cause of so great a change, she plainly told them that she used the Circassian Balm, and considered it an invaluable acquisition to any Lady's toilet. By its use any Lady or Gentleman can improve their personal appearance an hundred fold. It is simple in its combination, as Nature herself is simple, yet unsurpassed in its efficacy in drawing impurities from, also healing, cleansing and beautifying the skin and complexion. By its direct action on the cuticle it draws from it all its impurities, kindly healing the same, and leaving the surface as Nature intended it should be, clear, soft, smooth and beautiful. SYMPTOMS.

The symptoms of Catarrh are at first very slight. Persons find they have a cold, that they have frequent attacks, and are more sensitive to the changes of the temperature. In this condition the nose may be dry, or a slight discharge thin and acrid, afterwards thick and adhesive, may ensue.

As the disease becomes chronic, the discharges are increased in quantity and changed in quality; they are now thick and heavy, and hawked or coughed off. The secretions are offensive, causing a bad breath; the voice thick and nasal; the eyes are weak; the sense of smell is lessened or destroyed; deafness frequently takes place.

Another common and important symptom of Catarrh is, that the person is obliged to clear his throat in the morning of a slick or slimy mucous, which has fallen from the head during the night. When this takes place, the person may be sure that his disease is on its way to the lungs, and should lose no time in arresting it.

The above are but a few of the many Catarrhal symptoms. Write to our Laboratory for our pamphlet describing fully all symptoms; it will be sent FREE to any address. Also directions where to procure the medicine.

We are receiving letters from all parts of the Union, and also numerous testimonials from those using it, bearing the evidence of its infallible merits;

☞This remedy contains no MINERAL or POISONOUS INGREDIENTS, but is prepared from vegetable extracts EXCLUSIVELY; therefore it is PERFECTLY HARMLESS, even to the most tender and delicate child. ☜

FLORENCE
SEWING MACHINE CO.
100 WASHINGTON ST., CHICAGO.
Wm. H. SHARP & CO.,
GENERAL AGENTS.

THE FLORENCE is the only machine extant having a reversible feed, which enables the operator to sew either to the right or left at pleasure, and the only machine that makes a perfectly elastic seam, alike on each side of the fabric.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE not only makes the lock-stitch, but three others, which for certain kinds of work are much superior, especially where elasticity is required and is the only machine that fastens the ends of each seam securely, and does it in one-fourth the time it can be done by hand.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE. does not draw fine, thin goods down through the slot or hole in the work-plate nor drop a stitch in turning a corner. and is the only machine having a changeless tension, and no slack threads both of which draw together simultaneously.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE is noiseless, and can be used when quiet is necessary as well in the sick-chamber as in the workroom. They oil no dresses, the machinery being all on the top of the table. It will sew over the heaviest seams, or from one to more thicknesses of goods, without skipping stitches, breaking threads or requiring change in tension.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE will do easily all family and tailoring work on one and the same machine. They are strong and finely finished.—their motions are all positive, there are no springs to get out of order,—while for strength, durability & beauty of design it will bear, and we invite, comparison, with any or all machines.

AMERICAN ORGANS.

(From "Godey's Ladies' Book," February, 1866.)

REED ORGANS, &c.

THE following remarks and suggestions relative to this immensely popular instrument will doubtless interest and profit very many of our readers; we commend the article to their careful perusal:—

A hundred and one makers of Organs, Cottage, Parlor-Cabinet, American, School Organs etc. etc., are each claiming to make the best instrument in the world. Being comparatively a new instrument, as at present constructed, we are convinced the public are much less capable of judging of its merits, or demerits, than of most other instruments, If there is really an essential difference in them, if there are some worthless ones, the public should have some criterion for judging of them, some facts which will enlighten them. We cheerfully concede the space for this article, knowing that there is hardly a family, or church, or school in all the land, but is more or less interested in this topic. We are also aware of its being a great misfortune, a real calamity, to any of them to purchase an inferior or worthless Organ, ruinous to good playing, and often a source of much annoyance and vexation. We know this article to emanate from a candid and intelligent source, and thus we give it to our readers.

The question is often asked, what are "reed organs?" We answer, they are, in most cases nothing in the world but the old melodeon in disguise. Many of the so called Organs have the same bellows. the same reeds, and the same general internal arrangement. With the bellows turned on edge to gain room, they have simply put on a more pretentious exterior and a more high sounding name But an organ to be in reality an organ, must have a wind chest or reservoir for air separate from the bellows, into which wind-chest the reeds open, and the tone has room to expand and perfect itself into the full round tone, similar to the flute or pipe organ, even, smooth firm and mellow; and this tone from reeds cannot be obtained in any other way known. Nothing so annoys a true organist as to have the volume of sound swelling and jerking spasmodically with every variation of force on the bellows or air-passages, instead of a wind- or sound-box. And yet some makers even go so far as to claim this spasmodic or automatic jerking of the bellows on the reeds as an excellence, just as though they did not know that it must soon throw the reeds out of tune, and injure the bellows; and as though it were not an easier matter to obtain a much better and more easily managed swell by other methods. The truth is, any organ, so called, or melodeon which has the wind acting directly upon the reeds, is nothing more or less than a huge accordeon, dress it up as you may. And when organists and true musicians become aware of the fact that they can obtain those that are organs in fact as well as in name they will buy no more of the objectionbel ones. Then again the swell should always be separate and distinct from the bellows, so as not to be acted on by the hand, or soft blowing, but convenient, so that the player can use it with the knee, separate from the hands or feet, and thus always under easy control, to be used ad libitum.

The large divided bellows, or double bellows, is also a very important improvement — By this means not only can the wind be supplied more evenly, but with far greater ease to the performer, from the fact that either bellows alone will be sufficient for the lighter melodies, thus permitting the player to change about and rest the feet at will; then, if the bellows is of a requisite large size, and having the wind-chest or reservoir, all will be well.— As to the reeds, they must be scientifically tuned and voiced, or all the other good qualities in the world cannot produce a good toned instrument. The inquiry now very naturall arises, where can the organ be procured combining all these essential and desirable qualities? There is only one possessing these points and that is the AMERICAN ORGAN, made by S. D. & H. W. SMITH, of Boston, SIBERIA OTT, Wholesale Agent, 581 Broadway, New York. These organs have a wind chest extending the whole length of the instrument, and so constructed as to act at the same time as a reverberating sound-box or board, and having the same important relation and part to perform that the sounding-board has to the piano. This feature the makers have patented, and to it are owing in a great measure the entirely unequaled fullness and richness of tone so highly prized by all who have used these organs. They also have the largest and best divided bellows in use, which is another important feature. No part of their work is slighted no expense or pains spared to make the American Organs perfect musically, as well as mechanically, and, judging from the immense sale of them at present, they bid fair to long maintain the proud position they have won by superior merit alone. We would most heartily advise all interested to call upon or address MR. SIBERIA OTT, the Wholesale Agent, at No. 581 Broadway, New York, and can assure them he will, in the most gentlemanly and truthful manner, impart to them all the information they may desire relative to this truly delightful instrument.

WHAT THE BELL TELLS.

Men's death I tell by doleful knell;
Lighting and thunder I break asunder.
On Sabbath all to church I call;
The sleeping head I raise from bed;
The winds so fierce I do disperse;
Men's cruel rage I do assuage.

THE SIX BELLS.

1. "Even at our earliest sound,
The light of God is spread around.
2. "At the echo of my voice,
Ocean, earth and air rejoice.
3. "Blend thy mellow tunes with mine.
Silver voice of Catherine.
4. "Till time on ruin's lap shall nod,
John shall sound the praise of God.
5. "With Christ in heavenly harmony,
Angels pour thy melody.
6. "Be mine to chant Jehovah's fame,
While Sophia is my name."

ANOTHER PLEA FOR GARDEN CITY.

EDITOR UNION:—Having read and examined the arguments presented in your paper from week to week, on the jail and county seat question, I have been somewhat amused, and although in a former article, I gave in a hurried manner a few reasons why the county seat should not be located at Mankato, which has called out some of the arguments referred to, will you allow me to say a little more on the subject, not exactly to answer those arguments for some of them are unanswerable. Well that is quite an acknowledgement, is it not? But what are those arguments? Why, first, every man should fight for his own castle. That's right! who would'nt? Next, if the county seat was removed to Garden City, you as an editor of a county paper, would have to move, and lose the patronage of Mankato, which pays so well, or else stay in Mankato, and a county paper would start at Garden City. Well the prospect is bad for you. It is a knock down argument, I am sorry we can't accommodate you by leaving the county seat at Mankato, but it isn't convenient for us, and so we think of moving it up to Garden City, and have no objections to taking you along with it. You are just the man we want. Again, it is said that Mankato is the seat of trade, it is the "place" and only "place" of importance in Blue Earth county. It is the great outlet, &c. How can such a wonderful argument be answered. We had thought that Garden City was the "place", or was just going to be, but we must cave. We being situated in the center of the county, with the choicest farming lands all around us, and with the bright prospect before us of soon having one or more railroads passing through our "town", to carry off the grain that has heretofore had to be transported over rough roads to Mankato and Owatonna, and then sold at a low price. We I say, with brighter prospects before us, had began to think that Garden City was a place of importance. It is true, not having the advantages of a market, as we shall have, we have grown slowly, and so has the country around us, and in the eyes of Mankato we look "feeble and puny," but who wonders at it. Garden City and the country above has had to nurse Mankato, for these many years. She has almost sucked our life's blood out of us, so we have not grown like her, while she like "Ephraim of old" has grown fat and kicked. But we propose to wean her, and see if she can not feed herself, and soon be able to run alone. As soon as the railroad reaches us we shall be unwilling to carry her food to her, and she must support herself or depend upon the country west of her for her grain. It is true she has an outlet, but it is generally troubled with a severe stoppoge that can't be cured. But that outlet does not prevent the country above from selling wheat at a less price, until Owatonna became a market. Then Mankato began to come to terms. She has also had the advantage of obliging us to come to her to pay taxes and attend court. Mankato has been somewhat like the boy's pup, that you probably heard of. The boy had a choice pup that he was training to hold animals by the nose, and in order to show his father the sagacity of his pup, persuaded the old gentleman to get upon his hands and knees, while he set on the pup, who instantly seized him by the nose. This pleased the boy, and clapping his hands in great glee, cried out, "hold him Towser, grin and bear it dad, it'll be the making of the pup." Mankato has had Garden City by the nose, Rapidan is setting her on, but we are bound to make her let go even if it spoils the pup. Excuse me Mr. Editor for not being able to answer all the Mankato arguments for we don't seem to see them.

S. C. WELCOME.

The Reconstruction Law.

The Supplementary Reconstruction Bill which has been under consideration for several days in Congress, has undergone so many and such rapid changes, and has so often traveled from one House to the other, that the public mind has become doubtful as to what its provisions actually are. At the time of this writing there is a single point on which the Senate and House have not agreed; but it is quite probable that even this will be settled before this paper reaches the reader. We propose to give a synopsis of the Reconstruction Law as it stands, including the Constitutional amendment and the Supplementary Act as far as adopted.

1. It is declared in the preamble that no legal government or adequate protection for life and property exist in the ten rebel States.

2. The rebel States are divided into five Military Districts, and their limits defined.

3. The President is required to assign to each of these Districts a Commander not below the rank of Brigadier General, and detail a sufficient military force to enable such officer to enforce his authority.

4. The Commanders are required to protect all persons in their rights.

5. All persons arrested by the military authority are to have a speedy trial, and cruel or unusual punishment is prohibited.

6. Before the 1st of September next the Commanding General is required to cause to be made a registration of all lawful voters in their respective States. Before registration every applicant will be required to take the following oath:

"I do solemnly swear or affirm, in the presence of Almighty God, that I'm a citizen of the State of ———; that I have resided in said State for ——— months next preceeding this day, and now reside in the county of———, or the parish of———, in said State, as the case may be; that I am twenty one years of age; that I have not been disfranchised for participating in any rebellion or civil war against the United States, nor for felony committed against the laws of any State, or the United States; that I have never taken an oath as a member of any State Legislature of any State to support the Constitution of the United States and afterward engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof; that I will faithfully support the Constitution and obey the laws of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, encourage others so to do; So help me God."

7. After the registration is completed, the Commander is to order an election for delegates to a Constitutional Convention, and to appoint the officers of such election. At the same election in which these delegates are chosen, the people shall vote, yes or no, on the the question as to whether a Convention shall be held or not. If a majority vote to hold none, that settles the question in the negative; if they vote to hold one, the delegates are to assemble at the time and place to be specified by the Commander.

8. In the registration and in the elections, all male citizens stand on an equal footing, irrespective of color, race or former condition.

9. The Convention, if ordered by a majority, will proceed to form a Constitution.

10. The Constitution so framed shall be submitted to the people for approval or condemnation.

11. If the Constitution is ratified by the vote of the people, and if it secures universal suffrage, and if the Government formed under it ratifies the pending Constitutional Amendment, the State shall be entitled to representation in Congress as soon as the pending Amendment becomes a part of the Constitution of the United States.

12. Until the States are so admitted, all existing Governments therein, or any that may be established, are to be provisional only, and fully subject to the paramount power of Congress, which may alter, modify or abolish them in its discretion.

13. No one is entitled to hold office who is prohibited by the third section of the pending Constitutional Amendment—that is, those who have ever taken an oath in assuming the duties of certain civil offices, to support the Constitution of the United States and have subsequently engaged in the rebellion. The purport of the section will be readily seen by reference to the oath prescribed for voters.

Such are the main features of the Reconstruction Law as it stands at present; and it is not probable that Congress will materially modify any portion of it.—Chicago Tribune.

RECONSTRUCTION.

Political Feeling in the Various Southern States.

NEW YORK, March 19.—The Herald's Southern correspondence says: "In Virginia, military rule has already been declared supreme, but the fact of civil law being abolished is hardly apparent. In Charleston the revolution is accepted with apathy, no one except the fire-eating politicians seeming to take the matter much to heart. In Louisiana, General Sheridan's order postponing the New Orleans municipal election was accepted without disturbance. The impeachment resolutions in the Louisiana Legislature relative to Governor Wells were referred to a special committee.

The New York Tribune's Columbia, South Carolina, last evening's special says: "One of the most remarkable meetings ever held in South Carolina, took place to-day, the occasion being a celebration by the negroes of the passage of the bill enfranchising the black race. By invitation, General Wade Hampton, ex-United States Senator, Desaussure, Edward Arthur, the Hon. W. J. Tallery, and James G. Gibbs addressing the meeting; also the Rev. David Picket and Beverly Nash, both colored. Sentiments were expressed highly honorable to both sides.

The negroes are gratified with the spirit of political affiliation with which they have been met, and the citizens are equally pleased to find the colored men identified with the true interests of the State. Should a convention be called, the latter will probably nominate and support the best men in the country, and as declared by Mr. Nash, will urge Congress to repeal the disfranchising clause which deprives them of the services of those in whom they have the greatest confidence.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—A despatch from Selma, Alabama, states that the largest meeting ever witnessed in that city took place yesterday. Resolutions were unanimously adopted strongly expressive of Union sentiments, and recognizing the right of Congress to prescribe the terms of reconstruction and reconstruction and re-admission of the seceded States into the Union, and therefore urging that the people of Alabama should forthwith accept the beuificent terms of reconstruction.

NEW ORLEANS, March 19.—General Sheridan's order to-day says that no general removal from office will be made unless the present incumbents fail to carry out the provisions of the law and impede reorganization, or unless the delay in re-organization necessitates a change. Pending re-organization it is intended to create as little disturbance in the machinery of the various branches of the Provisional Government as possible consistent with the law of Congress and its successful execution; but this condition is dependent upon the disposition of the people and length of time required for re organization.

[From Hastings Union, 20th.]

HASTINGS AND DAKOTA RAILROAD.

Arrangements have been made, in connection with the co-operation of this village, (which we feel warranted in saying will be heartily extended), which insures the completion of the first 20 miles of the Road in time to bring the produce of the next harvest to our leevee for shipment. The Company have already contracted for the grading, and tieing the first 20 miles of the road,—that negotiations are in progress for the purchase of the iron and rolling stock for the same, and that Col. Clough, the Chief Engineer is already getting up his plats, &c., preparatory to the commencement of the work in a few weeks. Mr. Williams, the Contractor for the grading and and tieing, has already contracted for, or will in a few days, for the ties necessary for the same, and as soon as the weather with permit, will have his men at work on the entire line of the 20 miles. No time has been or will be lost.

Business and Prices.

[From the New York World, 15th.]

The intimations thrown out in certain quarters that there is a general revival in business are not borne out by facts. There is, of course more activity than there was in the month of February, for the necessary demand for certain articles at the change of the seasons has to be supplied; but trade is dull as compared with that of several previous years. The manufactories are doing little work, and some of the mills are running on short time, as has already been announced in the news papers. A similar depression is manifest in the stock market. Speculation for a rise in prices is almost at a stand-still, and securities deemed the most reliable are in the greatest demand for investment. One reason for this condition of affairs may be that it is generally believed that prices have not yet reached their lowest figures, consequently purchasers are buing only enough to supply the immediate demaud. But the main reason is that the people have not money to spend. The burden of the letters received by wholesale dealers from their customers throughout the country is, that money is scarce and the people are living from hand to month. Such facts as these indicate the approach of a season of great commercial depression, such as befel the country in 1837, 1857 and 1861. How soon this may begin it is impossible to foretell; but that it is at hand is indicated by all the signs of the times. In view of these indications, it becomes the people to restrict their expenditures as much as practicable, and lay by all they can for an emergency which threatens to accur within a few months.

A SHREWD EDITOR.

At a Welsh celebration in New York, Dr, Jones told the following amusing anecdote:

The speaker said the editors were like other shrewd men who had to live with their eyes and ears open. He related the story of an editor who started a paper in a new village in the West. The town was invested with gamblers, who were a source of annoyance to the citizens, who told the editor that if he did not come out against them, they would not patronize his paper. He replied that he would give them a "smasher" the next day. Sure enough his next contained the "smasher." On the morning following the "smasher," the redoubtable editor with scissors in hand, was seated in his sanction cutting out news, when in walked a large man with a club in his hand and demanded to know if the editor was in. "No, sir," was the reply, "he has stepped out; take a seat and read the papers; he will return in a minute." Down sat the indignant man of cards, crossed his legs, with the club between them, and commenced reading a paper. In the meantime the editor vamoosed down stairs, and at the landing below he met another man with a cudgel in his hand, who asked if the editor was in. "Yes, sir," was the prompt response, "you will find him up stairs reading a newspaper." The latter on entering the room, with a furious oath, commenced a violent assault upon the former, and was resisted with equal ferocity. The fight was continued until they had rolled to the foot of the stairs, and pounded each other to their heart's content.

HYDROPHOBIA—SMOTHERING A CHILD TO DEATH.

The Detroit Union furnishes the details of a most heart-rending case of hydrophobia in that vicinity, We copy:

A short time since a daughter of Alfred Woodruff, who resides in the town of Greenfield, about seven miles from the city, was slightly bitten by a dog, and for a day or two complained of the pain caused simply by the bite. The sore partially healed over, however, and no more attention was paid to the matter. In a short time, however, the virus which had been communicated by the dog to her system, commenced its deadly work, and the poor suffering child became raving mad. Her cries were heart-rending, and her appeals for death, for anything to end her torture, frightful.

Everything that science and skill could do, was done for the little one, but there she lay upon her bed of anguish, bound with cords, suffering what no human pen can describe, yet evincing in her madness a desire to injure even those who love her best. Her sufferings were too much for human forbearance, her agony too great to allow even her fond parents to witness it, and the question arose, how shall this be ended? After a long and painful consultation, the conclusion was arrived at that the best and most humane course to pursue was to put an end to the poor sufferer's life. Who can picture the feelings of the dear little one's friends as the announcement was made that she must die? Who can imagine the rejoicing of the soul of the poor one, as it was released from a worn and tortured body? The only effectual and easiest means of ending her trials was decided to be suffocation, and while she was in one of her worst paroxisms, she was seized and smothered to death. Though to some this may seem harsh and cruel, yet in our estimation it was a far better course than to allow the little one to live in pain, anguish and agony for a few short hours, suffering even the pains and anguish of untold hells, and at last die in misery.

RELIEF TO THE SOUTH, DEAD.

The proposition to give a million of dollars for the relief of the South is dead, although it has not been disposed of by the house. Gen. Howard was consulted by the friends of the measure this morning, and he stated that the Freedmen's Bureau had money enough to supply all the destitute in the South till December, but he could not use it without some changes in the law creating the Bureau. The efforts of Mr. Bingham and his associates were to bring about the required modification, so that the funds now in hand can be used for the relief of all classes. It is not certain that the House will grant even this; but the million dollars project has been abandoned.

—A newspaper is like a hotel table, set to suit a variety of tastes; and to find fault with it because some of the articles are not such as you would select, is about as sensible as to object to a landlord furnishing some articles of food that you dislike, but which just suit some other guest. It must be a poor paper that you cannot get some information or entertainment out of. Take your pick and rest assured that some one else, with an equal opinion of their own superior taste, will be pleased with that which you reject.

Congress having passed the Supplemental Reconstruction Bill, it will at once be presented to the President, and as soon as definite action shall be taken on this measure, Congress will fix the time for adjournment or recess. It is the general belief that the President will return the bill to the House this week.

TURN OUT AND VOTE.

The question of locating the county jail, is to be decided next Tuesday, and we urge the citizens of the county to peruse carefully the address upon that subject published elsewhere in this issue, and go to the polls convinced of the force of the arguments presented. Especially do we appeal to the citizens of Mankato to see to it that every voter is at the polls. To this end two political tickets will be presented so that men of strong party tenets need not excuse themselves from voting, on the plea that party lines were not drawn. Both parties will be a unit upon the jail question, while the town tickets are separate and distinct, giving voters an opportunity to make a political issue if they desire. Elsewhere will be found a list of candidates of the republican party to be voted for next Tuesday. As a full vote is anticipated, the republicans must be out in full force in order to carry the ticket.

MONTANA EXPEDITION.

Elsewhere will be found the advertisement of Capt. P. B. Davy's Montana Expedition. The organization is now complete, and letters are constantly pouring in making inquiries concerning the time and place of starting. To give the public more information upon this subject we are publishing the circular of Captain Davy, which directs the emigrant to MANKATO as the headquarters of the expedition and outfitting point for the train. A glance at the map will show that emigrants are on the direct road to the gold fields by leaving the river at Winona and coming direct to Mankato. The Captain has already several hundred names enrolled and doubtless he will take over the largest train that has ever left the State. The terms upon which persons may join the expedition, either as passengers or with their own teams are easy and light, and may be known by addressing Hon. J. B. Wakefield, or Capt. P. B. Davy at Blue Earth City, Minn., or Col. J. W. Kelly, Mankato, Minn.

WEST POINT CADET.

The Board of Examiners appointed to report the qualifications of applicants for the vacancy of the West Point Cadet-ship in this District, met at Owatonna, on the 20th inst. The Board consisted of Rev. Mr. Tanner, of Faribault, Prof. Phelps, of Winona, and Prof. E. D. B. Porter of Mankato. The branches upon which the applicants were to be examined were divided among the members of the Board and the examination conducted in writing, so that they were unable to know who graded the highest until the surgeon gave the names of the persons who gave written answers. Mr. Porter of this place says that the strictures of some of the State press, in reference to foul play, are not warranted by the facts. There were twelve applicants, but two withdrew before the examination. The position was awarded to Master Albert Harrington, of Winona, aged about 19 years. A son of Major Russell, of the regular army, ranked second, and Master John Lundeen, of St. Peter, third. Mankato had two applicants but neither of them ranked among the highest.

WINONA BRIDGE.

The law of Congress providing for a railroad bridge across the Mississippi river at Winona, was conditioned upon the consent of the States lying contiguous thereto. There has been much doubt concerning obtaining the consent of the Wisconsin Legislature, on account of the opposition at La Crosse, which town is a rival of Winona on the Wisconsin side. The Winona interest has, however, fought their case through both branches of the Wisconsin Legislature and succeeded in obtaining consent not only to build a railroad bridge at Winona, but to connect their road with the Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, at any point east of La Crosse. A survey of both road and bridge are already being made, and it is confidently expected that the gap between Winona and La Crosse now supplied by stages will be closed up by a branch road running from the former place across the river to a point east of La Crosse.

STARVATION SOUTH.

We are requested by Rev. H. Bisbee, of St. Anthony to publish a circular relating to the starving poor of the South which have been published in the St. Paul papers. We published a week or two since an article covering the principal reports of the suffering in the rebel States, and it is probably unnecessary to repeat them. It had been proposed in Congress to appropriate one million dollars for their relief, but the bill failed, and efforts of a private nature are being made to send provisions South. In St. Paul the Board of Trade raised over one thousand dollars, one hundred of which was paid by the Governor, out of the State Contingent fund. Since private enterprise has taken hold of the matter, Congress has passed a resolution authorizing Gen. Howard, of the Freedman's Bureau, to expend such money as is necessary to relieve the destitute. He says the funds in his possession are adequate for this purpose, and he only requires the power to use them. That relief should be afforded, and that speedily, is beyond question, and all will doubtless agree that the most equitable method of raising the money is through the government whose treasury is supplied by the people in proportion to their resources.

Acknowledgement.

Editor of Union,

DEAR SIR.—We feel it a duty and privelege to acknowledge in this public way, the kindness and liberality of all those friends, who in any way were instrumental in giving us such a handsome donation on the 21st inst., at the Centenary M. E. Church in this city. We received about $120, mostly cash. Considering the many and heavy demands upon our congregation and friends, this is a very liberal donation, especially, as we understand this is not to apply on salary, but is a "gift." May the Giver of all good, grant his blessing on all the donors. Once more, we return our many thanks to all our friends.

MELISSA H. TICE

Mankato Parsonage March 22nd 1867.

TO THE VOTERS OF BLUE EARTH CO.

REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD VOTE TO LOCATE THE JAIL AT MANKATO.

ITS GEOGRAPHICAL POSITION

has made it the centre of population and trade for the county.

Owing to the great bend of the Minnesota river a portion of this county, equal to nearly six townships, lies north of the parallel of Mankato. It is the geographical centre of 13 towns. The great bulk of the population of 13 towns must travel more miles by actual measurement to get to Garden City than to Mankato.

It is the centre of population.

Seven towns that lie contiguous to Mankato contain more than one half the population of the county, by an excess of 190 voters.

We appeal to the figures. By the official canvass of last fall, there were cast in this county 1808 votes.

Mankato	cast	564 votes,
South Bend	"	98 "
Lime	"	55 "
Jamestown	"	29 "
LeRay	"	40 "
McPherson	"	135 "
Judson	"	78 "
	Total,	999.
	Balance of County,	809.

Here there are a thousand voters, lacking one, representing a population of 7,000 souls while the remaining 809 voters represent a population of 6,000.

Figures do not lie. These figures demonstrate that Mankato is the center of population and will best accommodate the people of the county as a whole, for the site of jail and the seat of public business.

JUSTICE TO THE TAX PAYERS

of the County requires the location of the jail at Mankato.

The State Auditor's report shows the total value of the taxable property of Blue Earth County for 1866, to be $2,604,768. Assessed value of property in Mankato Township for the same year $750,960. Competent judges estimate the assessed value for 1867, as $1,000,000. Mankato Village and township will pay in 1867, one third of the taxes of Blue Earth County. Hence it must pay one-third of the cost of a jail.

Cannot Mankato set up at least a modest claim to have the Jail and Court House within its limits?

Ah! but Garden City has subscribed $10,000 to build a jail free of expense to the county. This big subscription is a big SELL, though a handsome thing on paper. But can this county enforce the collection of that subscription, after they have voted the jail at Garden City? Every man who knows the laws knows that such a SUBSCRIPTION IS NOT WORTH A FIG, except as a voluntary gift, and the County Commissioners could not enforce it.

To wait for a jail to be built on such a basis would be slower than waiting for dead men's shoes.

Take an illustration.

Not long ago the people of Garden City raised $800 to purchase "County Fair Grounds." Three hundred dollars of that is still unpaid, still the fair grounds were located there or thereabouts, on the faith of that subscription. Mark the result. The proceeds of the last fair had to be taken to make a payment which is overdue, to save the grounds from forfeiture, and $20 of the society's printing bills, contracted last August, still remain unpaid, for the same reason. So it would be with the jail, the county after long delay would have to foot the bill at last.

Mankato will be the Rail Road center of Southern Minnesota within eighteen months.

It is now settled that the Winona rail road will come to Mankato. Its Depot will be built at Mankato within a year.

The Minnesota Valley R. R. is rapidly pushing on to this point. It has now become a strife between the two roads, as to which shall make this point first.

This is no visionary prophesy. It is the sober truth, soon to be realized.

What then? Mankato becomes at once the great market for South Western Minnesota. The man that wants a 1,000 feet of pine lumber will come here for it. The man that is after the last red for his load of wheat will come here to find it. The farmer that hunts the highest market for his butter, eggs and beef, will pocket his rocks, where the most hungry people live, who must have such things to eat.

True a great deal of wheat went to Owatonna last fall. The moment the road reaches this point, all this will be changed. The market price of wheat is fully as high at Mankato to day as at Owatonna. So it will always be sure to be, after the rail road gets here. It follows then, that you will always come here to find a market.

A Woolen Factory is building here. The coming year Mankato will want all your wool. There is a Foundry and Repair Shop here, every broken Thresher and Reaper must come here for repairs.

The stock of Dry Goods and Groceries is ten times larger at Mankato than in all the other towns and villages of the county put together. Where there are the most sellers, competition is always brisk and buyers can make the best bargains. Hence every farmer in the county will always be coming to Mankato. It will be no additional trouble or expense to do his county business here.

FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS WILL be lost to the people of the county, if the jail and court house are not built at Mankato.

Court House Square was donated to the people of the county upon condition that the county should put its Public buildings there. If the county builds them elsewhere the Square containing ten lots, reverts to the original donors. It cannot be sold and the proceeds used to erect county buildings at another point. The Register's Office which cost the county two thousand dollars, would be almost a total loss. It would be sold for a song—because it could not be moved off without tearing it down.

There are parties in Mankato, who would to day pay five thousand dollars for this square. It is located in the heart of the city, and will increase in value every year. Will you throw away seven thousand dollars to please the owners of village lots in Garden City? This you vote to do if you vote to locate the jail out of Mankato.

YOU RISK TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS

of your own and the people's money, if you vote to build a jail at Garden City. We have already convinced every candid man that when a jail is built the county Commissioners will build it with the county funds. They are authorized by law to issue ten thousand dollars in county bonds for that purpose, they are required to build it where you vote to locate it. Has Edson Gerry or any other land shark got ten thousand dollars which he don't know what to do with so badly, that he will give it to you to build a jail with? "Go tell that to the Marines," but tell it not in Rapidan—publish it not in the streets of Hilton, lest the little boys put their thumbs to their noses, and make merry faces at your expense. If then you build a jail at Garden City or any other point away from the present county seat, are you not acting the foolish part of the man who "built his house upon the sand?" Are you sure of being able to move the county seat to the jail after you get it built? Would any business man invest his money upon such an uncertainty?

Would not a good financier move the county seat first and locate it finally and for good either at "Good Thunder's Ford", Rapidan or Garden City, and then build the jail at the county seat? But the grand jury of the county have presented the present jail as a nuisance and called upon the county commissioners for a new one.

Jail birds are increasing. The flock grows bigger every year. It is cheaper for the county to keep them in a good cage than to keep a guard over them night and day.

Authorize the County commissioners by your votes to build the jail at the county seat, at Mankato, and you will lessen you own expences; you will greatly enhance the value of real estate which is already your own; you will act like business men and make a safe investment of your ten thousand dollars.

COUNTY SEAT STILL AT MANKATO.

Locating the jail elsewhere would not remove the county seat from Mankato. The courts would still be held here. The county seat could only be removed by an act of the Legislature. The passage of such an act would be resisted, and successfully too, by all the wealth and property interests of Mankato. While it remains the county seat, the courts must be held at Mankato. The sheriff must keep his office there, hence there must be a jail there provided at county expense. Prisoners must be close at hand during every sitting of court. The court would order it, and the county, willing or unwilling, would have to foot the bill. Two jails must then be provided at county expense. One at Mankato for use, another at Garden City for an ornament! Are the people of Garden City so hard up for a jail that the voters of this county must be taxed $10,000 to build them one? Is a jail indispensable to the good digestion of our upriver neighbors? Has faith in their own honest purposes grown so weak that they dare not trust themselves out of sight of the people's lock up? Build churches and support them good friends, and you will never mourn the absence of the turnkey.

CONSULT YOUR COMFORT

as well as your pockets, and you will vote to locate the jail at Mankato. At the last December term of court, more than one hundred persons, attorney's, jury men and witnesses, were in almost constant attendance for three weeks. Should the location of the jail at Garden City, finally carry the county seat there, how could the crowd at court time be accommodated? Garden City has one hotel only which could "sleep and eat twenty-five persons." Mankato has eight hotels, where two hundred guests can find ample accommodations. The same law that governs merchant's prices, regulates hotel rates. The greater the number, the greater the competition, and the more moderate are charges. The town that has but one, or at most two hotels, at which sheer necessity compels men to put up, usually has landlords that treat their guests, as the musquitoes do their victims: they first sing to beguile, then prey upon them. But no prayers will avail the poor farmer, bleed he must. Had you rather sleep on the floor during term, or travel a few miles further, sleep in comfortable beds, and dine on the luxuries that always load the tables of a market town. During Court, while not otherwise engaged, places of public interest will lend you both pleasure and instruction. The presence of your children at the Second State Normal School will draw your feet to its pleasant halls. The school is securely located here. Another winter will insure us the appropriation to erect the School edifice. Another year or two at most there will be organized here a Lecture & Library Association, whose efforts will bring hither for your entertainment Emerson, Tilton, Douglass and all the famous Lecturers. Will not Mankato then be an attractive place to spend the term of Court, when the lot falls to you to discharge the duties of a jury man?

CITIZENS OF BLUE EARTH COUNTY

there is no antagonism between your interests and our interests, between your prosperity and increase in wealth, and the rapid growth and prosperity of Mankato. On the other hand, its interests and your interests are one and the same, the more its population increases, the more its manufactures are developed, the more costly become its granaries and elevators, the higher and surer market will it give you for every pound of butter, every dozen of eggs, every bushel of wheat, every head of beef and every fat hog and sheep that your farms and flocks can yield. Every service you can render Mankato, will in a few years be repaid four fold. The time is not far off when the value of every acre of land in this county will depend upon its distance from Mankato. Look abroad for illustrations of what has heretofore been stated. Is there a citizen of Cook County Ill. who is not proud to call that county his home, because Chicago is its county seat? Does he not wear its fame and greatness as a crown of glory for himself? Doesnot the same sentiment display itself among the citizens of Winona county, of Hennepin county and of Ramsey county in this State?

Will you, alone, be blind to your true interests? will you suffer selfish or interested men to lead you to do what you would afterwardregret?

Rise, fellow citizens, rise above their petty prejudices who seek to make you believe that our best interests are hostile to yours. Let your votes next Tuesday demonstrate that you are too liberal and free-minded to be led astray in this important matter, by the stories of men whose ideas are measured by the size of their own pockets.

IMMIGRATIOM BOARD.

MR. EDITOR:—As many of the citizens of Mankato begin to show some disposition to encourage immigration to this city and the country tributary thereto, I beg leave to make a few suggestions as to the best manner, in my opinion, to bring about the desired result.

We have no "Board of Trade," no "Chamber of Commerce," and will have none for some time. As it is generally conceded that we are yet behind in wealth and numbers, those places that have seen proper to organize or concentrate the efforts of the business men in the above manner, we must content ourselves, for the time being, with what? I say a Board of Immigration.

This we can organize, this we need. By this we can concentrate our efforts, to build up the city, the county, the district and the State. Through an organization of this kind we can communicate with the great entry ports east, where are landed thousands of those in search of homes. Through this they can be informed where these homes are to be found, the exact location of homesteads or desirable tracts of lands offered by our citizens at reasonable prices.

Organizations of this kind can be formed in the adjoining counties, a correspondent can be carried on with all, and in fact, by comparatively very little expense or labor, this entire southwestern Minnesota can be made what I would term "an immense" immigration Board, which only in motion would do more towards populating the country tributary to Mankato, than by any other plan.

I hope the old residents will take an interest in this matter, will organize immediately, will join hand in hand and work with a will to defeat the efforts of those in other parts of the State, to turn the tide of new comers to that country dependent on St. Paul, Minneappolis and St. Cloud. Read the St. Paul papers, talk with her leading citizens if you would be convinced that they have an eye to business, an eye to keep the trade they have so long controlled, and controlled it by any and every means. They are at work constantly. Will we allow them to supply the south west, or will we as live energetic business men supply the south west, and contend with them for the controll of the north west.

Emigrants should leave the Mississippi at Winona, where they can take the Winona & St. Peter Railroad to Owatonna, the present terminus, and Mankato is 18 miles farther [west by good stage road. The route from Mankato west to Big Stone Lake, the point of general rendezvous, a distance of 200 miles, traverses a beautiful section of country, with pleasant camping grounds, and plenty of wood, water and grass.

The distance from Mankato to Helena City, Montana, is about 1,000 miles and will require not more than ten weeks. It is shorter than any other, and the expedition led by Captain Tom Holmes, last year, over this route, arrived at Helena City two weeks earlier than the expedition led by Capt. Fisk from St. Cloud, via Fort Abercrombie.

Reparator Capilli.

Throw away your false frizzes, your switches, your wig—
Destructive of comfort, and not worth a fig;
Come aged, come youthful, come ugly and fair,
And rejoice in your own luxuriant hair.

REPARATOR CAPILLI.

For restoring hair upon bald heads (from whatever cause it may have fallen out) and forcing a growth of hair upon the face, it has no equal. It will force the beard to grow upon the smoothest face in from five to eight weeks, or hair upon bald heads in from two to three months. A few ignorant practitioners have asserted that there is nothing that will force or hasten the growth of of the hair or beard. Their assertions are false, as thousand of living witnesses (from their own experience) can bear witness. But many will say, how are we to distinguish the genuine from the spurious? It certainly is difficult, as nine-tenths of the different Preparations advertised for the hair and beard are entirely worthless, and you may have already thrown away large amounts in their purchase. To such we would say, try the Reparator Cappilli; it will cost you nothing unless it fully comes up to our representations. If your Druggist does not keep it, send us one dollar and we will forward it, postpaid, together with a receipt for the money, which will be returned you on application, proving entire satisfaction is not given. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person.—She reads your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers unveils the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. —IRA SMITH positively declines to run for town clerk.

—WILL our country friends step in and give us the election returns, as soon as possible.

SALES.—If you wish to buy or sell horses, cattle or any other animals or merchandise, see the auction card of D. Tyner, in another column.

SOLD OUT.—Billings Sibley has sold out his stock of notions and building to Mrs. Sanders who intends starting a millenary establishment in the building.

SEED CORN.—The early frost of last fall doubtless injured the corn to such an extent that it would be unsafe to plant it. A large quantity of good seed corn will be in demand this spring, and our grain dealers should send south and east, wherever corn was properly eared, and obtain a supply at once. The farmers had much better pay a round price for seed than raise less than half a crop from their own seed.

DONATION.—The donation mentioned last week, which was held for the benefit of Rev. D. Tice, pastor of the Methodist Church, was quite well attended and enjoyed. The proceeds amounted to $119, mostly cash. A very sensible feature of the evening was that they had nothing to eat, and money needlessly spent to satiate the appetite, was very properly saved to swell the amount necessary to the support of the Pastor.

EXAMINATION.—Superintendent Beatty, advertises in an other column the places and time of holding examinations of District School teachers. It will be noticed that the examinations take place at 9 o'clock A. M. and teachers are requested to be prompt. The Superintendent will examine no person at any other time unless it is proved by affidavit that such person could not attend the public examinations.

UNION SCHOOL EXHIBITION.—An exhibition of the scholars of the Union School, under the direction of Prof. Stuart will take place at Higgins' Hall on Thursday April 4th at 7½ o'clock P. M. It will consist of declamations, coloquies, essays &c., and will be an entertainment by the youth of our city. The admittance fee will be 25cts, and the proceeds will be devoted for the purchase of a Union School library.

DEMOCRATIC NOMINATIONS.—The Democrats of Mankato on Wednesday evening last, nominated the following persons for town officers to be voted for next Tuesday:

Supervisors—John F. Meagher, chairman, Stephen Lamm, J. S. Burgess. Town Clerk—E. D. B. Porter. Town Treasurer—Isaac Marks. Assessor—George A Clarke. Justice of the Peace—John Q. A. Marsh.

SNOW.—On Monday night last the snow commenced falling, and continued all day Tuesday. About fourteen inches fell, which together with the snow already on the ground gives a depth of at least two feet of snow on the 28th of March. The last snow was very light, and reduced to water made only 1½ inches in depth. So seldom do we have such a storm, or so late an opening of spring that it is worthy of remark. A late seed time, or a heavy flood is inevitable.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS.—At the Mankato Republican Caucus held at Shoemaker's Hall, on Saturday evening the 23d inst., at 7 o'clock pursuant to notice, the meeting was called to order by the Chairman of the town committee, E. P. Freeman. James S. Little was then elected chairman of the meeting, and E. P. Freeman secretary. The following names were then put in nomination, for their offices at the ensuing election:

For Supervisors, Clark Keysor, Ch'n., Edward Bennett, Charles Rausch; Assessor, J. S. Little; Treasurer, Wm. H. Shepherd; Justice of the Peace, Wm. L. Coon; Town Clerk, Ira S. Smith. The following persons were then elected Town Committee for the ensuing year: E. P. Freeman, Chairman, T. T. Pierce, Edward Bennett. On motion the meeting then adjourned.

E. P. FREEMAN,
Secretary of said meeting.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT.—The financial statement of Blue Earth county for the year 1866, is published by contract in the Record, that paper being the lowest bidder therefor. Accompanying its appearance last week, is a summary of the most important expenditures of the county which will be of interest to our readers. The item of printing is perhaps open to a little explanation. The printing is let to the lowest bidder, and is paid for out of the county treasury. The cost of advertising the delinquent tax list is, however, charged to the tax payer, and is therefore not paid out of the county fund. The list amounted to $258 51 which should be deducted from the printing bills. This would bring the county printing at $523 27. We quote from the Record as follows:

The total expenditures of the year were $12,924 29, against $7,611 13 the preceding year—an increase of $5,313 16. The county and poor taxes now being collected, amount to $15,628 56, leaving an excess over expenditures, of $101 51 on the general county fund and $876 71 of poor fund. We find that our county tax is higher than that of Winona, Sterns, Scott, Le Sueur, Carver or Rice county, each of which are nearly or quite our equal in point of population.

By reference the report we find the following among the main items of expenditure:

For district court room, rent, jurors and witnesses fees, &c., about $2,800. Of this amount $284 were paid for rent of room to hold court—$41 for the May term, and $243 for the December term.

The clerk's and sheriff's fees and county attorney's salary are independent of the above, and the former amounts to $606 80. The sheriff's, deputies' and bailiffs' fees, including board of prisoners, for the whole year, foot up a total of $2,089 28. The whole amount paid for county attorney services and expenses during the past year was $657 33. The clerk's office, heretofore has not been considered remunerative, but under the late increase of fees by the Legislature, it may safely be set down at $1,200 a year. The sheriffalty is worth from $1,500 to $2,000 per annum, having also been benefited by the recent Legislature, and now ranks the second best office in the county.

For support and care of poor there has been paid, independent of medical attendance, in Mankato township, about $717; South Bend, Judson and Butternut Valley, $441; Garden City, Ceresco, Vernon and Lincoln, about $85; Shelby, Sterling, Mapleton, etc., $124 44. In our examinations, we have been unable to find any appropriations from the poor fund for the benefit of persons in the first commissioner district comprising the towns of Lime, Le Ray, McPherson and Jamestown.

Medical attendance of poor about $342 70, and medicines, etc., $48 50—a total of $391 20—all, we believe, paid to physicians in this township. The county commissioners, at their last meeting, we understand, resolved to restrict this rapidly increasing cause of expenditures, by soliciting proposals from the several physicians in our town to attend the county poor for the ensuing year. Care should be taken to provide against neglect under this system, and this objection obviated, we doubt not it will be more acceptable and less expensive than the former practice.

The printing and advertising of the year amounts to $781 80,—$228 11 of which were paid to the Record office and $553 68 to Mr. Griswold, of the UNION.

Record and blank books for use of county officers cost $201 45 and stationery for same $180 00.

BORDER COUNTIES.—It is reported on the street, that many new settlers who have taken homesteads in the counties of Martin and Jackson and perhaps Watonwan, are out of money and food, and that about 30 families in Martin county have applied to the county authorities for help. It is also thought that two-thirds of the frontier settlers will be destitute of seed for the spring crops. As the reports are not very reliable, and none of such persons have personally presented themselves to our people, a meeting was held on Tuesday evening at Shoemaker's Hall and a committee consisting of J. C. Wise, Rev. T. Marshall, and Major G. K. Cleveland was appointed to ascertain the exact state of affairs. Many of the settlers on homesteads came late last season without money, and it would not be surprising if some were in destitute circumstances. It is perhaps unnecessary to propose measures of relief untill these reports are confirmed.

CHURCH ETIQUETTE.—Mr. Editor:—It is always more pleasant to the philanthropist to speak of the virtues, than of the faults of mankind. I was most gratified last Sabbath morning and evening, in observing the commendable promptness of those who attend services in the First Presbyterian Church. Before the pastor commenced the solemn exercises by invoking the Divine blessing, almost every worshiper, (and the congregation was larger than usual), was present, waiting patiently to unite in the worship of that God whose sanctuary he had entered. This is as it ought to be, especially in all those places where God has recorded His name—where His people meet for His worship. But how often has that same congregation been disturbed while engaged in the introductory services, by the entrance of some tardy comer. If it was only one who occasionally violated those rules of religious etiquette, which every orderly worshiper observes himself and requires of others, it were less unendurable, but it often occurs that a batch of half dozen or more come in at that untimely hour, and by the time they are comfortably seated, much of the religious exercises up to that time are lost to themselves, and to those more prompt. Although I have been attending church regularly for more than fifty years, I could not under ordinary circumstances without embarrassment walk up the aisles of any church after services had commenced. I think I can say without boasting that I have established such a reputation for promptness, even during the few months I have sojourned here among strangers, that if I were to walk up the right aisle of the Presbyterian church after worship had commenced it would be prime facia evidence that no ordinary adversity had befallen me.

Except under circumstances beyond our control, every one can be in his place at the proper time, reverently waiting to hear what message the man of God brings to us from his Divine Master.

IRWIN.

Mankato, March 25, 1867.

—Resolutions of Garden City Lodge No. 16, I. O. of G. T. passed at a meeting on the evening of March 15, 1867:

RESOLVED, That while we bow in submission to the will of Him who doeth all things well, we sincerely mourn his loss and tender to the afflicted family and friends our heartfelt sympathy in this bereavement, commending the stricken household to the widow's God and the Father of the fatherless.

RESOLVED, That we, as a Lodge attend the funeral ceremonies of our brother, to be solemnized on Friday, March 15th, and pay our last tribute of respect to his remains.

RESOLVED, That a copy of these resolutions be presented to the family of the deceased and be published in the Union and Record of Mankato, and the Boston Traveler.

EARLY ARRIVAL.—Last week we mentioned the "bright prospects" in store for this town and the county of Watonwan—indicated by the many letters of inquiry received. Now we chronicle the fruition of those prospects. During the past week strangers have been coming and going, in almost every direction, and our usually quiet people have all been agog. Every day adds to the number of the new comers, many having come to take homesteads, some to buy improved lands, and others to prospect—"to see and to be seen." Never before have land hunters come so early.

DONATION.—The Donation party held on the 22d, for the benefit of the Rev. A. G. Perkins, was a decided success. The people came together—had a good time—raised $42—sat down to a fine supper, and ate of the good things so bountifully supplied by the ladies of Madelia, who, by the way, know how to get up "apple doins and chicken fixins." After a few well timed speeches, interspersed with songs, the company dispersed. Thus ended a day pleasantly spent.

REAL ESTATE.—Mr John F. Smith of Penn., purchased of John O. Haire, eighty acres for $1,000 cash.

APPOINTMENT.—Hon. Bowne Yates has received from Judge Austin the appointment of Clerk of the District Court and Court Commissioner for Watonwan county.

The Shivering Victims

Of Fever and Ague, who freeze to-day to burn to-morrow, might have been exempted from their present trials had they availed themselves in time of that safe-guard against all malarious diseases, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. But if it is too late for prevention it is not too late for cure. A single bottle of this irresistible herbal tonic will stop the paroxsysms, and a brief course of it will restore the patient to vigorous health. The prudent and thoughtful, however, who would rather forestall disease than wait for its assaults, will resort to this sure defence against intermittent and remittent fevers at the commencement of the season when they prevail. Now is the time to fore-arm the system against fever and ague, bilious complaints and dyspepsia—diseases which are often engendered, and always aggravated, by the chills and damps of Winter and early Spring.

SHAKESPEARE ON INTERMITTENTS.

The Bard of Avon tells us that the "Sun in March doth nourish Agues," and the remark is as true now as it was three hundred years ago. But fortunately, in these modern days March Agues can be prevented. Hostetter's Bitters, in a single week, will put the system in a condition to resist every species of intermittent fever. Or, if there is a predisposition to biliousness or dyspepsia, this unequaled regulator and invigorant will just as certainly prevent that. All the disorders common to the season of fogs and frosts may be held in abeyance by this potent antidote. They may also be ejected from the system, after they have made a lodgement there, by its persevering use. It is therefore moral insanity for any family to be without it.

LUMBER! LUMBER!

The undersigned has associated with him Mr. Wm. H. Ellas, (one of the best sawyers in the State,) and who has rented Mr. Mason's share in the mill at Vernon, and has now on hand a large supply of lumber, and is prepared to furnish to order the best article of lumber made in the county, and at the most reasonable prices. They are determined to satisfy customers, and all who may want any article usually manufactured at country mills. All orders promptly filled.

J. W. Bradley's Celebrated Patent

DUPLEX ELLIPTIC

(OR DOUBLE SPRING)

SKIRT.

The Wonderful Flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any Lady, wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced particularly in all crowded assemblies, Operas, Carriages, Railroad Cars, Church Pews, Arm Chairs, for Promenade and House Dress, as the Skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a silk or muslin dress, an invaluable quality in crinoline, not found in any Single Spring skirt.

A Lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort, and great convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Steel Spring Skirt for a single day, will, never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For Children, Misses and Young Ladies, they are superior to all others.

They will not bend or break like the Single Spring, but will preserve their perfect and graceful shape when three or four ordinary skirts will have been thrown aside as useless. The Hoops are covered with double and twisted thread, and the bottom rods are not only double springs but twice (or double) covered; preventing them from wearing out when dragging down stoops, stairs, &c.

The Duplex Elliptic is a great favorite with all ladies and is universally recommended by the Fashion Magazines as the standard skirt of the fashionable world.

To enjoy the following inestimable advantages in Crinoline, viz.: Superior Quality, Perfect Manufacture, Stylish shape and Finish, Flexibility, Durability, Comfort and Economy, enquire for J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic, or Double Spring Skirt, and be sure you get the genuine article.

CAUTION.—To guard against IMPOSITION be particular to NOTICE that skirts offered as "DUPLEX" have the red ink stamp, viz., "J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic Steel Springs," upon the waistband—none others are genuine. Also Notice that every Hoop will admit a pin being passed through the centre, thus revealing the two (or double) springs braided together therein, which is the secret of their Flexibility and strength, and a combination not to be found in any other Skirt.

FOR SALE in all Stores where First Class skirts are sold throughout the United States and elsewhere. Manufactured by the Sole Owners of the patent.

HUMOROUS.

Spirit Seizures.

That the Maine Liquor law is very stringently enforced in Boston will be apparent by the following article from the Commercial Bulletin, of that city:

The leading iron stores have been ordered to close, on account of the complaint that they all keep bars that are readily accessible to purchasers.

The stocks of the principal opticians have been confiscated, as it is proved that people are in the habit of getting their glasses there.

A seizure was ordered of a lot of liquor-ice owned by Mr. Todd, but failed of being executed, as none of the officers wished the reputation of taking a Todd.

The different trance mediums will be shut up, as it is proved they call for spirits, and always have them present at their circles.

Several purchasers of Crosby Opera House tickets have been seized, as they were found in low spirits.

A small boy was arrested who complained yesterday of the stomach-ache—as it was proved to have been sham pain.

Several men who showed the right spirit have been arrested, and parties are quite busy looking up those who are known to be public spirited men, with the view of preventing too much public spirit about the city.

Arrests have also been made of the man who was intoxicated with success, and the individual who was staggered by the result.

The horizontal bar and tumblers will not be permitted at the circus.

A ship master who takes "any port in a storm" will be compelled to tell where he gets it.

The London Puncke's have been seized at the leading periodical stores.

An Individual who was proved to have "rectified" an account, was arrested on suspicion of being a distiller.

No liquor will be permitted to be kept upon the steamboats at the wharves. A down-east captain who was escorting a young lady across the gang-plank of his vessel was arrested for having a galon aboard. (a gal on a board.)

THE FENIANS.

Enthusiasm Dead.

NEW YORK, March 21.—The Irish excitement in this city has subsided and the late rebellion in Ireland is conceded to have been a disgraceful failure. The party who received any attention are those who favor an invasion of Canada. Several meetings have been held on the subject of an early invasion, and steps are being taken that look somewhat like work.

ON THE BORDER.

The Herald's St. Albans correspondent says that several United States army officers that had arrived and passed through that village lately, although no troops had come yet. It was said, however, that a force had been forwarded from Ft. Warren. The militia officers about the city had been consulted as to the amount of equippage and ammunition needed to fit out certain companies for service. On the other hand several bands of Irishmen had arrived, well equipped, with every thing requisite for a tour, and bearing traces of an undying tendency toward Fenianism.

Radical Meeting in Charleston.

NEW YORK, March 22.—The Herald's Charleston, S. C., correspondent says a meeting of the citizens, irrespective of color, was held there last night. There was only about fifty white people present. Judge Moore, a white man, presided, and a negro acted as secretary. The meeting was decidedly radical. Resolutions claiming the suffrage and the right to hold office for the colored men, opposing large land monopolies, and calling for a revision of the State code, and the re-organization of the courts, were adopted.

The News.

Mr. Ramsey introduced a bill amendatory of the act to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from the Missouri River to the Pacific Ocean, approved July 1862, providing that the roads of the companies named shall be so constructed that when completed they shall, in connection with the branch road to Sioux City, afford a continuous road communication between the Union Pacific Railroad and the head of Lake Superior, which was referred to the Committee on the Pacific Railroad.

QUINCY, Ill., March 12.—Yesterday the first pile was driven for the railroad bridge across the Mississippi River at this point. A large number of citizens witnessed the ceremony. The bridge will be pushed forward with energy this season.

The wheat prospect in this vicinity is excellent. No danger is now apprehended to the crop.

A religious revival is now going on in this city. Among the notables who have united with the church is General B. M. Prentiss.

The registration of voters under the new suffrage law has commenced in Washington. The registration in the first ward shows that the blacks are greatly in the majority, the whites taking no particular interest in the matter.

The President has signed the bill appropriating $150,000 for the relief of freedmen or destitute colored persons in the District of Columbia; also the bill appropriating $50,000 for the Paris Exposition.

The President has signed the joint resolution tendering the thanks of Congress to Geo. Peabody for his late donation to the South. The act will be elegantly enrolled on parchment, and, if possible, the gold medal ordered by Congress will be struck to accompany it.

The Louisiana Supreme Court recently decided, in a case which involved the validity of the decisions of that court during the rebellion, that, "as to the ordinance of secession, it was an absolute nullity, and produced no legal effect; the Supreme Court was not affected or changed by its passage." It therefore held that all the decisions of the court under the rebel State Government must be sustained.

A Judge Robertson, of Louisiana, claims that State peculiarly well adapted to wheat growing. He says the crop should be sown in the autumn months and will be fit to harvest in April or May. He claims that wheat grown there is much superior to Northern wheat, being dryer and containing more gluten. It is less liable to ferment, and therefore better adapted for transportation, especially in tropical countries.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU and Improved Rose Wash cures secret and delicate disorders in all their stages, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience and no exposure. It is pleasant in taste and odor, immediate in its action, and free from all injurious properties.

☞ A YOUNG LADY returning to her country home, after a sojourn of a few months in the City, was hardly recognised by her friends. In place of a coarse, rustic, flushed face, she had a soft ruby complexion of almost marble smoothness, and instead of twenty three she really appeared but eighteen. Upon inquiry as to the cause of so great a change, she plainly told them that she used the Circassian Balm, and considered it an invaluable acquisition to any Lady's toilet. By its use any Lady or Gentleman can improve their personal appearance an hundred fold. It is simple in its combination, as Nature herself is simple, yet unsurpassed in its efficacy in drawing impurities from, also healing, cleansing and beautifying the skin and complexion. By its direct action on the cuticle it draws from it all its impurities, kindly healing the same, and leaving the surface as Nature intended it should be, clear, soft, smooth and beautiful. SYMPTOMS.

The symptoms of Catarrh are at first very slight. Persons find they have a cold, that they have frequent attacks, and are more sensitive to the changes of the temperature. In this condition the nose may be dry, or a slight discharge thin and acrid, afterwards thick and adhesive, may ensue.

As the disease becomes chronic, the discharges are increased in quantity and changed in quality; they are now thick and heavy, and hawked or coughed off. The secretions are offensive, causing a bad breath; the voice thick and nasal; the eyes are weak; the sense of smell is lessened or destroyed; deafness frequently takes place.

Another common and important symptom of Catarrh is, that the person is obliged to clear his throat in the morning of a slick or slimy mucous, which has fallen from the head during the night. When this takes place, the person may be sure that his disease is on its way to the lungs, and should lose no time in arresting it.

The above are but a few of the many Catarrhal symptoms. Write to our Laboratory for our pamphlet describing fully all symptoms; it will be sent FREE to any address. Also directions where to procure the medicine.

We are receiving letters from all parts of the Union, and also numerous testimonials from those using it, bearing the evidence of its infallible merits.

FLORENCE
SEWING MACHINE CO.
100 WASHINGTON ST., CHICAGO.
Wm. H. SHARP & CO.,
GENERAL AGENTS.

THE FLORENCE is the only machine extant having a reversible feed, which enables the operator to sew either to the right or left at pleasure, and the only machine that makes a perfectly elastic seam, alike on each side of the fabric.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE not only makes the lock-stitch, but three others, which for certain kinds of work are much superior, especially where elasticity is required and is the only machine that fastens the ends of each seam securely, and does it in one-fourth the time it can be done by hand.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE, does not draw fine, thin goods down through the slot or hole in the work-plate nor drop a stitch in turning a corner, and is the only machine having a changeless tension, and no slack threads both of which draw together simultaneously.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE is noiseless, and can be used when quiet is necessary as well in the sick-chamber as in the workroom. They oil no dresses, the machinery being all on the top of the table. It will sew over the heaviest seams, or from one to more thicknesses of goods, without skipping stitches, breaking threads or requiring change in tension.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE will do easily all family and tailoring work on one and the same machine. They are strong and finely finished,—their motions are all positive, there are no springs to get out of order,—while for strength, durability & beauty of design it will bear, and we invite, comparison, with any or all machines.

AMERICAN ORGANS.

(From "Godey's Ladies' Book," February, 1866.)

REED ORGANS, &c.

THE following remarks and suggestions relative to this immensely popular instrument will doubtless interest and profit very many of our readers: we commend the article to their careful perusal:—

A hundred and one makers of Organs, Cottage, Parlor-Cabinet, American, School Organs etc. etc., are each claiming to make the best instrument in the world. Being comparatively a new instrument, as at present constructed, we are convinced the public are much less capable of judging of its merits, or demerits, than of most other instruments. If there is really an essential difference in them, if there are some worthless ones, the public should have some criterion for judging of them, some facts which will enlighten them. We cheerfully concede the space for this article, knowing that there is hardly a family, or church, or school in all the land, but is more or less interested in this topic. We are also aware of its being a great misfortune, a real calamity, to any of them to purchase an inferior or worthless Organ, ruinous to good playing, and often a source of much annoyance and vexation. We know this article to emanate from a candid and intelligent source, and thus we give it to our readers.

The question is often asked, what are "reed organs?" We answer, they are, in most cases nothing in the world but the old melodeon in disguise. Many of the so called Organs have the same bellows, the same reeds, and the same general internal arrangement. With the bellows turned on edge to gain room, they have simply put on a more pretentious exterior and a more high sounding name But an organ to be in reality an organ, must have a wind chest or reservoir for air separate from the bellows, into which wind-chest the reeds open, and the tone has room to expand and perfect itself into the full round tone, similar to the flute or pipe organ, even, smooth firm and mellow; and this tone from reeds cannot be obtained in any other way known. Nothing so annoys a true organist as to have the volume of sound swelling and jerking spasmodically with every variation of force on the bellows or air-passages, instead of a wind- or sound-box. And yet some makers even go so far as to claim this spasmodic or automatic jerking of the bellows on the reeds as an excellence, just as though they did not know that it must soon throw the reeds out of tune, and injure the bellows; and as though it were not an easier matter to obtain a much better and more easily managed swell by other methods. The truth is, any organ, so called, or melodeon which has the wind acting directly upon the reeds, is nothing more or less than a huge accordeon, dress it up as you may. And when organists and true musicians become aware of the fact that they can obtain those that are organs in fact as well as in name they will buy no more of the objectionbel ones. Then again the swell should always be separate and distinct from the bellows, so as not to be acted on by the hand, or soft blowing, but convenient, so that the player can use it with the knee, separate from the hands or feet, and thus always under easy control, to be used ad libitum.

The large divided bellows, or double bellows, is also a very important improvement—By this means not only can the wind be supplied more evenly, but with far greater ease to the performer, from the fact that either bellows alone will be sufficient for the lighter melodies, thus permitting the player to change about and rest the feet at will; then, if the bellows is of a requisite large size, and having the wind-chest or reservoir, all will be well—As to the reeds, they must be scientifically tuned and voiced, or all the other good qualities in the world cannot produce a good toned instrument. The inquiry now very naturall arises, where can the organ be procured combining all these essential and desirable qualities? There is only one possessing these points and that is the AMERICAN ORGAN, made by S. D. & H. W. SMITH, of Boston, SIBERIA OTT, Wholesale Agent, 581 Broadway, New York. These organs have a wind-chest extending the whole length of the instrument, and so constructed as to act at the same time as a reverberating sound-box or board, and having the same important relation and part to perform that the sounding-board has to the piano This feature the makers have patented, and to it are owing in a great measure the entirely unequaled fullness and richness of tone so highly prized by all who have used these organs. They also have the largest and best divided bellows in use, which is another important feature. No part of their work is slighted no expense or pains spared to make the American Organs perfect musically, as well as mechanically, and, judging from the immense sale of them at present, they bid fair to long maintain the proud position they have won by superior merit alone. We would most heartily advise all interested to call upon or address MR SIBERIA OTT, the Wholesale Agent, at No. 581 Broadway, New York, and can assure them he will, in the most gentlemanly and truthful manner, impart to them all the information they may desire relative to this truly delightful instrument.
